  - Harry Reid wanted to go over the fiscal cliff; Joe Biden brought in to cool Harry's jets: Harry got a letter connected to the Chained CPI story which means re-evaluating what people get for Social Security: as people buy meat, the price of meat goes up; as they buy chicken, the price of chicken goes up; as they eat cat food, the allowance is based on cat food!
  - Reid crumpled the letter and threw it in the fire and yelled at people to leave his office! He wanted to go for the nuclear option!
  - Biden was called in to cool things down: it is a bad deal gone worse; America is not broke, the world is not broke - the 13 families have squandered it! St G has it all and all that is left is for this to be revealed!

- Want to move back to filibuster as a SPEAKING FILBUSTER!
  - Today's filibuster is a silent filibuster - grinds Senate to a complete halt: a coward's filibuster!
  - Not the big debates of the past - Reid has had 400 of them in 6 years; LBJ had only 1 in 6 years
  - should not be filibusters before the bill; should be held afterwards - Republicans routinely defeat the motion to proceed so the content of the bill never gets discussed.
  - the people who benefit from them are those that are funding Mitch McConnell and other members - McConnell is now worth $30 M and he was not worth that when he came in!
- Thom brings up Tom DeLay getting 3 years for corruption: yet this is not quite the same kind

- Bill Moyer says this is the most critical point in American History: all due to the Citizens United rule -
  - McConnell is taking advantage by using the filibuster - money has always been in politics, but now the check book comes out first before the legislation / ideas
- The Founding Fathers insisted that democracy should be based on majority rule and on protection of the minority, and that a super majority vote was not in the interests of the people
  - right now, one Senator can stop the passage of a bill

- A book Love is not Enough unless you have true knowledge and are able to override the flaws in the program, cannot get very far - use a kind word and help them to think

Caller: The Templar Revelation, a book about Jesus - evidence that he came out of Egypt, trained in Egyptian mystery schools [by Lynn Picknett, Clive Prince]; shed light on competition between Jesus and John the Baptist. Did Jesus love a toxic planet? NO

T: after he was born, at the age of 2, Herod the 2nd put out an edict that children should be killed;

- Mary and Joseph took him to Egypt
- Vedic Egyptology: as Jesus was growing up, he learned by going to the temples - in the rooms below the Kings chamber, they got galactic teaching
- When he went back, he taught the Sadducee and the Pharisees
- From 12 to 30, he studied the Vedas with ascended masters in the Indus valley and went back to the Middle East via land speeder

T: To heal this issue of being afraid of being a parent: there is no more karma - or go to another planet - or learn about your own past lives and what you did about choosing your parents, siblings, choices which you made for healing and not only for yourself

- no such thing as chance: whatever we are accepting or rejecting, comes again and again - time to heal it rather than hear it - "can't" is about fear! Think about parenting yourself

- Because of the caller, the Trinity Point site has a steward - it reflects the dichotomy of what it is about: during the Civil War, the factions fighting against each other - Native Americans, North, South - all recognized the energy in that vortex, laid down their weapons and lived together for 2 solid weeks and loved each other! Might it be that this is not just his personal karma

Caller: feels that he has fallen short of the mark at times

T: Praises him for what he HAS done! All that has been brought into his life: we are never given things to handle that we cannot handle - suggests getting an astrological reading at a very deep level

- Big game changers: Al Jazeera setting up bureaus; Julian Assange dropping all kinds of info that will indict all kinds of people; Max Keiser reports
- Has 3 people from the same area on the call: they and all of us have to practice the praise, respect, thanks and love
- it is a blessing to have Obama as President
- Brings up that Thom Hartmann and the 3 scholars are saying the filibusters are unconstitutional!
  - We have Lucifer and his rebellious ones running around thinking that the money is important and that they are in charge: just love the smirk on Cantor's face!
  - Do not call them names: they do not comprehend who they are - labelling them is another form of prejudice - at a soul level, we are all One
  - Earth = heart! Finally, we are bringing earth mother and her unconditional love - Jesus was a radical and very boisterous and got people in a lot of trouble: for that reason, and a few others, he was not completely successful
  - yes, Obama will lead, but it is up to us to push the energy , just as FDR and Bill Clinton said "Push me"; once the people in unison move this energy and the power of empire push together, they become one.
- There are thousands and thousands of people who listen to these calls: Rama has been twitter feeding these calls for about a year; people do not have to pay to listen to these archives on BBS

2013, Jan 3 Swiss Bank Pleads Guilty in Probe Wegelin & Co. Admits It Helped Americans Avoid Taxes With Secret Accounts

By CHAD BRAY

In the latest blow to Switzerland's centuries-old banking practices, the country's oldest bank pleaded guilty to a criminal conspiracy charge in the U.S. on Thursday and admitted that it helped wealthy Americans for years avoid tens of millions of dollars in taxes by hiding their income from secret accounts abroad.

Wegelin & Co., founded in 1741, is the latest Swiss bank to reach a deal with U.S. prosecutors as they crack down on Americans who kept their money in secret accounts overseas and the entities which helped them. Three Wegelin bankers also were charged criminally in the U.S. last year.

Getty Images Wegelin & Co., founded in 1741, plans to shut after the matter is closed.

More The Source: A New Era of Regulation

However, the private bank, which plans to close its doors once the matter wraps up, is the first to plead guilty to a criminal charge in the U.S. government's probe.

The broad investigation, which began in 2008, has set off tensions between the U.S. and Switzerland over its bank secrecy laws. U.S. authorities have pressured the Swiss for the names of Americans with Swiss accounts.

Meanwhile, Swiss authorities last year gave banks permission to provide some information to U.S. authorities. They have since been hoping to reach a sweeping settlement with the U.S. that would address handing over information about Swiss accounts to the U.S. and the U.S. taxing of assets held in Switzerland.

Otto Bruderer, Wegelin's managing partner, entered a guilty plea on the bank's behalf at a hearing in Manhattan federal court on Thursday and said the bank, between 2002 and 2010, knew U.S. taxpayers maintained secret accounts at Wegelin in order to evade U.S. taxes.

"Wegelin was aware that this conduct was wrong," Mr. Bruderer said during the hearing. "However, Wegelin believed that, as a practical matter, it would not be prosecuted in the United States for this conduct because it had no branches or offices in the United States and because of its understanding that it acted in accordance with, and not in violation of, Swiss law and that such conduct was common in the Swiss banking industry."

As part of its plea, Wegelin, based in St. Gallen, Switzerland, agreed to forfeit $15.8 million and give up another $20 million representing the amount of taxes avoided as a result of its conduct. The bank also faces a fine of between $14.7 million and $29.4 million.

Sentencing is set for March 4.

In court documents, the U.S. claimed that Wegelin "deliberately set out" to capture illegal banking business lost by UBS AG UBSN.VX -0.88% and another, unnamed Swiss bank after the U.S. began investigating their operations in 2008 and in 2009. UBS and the other bank have since stopped servicing undeclared Swiss accounts, according to prosecutors.

UBS entered a deferred prosecution agreement in 2009, in which it admitted to conspiring to defraud the U.S. government out of billions of dollars in taxes and avoided criminal charges. As part of the agreement, UBS turned over the names of more than 4,000 U.S. account holders and paid a $780 million fine.

The U.S. claimed that more than $1.2 billion was hidden by Wegelin from tax authorities in undeclared accounts overseas.

The bank allowed some U.S. clients to open accounts using code names or numbers in order to minimize references to their real names, prosecutors said.

Bankers also opened accounts in the name of offshore sham corporations and foundations in order to avoid detection, including entities formed under the laws of Liechtenstein, Panama and Hong Kong, prosecutors said.

Wegelin bankers went to great lengths to hide transactions, including communicating with U.S. taxpayers using their personal email accounts and avoided mailing account statements, prosecutors said.

One unnamed client traveling to Africa on safari allegedly sent an envelope with a single piece of paper on which the client had written only the amount of money needed pay for the safari, approximately $37,000, prosecutors said.

Wegelin sold its non-U.S. operations to Swiss retail bank Raiffeisen in January 2011 in a bid to protect its assets from charges it had helped U.S. clients avoid paying taxes.

2013, Jan 2 Do Not Give The Cabal Time To Re-Group, We Must Press Home To Victory Benjamin Fulford

The turning of the tide can be a subtle thing at first but eventually the change becomes undeniable. That is what is happening now with the family cabal that has been secretly ruling the West through control of the creation and distribution of money. These people have already lost the ability to control the future of this planet and are now barely clinging on to power. The key to their loss was the spreading of the truth, for the truth shall set us free.

In one example of the sort of truth that is coming out, here is what MI5 is saying about former UK Prime Minister Tony Blair: “Blair received an offshore payment of Euro 75 million into Belize for signing the EU Treaty of Rome. All signatories were offered Euro 50 million but [Italian Prime Minister] Berlusconi was insulted by the low amount that could buy an Italian PM so the payment went up to Euro 75m. Blair then paid nearly half of his share into his wife Cherie’s offshore account at H. Ansbacher in the British Virgin Islands.” Outgoing Bank of England Governor Sir Mervyn King also has an account (in his mother’s name) in the British Virgin Islands with H. Ansbacher, MI5 says.

Belize is also the center of much of the Bain capital drug money laundering linked to defeated US presidential candidate Mitt Romney, according to MI5 and CIA sources. This in turn links to the Bush Nazi faction and their financing of the Euro with stolen Asian gold.

This is the sort of detailed information of criminal behavior is coming out about a whole slew of Western leaders these days and no amount of murders and terror attacks can put the genie back into the bottle.

There is still a lot of frantic fighting going on, though, and clearly the battle is not yet over. It is time to seize the initiative.

The obstacles to a new financial system and the start of a massive campaign to end poverty, stop environmental destruction and free humanity have been identified as a very few old men, some of whom claim to work for off-world entities.

In specific, blockages have been linked to the pope, President Obama, and a series of occult organizations linked to the worship of an entity variously known as Ba’al, Lucifer, Molech and Satan among other names. It sounds too strange to be true but the fact is that such occultists have seized the power to create money in the West and have been using it to exploit the people of the world.

The frustration with the ongoing rape of America and the turning of the EU into a new Soviet Union has reached a crisis point and many angry people are starting to point the finger of blame on the Jews. “Is it time to go after the Jews?” is what many very powerful and dangerous people are asking.

In answer, the White Dragon Society presented a Hollywood version of the biblical Book of Ruth to some of these dangerous groups in order to provide some historical background to the difference between Jews and devil worshippers. In this story, likely based on a true historical incident, a woman by the name of Ruth from the tribe of Moab converts to the Judaism of their arch enemies, the tribe of Benjamin.

Ruth admitted to participating in the sacrifice of children as part of the worship of Molech. She is forgiven, however, because she made a full confession, converted and appeared to sincerely regret the role she played in child sacrifice.

For most decent, law abiding people, the thought of child sacrifice going on in this day and age is so horrific that the mind enters a state of denial. Any yet the evidence is overwhelming that a large portion of the Western elite not only worships Molech, or Satan, but that they actually carry out mass sacrifices.

The recent Sandy Hook murder of children is one glaring example starting us in our faces. The official account is such a mess of contradictions that only the aspartame stoned couch potatoes actually believe that a single autistic child could have carried out all those murders. Early news reports quote a principle who is later listed as “killed,” describe multiple gun-men etc. The dead children are never shown and the bodies vanish to God knows where. There has been so much good research done on this false flag killing by others that this murderous incident is not going to be buried.

This is where real Jews need to get involved. They need to renounce the child murderers who have been hiding in their midst or else risk being prosecuted as accomplices to mass murder. In the tale of Ruth, the Jews [Khazrians] did not hesitate to kill Moabites, even as they forgave Ruth [Ruth didn't do it]. This is what needs to be done. Otherwise, prepare for the pogrom to end all pogroms.

Meanwhile, as far as the new financial system is concerned, there were frantic efforts to close a deal before the end of 2012 but last minute cabal interference has postponed the launch of the new system supposedly until min-January. [that's a lie: the cabal did not postpone anything: it was the decision of Faction 3 White Knights to let them complete their shenanigans! DO NOT LISTEN TO Faction 2 stuff. What Schindler did not understand was that Hitler was a galactic and had access to what was going on – Schindler did what he did to help and in the end, he and all those he rescued were busted. 98% of them are in prisons on the ships; Mother has had to erase twice the information that has been collected by the 2% in the Pentagon – if people insist on giving info to these ones, there will be no further assistance] Those of us who have been following this sort of news are sick and tired of hearing that the “check is in the mail,” and that good times are “around the corner.”

The sudden death of General “Stormin Norman” Schwarzkopf [taken out by Faction 1], the rumoured death of 8 other generals [they are gone – the clones are not long for this world], the multiple ailments of Hillary Clinton and other signs all point to a severe ongoing struggle. Both the Navy Intelligence Office information/disinformation site Sorcha Faal and the Mossad site Debka, both say Clinton and some military were involved in a mysterious plane crash. Both sites mention the same things and certainly something unusual is going on with Hillary.

In other signs of high level disarray in the West's power pinnacle, the Bushes remain hiding in the hospital, the pope has survived yet another poisoning attempt (according to P2 sources) and Obama admits in public he might be removed from office. [he did not! What he was not talking about being removed, but about somebody wanting to use a violent measure to exterminate the family!]

Western war-mongering also continues unabated in many countries even if World War 3 itself has been prevented.

By contrast in Asia, former Bush cabal “rogue country” North Korea's leader Kim Jon-un calls for peace. This call is welcomed by the newly elected South Korean president. In Japan, meanwhile, a firmly anti-cabal government has seized the reins of power with the full backing of the military, and is also calling for peace. [This is a conservative person who wants to flip on nuclear power plants]

The question still is, however, when the war-criminals will finally be removed from power in the West.

As usual, there is a lot of good concrete stuff going on that we are being asked not to report at the present time. However, rest assured the final defeat of the satanic cabal has become a mathematical certainty.

2013, Jan 4      Barney Frank~ I Want The Massachusetts Senate Appointment

http://www.huffingtonpost.com/2013/01/04/barney-frank-senate\_n\_2408519.html

The Huffington Post | By Luke Johnson

Former Rep. Barney Frank (D-Mass.), who just left the House of Representatives Thursday after 32 years, said Friday that he has told Massachusetts Gov. Deval Patrick (D) that he would like an interim appointment to fill the Senate seat that would open if Sen. John Kerry (D-Mass.) is confirmed as secretary of state.

"A few weeks ago, I said I wasn't interested. It was kind of like, you're about to graduate and they said, you've got to go to summer school. But that [fiscal cliff] deal now means that February, March, and April are going to be among the most important months in American financial history," he said on MSNBC's "Morning Joe."

"Yes, in fact, I'm not going to be coy, it's not anything I've ever been good at. I've told the governor that I would now like, frankly, to be a part of that. It's only a three-month period, I wouldn't want to do anything more, but to be honest, it's a little arrogant."

Said Frank, "Coach, put me in."

The placeholder seat would open in the Senate between Kerry's exit and a special election for the remainder of his term, expected in early summer. Patrick has said that he is strongly leaning toward appointing a caretaker for the Senate seat, as happened after the death of former Sen. Edward Kennedy (D-Mass.)

Frank, 72, has said that he has no interest in running for the Senate seat in a special election, but that he wouldn't refuse an appointment.

Frank, former chairman of the House Financial Services Committee, played a pivotal role in both the negotiations over the Troubled Asset Relief Program and financial reform, where he passed legislation known as Dodd-Frank.

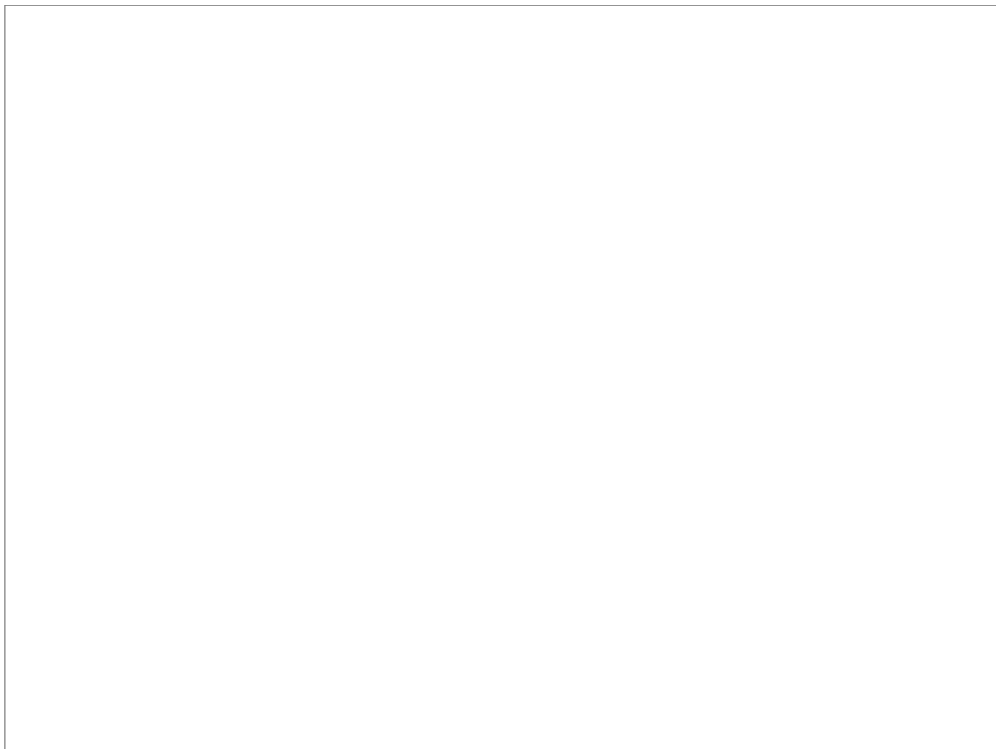

Other names mentioned for the interim appointment have included Kennedy's widow, Victoria Kennedy, and former Gov. Michael Dukakis (D), who said he wasn't interested.

8. Lost Worlds and the Coming of the Space Masters

We have already spoken of the legacy for man hidden in the South American jungles that is beyond his wildest imagination. In ancient record chambers scientific knowledge will be found and utilized in the New Age, secrets of a very remote past will be the incentive for magnificent development in a newer world. The cities of the fabulous Amazonian Empire, which antedated other world civilizations, belong to another Lost Continent but, unlike Atlantis and Mu, this Continent is not buried under any ocean, but instead, it is buried behind miles of Green Hell that constitute the South American jungles. These cities have never been under water; their records therefore are well preserved in their final resting places in the vast libraries of forgotten Paititi.

Countless treasures were brought to Paititi by informed priest-scientists when it was known that both Lemuria and Atlantis were definitely doomed to oblivion. What an inheritance will be found in areas where now only the sound of the monkey and the call of the bird are known-the combined knowledge of the three greatest empires the world has ever known.

Early in June 1957, the Expeditionary Group of the Abbey, under the direction of the Order of the Red Hand, made its way over difficult trails on foot and horseback to the Marcahuasi Plateau of the Andes, where it encountered a Lost Sacred Forest or Garden of the Gods high in the Peruvian mountains. This strange place is known by the descendants of the Huanca Indians as the home of the wizards and Giant Gods.

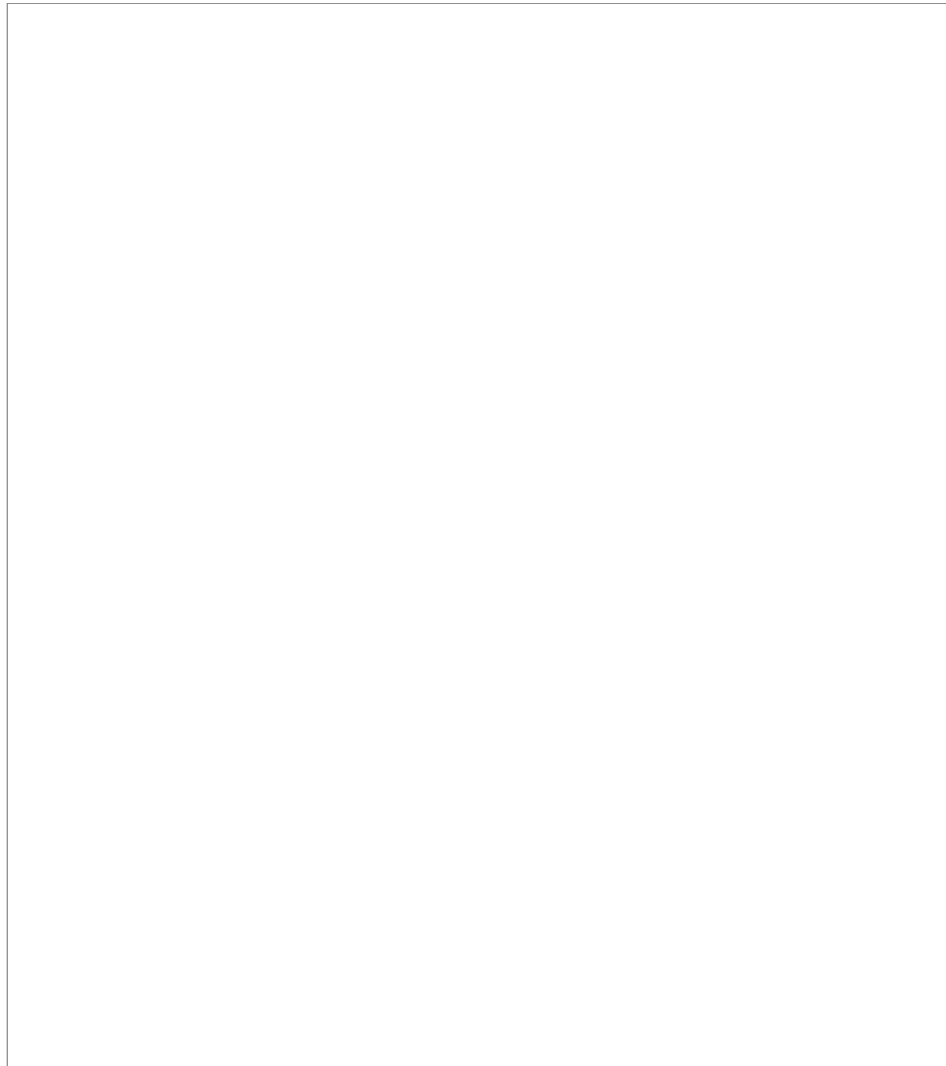

Marcahuasi Valley

On top of the great plateau there is a large stone fortress in a remarkable state of preservation. This was used by Inca soldiers about A.D. 1350 when they conquered the Huancas and established military occupation of the entire region. There are many stone chulpas or burial tombs surrounding the fortress, all of which have been robbed. After the murder of the Inca Emperor Atahualpa at Cajamarca, Peru, the Spanish arrived at Marcahuasi and destroyed the ancient mummy bundles to satisfy their lust for the yellow metal. Today, only a few bones remain in each tomb. An ancient burial cave, thousands of feet above a valley, proved to be very important for it contained an unopened tomb that, by some miracle, had not yet been violated. There were countless mummies inside, but the discovery is insignificant when compared with the fantastically ancient sculptured stones of the Marcahuasi Plateau.

This plateau is 12,000 feet above sea level, and is shrouded in fog most of the year, but during the months between May and September there is a bright sun and it becomes a delightful place, although very cold at night. The many and great sculptured stones represent an important key to the world's ancient mysteries.

Birds and animals from lions and elephants to camels and penguins which never existed in South America have been carved in gigantic proportions. All human races appear to be represented and many great stone heads bear resemblance to those found on famous Easter Island in the Pacific.

Many ancient religions are symbolized by beautiful and finely carved sphinxes, faces and figures of forgotten gods and goddesses. The figures are immense and from scientific calculations, it is believed they were made by a race of giant men at least twelve feet tall. It is not yet known for certain whether they belonged to the Cyclopean Race or not, but the strange dimensional quality of the carvings is an indication that this may be so.

Marcahuasi Human Heads

There are many legends that exist among present-day natives in South America—the Incas spoke of the giants, also—that tell of the giant blond men who once inhabited the continent. These are not ordinary gigantic statues or figures, for when the sunlight, or the moonlight, strikes them at a certain angle, you see things it is impossible to see at any other time. The features change as you view them at different times, under different conditions, and from different angles. Most of the figures have three or four eyes, but no matter where you observe them from, they always seem to present only two. If you are not at a given, fixed point of observation you do not see the statues as they were intended to be seen. Therefore, we had to locate the elevated platforms near the figures that were used by the makers for observational purposes.

The figures are carved out of granite, but are now badly eroded. Yet, they are magnificent in their execution even today, and it takes your breath away to contemplate them and their creators. Who were these giants? Where did they come from? Where did they go to? We will answer such questions through our research at the Abbey.

The figures cover an area of several square miles, and reports from other parts of South America indicate that they are to be found elsewhere, although not in such a state of isolation or profusion as at Marcahuasi.

There are several altars that were obviously made to be used by giant creatures, but even more startling is the fact that something out of this world seems to be hovering over the plateau. Almost all the time one can hear a very odd humming sound coming from the figures, and this sound is not due to natural causes. You feel you are dealing with something outside of man's ability to understand at the present time, a look into another dimension of Time and Space.

When one takes a photo of a carved figure of a very old man and observes the negative, it appears not as an old man, but as a young and handsome youth. Who could carve stone so that at certain angles shapes will change and cast shadows into valleys, where, as the light changes, strange creatures move as if alive?

This race of giant beings used natural objects that seemed to bear resemblance to known animals, and then, by carving them, they enhanced the setting. The result is something that appears to be born right out of the soil. This was a Sacred Forest where no one ever lived, used as it was exclusively for scientific/religious purposes. Science and religion were then joined together in Truth as they will be again in the New Age. It is perhaps the last Sacred Forest that remains nearly intact and unmolested by modern man. It is possible that Marcahuasi was used by the race that later came to be known as Ls. The Huanca Indians still venerate Huari who was a Hercules of their legends—a giant. It appears that a memory of the giants persisted to linger in the mythology of the Huancas and their Huari must have originally been a great leader of the giant race. The Huancas still celebrate strange rituals in hidden areas near the plateau, rituals no white man has ever seen. Until some years ago, the rites were celebrated at Marcahuasi itself.

The most startling fact of all disclosed by the Abbey research is that when Peruvian Government aerial photos of the plateau are studied carefully, one can see definite, gigantic figures that are visible only from the air. Does this mean that the giants had airships? Were the figures, as seen from the air, markers or symbols of some sort for ships arriving from interstellar space or other nearby planets? Marcahuasi will prove to be an important area for further research in relation to the Cyclopean Race and the coming of the Masters from Space.

During the first part of July 1957, the Expeditionary Group of the Abbey, moved eastwards towards the legendary Paititi. The vast wilderness country east of Cuzco was penetrated in the region of the Rio Alto Madre de Dios. Many difficulties were encountered by the expedition, but great success attended the venture. The usual jungle inhabitants were obvious by their presence in great numbers. Vampire bats, jaguars, tapirs, giant ants, poisonous snakes and other creatures proved to be bothersome, but they did not hinder the progress of the research in the unexplored territory near the headwaters of the Rio Sinkibenia. Kinship with all life was practiced and this may have had something to do with the fact that the members of the expedition had small difficulty with animals considering the dangers of the area and the fact that no one carried a gun.

Hundreds of times dangerous rapids in swift-moving rivers had to be crossed, and all in all, over ZOO kilometres were covered through swamps and thick jungle growth that proved to be an almost impenetrable wall as we cut our way through it with machetes. When there were no trails of any kind, we had to walk up the middle of the rivers or use the rock beaches where they existed. We could not possibly enter this unknown land during the rainy season for then the rivers are very high and anyone on foot could not penetrate any great distance.

Our destination the first part of July 1957 was a low group of mountains which are really only the last vestiges of the Andes to the west. It appeared at a distance like a Lost World of fiction fame, great green mounds shrouded in fog and mist, a world that impressed us with majesty and mystery. Foot travel was difficult and slow.

This may be an unknown land to modern man, but it is a land that was not forgotten by his Creator, for it is magnificently beautiful. We came to this area because of the countless legends among South American tribes that somewhere in this vicinity is a great Lost Stone City of the Ancient Ones. The Spanish explorer, Juan Alvarez Maldonado, conducted an expedition into the area of the Alto Madre de Dios in the sixteenth century and looked for this same city. However, he never visited the area of our destination, for it is still unknown.

A few years ago, a Piro Indian was in the same area looking for his run-away Machiguenga Indian wife. In the chain of low mountains near the headwaters of two unknown rivers he came upon a stone roadway. He followed it to a great city of magnificent stone houses, plazas, and temples. No Inca or Spaniard had ever visited these remains. Why? Because this Lost City is only one of many that belonged to the ancient Amazonian Empire of Paititi. In the vicinity where the Piro Indian made his discovery, legends spoke of a strange Lost Doorway or Portal to an antediluvian world. (Not really an entrance-way, but the stone face of an enormous cliff covered with writings which the tribes said was unknown to them although they have lived in the area for hundreds upon hundreds of years.)

On July 10, 1957, we discovered this fabled Doorway or Rock of the Writing in unknown territory on the Rio Sinkibenia. We were very near an unknown, wild tribe that had never been visited by civilized men before. They do not desire contact with the outside world which they have heard about from other visiting Indians. The Abbey will continue its research in this important area and will pass through the village of this tribe in order to attempt to reach the Lost Stone City. The people of this city carved the figures and hieroglyphics on the Rock of the Writing.

Many drawings and photographs were made that year of the thousands of petroglyphs that are not crude rock carvings made by stone-age man, but genuine hieroglyphics of a highly advanced and ancient race. The glyphs are in the form of Scroll Writing of Atlantis and Mu, and are the record of the people of the Lost Stone City. They are related to the world's oldest languages and they cover an area, on the face of the stone cliff, eighty-five feet in length and about eight feet in height. Many appear to be related to Mayan and Aztec glyphs, and there is even an attempt at bas-relief in some carved figures.

One figure of a young man in a great helmet shows him pointing to the west. We believe he is pointing in the direction of the Lost City, whose priest-scientists recorded important historical happenings on the great stone cliff. There are similar city records which are to be found in the Temples of Egypt. Three other rocks of writings were located and these will be studied in the future during other expeditions. The Expeditionary Group returned down the Rio Sinkibenia on a balsa raft they had to build themselves, and completed the rest of the journey by Indian canoe and by foot.

The fact that the hieroglyphics are authentic writing is a discovery of major importance in South America, for it is believed that the Incas and Pre-Incas had no form of writing whatsoever. At the Abbey, students will continue their research on the glyphs.

Besides this discovery, many legends were collected from the little-known Machiguenga tribe of the area. These legends speak in detail of the catastrophes that overtook the world during the final destruction of Lemuria and Atlantis. This was, of course, during the time when ancient Tiahuanaco was lifted from sea level to the barren heights, and the Andes were born. It was a time when Aramu-Muru was above the angry sea in his airship heading for South America with the records and the Golden Sun Disc of Mu. Great earthquakes occurred throughout all of the South American Continent. Cities like Tiahuanaco on the coast were most affected. These coastal centers of population were Lemurian Colonial Cities, while the Lost Stone Cities farther to the east were much more ancient, belonging to the Amazonian Empire, and had nothing to do with Lemuria's colonization plans. They were located in an area that suffered milder damage and the buildings were either not ruined, or only partially so.

Other legends of the Machiguenga tribe speak of the time when their ancestors were in communication with the people of the sky, and the Machiguenga language is not a language of savages, and proves that these people have degenerated to their present state due to the destruction of the Amazonian Empire. However, if the cities were not totally destroyed during the catastrophe why did the natives degenerate? It is believed that the Machiguengas and other tribes were not the rulers of the cities, but that they were workers for these people, and that those who governed them were bearded white men. In fact, it is rumored by the jungle tribes today that such white men in long robes still live and carry on research at the capital of Paititi which is a Lost City of Thirty Citadels, ancient beyond belief when the Incas first came to Peru. The rulers of the Inca Sun Empire searched for this city but never found it. The Spanish conquerors after Pizarro braved death in the wilderness to plunder its immense treasure of gold, silver and jewels. They never even so much as once glimpsed its outer courts. It has been held from the eyes of gold-hungry men, for it has a treasure far more valuable than any yellow metal or gem to adorn the neck or arm of a proud and haughty daughter of the world.

In the towers of the Lost Cities there is a blazing crystal of white light that shines eternally. This, undoubtedly, is the Maxin Light of the ancients and it is connected with the same power that is utilized today by the visitors from space in the UFOs. Many space craft are being reported by the missionaries in the interior of South America, and the Space Confederation has a gigantic base there near the remains of the Lost Cities that existed in magnificence in a time when their ancestors from space landed there and established communication with the priest-scientists of the cities. Masters from Space sat in great conclaves with Masters of Earth, for was it not a time when 'men conversed with the gods? In our generation the interplanetary visitors have returned to visit the cities once again.

Master Teachers of the world's Inner Retreats, in co-operation with the Hierarchy of the Great White Brotherhood, are now in communication with the arriving Masters from Space just as they were during the time of Paititi's glory ages ago. Because of the rumors of the white teachers in robes appearing in the jungle even today, it is likely many of the Lost Cities serve as a Focus of Wisdom.

Dear Student of Light can you grasp the vision that the Celestial Hierarchy wants us to know? Can you see the future where Space Men and Space Teachers mingle with Earth men and Earth Teachers to guide the Remnant that remains? As catastrophes caused the Arcane Knowledge to be hidden, now they will also cause the same Knowledge to be revealed once again to spiritually hungry man. But fear not these changes in the world. Follow the words of the Master Kirpal Singh Ji Maharaj of Delhi, a living Saint still clothed in a physical form:

There is no need to worry. Each of the Initiates should learn to rise above the body consciousness by regular practices in meditation. No sting of death will be felt. You should do nothing but take sensible precautions (if at all necessary) and devote time regularly in meditation and leave everything else to the Master Power which is overhead each of the Initiates and which is extending all feasible help and protection. Efforts are being made to check the impending catastrophe in Higher Circles. Master Power is overhead the Initiates and they need not be afraid.

There are Students of Light now working and serving in the New World Focus of Illumination where the Feminine Aspect of the Permanent Ray enters the Earth. They trod the trails of the mountains and the valleys, and they walk where there are no trails; they know the rivers and lakes, the glaciers and deserts; they are tireless as those Servants of old, yet they have a modern mission in that they must teach a New World. They must present the true ancient world to the present so that the future world now appearing as a golden sun on the horizon of our day may inherit its Divine Legacy. These, then, are the Brothers of the Seven Rays - Essenes of the Andes.
