NEXT LIBRARY CONFERENCE

Berlin, 12–15 September 2018

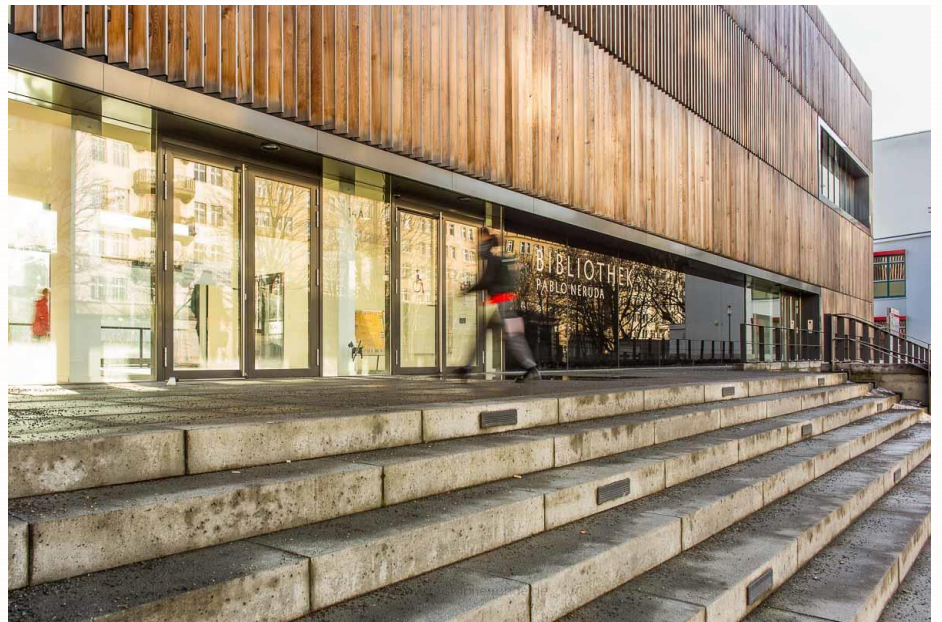

The building's outsides make people curious about its insides!

A former school from the 1960s was turned into a library; a building which - among the impressive architecture of the listed building ensembles of "Karl-Marx-Allee" and "Frankfurter Tor" - makes people curious about its insides already by its architectural outside design.

Both users and usage of the library cover a wide spectrum; there is a special section in Easy Language and a so-called Artothek (art lending library).

Start: SATURDAY, 1pm at the Amerika-Gedenkbibliothek, max. 15 participants

Duration of public transport to library: approx. 30 minutes
