

Photo/Project Release

Occasionally, the Technology Rich Classroom (TRC) project of the Kansas State Department of Education (KSDE) includes photographs of individual students or student group activities in its informational publications, on the KSDE department or TRC project web site, and in video presentations. In addition, student-created technology projects are sometimes displayed at public meetings or through access on the KSDE department or TRC project web site.

When showing these students or their projects, the students are identified by the name of their school and their first name only!
