

Isolated Cells From Human Mouth

The smear shows the most primitive human cells, squamous epithelial cells, taken from the mucous membrane of the mouth cavity. Their small nuclei (1) are located in the center surrounded by cytoplasm (2). Epithelia cover the surface of the body and line its cavities.