London creative LABS

A SOCIAL BUSINESS IN INNER-CITY LONDON, FOCUSED ON JOB CREATION, BUSINESS MODEL INNOVATION, AND MAXIMISING PARTICIPATION

London Creative Labs It is a Social Business, set up in August 2009 in London.

We are committed to finding creative approaches to ensuring decent work for everyone

- ✓ Creating the jobs we would want our children to have
- ✓ Discovering better business models to generate the jobs
- ✓ Helping more people participate in the whole process.

In March 2010 our project was selected as one of the Mayor of London's beacon projects for sustainable development in action.

We are committed to finding ways that everyone can get involved in the process of jobs creation in inner-cities.

We are inspired by giants such as Grameen, BRAC and Jamii Bora. We are committed to applying this kind of thinking and practice to areas of social and economic deprivation in London

In London, there is not the same kind of poverty as in Nairobi. But there are plenty of social and economic issues to address. There are people that do not have access to basic factors you might expect in a city like London. Did you know that some children and adults in the UK suffer from malnutrition? People and families can also find them isolated and shut out of the common avenues of opportunity and support. Crime is linked to income inequality and poverty. These are the issues that we are committed to tackling, in a systemic way, but always based on our work with people on the ground.
