

Position: myHCN Web Series Student Advisory Board Member

This is an unpaid position, but a resume booster and volunteer service*

If you find the process of figuring out your post-graduation job and career plans a bit mystifying, you're not alone. But here's the good news – we're on a mission to support students in making this a bit easier. And you can be part of the solution.

If you're like some of your peers, these are some of the questions that may be on your mind:

- What can I actually do with my major in my first job out of college?
- What have others done with a similar major and how well do they like it?
- I've heard about job titles but I don't really get what I'd be doing in that type of job on a day to day basis
- I know about a handful of jobs but I've heard there are loads of jobs out there that I could apply for. How do I find out about those?

We're putting together a quick hit video series for students – one you'll watch because you want to, not because you have to. We'll pull the curtains back on what can seem hidden and confusing – and hear directly from recent grads now in the work world – those who have only graduated in the last year.

If this sounds interesting to you, great, we'll be sure to let you know when the first videos are available in the coming weeks. But if this is something YOU want to help make happen in the way you can see it having the most impact, then keep reading.

We're looking for a small group of creative, solutions-oriented and vocal students who can act as advisors to help us make sure we answer the questions on your minds. That it's done in a way that will captivate you. That it's real and authentic, (hint hint: no PowerPoint slides will be allowed!). If you want to be on the ground floor of creating something that will help not just you but help your friends and future students, then reach out. We're moving fast and we're going to keep this advisory group small and nimble.

If you think you're right for us, reach out and let us know why. No need to send us an essay! Just a brief blurb on what makes you a great fit to create real and needed change. You can include some info on your background, major, job title, and healthcare interests as well.

If you'd like to join, email myhcn1@gmail.com to apply with your responses!
