HACKBRIDGE – THE MASTERPLAN !

PLEASE SEE INSIDE FOR KEY AND REPORT

AT LAST!

After two years of consultation and work, Monday 24th November saw the masterplan for Hackbridge took a step forwards to reality when eight members of the Council's Planning Advisory Group met in a smallish room with about 15 concerned local residents to hear the discussion.

Hackbridge has been identified as the key area for the Council to create a “flagship sustainable regeneration project”. This means to develop Hackbridge (and Beddington Corner) to give it a real sense of place, with a better centre round the junction of London Road and Hackbridge Road, better road and path links, with an emphasis on cyclists and pedestrians, and a mixed development of housing and employment.

This is all possible because there are a lot of opportunities for development. There is underused commercial space right in the middle by the railway station and on the Felnex site, as well as the Wandle Trading estate by Middleton Road. Also there is land next to BedZED where a new estate would be built, possibly with a new primary school. It would all go hand in hand with the development of better shops, amenities such as a health centre, and public open spaces. The total number of new homes would be 1,100, with the hope that that in itself would help the economic regeneration of the area.

Local residents raised some of their concerns, including the small amount of employment offered at present on the Felnex site, the lack of provision for local young people, and the difficulty of forecasting the future numbers of schoolchildren.

The next stage will be public consultation in February/March with every household receiving an explanation of the proposals. We are at the start of what could be a milestone in the history of Hackbridge. KEY TO THE ILLUSTRATION ON FRONT COVER

- ① Mixed-use district centre providing new retail, cafes, restaurants, community and health facilities as well as housing and employment.
- ② Scale of development on Felnex site reduces away from the district centre, so ensuring development relates well to surrounding area
- ③ Streets and spaces provide new connections towards the district centre and the rail station
- ④ Improved pedestrian and cycle connections to the regional park
- ⑤ Development of land north of BedZED creates a more balanced urban structure to Hackbridge as a whole
- ⑥ New green spaces help to maintain and improve green links throughout the area
- ⑦ Development of Wandle Valley Trading Estate creates a greatly improved 'gateway' to the Wandle Trail
- ⑧ Traffic management, new cycle lanes, improved footways and new signal-controlled junction help to make London Road a much friendlier place for pedestrians and cyclists

We extended our Monday toddler group to older children over the summer, and worked on this 4-panel mural made of recycled materials, under the guidance of Maria Brown (left). The theme is the seasons and elements. It will be up on display shortly!

Annual General Meeting and future developments

In September we celebrated two years since the New Possibility Committee was founded. We reviewed our activities to date and presented plans for the future at an Open Meeting, and the Committee of Jo Simister (Chair), Simon Garner (Vice-Chair) and Roy Bennett (Company Secretary) was voted in to continue to lead developments, ably assisted by Leon Pearson, the Project Manager. Please see inside for more on our activities and how you can support us.....

As well as an exhibition of photos from the past eighteen months, there were refreshments and a chance to make suggestions for future developments, particularly relating to the development of the field as an amenity for the community. This illustration draws together the suggestions to date.

And finally, an opportunity:

BedZED Pavilion is a community centre for the whole of Hackbridge. The three voluntary trustees whom you have voted to continue as the New Possibility Committee need your involvement in the running of the activities and services. We want to keep the centre as a community space which is run by and for the community.

How can you become involved?

- As a co-opted member of the management committee – come to meetings (regularly or occasionally) and make your opinion count!
- Help with admin – we are seeking to employ an admin assistant for the equivalent of one day a week. You need computer skills in basic Microsoft programmes.
- Can you cook? We are looking for someone to share the responsibility for Monday lunches and the catering for various events like the Sunday Oasis programme.
- Do you like plants – indoor or outdoor? We love the few plants we have inside the Pavilion, but we could have more..... but we need a couple of people to be responsible for their care.
- Then there is also the development of the field (once Thames Water have finished digging it up), which will include a garden. Are you up for some community leadership in making ideas a reality – perhaps even getting sponsorship and TV involvement!
- Can you fund-raise? We always need financial support for community activities.
- Would you like to run an activity – whether for a one-off session or a few weeks? (You need to be CRB checked for work with children and other vulnerable groups.)
- Do you just have ideas you'd like us to consider?

Just contact us! Remember – if you don't have your say, you cannot complain we are not serving your needs!

We hope to see you soon!

Jo Simister

VICAR'S CORNER

We have pretty high expectations of Christmas. We no longer expect ideal weather – the odds are 7-1 against having a white Christmas. But we do expect lots of food and drink, our children expect the latest electronic gadgets, and we expect to have a lovely time with all family members being kind and jolly and patient with each other for 48 continuous hours. When our expectations aren't met, we can sink into a depression and wish Christmas had never been invented. That is particularly true for people on their own, when knowing that others are with their families can make their loneliness worse.

So what should we expect of Christmas? It all hinges on whether we have a do-it-yourself Christmas, which can mean reducing ourselves to a frazzle trying to come up to other people's expectations, or we buy into the two thousand years of Christian experience.

For almost 2,000 years the centrepiece of the midwinter festival has been a baby born in a cave and sleeping in an animal feeding trough. (The stable was in fact a cave under the house where animals were kept during winter. That cave is still there, under the church of the Nativity in Bethlehem). Christians believe that in that baby, born into poverty, we see God entering our world to share our life – and death. The purpose was to welcome us into a family relationship with him, and therefore with all other men and women on earth.

So the heart of Christmas is worship. That is why I recommend that together with all the family festivities, we factor into our Christmas plans a visit to church, where we can sing the well known carols, hear the well known story, and enjoy an hour when we focus on a greater love where we can drop our busyness and receive the Christmas present that God has ready for us.
