Hard News: First Instalment

Tom the Cat: Boehner is up to no good; going over to Israel to see Netanyahu

- T/R: On a radio show, heard that Speaker Pelosi was at Santa Fe College – went there to see if he could see Speaker Pelosi
- He got close enough to talk to her & ask: When are we going to see that Reformation Act?
 - She said: Lord Rama, you are going to get your Act, and these folks in Congress are going to get their act; they are going bye-bye!
 - Then he asked about the 47 treasonous senators: that's when MIB surrounded him and he left.
 - She was emphatic: we are getting the Reformation act, and they are going bye-bye
 - Later called & invited him to brunch: he said he had to do his mission & get ready for the call!

- Nuclear negotiations going on: the P1 + 5 [US, France, Britain, Germany, Russia, China] - both North and South Korea are involved too

Meditation: – a special event, as Cheryl re-plays a channeling she received on Friday while working with a client – Serapis Bey came through : a resurrection process

Camp Lovewave: Guest was David Icke

- talking about Church of Scientology, Tom Cruise, John Travolta and L. Ron Hubbard, who was part of the Rat Pack – Sinatra, Sammy Davis Jr, JFK Sr [the real one], Dean Martin
 - Hubbard was playing around with Howard Hughes and Werner Von Braun on a special craft so he could go back to his original planet called “Plant Xenu”; understands that he was part of the life forms who escaped from the star systems after the Orion War started, and then to other systems and eventually here
 - Scientology is not so cool: Icke played a tape of a man who was on Bill Maher and Thom Hartmann in the last year - talked of the internment camps that Scientology used for indoctrination stuff:
 - people have been talking of torture, abuse & programming of those who join Scientology
It's like the Transformation of America / Cathy O'Brien - they use you up and if you are “hot”, like Cruise & Travolta, to go further & might have to commit murder - they continue to use you:

T: just remember that Serapis Bey is the Master who keeps the holy, eternal White Fire Core of Being eternal flame burning in the paw of the Sphinx; the flame is about our omniscience, our omnipotence, our omnipresence & our immortality which has always been true of us / which we have always had

- The shenanigans carried out were about re-programming us and disintegrating the original blueprint of our beings and its form
- Nonetheless, the energies coming in right now are completely reversing that re-programming, and the work that we are doing is necessary for us to traverse the multi-dimensional transformation coming about right now
- T brings it up because she is hearing fear in voices of some who call up because of threats of a WW 3 war; there are Faction 2 websites that are jacking that fear to the max :
 - one of them is FourWinds10 - they speak from an angry place, like what is on Veterans Today / Gordon Duff and co.
 - do not listen to the fear based material – T & R will witness to the content of those materials and to the fact that, at the end, the writers go to fear and then close by going into the “ or we'll get our guns and kill them before they kill us” routine
[T & R do this routinely when they read material from Gordon Duff or Benjamin Fulford; they comment on what is true, what is not]
 - the “we'll get our guns” routine is the remnant of the old program that is there only because they want to hold on to the old program of negative emotions:
 - Revenge of the Sith is cancelled; they continue to feed on the old energy
 - the “they” are the possessions of programs which have nothing to do with the return of the original blueprint which has not been lost, other than people buying into the programs and being afraid, very, very afraid
- As Neo in The Matrix said, the various beings are programs: programs with the Artificial Intelligence
 - yet in this holodeck program, which he got to view through one of the screens used to view us, when he hooked up the hacking device from his phone: we need to be on our best behaviour as we are being observed by our fellow brothers and sisters of the Most High
 - as Serapis Bey has addressed us: he is no slouch! R has sat before him: he nows his stuff: like being in front of Captain Ashtar; they play no games; it is about the order of business – ascension -
 - Ascension is serious business: the planet is ascending and us with it; the others choosing the path of the Sith are not – it's that simple.
 - And unless you have walked in another's shoes, please do not judge any soul!
- As David Icke put it, the energies are so high & as we work with the energies of this eclipse, the new moon, the spring equinox, the return of the sun & the Great Central Sun , things only move higher & higher

T: there is a bifurcation going on now; when we listening the news, she will interject: from Alex Witt

Camp Lovewave / KSFR were doing their fundraising – get no support from anyone else: listener supported

- no support from any corporations
- These are the people who contribute: Amy Goodman's brother, David [Centre for Constitutional Rights]; Angela Davis; Michael Ratner;
- Craig Barnes [former Supreme Court Justice of NM] was there answering phones today

T: Bill Maher has 3 Republicrats on his panel; this is the old program and there is an aura of authority that seems to show up with this; Bill he let it roll until the end of the program when it was his turn to speak – and he wiped it all out!

- Bugliosi finally got his movie out: The Prosecution of an American President
 - the numbers are all wrong when we listen to these things
 - Close to 5 million Iraqis were killed; another 5 million displaced both within Iraq and elsewhere – out of 26 million people! 10 million of the country's population
 - It is not Al Queda: it has all been a setup - it's those who follow The Protocols of the Elders of Zion as she pointed out yesterday on the Conference line, when reading the article from Veterans Today:
 - Duff was making the point- they are not Jews: they are not Semites, but Khazars
 - the real true Jews are the Palestinians
 - Netanyahu made it very clear that he was the head of the Khazarian Mafia
 - Helen Thomas [former Press Corps reporter at the White House] said the Great White Satan is Israel!
 - When someone in high office in Israel says if if you are not totally supportive of Israel, you deserve to be decapitated, there is a problem!
 - over 58,000 people PLUS were killed with 911 – orchestrated by the Khazarian Mafia
 - About the police: another man found hanging from a tree in Mississippi – stuff like this happening every day
 - another kid with mental problems who lived with his 78 year old mother who was looking after him and trying to get him to a mental institution: shot him with 5 bullets in the chest – he had a screw driver against 2 fully equipped huge cops@
 - the young University of Virginia student – completely beaten up
 - this is what happened in WW2 – didn't just kill Jews who were primarily working class who had worked hard and bought most of the land in Germany
- RT will be showing a documentary on this so we see the underbelly of all this
- Obama said something interesting recently: he spoke of Australia & elsewhere having mandatory voting, and that having mandatory voting would counteract money more than anything else.
 - what is stopping this? F E A R [false evidence appearing real]
 - policemen killing people of colour do it out of FEAR – of bosses, overlords
 - something has been degraded in the original template
 - Listening to Alex Jones also fills your mind full of fear – he's a paid schill of the Vatican; amazing what he said about Obama taking 38 holidays last year, costing $40 million to American taxpayers is all lies.
 - Serapis Bey just laid down the new dispensation / template for this new year in Iran
 - Nuclear Nightmares: Securing the world before it's too late - book by Joe Cirincione, President of the Ploughshares Fund, a global security foundation.
 - the deadline for the framework agreement with Iran – March 31st Lausanne Switzerland!
 - Iran's New Years Day is spring Equinox
 - The mother of President Rouhani's brother – all the negotiators will go to the funeral to honour her transition Merkel, Hollande, Cameron; US has a nuclear physicist there + John Kerry; someone represents Russia and China – everyone is going!

Reading: notes from Alex Witt this morning

John Kerry expects positive nuclear talk results

Joe Cirincione, president of Ploughshares Fund, speaks to Alex Witt about the four-day recess for nuclear talks with Iran as the March 31 deadline quickly approaches.

<http://www.msnbc.com/alex-witt/watch/kerry-expects-positive-nuclear-talk-results-416289347556>

- Iran has an extensive nuclear complex; if we don't get a deal, it will expand.
 - To attack Iran would be a catastrophe!
 - A negotiated deal is our own viable option!
 - Official US estimate is that it would take 2-3 months to create the material for the core of the bomb [iran already has space ship technology; their 12 bombs cannot be found.]
 - the official national intelligence is that Iran is not thinking of building a bomb: have not made this decision – it appears they require the [nonsense: they have star ship technology!]
- Remember: 11 of the members of the negotiating committee have PhDs, gained in the US – they do not need Tom Cotton's translation of what is happening in the US.
 - the intelligent minds in place guiding Iran puts US to shame. It is not mandatory in the sense of people getting killed for not voting: but we will charge you $25, $100, $500 and $1000 – increasingly higher fines result in up to 98% voting turnout. All the same, Australia is also controlled. Cirincione, And all China does is give a choice between 2 of the same kind.
 - There are very subtle things going on and people who do not know what white privilege is, and who do not comprehend what a triple tier chess board looks like where there is a bunch of things going on, like Putin, Xi and Obama making sure that there will be no more nuclear war!
 - Putin just made a visit to the Ashtar Command, not his love child: yet it was his baby that was born.
 - When you see Obama playing golf, can bet it's not really what he's doing in general
- T: they have had 12 nuclear bombs for the last 20 – 25 years; they are not interested in using them!
- And next door is a maniac who was behind what happened in NYC with 156 nukes, in Yemen and in the capital of Tunisia
 - We have nothing to fear from Iran – it is all CIA-duh!
 - Dr Keshe made it absolutely clear: if anyone crosses the line, we will access space ship technology which will
 - Anyone participating in the vicinity will not be here nor the submarines or the planes
- If anyone thinks [template #2 piece played yesterday – we must have our hearts open to receive these things]
- Audio: about Vincent Bugliosi, documentary called The Prosecution of an American President

How to Prosecute George W. Bush for Murder for the Deaths of U.S. Soldiers in Iraq: Lawyer (2008)

Published on 29 Jul 2013

The Prosecution of George W. Bush for Murder is a 2008 book by former prosecutor Vincent Bugliosi. It argues that George W. Bush took the United States into the invasion of Iraq under false pretenses and should be tried for murder for the deaths of American soldiers in Iraq. The book sold over 130,000 copies within its first three months of release.

Bugliosi argues that Bush intentionally misled Congress and the American people about the evidence that he said mandated going into Iraq and overthrowing Saddam Hussein. Therefore, Bugliosi argues, under the felony-murder rule the deaths of over 4,000 American soldiers and 100,000 Iraqi civilians (as of spring 2008) since hostilities began amount at the very least to second-degree murder. He further states that any of the 50 state attorneys general, as well as Bugliosi sets forth the legal architecture and incontrovertible evidence that President Bush took this nation to war in Iraq under false pretenses—a war that has not only caused the deaths of American soldiers but also over 100,000 innocent Iraqi men, women, and children; cost the United States over one trillion dollars thus far with no end in sight; and alienated many American allies in the Western world. As a prosecutor who is dedicated to seeking justice, Bugliosi, in his inimitable style, delivers a non-partisan argument, free from party lines and instead based upon hard facts and pure objectivity. A searing indictment of the President and his administration, The Prosecution of George W. Bush for Murder also outlines a legally credible pathway to holding our highest government officials accountable for their actions, thereby creating a framework for future occupants of the oval office. Vincent Bugliosi calls for the United States of America to return to the great nation it once was and can be again. He believes the first step to achieving this goal is to bring those responsible for the war in Iraq to justice.

About Vincent Bugliosi

Vincent Bugliosi received his law degree in 1964. In his career at the Los Angeles County District Attorney's office, he successfully prosecuted 105 out of 106 felony jury trials, including 21 murder convictions without a single loss. His most famous trial, the Charles Manson case, became the basis of his true-crime classic, Helter Skelter, the biggest selling true-crime book in publishing history. Two of Bugliosi's other true-crime books—And the Sea Will Tell and Outrage—also reached #1 on the New York Times hardcover bestseller list. No other American true-crime writer has ever had more than one book that achieved this ranking. His latest book, Reclaiming History: The Assassination of President John F. Kennedy, was also a New York Times bestseller, and is being made into a ten-part HBO miniseries, for which Tom Hanks will be a producer. Bugliosi lives with his wife of many years in Los Angeles.

The fun never stops on this planet! No sooner do we wrap up a 3 year Uranus/Pluto square, then we enter The Eclipse Season! This Friday, less than an hour before the Equinox (Sun moves into Aries), we have a total Solar Eclipse visible from northern Europe up to Iceland. Between now and then, the Moon moves through her balsamic phase into the Dark Moon phase. These couple of days are ideal for retreat, meditation, dreamwork and inner work (and perhaps not much else haha!).

Rather than see the falling away of the past as a chaotic end, we can surrender the old, envision the new, and build ourselves up in preparation for building it with our own two hands, ingenuity, and spirit guidance. Don't be fraught with feelings of loss or confusion so much as trust in plan, a design, a complexly woven tapestry that, with practice, we can read. Once read, we align ourselves with the force of the future and become the true co-creators we incarnated to be. Blessings on your journey. Injoy

In this video, Nassim continues to develop his theory of the structure of the vacuum and shows spectacular animations Isotropic Vector Matrix based on the research of R. Buckminster Fuller and complemented by Nassim Hamein and graphics we see clearly how to deployed geometry and how it connects with Nassim investigations on the structure of the vacuum. He then goes on to talk about crop circles and mathematical relationships that detected in many of them and relating it all ends with the legacy of the various ancient civilizations and again we see a series of geometric and mathematical relationships that lead back to their theories and isotropic Vector Matrix is one of the most significant geometric constructions of sacred geometry and is composed of 64 tetrahedra.

From here starts talking about how ancient civilizations could build those huge monuments worldwide precision and knowledge that surprised today that also seem to keep similar relations in all cases even when different civilizations are supposed that were isolated from each other geographically and temporally. But all seem to drink from the same fountain of knowledge that connects them all.

NASSIM Hamein - Cognos 2010 -

Nassim is a theoretical physicist who has developed self-taught one of the most incredible theories unification of physics that exist today. Unification theories are theories that attempt to unify physics explanations of the small (atomic level) and big (cosmological level) ... Nassim theory but has managed to explain more.

His theory describes the structure and dynamics of what constitutes the 99.9999999999 % of what we see out there ... space .. vacuum. According to science , the vacuum is not empty .. is full of energy ... infinitely energetic. And because of this " infinitez " infinitely annoying , scientists decided renormalizarla (according Hamein what we try to do them all in school .. with varying success ... obviously decided to give a finite value to the infinitez and with that calculation , Nassim has re- developed a comprehensive theory supplementing the Einstein field equations , giving his first result Schwarzschild status or a black hole , all rotational dynamics , coriolis and gyroscopic effects other given at any system, which obviously vary notions of what we understood as reality , extending to a reality in which all objects to be enjoyed , thanks to black holes or wells .. attraction and creation of infinity of sizes, held in place and create , all that exists , from an atom to a human, a planet , a star , a galaxy , or , probably , the universe itself .. because, it seems , everything looks like one autorrecurrente fractal image , learning and experiencing itself ...

We just compress all your extensísima theory in a paragraph ... but we entendáis , which seems to have found , is the structure and the dynamics of movement and performance, which , to our knowledge , seems to contain an infinite amount of energy ... vacuum .. space .. and thanks and therefore understood finally evaded the great equation ... gravity.

Gravity is not more than the attractive force generated by black holes, plenty of sizes present in any system ... call this system an atom, a person , a planet , a star , or a galaxy , which, while generating an attractive force to keep the system in place , as any action there is an equal and opposite reaction also generate all the energy that we call matter and we can then see at a glance and experience with our senses.

As Mexicans Protest US-Fueled Drug War, Sanctuary Movement Backs Church Refuge for the Undocumented Nov 21, 2014 | Story

As President Obama seeks $27.6 billion for federal drug control programs in his new budget, we talk to British journalist Johann Hari about the century-old failed drug war and how much of what we know about addiction is wrong. Over the past four years Hari has traveled to the United States, Mexico, Canada, Uruguay and Portugal to research his new book, "Chasing the Scream: The First and Last Days of the War of Drugs." His findings may surprise you — from the U.S. government's persecution of Billie Holiday, to Vancouver's success in addressing its heroin epidemic, to Portugal's experiment with full decriminalization of all drugs.

JUAN GONZÁLEZ: One part of President Obama's new budget that has received little attention is the war on drugs. The White House is seeking $27.6 billion for federal drug control programs, nearly $1 billion more than last year. More than half the money will be allocated for drug law enforcement by the Pentagon, Department of Homeland Security, Department of Justice and the drug czar's office. Hundreds of millions of dollars have also been requested to be spent fighting the war on drugs in Colombia, Mexico and Central America. The budget also includes a line item that would clear the path for allowing legal sales of marijuana in Washington, D.C.

AMY GOODMAN: Well, today we spend the rest of the hour looking at the U.S. drug war with British journalist Johann Hari, author of the new book, Chasing the Scream: The First and Last Days of the War of Drugs. The book begins a century ago with the passage of the Harrison Narcotics Tax Act, the law that launched the modern-day drug war not only in the United States but around the world. The book also details the latest science behind addiction. Johann Hari recently wrote a widely read "piece": "The Likely Cause of Addiction Has Been Discovered, and It Is Not What You Think." for Huffington Post headlined "The Likely Cause of Addiction Has Been Discovered, and It Is Not What You Think."

Johann, welcome to Democracy Now! What is it then?

JOHANN HARI: Well, it's fascinating. If you had said to me four years ago, when I started on the really long journey through nine countries to write this book, "What causes, say, heroin addiction?" I would have looked at you like you were a little bit simple-minded, and I would have said, "Well, heroin causes heroin addiction." We've been told a story for a hundred years that is so deep in our culture that we just take it for granted. We basically think if you, me and—I guess there's about 20 people in this office—if we all took heroin for 20 days, by day 21, because there are chemical hooks in heroin, our bodies would physically need the heroin, and we would be heroin addicts. That's what we think heroin addiction is.

The first thing that—I had a really personal reason to want to look into this: We had a lot of addiction in my family. One of my earliest memories is of trying to wake up one of my relatives and not being able to. And one of the first things, when I was looking at what really causes addiction, that alerted me that that story may—there's something wrong with that story, someone just explained to me, if one of us steps out here today and we get hit by a car, right, God forbid, and we break our hip, we'll be taken to hospital. There's a very good chance we'll be given a lot of diamorphine. Diamorphine is heroin. It's much better heroin than you'll score on the streets, because it's 100 percent pure as opposed to, you know, massively contaminated. You'll be given it for quite a long period of time. That is happening in every hospital in the United States. All over the developed world, people are being given lots of heroin for long periods of time. You will have noticed something odd about that: Your grandmother was not turned into a junkie by her hip operation. If what we thought about addiction was right, those people should be leaving hospital as addicts. In fact, they're not.

When I learned that, I didn't really know what to do with it, until I went and met an incredible man called Bruce Alexander, who's a professor in Vancouver. He explained to me the old theory of addiction comes from a series of experiments that were done earlier in the 20th century. They were actually featured in a famous anti-drugs ad from the '80s in America. Very simple experiment your viewers can do at home if they're feeling a little bit sadistic: You get a rat, and you put it in a cage, and it's got two water bottles. One is just water, and one is water laced with either heroin or cocaine. If you do that, the rat will almost always prefer the drugged water and almost always kill itself. And so, it was concluded, there you go: That's addiction.

But in the '70s, Bruce comes along and says, "Well, hang on a minute. We're putting the rat in an empty cage. It's got nothing to do except drink the drugged water. Let's do this differently." So Bruce built Rat Park. Rat Park is like heaven for rats. They've got loads of cheese—actually, I don't think it's cheese; it's some very nice food that rats like—loads of colored balls, loads of friends. They can have loads of sex. Anything a rat can want, it's got in Rat Park. And they've got both the water bottles: They've got the normal water and the drugged water. But here's the fascinating thing. They obviously try both the water bottles; they don't know what's in them. They don't like the drugged water. The rats in Rat Park use very little of it. They never overdose. And they never use in a way that looks like addiction or compulsion, which is fascinating. There's a really interesting human example—there's loads of human examples, but I can give you a specific one in a minute.

But what Bruce says is this shows that both the right-wing theory of addiction and the left-wing theories are wrong. The right-wing theory is, you know, you're a hedonist, you party too hard, you know, that you indulge yourself—it's a moral flaw. The left-wing theory is your brain gets hijacked, you get taken over. What Bruce says is it's not your morality, it's not your brain, it's your cage. Addiction is an adaptation to your environment.

Really—and there's massive implications of that, but there's a really interesting human example that was actually going on at the same time as the Rat Park experiment. It's called the Vietnam War. Twenty percent of American troops in Vietnam were using heroin a lot. And if you look at the news reports from the time, there's a real panic, because they believed the old theory of addiction. They believed that if you—these troops were going to come home, and you were going to suddenly have enormous numbers of addicts on the streets of the United States. What happened? All the evidence is the vast majority come home and just stop, because if you're taken out of a hellish, pestilential jungle, where you don't want to be and you could be killed at any moment, and you go back to your nice life in Wichita, Kansas, with your friends and your family and a purpose in life, it's the equivalent of being taken from the first cage to the second cage. You go back to your connections.

What this show us is, I think there's huge implications for the war on drugs. And obviously, the war on drugs is built on the idea that chemicals cause addiction, and we need to physically eradicate the chemicals from the United States. Now, I don't think that's physically possible. We can't even keep them out of prisons, and we've got a walled perimeter. But let's grant the philosophical premise behind that, right? If in fact the chemicals are not the primary driver of the addiction, if in fact huge numbers, in fact the vast majority, of people who use those chemicals don't become addicted, if in fact the driver is isolation, pain and distress, then a policy that's based on inflicting more isolation, pain and distress on addicts is obviously a bad idea. That's what I saw in Arizona. I went out with a female chain gang that are forced to wear T-shirts saying, "I was a drug addict," and, you know, made to dig graves and collect trash. And, you know, the idea that imposing more suffering on addicts will make them better, if suffering is the cause, is crazy.

I actually think there's real implications for the politics that Democracy Now! covers so well and that we believe in so much. We have created a society where huge numbers of our fellow citizens can't bear to be present in their lives and have to medicate themselves to get through the day with these drugs. You know, there's nothing—a hypercapitalist, hyperindividualist society makes people feel like the rats in that first cage, that they're cut off, they're cut off from the source. I mean, there's nothing—as Bruce explains, there's nothing in human evolution that prepares us for being as isolated as the—you know, as the ideal citizen of a hypercapitalist, hyperconsumerist country like yours and mine.

JUAN GONZÁLEZ: Well, in your book, you delve into the origins of our modern drug war and come up with some surprising information, that initially it was actually targeting key figures, African-American figures, in the musical world. Could you talk about that?

JOHANN HARI: Yeah, not far from where we are now, in 1939, Billie Holiday stands on stage in a hotel, and she sings the song "Strange Fruit," which obviously your viewers will know is an anti-lynching song. Her goddaughter Lorraine Feather said to me, "You've got to understand how shocking this was, right?" Billie Holiday wasn't allowed to walk through the front door of that hotel; she had to go through the service elevator. To have an African-American woman standing up, at a time when most pop songs were like twee, you know, "P.S. I Love You," that kind of thing, singing against lynching in front of a white audience was regarded as really shocking. And that night, according to her biographer, Julia Blackburn, she's told by the Federal Bureau of Narcotics, "Stop singing this song."

Federal Bureau of Narcotics was run by a man called Harry Anslinger, who I think is the most influential person who no one's ever heard of. Harry Anslinger takes over the Department of Prohibition just as alcohol prohibition is ending, and he wants to find a new purpose for it. You know, he's got this huge bureaucracy he wants to run. And he's really driven by two passions: an intense hatred of African Americans—I mean, this is a guy who was regarded as a crazy racist by the crazy racists in the 1930s; he used the N-word in official police reports so often that his senator said he should have to resign—and a really strong hatred of addicts. And Billie Holiday, to him, was like the symbol of everything that was going wrong in America. And so, he gives her this order.

She refuses. She basically says, "Screw you. I'm an American citizen. I'll say what I want." She had grown up in segregated Baltimore, and she had promised herself she would never bow her head to any white man. And that's when Harry Anslinger begins the process of stalking her, and eventually, I think, playing a role in her death, as was explained to me by her friends and by all the archival research.

The first person he sends to stalk her is an agent called Jimmy Fletcher. Harry Anslinger hated employing African Americans, but you couldn't really send a white guy into Harlem to stalk Billie Holiday—it would be kind of obvious. So Jimmy Fletcher follows her around for two years, and she was so amazing, he fell in love with her. And he felt ashamed his whole life for what he did. He busts her. She's sent to prison. The trial—she said, "The trial was called The United States v. Billie Holiday, and that's how it felt." And when she gets out, exactly what happens to addicts all over the United States today happens—what's happened to those women I met in Arizona: She can't get a job. You needed a license to be able to perform anywhere where alcohol was sold, and they wouldn't give her the license. So, you know, her friend Yolande Bavan said to me, "What's the cruelest thing you can do to a person is to take away the thing they love." She sinks back into addiction.

When she's in her early forties, she collapses here in New York City, she's taken to hospital, and she's convinced the narcotics agents aren't finished with her. And she was right. She says to one of her friends, "They're going to kill me in there. Don't let them. They're going to kill me." She was right. In her hospital bed, she's diagnosed with liver cancer. I spoke to the only surviving person who was still in that room—who had been in that room. She's handcuffed to the bed. They take away her record player and her candies. They don't let her friends in to see her. One of her friends manages to insist to the doctors they give her methadone, because she had gone into withdrawal. She starts to recover a little bit. Ten days later, they cut off the methadone. She dies.

Her friend Annie Ross—you know, there are lots of things that—I think there's lots of things in that dynamic that tell us a lot about the drug war, that it's founded in a race panic. At the same time that Harry Anslinger finds out that Billie Holiday is using—is a heroin user, he finds out that Judy Garland was a heroin user. He advises her to take slightly longer vacations and tells her she's going to be fine. Spot the difference.

But the most amazing thing to me about the Billie Holiday story that really helped me to think about the addicts in my life is she never stopped singing that song. She always found somewhere to sing it. You know, she went wherever they would have her, and she sang her song about lynching, no matter how much they tried to intimidate her. And to me, that's really inspiring, not just for resisting the racism of the drug war, but actually for realizing that addicts can be heroes. All over the world while we're talking, people are listening to Billie Holiday, and they are feeling stronger. And that is an incredible achievement. And the people resisting the drug war who I met all over the world, from a transsexual crack dealer in Brownsville, Brooklyn, to, you know, a scientist who was feeding hallucinogens to mongooses to see what would happen, to the only country that has ever decriminalized all drugs, there is heroism in resistance to this war all over the world.

AMY GOODMAN: Johann Hari, we have to break, but we're going to come back to this discussion. His book is called Chasing the Scream: The First and Last Days of the War on Drugs.

AMY GOODMAN: "Strange Fruit," Billie Holiday, here on Democracy Now!, democracynow.org, The War and Peace Report. I'm Amy Goodman, with Juan González. Our guest is Johann Hari, British journalist, author of the new book, Chasing the Scream: The First and Last Days of the War on Drugs. Juan?

JUAN GONZÁLEZ: Well, Johann, in your travels around the world to delve into this story, you found places that have chosen another way. Could you talk about, specifically, Portugal and the importance of what's happened in Portugal in terms of drug addiction, and also Vancouver, where you've spent some time?

JOHANN HARI: Yeah, I was so inspired by what I saw in both those places. It was fascinating to go to the places that have abandoned the drug war model and tried the alternatives.

In Portugal in the year 2000, they had the biggest—one of the biggest drug problems in Europe. One percent of the population was addicted to heroin, which is kind of mind-blowing. And basically, every year they tried harder the American way—they cracked down harder—and every year the problem got worse. So one day the prime minister and the leader of the opposition got together, and they said, "Look, let's just set up a panel of doctors to figure out what would genuinely solve this problem, and let's agree, in advance, that we'll do whatever they tell us to do." So it just took it out of politics.

So, the panel goes away for a year and a half, led by an amazing man called João Goulão, and they come back, and they say, "Look, decriminalize everything, from cannabis to crack. But"—and this is the crucial thing—"transfer all the money we currently spend on arresting drug users, imprisoning drug users, trying drug users, all of that, into incredibly good drug treatment." Now, partly, that's rehab, psychological support, that kind of thing. But, actually, much more, it's the stuff that learns the lesson of Rat Park. We could be drunk now. All three of us could be drinking vodka now, right? We're not, because we've got a job we love, we've got something to do, we've got a purpose in life. The goal of the Portuguese decriminalization was to say every addict needs to be given a purpose in life. So one of the biggest things was just subsidize jobs. If you used to be a mechanic and your life fell apart, they go to a garage, and they say, "Employ this guy for a year, and we'll pay half his wages." It was all about getting addicts reconnected. It's getting them out of the first cage, into the second cage, if you like.

And it's been 15 years, nearly 15 years, and the results are in, and they're kind of incredible. Injecting drug use is down by 50 percent. You know, every study shows addiction is significantly down. Overdose is massively down. And one of the most moving interviews I did was with a guy called João Figueira, who led the opposition to the decriminalization, was the top drug cop in Portugal. And he said—I'm paraphrasing; the exact words are in the book—but he said, "Everything I said would happen didn't happen. And everything the other guys said would happen did." And, you know, he talked about how he was ashamed that he had spent 20 years arresting drug users, and he hoped the whole world followed our example.

The other really amazing example—and I think it's particularly relevant to Democracy Now! listeners and viewers—is the story of what happened in Vancouver. Again in the year 2000, there was a homeless street addict on the streets of the Downtown Eastside of Vancouver called Bud Osborn. It was the area with the worst addiction in North America. And Bud Osborn was watching his friends die all around him. People would use behind dumpsters so the police wouldn't see them. Obviously, the police can't see, and no one else can. And Bud said, "I've got to do something. I can't just watch all these people die." But he also said, "I'm a homeless street addict. What can I do?" He had a very simple idea. He just said to all the other addicts, "Why don't we start just patrolling the alleyways? Why don't we just start—when we're not using, we'll have a rota. We'll patrol, and we'll monitor each other, and we'll call an ambulance."

AMY GOODMAN: Let's go to Bud Osborn—

JOHANN HARI: OK.

AMY GOODMAN: —speaking in 2011 at a Health, Harm Reduction and the Law forum in Vancouver.

BUD OSBORN: a flame burst inside me fueled by grief and rage like a spontaneous fierce combustion flashing up through my nervous system and roared in my head like a psychic explosion

because of another because of too many because of an unnecessary overdose death

*yelled
two words repetitively in my head*

*No More! No More! No More! of this heart-breaking family-shattering community-diminishing pain
of overdose deaths*

AMY GOODMAN: That was Bud Osborn.

JOHANN HARI: I feel a bit emotional looking at that. What Bud achieved was incredible. So, overdose started to fall, because they're doing these patrols. And then they started to get a bit energized, and the addicts started to think, "Oh, maybe we're not the pieces of rubbish that people have been saying we are."

Maybe we can do things differently."

They started to learn that in Frankfurt, Germany, they had opened safe injecting rooms, where people could use legally and be monitored by doctors, and it had massively saved lives. So Bud and his friends, a big group of them, started to stalk the mayor of Vancouver everywhere he went, a guy called Philip Owen. He was a kind of right-wing businessman. Think Mitt Romney, right? A guy who said that addicts should be taken and put in an army base somewhere, right? For two years, they follow him, everywhere he went, with a coffin. And the coffin said, "Who will die next, Philip Owen, before you open a safe injecting room?" This goes on for years. They get a bit demoralized.

And one day, to his eternal credit, Philip Owen just says, "Who the hell are these people?" And he goes, and he meets loads of addicts, and he spends a load of time on the Downtown Eastside. And it opens his heart, and he says, "I had no idea it was like this." And he holds a press conference, and they have the chief of police, and they have the coroner, and they have an addict. And he says, "I'm never going to talk about addiction again without having an addict here. We're going to open this first safe injecting room in North America. We're going to have the most compassionate drug policies in North America." They open this injecting room. Philip Owen is deselected by his own right-wing party, because they're so appalled. He's replaced by a candidate who continues keeping the drug room open, from a more liberal party.

And, you know, it's been 15 years now—10 years now, sorry, and the results are in. Overdose is down by 80 percent—80 percent. Average life expectancy in that neighborhood is up by 10 years. Those are figures you only get when a war ends. And I spoke to Philip Owen, and he said it was the proudest thing he ever did, and he would sacrifice his political career all over again.

And looking at Bud, I was thinking—you know, Bud died last year. He was only in his early sixties, but having been a homeless addict during a drug war takes a toll on you. When he died, they sealed off the streets of the Downtown Eastside where he had lived, and they had this amazing memorial service. And there were a huge number of people in that crowd who knew that they were alive because of what Bud had done. And I would say to anyone watching this, you know, it's so easy to feel daunted by the big political challenges we've got. It's so easy, especially with something as huge as the drug war. You are so much more powerful than you know. Bud was a homeless street addict, and he started a movement that has transformed Vancouver, transformed Canada, and saved thousands of people's lives. If he can do it, we can do it. This war has been going for a hundred years. We can end it now if we choose to.

AMY GOODMAN: Why "Chasing the Scream"?

JOHANN HARI: Oh, it's from the story at the beginning. This guy we were talking about, Harry Anslinger, the origin—who launches the modern drug war, this kind of genius—and I don't say that with admiration—when he was 10 years old, he lived at a farmhouse next to a woman, a farmer's wife, who was an addict. And one day he turns up, and she's screaming. And the farmer says, "Go to the pharmacy and buy her some heroin," because you could buy it legally then—opiates, it wouldn't have been heroin. And he kind of rushes there. He comes back. She takes the opiates and calms down. But he always remembered those screams. They haunted him. And he was convinced that he was taking on this big war, and he could eradicate these drugs, and therefore he could end that screaming. The tragic irony is he created a lot of screams in his turn.

AMY GOODMAN: Finally, could you talk about President Mujica of Uruguay?

JOHANN HARI: Oh, he's one of the most amazing people I've ever interviewed. Mujica was the leader of the Tupamaro guerrilla movement. He was a dissident. He was kept at the bottom of a well for two years by the dictatorship. And he emerged to become the leader of his country. He lives in a shack. I went to the shack. I mean, it's no exaggeration to say David Cameron and Barack Obama wouldn't keep their shoes where Mujica lives. And he led his country to legalize marijuana, first country to legalize marijuana since the drug war begins in the '30s, because he had seen what happened. And I went there to see this in northern Mexico, where the cartels have—if a large part of the economy is illegal drugs, the armed criminal gangs have more money than the state. They can hijack the state and take it over. And he saw if that comes in his Uruguay, they're screwed. It's a small country. They don't have much military force. And really, the horror that I saw—I mean, I interviewed the only person to ever be at the heart of one of the Mexican drug cartels—

AMY GOODMAN: Ten seconds.

JOHANN HARI: —and make it out to tell what it was like. And, you know, this is one of the most horrendous atrocities of the war on drugs, is what it does to the supply route countries.

AMY GOODMAN: Well, Johann Hari, I want to thank you for being with us. His book is Chasing the Scream. It is just out. The subtitle: The First and Last Days of the War on Drugs.

2015-03-20 TOTAL SOLAR ECLIPSE New Moon in Pisces + EQUINOX March 20th 2015~

The EQUINOX is here on March 20th 2015 and a powerful portal is opening up with a TOTAL SOLAR ECLIPSE and New Moon in Pisces on the same day!

Like our ancestors before us, we are being called to pause with reverence and tune in to the greater cosmic cycles that we are a part of.

Return, return, return...and enter the stillness through meditation, prayer or ceremony offering gratitude for the gift of Life and All that Is.

Pisces energy encourages us to dream and vision what we can contribute to create the world we wish to inhabit.

From simple acts of kindness, beginning with the Self, the revolution will birth forth from within each of us. For as we heal, we help others heal. As we shift our vibrations, we contribute in unseen ways to uplifting the energetic web that connects us all.

Here are the MYSTIC MAMMA Astral Insights from our beloved featured astrologers sharing their illuminating wisdom. First from astrologer PAM YOUNGHANS from her North Point Astrology:

"This is the week we've been talking about and building toward since the beginning of the year — arguably the most powerful week of 2015, in astrological terms..."

"We might call this a pivot point, a time of choosing new options and releasing the old. It is a time for breakthroughs and insights, when we can ride the energies of change into a new future."

"...THE SOLAR ECLIPSE on Friday occurs in the very last degree of Pisces, which is also the very last degree of the zodiac. The 29th degree of any sign is called the 'anaretic degree,' and it indicates that we are at a choice point..."

"The last degree of a sign can also be a destabilizing influence, since the energy is in the process of shifting from one mode to another — in this case, we are moving from a water/mutable sign (Pisces) to a fire/cardinal sign (Aries)."

From the insightful DIVINE HARMONY:

"The Eclipse portal is opening...This portal lasts all month long (the entire lunar cycle) and is followed by another Total Eclipse- this time a Total Lunar Eclipse in Libra on April 4th.

"With two Total Lunar Eclipses back to back- we have a very powerful Eclipse cycle opening up which brings in with it some powerful and inevitable changes..."

"First of all this Eclipse is total- which means there will be a complete blocking out of the Sun. Total Eclipses are not everyday experiences.

"We have many Eclipses- 4 to 5 a year- several of which are partial or penumbral (meaning not total). When they are total they are more potent and powerful and they have much more influence.

"If you happen to live in Europe you will get to see some of the Eclipse, but the total portion of it will only be visible to those at the North Pole..."

"Another reason this Eclipse is so powerful is it is at the very last degree of Pisces (29°27' Pisces), also known as the Omega degree.

"The 1st degree of Aries is the Alpha point and 29 Pisces is the Omega point. They represent the start of the zodiac (1 Aries) and the end of the zodiac (29 Pisces)- and they are points of initiation and completion, beginnings and endings."

From the wise SARAH VARCAS from her Astro Awakenings.uk:

"An eclipse here speaks of completion on a grand scale... This degree of the zodiac brings to a close great cycles of time and change, major life themes and patterns.

"An eclipse here reminds us the cosmos has its own timetable, weaving its design through our lives with or without our consent.

"We are faced with the choice to synchronize our timepiece of the heart with that of the heavens or occupy our own time zone – sometimes in synch, sometimes way out of it, struggling to impose our own schedule upon the unfolding of sacred creation.

"The endings we face now, be they losses, disappointments or liberating closure, remind us of the need for deep and abiding alignment with the god-force from here on in, as it threads its way through our lives.

"The cycles now ending offered certain challenges, opportunities and emergent wisdom. They required choices, the distant outcomes of which we now face.

"Those made in alignment with the evolutionary imperative of awakening reveal powerful new beginnings on the near horizon, crystallizing as we speak. Past courage will reap rewards of freedom and deep peace.

"Decisions made out of fear, from a defensive heart, reveal now the fading of a future self even as we gaze upon it: opportunities lost, the time for action passed. We may feel burdened with shame or regret, sadness or grief. But no matter the pain this moment may hold, there is comfort and hope at hand..."

"Don't look away. Whatever you see at this time, in the symbolic darkness of an obscured Sun, don't look away. No matter what, it cannot diminish the authentic self within.

"This Real Self has power, it carries weight. It challenges the very foundations of life as we know it.

"It refuses to conform to mindless notions of right and wrong, to dictates of value and worth that dishonor inner wealth. It sees through artifice, laughs in the face of shame and denies everything but the bold and beautiful truth.

"The world is not ready for the Real Self and yet still it emerges, in you and in me, in the collective psyche which twists and turns to accommodate a deeper knowing that nothing is as it seems.

"The Real Self emerges every time we stop and wait, sensing the integrity of the moment, the deep, pulsating beat of the unified heart, time-keeper of our collective awakening.

"It grows in strength and fortitude each time we honor its wisdom over and above the expectations and demands of the external world which denies all but that which can be counted, compared and traded.

"The Real Self knows that to think one's own thoughts is the only path to freedom, whilst the world demands unthinking conformity and the False Self agrees.

"The power of this solar eclipse will remove rose-tinted glasses and veils that hide the truth.

"We cannot stop it nor can we choose to postpone our own awakening. This – right here, right now – is the end of denial, the end of artifice, the end of avoidance.

"This is life in all its terrible grace and terrifying beauty. For this we were born: a visceral, unavoidable, undeniable confrontation with the very heart of All That Is.

"We may greet this eclipse in mourning or ecstasy, in freedom or bondage, but wherever we find ourselves we are living the life shaped by choices made, commitments honored, promises broken and betrayals enacted since the collective spirit was shaken awake never again to sleep.

"Each moment since then has been a step upon the path to awakening. Whether those steps have taken us deeper into truth or into shadow has no impact on their power.

"Each one has shaped who we are and the relationship we now have with the authentic and sacred self within.

"We are precisely who we have caused ourselves to be. The extent to which we have denied the truth or sacrificed its pursuit in favor of security reveals the extent to which we must now change and grow in ever more vital and transformative ways.

"The past is gone. Never was this statement more true, for second chances – third and fourth – have all dissolved. Opportunities missed may never return.

"We had our chance and did with it as we saw fit. Now here we stand at the grand closure of a cosmic cycle, reviewing its shape in our lives, invited by the cosmos into deep reflection on how we best move forward from here.

"Let it go: regret or shame, sorrow or sadness for chances now gone. They were not for you or me this time around.

"New ones await us the other side of the darkened Sun. They hold promise of wisdom and hope of freedom from all that held us back before.

"The cosmic clock continues to tick-tock its way through our awakening as our hearts synchronize to respond, this time without hesitation, heeding the call of the divine to prioritize truth above all."

From the always inspired KELLEY ROSANO:

"...Eclipses are the most powerful transit that you can experience. The herald major beginnings and endings. Pisces is the most psychic and sensitive sign in the zodiac. Your emotions will feel strong and deep.

"You may be moody and introspective. This is because your feelings rising from your subconscious may be difficult to articulate and communicate. Your sub-conscious speaks in a different language than your conscious mind.

"Your physic abilities are increasing. Your intuition is strong. You could have spiritual experiences. Trust your intuition. Trust your instincts. Much insight can come to you now.

"...Watch out for fears and phobias that may wash over you. Stay in the present. Your power is in the now. This Pisces eclipse is bringing to light your mission in this life. Your soul's purpose."

"...Dream what you want to see in the world. You do not need to fix, save and rescue other people. You want to let people live their own lives. Allow others to learn from their experiences. This is the path to Self-mastery.

"Practice the Law of Allowing. That is create the space for others to find their own answers...If you want to help other people, role model a great life. When you do what is right for you, it is right for everyone else. The Law of Attraction is matching your energy, words and behavior."

"...The Moon enters Aries less than an hour after the eclipse. Thirteen hours later the Sun enters Aries. You have the Spring/Fall Equinox.

"Your mood will shift rapidly...For you will be ready to launch into action. Having both lights (the Sun and the Moon) in Aries..."

"March 20 could be the most intense day this year. The total eclipse followed by the equinox creates a powerful portal. You can access higher dimensions of consciousness...."

"This is an awesome opportunity to merge with your Soul Self. Be who you really are. Be your authentic Self. March 20 is a brilliant day for ritual and prayer.

"Set your intention for what you want to create in the new season. Dance with Creator."

From the wonderful CATHY PAGANO from her Wisdom of Astrology:

"...Pisces is the sign that symbolizes the collective unconscious, the place of endings where our ego consciousness dissolves back into the Ocean of Being. It is the energy of opening to the Divine Presence; the energy of surrender to the flow of life, the energy of trust and faith in Life. "

"The sign of Pisces has two fish, swimming in opposite directions. One fish symbolizes delusion and illusion, the fantasies the ego generates about its own desires. The other is mystical awareness and communion with the Anima Mundi, our World Soul.

"This is our choice now. Which fish will we swim with? This is such a moment of grace! Like the ancients and aboriginals, we can learn to be at one with Mother Earth as well as living our soul's destiny in this time of great change."

"...we are called to acknowledge the energies of the Collective Unconscious, the energetic field that holds our collective hopes and dreams as well as our emotional disappointment and sorrow over what we've done to each other and what we've done to the Earth.

"We all long for love, for peace, for creativity, for family and community, talents and disciplines that make us whole human beings.

"Unfortunately, our society's leaders do not listen to what the people want...We're finally waking up to the fact that the ideas and paradigms running our world no longer fit our needs; in fact, they reject our vision and our needs.

"So it is time for each of us to take responsibility for the story of our lives. The old story that is passing away is the story that taught us that we needed to be free.

"The new story is about what we plan to do with our freedom. It begins within your own psyche. Are you in or are you out?"

"Can you open up your crown chakra to Spirit and listen to the original story of your soul? Can you let your inner guidance help you create your new life?"

"Can you free yourself from the fear and insecurity patriarchy is trying to feed us?"

"If you do, you can play in the Quantum Field and start creating that new life that the world needs so very much. "

EQUINOX~ECLIPSE~NEW MOON

Love and Blessings to all! ~MM

New Moon Phase: begin, intendMoon in Pisces/Aries (6:28 am ET/10:28 am UT)*Wisdom Goddess:*Skill: look at the various things that are being *projected

Positive Imprints: initiative and initiations, completion, focus, applying one's knowledge/skills/talents, connecting Heaven and Earth, progress, growth, clarity, release, looking to a higher power, goals and desires, solid foundations, cravings, being students and teachers for each other, determination

Catalysts for Change: denial of one's true self, going off on tangents, temptation to act out one's feelings, tricks, laziness, unclear, being under someone's influence, prematurity, lack of initiative, lingering in the past, wanting others to project a certain or ideal image

Sabian Symbol for the Lunar Month: "a majestic rock formation resembling a face is idealized by a boy who takes it up as his ideal of greatness, and as he grows up, begins to look like it"

The New Moon and Total Solar Eclipse occurs today, and it happens at the very last degree of the zodiac. Poised on the precipice of the Second Renaissance, the panorama of majestic rock formations surrounds us.

This month is very important because it marks an end point. A cycle of time where truth and wisdom have been shadowed comes to a close. A new cycle of time that steers us back toward balance and sanity begins at the next New Moon, the New Moon in Aries on April 18, 2015. This is covered in the audio recording overview for the month, which is posted on the Homepage of www.oraclereport.com.

But today, as the New Moon imprints the predominant energetic for this lunar month, we find that people react quite strongly and emotionally when there is a Total Solar Eclipse. This particular energetic can trigger levels of identity crisis, which often leads to acting out (acting out our feelings as if they were the totality of who we are; we are much more).

Wounding, especially self-wounding and wounding in relationships, is an element to this energy. It is better to look to the teaching that is implied within the situation and learn from it. It's not worth the physical toll it takes on everyone involved when the energies toy with, tempt, and trick us into being harsh with ourselves and others.

Within this, we are wise to remember the notion of being careful what we wish for because we just might get it.

The degree of the Earth at the New Moon is the Sabian symbol of "having an urgent task to complete, a man doesn't look to any distractions." This tells us of the need to remain focused and to stay the course regardless of what shows up and what falls down. We are urged to stay true to ourselves and our paths. Don't allow another to project their own vision for you.

I suggest that one of the "urgent tasks" we have this month is to release as much of that past as we can. This "last degree of the zodiac energy" is about endings and releases. It's Balsamic energy, and we are in the second of two months that are like month-long Balsamic Moon phases. Balsamic phase is the mystical, dreamy, ethereal time of the year when the veils between the worlds are thin. Our ancestors are closer. Spirit is closer. What serves neither can be released.

One last thing, something I did not cover fully in the audio recording is the significance of the degree of Mars at the New Moon with the Sabian symbol of "the gate to the garden of all fulfilled desires." This energetic implies that we have come to a "place" we were seeking and now must take it up. What do you need to admit? Do you announce yourself, knock, or just open the gate and walk through? This is a very esoteric concept, but your inner wisdom should be glimpsing or telling you what you need to get from this image.

The question for each of us this month is What is your ideal of greatness? It's what has already come into concrete manifestation at another space and time. And it's majestic.

(Note: I will be taking a break from the report tomorrow, but will be back Monday.)

2015-03-18 The Mega Equinox & Eclipses - The Astro Crucible

Archangel Metatron with Tyberonn of the Pleiades via James Tyberonn

Greetings Masters, I am Metatron, Archangel of Light.

I am joined in this session by Tyberonn of Crystalline Service. We greet you in a vector of love. Masters, we share important information in this gathering, information specific to the present time. We speak of an incredible eclipse and equinox that occurs in a few days. As always, it is for you to discern what resonates and what does not....for you are indeed Masters in the making.

Dear Ones, 2015 is absolutely an enthralling year astrologically. Such astro-events in this beginning phase of the New Planet Earth are designed to be so, for an incredible transition is in place. And we tell you that the changes are being aided, embellished and transacted by means of astronomical patterning and solar radiation. Occurrences that occur annually, such as eclipses, solstices, equinoxes, trines, planetary alignments, comets and meteor events, began taking on crystalline geometric coding from the initiation of the 2009 Cosmic Trigger, and these embellishments are gaining momentum in 2015, Year Three of the New Planet Earth!

Year Three

The Mayan Calendar foretold of a new time, the fifth 'world' beginning centuries ago in the astronomical assertion that a 'New Earth would begin in 2013 at the end of 2012'. And indeed the Crystalline Grid emerged at that time on the 12-12-12. The planetary grid and planet rebooted soon afterward on the 12-21-12. Our measurement then is based on the timing of the New Earth matrix, not the speed in which humanity adapts to the shift. For, indeed, not all humans will shift into the new pattern, and the calibration of those that do is qualitative not quantitative...it depends on the light quotient and focus of each individual, you see. This is quite logical, is it not? The 2012 Ascension was the Planetary graduation; the Ascension of Humanity is many years in the future.

It is now, from this accurate perspective, Year Three of the New Planet Earth. 2015 a time in which you are re-calibrating to the new crystalline energies. How quickly you adjust will depend on each individual's light quotient. Masters, astronomy implied into astrological science is, as your Edgar Cayce stated, a valid endeavor. It is a science in its purest form, but the accurate interpretation is a spiritual art, requiring true devoted study as does any science. We are not speaking of 'daily news horoscopes', most of which are for purposes of entertainment, but rather of a benevolent science of trends, accompanied by devoted study and interpreted with intuitive clarity. Study turns art into science.

Codes of Shift

Astronomical patterning alone does not reveal the full scope of the shifts. But the astro-patterns do provide the template and matrix for the 'codes of upshift' to be inserted....and such codes are attached thru the equinoxes, solstices, solar flares, and especially eclipses. Accordingly, a portion of what we share includes that which cannot be fully seen by mere planetary angles. For we tell you that there is an unseen element in your 'New Earth' astronomy, and that is the unity of Spirit Coding and the Collective Higher Intent of Humanity. We wish to assure you that nothing is happening on your planet that is not on path. Many will doubt this, but we differ; again we emphatically assure you that the 'cleansing' that is surfacing is requisite for what is to come in 2038.

Thus far over the past 12 months, you have experienced a quadrangle of solar and lunar eclipses, and these are culminating on the Total Solar eclipse on the March 20th equinox, followed by the Full Moon Total Eclipse of April 4th, and June Solstice. From the Equinox of March until the Solstice of June, you are essentially in one emulsified energy, one that is sandwiched between the September - October 2014 Equinox 'Tandem Eclipses' and the September-October 2015 Equinox/ Tandem Eclipses. These are by no means ordinary; by no stretch of the imagination are they mundane. And these are further greatly amplified by the massive injections of radiation via Solar Winds, prompting the 'coding' of the New Earth in what may be termed the Aquarian shift.

The Astronomy of Purification - The Stellar Crucible

In the current month, there have been three massive Coronal Mass Ejections (CME Solar Flares), one on March 7th, and a super X2 Class solar flare 5 days ago on March 11th, and an X Class-C yesterday on March 17th. These have an energy amplification effect of a 'full moon X20'. But along with the matrix of intensity, the Solar Flares provide a template for coding the new earth, and modifying the ionic ratio of the planet in a manner that percolates unresolved emotion to the surface for requisite clearing. You are in a phase of 'crucible' astronomy.

The codes are around up-shift, and up-shift cannot truly occur without 'clearances'. The madness you see around the planet is part of the clearing. This occurs in macro and micro, for equally in your personal lives, your unresolved issues will surface in the up-shift. Do not expect the current turmoil on the planet to come to a quick end, but do understand that what is happening must be resolved to move higher. If you are expecting a hopeful message, you will not be disappointed, for we tell you that, as difficult and unlikely as the naysayers may see the present conflicts, what is happening now will lead to the resolution.

The March 2015 Super Eclipse & Equinox

And so we bring in the energy of Tyberonn of the Pleiades, of Crystalline Service, to discuss the implications of the astro code occurrences.

Greetings! This week's Equinox/Eclipse represents a very powerful time for the awakening to Truth on both Global and individual levels. This is an utterly intense astro-frequency, and provides opportunity for contextual review of relationships, partnerships, and indeed your relationship with the 3d world. We have spoken of the Global situation in our recent message (Ref - The 2015 Message to the United Nations), and the focus of this message is then on the individual.

It is a time to consider the review and prioritizing of relationships which hold you back or prevent you from being your better self. If you are partnered or associated with another that disapproves of your spiritual work, or consistently denigrates you, This is the time to put those in order, and this means either changing the agreement or releasing the contact. Eclipses signify shift and, in this time, you have the potential to experience profound revelations in these areas. Accordingly this phase also brings up the distortions in your own actions versus ideals. It is the perfect intensity for considering the way you perceive, evaluate, judge and act. It is time to review value systems that may be in conflict with higher ideals. This will involve relationship agreements and attachment. This is pushed to the surface in the Venus/Uranus square Pluto in Capricorn, triggering the Uranus-Pluto dynamic....and is further amplified by the equinox build, exponentially magnified by the Total Solar Eclipse and Solar Flares.

New Beginnings

Accordingly, the Ecliptical New Moon is the perfect time for new beginnings; although in the unpredictability of the Uranus-Pluto square alignment, courage and strength may be required to overcome the lethargy in the waning moon gravity. Up until the equinox, you may feel like you are stuck in molasses, but this can for the courageous and astute seeker spring forward in the new moon total solar eclipse. Venus/Uranus trine in Jupiter Retrograde creates a Grand Fire Trine. This essentially amplifies this energy and will give strength to those who persevere in seeking betterment. Venus/Uranus are also sextiled and these are energies which support you in moving past co-dependent traits.

The vibrational 'bar' is being raised exponentially in terms of the planetary frequency through these astro-eclipsical episodes. They are advents of enormous downloads. As the Earth rides further toward apical apogee, and heavy downpours of astrological zingers rain in, most empaths feel the waves of intensities beginning to crest, thus creating an emotional high tide.

Your Role - Be the Change

The March 20 Super Equinox on its own would be sufficient, but in 2015, the Equinox is embellished to the tipping point, juxtaposed with 2 Total Eclipses and amplified exponentially by potent Coronal Mass Ejections. So Dear Humans, hang on to your hats. Do not allow the energy to overwhelm you: it can be managed. Yes, there plenty of squares and unsettling astro-alignments, but there are also some brilliant Trines in play. There is no need to crash over the edge: quite the contrary; with a little focus this can be brilliantly navigated. We repeat, you not only can learn to optimally manage these intensities, it is required of you to do so, because these will continue for the next years. None of these potent astro occurrences are totally one-sided. Indeed, this equinox is chock full of yin-yang, a perfect reflection of duality...and there are many tools for the aware seeker to benevolently grasp & utilize. For both humanity & the planet are receiving supports from all the Cosmic Forces in these events.

You see, the codes of the Solar Flares & Eclipses do not just contain the seeds of surfacing the 'unresolved energies'. There are also codes that allow for the tools to accomplish this. There is what may be termed as 'energy packets', to borrow a term from your 'video games', which can be absorbed and strengthen you. There are codes of courage and insight to allow you to not only overcome the intensities, but also to thrive at a higher level. These contain the tools of betterment. And the shift of humanity, the transition of mankind as a species will be accomplished first on the individual level by 'being the change' And that is your role, Dear Ones, to 'Be the Change'.

The Sun is bathing the earth and humanity with new rays of benevolence. The sparks of crystalline cognition are beckoning in brilliance. The Earth is teeming with new codes, new energies and flexing its expanded dimensional matrix. Of course it is intense - it is cosmic adrenaline. And so with the intensity on the planetary at a high pitch, it is absolutely imperative that each of you maintain an intact Auric sheath to avoid the pitfalls of energetic short circuitry.

Jupiter and Saturn

There are two major planets currently in retrograde, (Saturn & Jupiter)) and Mercury only recently went direct in early March, so the aftermath of the Mercury retro is still in play. But do not think retrogrades are all negative, for these offer focus potentials. In the current retros are exquisite opportunities for consideration of life purpose and relationships. And in the mix are solar and eclipsical downloads to enable the strength in facing the issues. The key is to face the issues and recalibrate.

We told you in 2014 that the planet is entering a unique phase that is specifically purposed for the requisite surfacing of unexpressed frustration and negativity. It is unresolved energy. And it is all around you. There are wars, riots and protests ... and these are surfacing and percolating to a boiling point. And although some of you may not be directly experiencing these problems, other than seeing news reports, you may, none the less, actively be part of the resolution by focusing and co creating highest good. You can do your part in resolving the issues that touch you and helping those around you.

So rather than be discouraged by what you see as devolution....is active in the transition. Be the alchemist that changes lead into gold. The truth is the astro events; this crysto-electromagnetic 'cocktail' is doing exactly what it is meant to do. The key is staying balanced, and staying focused in equilibrium, and doing your part to be a better person, to live a better life, to focus on highest good.

The Eclipsical Window

The frequencies of the present eclipsical window have a framing of 28 days, but the elongated intensity will persist through the June solstice. Keep in mind the Eclipsical window is a 28 day spread, 7 days prior and 7 days after the March 20 zenith ...and it then is reactivated 7 days prior and 7 days after the Total Lunar (Full Moon) eclipse on April 4th. The four apexial dates are March 20, April 4th, May 27th and June 21st. But in truth, this phase from March thru June has an amalgamated frequencial unity. Energetic gravity waves are similar throughout this period, with a certain ebb and flow in line with lunar phase. We offer overview & suggestions.

Emotion is highly amplified, and there is an undercurrent of tension that may allow for the unfortunate excessive expression of skewed impression into a crisis of inappropriate offensive action. It is easy to misinterpret another's intent or to over react; making mountains out of molehills. On the other hand, do not seek to hide away and merely 'wait out' in safe refuge in the intensity by surrendering into apathy or inactivity. Being aware of the gravitated influences at hand can allow you to manage them optimally, and prevent an uncomfortable emotional confrontation that can better be avoided. If issues surface, deal with them, seek resolution. Don't bury them or they will simply fester and find another perhaps less manageable 'uncontrolled & inappropriate' release in this crucible energy. For in this phase, resolution is the better option, because what does not serve you is being percolated to the surface of your emotional & mental fields. Instead of harboring negativity, find a way to complete it, to convert it into clarity through resolution. Masters, focus on creating a better life and in so doing , a better world. And this, Dear hearts, is absolutely the optimal way to use this magnificent crucible energy.

This solstice is teeming with a new influx of 'life force' and you can use it wisely, or you can amplify scenarios that should not receive your focus. Do not fall into self condemnation or depression as the retrogrades project their opposing wave-flow; rather, use this to go inward and recalibrate into the great and greater you!

The potent magnitude of the 'gravities are very real, if your auric field & emotions are not optimally managed or kept in balance, this can be a difficult time; the intensities are quite extreme. But the wise steward can utilize this amazing energy to focus on intent, for the 'life force units' within these energies are absolutely amazing. It is a perfect time for 'creating' your benevolent desires'. A perfect time for seeking 'perfection' !

The Sacred Wheel

Dear hearts, we have told you before that Love is required to master the 'University of Earth'...and that love is incomplete without strength. For the Divine Science of Creative Love involves all that you consider honor integrity, compassion, wisdom and determination. For you are learning creatorship !

The sacred must include the scientific and the scientific must include the sacred. As a person of faith your covenant must be bound to the integral circle; as a person of science, you must embrace the the unseen Law of Belief in the Infinite Torus . Dear Humans, you are Sacred Scientists learning the Physics & Nurturing Intricacies of LOVE!

Closing

Completing the Earthplane is achieved not by strength alone, but by perseverance. Persevering may involve failing 9 times, before succeeding the 10th .Masters, never forget that the Earthplane is a purposed illusion. one that humanity collectively co-creates. The University of Earth is a credentialed course. It has great value and, like all valuable curriculums, it requires effort to complete. Humanity in the mirage of the physical world wears filters that separate you from your higher self. You often feel so lost, so separated, so alone. In all of your searching, you will eventually find that the only thing that makes all of this bearable is loving one another. Love! In the interesting world of free will, you are capable of such beautiful dreams and such horrible nightmares. But this is the way of discovering your divinity, your true roles as responsible creators of your fascinating reality. The earthplane is an illusion, but a very real one. The emotions, the pain, the lessoning feels very real because if it did not, you would not grow. But it is the beautiful moments, the love, that will define and underscore your memories. It is the love that will last eternally.

So let us tell you that this all will have a happy ending, and let us assure you that, in time, you will know that there was a reason for everything. In time, you will realize what an extraordinarily beautiful experience the earthplane provided you. A lesson learned, then another, and another. With filters removed, you will love, unconditionally love & cherish every step of this extraordinary journey. You will remember the exquisite sunrises, the symmetry of the leaves on a tree, the colors of autumn, the laughter of children. Dear Humans, we honor you. We tell you that this is the way it has been done for eons of time: small moves, one step at a time on the way home. You are closer than you realize. And we of the Angelic realm lovingly await you and are leaving the lights on for your return.

Masters, we honor you & we bid you joy. You are beloved.

And so it is...and it is So
