

GENETHICS

and 100K genethics geCIP meeting

The Genethics Forum is for health professionals - and other interested parties - to discuss and explore difficult ethical and/or legal issues encountered in genetic medicine. The Genethics GeCIP (genomics England clinical interpretation partnership) focusses on such issues encountered in the 100,000 genomes project

Next meeting: London, Tuesday 28th February, 2017 10.30am- 4.30pm

Venue: Academy of Medical Sciences, 41 Portland Place W1B 1QH, London

Plenary: Re-contacting in Genetics Practice

Results from a 3 year ESRC research project from Exeter/Southampton/Cardiff about re-contacting/ updating clinical practice when re-interpretation of genomic test results alter previous clinical communication

Susan Kelly and colleagues

Please bring any clinical cases or issues for discussion, but particularly those that relate to: re-contact of patients after re-interpretation of genomic test results.

All Welcome: including laboratory and bioinformatics colleagues

This meeting will be free of charge but places are limited. Priority will be given to those who have cases or issues to discuss

If you would like to attend please contact:

Michael Parker or Anneke Lucassen

michael.parker@ethox.ox.ac.uk or a.m.lucassen@soton.ac.uk