

Press release – showguide

AIDF 2012 Show preview now online!

3rd May, London – The Aid and International Development Forum (AIDF) is pleased to announce that the 2012 show preview is now available at aidforumonline.org. AIDF returns to Washington D.C. 6-7 June with a packed show. Over 100 confirmed exhibitors from countries all over the world, including USA, New Zealand, Czech Republic, Norway, UK and India, showcasing new and innovative products and services for the humanitarian and relief sector.

AIDF will also feature conference and workshop sessions with expert speakers and panelists from organizations such as International NGO Safety and Security Association, World Food Programme, Millennium Challenge Corporation, USAID, Habitat for Humanity International, the American Red Cross and the Mines Advisory Group. Full details of our comprehensive conference are available in the show preview.

Delegates are invited to a networking reception at 6pm on the first day on the event, 6 June. The reception will provide an unrivalled opportunity to meet with other visitors, exhibitors and speakers in order to create relationships and form partnerships.

Sponsors for AIDF 2012 are Global Fleet Sales, a division of the RMA Group; Ford motor company; Key Travel, who cater specifically to the NGO and not-for-profit sector; and satellite imaging company DigitalGlobe.

AIDF are proud to count International NGO Safety and Security Association as one of their prestigious show partners. Other partners include the international non-profit trade associations MBI and ISOA; UK-based emergency relief NGO ShelterBox; and Team Rubicon, a disaster relief NGO created and run by American veterans.

The number of pre-registered visitors has doubled since last year, meaning that 2012 is our biggest show to date. AIDF is a free to attend event.
