HARD NEWS

T: the man whose little boy was found on the shore

- Martin O'Malley [D] running for president has suggested that the US accept ??? per year.
- Explains the difference between the words "migrant" and "refugee"

- same as in the US – it's all instigated by the criminals who have set up austerity a??

Great Britain: Cameron has offered to take more refugees; now in a difficult position as the extreme right remind him he agreed to take NO refugees.

- The former Prime Minister of Britain said it's outrageous that Britain is not accepting more refugees

US: Hillary [today's interview with Andrea Mitchell on MSNBC's Andrea Mitchell Reports] is giving no numbers, saying it's a global issue – T saying you and who else? What is going on in the rest of the world which is in dire straits is the result of what the West has done.

Hungary: caused a whole gathering of refugees to get on a train and be taken to a camp in the south of Hungary; the rest of the people started to walk to Germany – about 300 miles; then Hungary condescended to send buses for them to ride.

Austria: said they would take the refugees when they get to the border.

Puerto Rico: a possession or territory of the US and what the US is doing with PR

1. a possession – they can vote in primaries
2. There are more Puerto Ricans on the mainland than on the island
3. A doctor in PR says the US has not paid him for his services
And a staggering number of people - over 2 million - rely on Medicare and the island cannot afford it; have been borrowing to pay the bills and the debt is over $200 million now
4. Congress capped the amount of money payable for Medicaid for any territories or possession whereas the states get billions in help from the federal gov't – the people in Puerto Rico want the same treatment as the other states in the union.
 - The doctor is asking that, in the case of medicaid, Puerto Rico should be treated as the state of Mississippi, the lowest paid state, in the US, is treated!
 - The reality is that things in Puerto Rico will get worse before they get better: cost of food is rising; thousands of doctors are leaving; hospitals get 25% less; only 2 nurses per floor!; no more transportation support.
 - A teacher with private insurance still has trouble finding a doctor.

Earth Focus: what climate change means for our future about the Juneau Ice Field

Earth Focus: Juneau Icefield Expedition

Battling crevasses and limited visibility. It's a hard core eight weeks on the Juneau Icefield. Link TV correspondent Jeff Barbee joins the 2013 Juneau Icefield Research Program -- which since 1946 has brought teams of scientists and students together to study glaciers in a 1,700 square mile area between Juneau and Skagway Alaska and Atlin, British Columbia. He reports on what it takes to keep glacier science up to date.

Earth Focus: Juneau Icefield Expedition II

<https://www.linktv.org/programs/earth-focus/video/2700243262001>

Digging snow pits and mapping ice movement: Join Link TV correspondent Jeff Barbee on the 2013 Juneau Icefield Research Program (JIRP) expedition to find out why most southeast Alaskan glaciers are wasting away. The JIRP program has been sending researchers to Alaska and Western Canada to study glaciers since 1946, and it maintains the longest running record of glacial climate data in North America. This is the second report in Jeff Barbee's two part series on Alaskan glacier melt.

CONFERENCE LINE

Caller: urging listeners to support T & R, no matter how small the amount they can send may be

T: also urges people to take their money out of the big banks and put it in a credit union

- Caller wants people to get their money out of Wall Street as it is going bye-bye – so much disinformation

T: after listening the items about the melting of glaciers- there is also a melting of your cash flow!

- Talking about the difference between the US and Cdn dollars – now equal to 25 cents Cdn
 - and the currency all over the world is devaluing too.
 - As people have a little set aside and most people don't – but they would be very grateful for any kind of help listeners can provide: $300 of bills in the first half of Sept, and the same in the last half of the month.

Caller: asking about the arrests and progress by Faction 3

T: refers to the list of 33 things going to happen in September – Dr Keshe has said if countries of the world do not stop the wars, he will.

- a caller yesterday asked how Dr Keshe could do that all by himself? Has to do with the space ship program he has in Milan, Italy: he can delete all the programs that are on the grid because he has off-grid technology which is 6th dimensional technology; war is a program that can be deleted! When we get our kids into something, they will not be affected by previous programs. In the creation story, in the Lyran Constellation and the Vega star system, we helped Mother create the forms we now have – and we were only programmed for LOVE!
- Any time Rama has asked people: Nada; KOS; Larry Curly & Mo; Dodi and Di, they all say there is a 95% chance that the stuff listed as going to happen in September WILL HAPPEN IN SEPTEMBER. [2015-08-19 The Big List of 33 Things that are going to happen in September

- Yesterday, they played Bernie Sanders speaking to the 15,000 people at the U of Washington – JUST LISTEN TO IT: he does not leave on issue unturned “Let me make myself perfectly clear . . . no more racism, no more nothing! As long as I become president, there will be none of this . . .

Caller: asks if they know about the disparity between numbers given by Dr Michal Scalia and others about the number of planets with the possibility for life.

- They only know about those numbers they give – in fact, there are 80 BILLION PLANETS IN THIS Universe of Nebadon, and 95% of all ET life forms in this Universe of Nebadon have human DNA!
- Rama sat beside a person at the Tribunal on Saturn with a head like a Walrus and the body of a human; thought to himself he looked ugly; the being turned to him and commented about the thoughts R was having, as he was telepathic and could hear them!
- There is an emergency on the planet: they are killing Native Americans faster than African Americans, not to mention that they are dumping radioactive waste on the reservations and people are dying in droves. This is not being reported! Thunderheart is a movie to watch!!

MOTHER SEKHMET

T: we ask pray peace, pray love, pray perfection in the environment, in our bodies – peace is the Beloved, and Love is all there is; all the rest is Maya. Namaste for all the people who knows what this means:

Namaste: I honour the place in you in which the entire universe dwells; I honour the place in you which is of love, of truth, of light and of peace. As you are in that place in you, and I am in that place in me, We are One.

Greetings in the Light of the Most Radiant One! In the Office of the Christ and only in the Office of the Christ, we invoke the loving energies of St Germain and the Violet Flame

Greetings, Children of Ra!

Indeed, we are One – T: with the infinite sun, right, Mother/Alcyone?

- Yes. A lot going on as usual! So many stories – one story that is going on is about all of us/you – such a magnificent time to be in this temple of the Living God; we are gods, goddesses of the Most High. As we move with these energies into higher and higher places, it is affecting everything, every one, even the ones who get a sense that something's up and know not what it is, yet their hair is a bit askew because the wind that is blowing in - the answer, my friend, is blowing in that wind!

- That answer: we are here now; we are all here and it is about this magnificent grand story called Hu-man-ity in all its forms, Divinity Incarnate.
 - There is a lot that is transpiring; all of it is for the highest good of all concerned. In the same breath, the chaos that is ensuing is only getting a bit more chaotic as folks are figuring out what's what.
 - She can say with great certainty – Mr Hair is not long for this story. What it means is the temple's running a bit rich on the octane called flesh food; he's got heart issues! Look at the face, how red it is. And the alcohol does not help – it's called the left ventricle

T: and he has lots of connections with the mafia and the syndicate

- M/A: this is where all of us who have asked to show up at this time: we are all becoming Jedi – this is the place where we want to use the pineal, the pituitary, the hypothalamus – it is first and foremost believing that we are enough.- all that you are, and then some!
- In this one moment, we have the universe at our fingertips; we can do whatever we want within the realm of the highest good of all concerned. It is the one perfect moment that is for eternity, as we chose it.
 - It is about this cosmic dance we are doing with each other. It is so awesome to behold, to watch us grow, to watch all of us grow into our place where we've already been given our mantle of our mission, as it were – our duty orders, as things are even more transpiring for all to understand / overstand the intensity of the moments
 - Yes it is a very intense time to be here, be in a body, keep your sanity as you can. They want us to lose our sanity and fly off the handle and go listen to the bloviating gas bag –
 - Mr Hair is in competition with Rush Limbaugh: there is no substance in any of the comments coming from either of these life forms.
 - As she can give some advice from the Universe: listen to what Mr Sanders has to say
 - Bernie is the one way out of this story at the moment; he has the answers and it is about us: We the People have the power. The lifeforms who seemingly have the Gauntlet of Power are holding - a few faded shades of gray turning to black because they are in that place where they think they are on top of the world, and it has been turned asunder.
 - In spite of all the issues happening about the financial sectors, the issues of Yemen, Saudi Arabia, Iraq, Egypt, Palestine – place it all in this Divine Circle

- Comes to mind – she got a message: Stanley, we are placing you in the circle - bless you and pass it on to him
 - the energies that are transpiring of the most high to heal the body, mind and spirit – there are so many things in this one nano second of this time.
 - It is in our best interest to focus on peace and love, mutual understanding and co-operation for the highest good of all concerned:
 - we are the ones who have asked to show up and here we are. How we work with our 3rd eye, pituitary, hypothalamus, crown: we work with the sounds of creation as D'Yanni has taught us: the vowels - A E I O U - these sacred sounds open up portals; as we do the sacred sounds combined with the mantras like the Om mantra – all these different sound frequencies have unlimited potential to raise our frequencies each and every second so we are not distracted by the maya out here.
- This is why in the story – may be fiction, maybe not fiction - the story of Master Yoda who said to Master Luke: Let all of it go; focus on this one moment. This is what we are being asked to do: focus on this one moment of the out breath, the in breath. The shock doctrine, the rise of disaster capitalism is what we are watching as they continue to play.. .

T: it is the fall of the disaster capitalist story

M/A: Yes, it is about the fall of the disaster capitalistic story: there is nothing floating their boat except debris and what they have created in their laboratories - what crawls out of the petri dish that is alive.

- It is that there are so many life forms who are literally screaming to all of us to wake up and get with the program of divine neutrality, peace, love and focussing on the violet transmuting flame – this energy of which she speaks: the violet flame can transfigure any thing, any one, even physical matter as well as anti -matter which is where it originally came from: anti-matter.
- As we begin to re-learn reality as Nassim has been sharing with us, there is a very different view point of how we can view our universe and our system of values which is we are in divine service to humanity in all its forms – even that goo in the petrie dish.
 - It has to do with the fact that we have already won; [Amen! From Tara!] as we get through this moment and the next moment and the next moment, since all moments are in this reality NOW, it is a circle of infinite love and light spiralling upwards that never ends.
 - We choose to get out of the loop of this circle as we allow the frequencies that are less than perfection to affect us. This is where we must learn how to work with the chakras and the energies of who we are as divine beings of the Most High.
 - It is a challenge; at the same time, we are up for the task. We've asked: here we are!
- Starfleet Academy already in session: what is happening exponentially is we are receiving our briefing orders from our own DNA because it is about eternal life, not death, and this temple of the living god is designed to last for eons and eons of time. She knows she is repeating ad nauseum what we already know.
- Yet in this sacred moment of this NOW, it is with great humbleness and respect and dignity for all life, she is just saying "Give peace a chance; let it begin with me, as I, this temple of the living god, praise, respect, thank and love all the feelings that are coming up for each and everyone of us" – that divine compassion, gratitude, forgiveness. Thank your lucky stars that you are in this moment now. There is no other place to be but HERE, NOW, in this moment because we are the magic we have asked to be - that magic is the twinkling of an eye: she is running out of words because we have the power; the people have the power

T: the knowledge that we are going into a place where free will choice at this experimental dimension reality as humankind has known it, is being suspended because that's what galactic intervention means; it is asking us to get to know our angelic selves, the magic presence of our light body self in the light body consciousness.

- How we get to that place is to experiment with the magic of who we are at this moment: it means we learn how to breathe, to use our frequencies to raise our consciousness at such a magnificent level like Arundahti Roy says, on a quiet day, you can hear her breathing – Gaia/ Vywaymus – it is about the inbreath, the outbreath of Gaia/Vywaymus - at this sacred hour, all we have

T: about finding ourselves taking on the cloth of the light body and becoming functional in that – the angelic realms are 5th D and they always chose love – and that is not what is going on here: ignorance is not always bliss, and we have been made ignorant by many measures: the chemtrails in the sky; the air we breathe is affected; the soil is affected; our thoughts are affected by 24/7 news - the one-eyed box: go buy cheese sticks, buy a gun,

T: a nasty chemical being put into the meat now – besides pink slime

M /A: this is why we all were created in this sacred moment, in this sacred hour where, in the very beginning of this story as we all created together, we asked “Teach us how to love; teach us how to create.”

- Well, here we are: we have this temple of the living goddess; it is in this sacred moment we learn that what we put in the pie hole affects every cell.
- Liquid light, liquid love – it is that energy that they imbibe on Venus – liquid light, liquid love; it is the sustaining energy of soma that is produced in our crown chakra by the pineal, pituitary, hypothalamus glands. They are just doorways linking up to work with the cosmic stuff that is in every single one of the Metatronic crystal skulls we have – it's called the DMT and we have it within every single one of our neurons, flowing through out the magnificent creation called the Brain – as we truly get what this is about, we become like Baba Gi – this is not a joke, but is absolutely real - we can sit with him on the cliff and do the O Ma Na Padni um - it changes our physical reality, changes the nature of reality around us.
- As we begin to understand matter and anti – matter: this is what this Universe of Neadon is made up of. She comes from the anti-matter – and right now the scientists are playing with the idea of mixing matter / anti matter and she hopes they get it right as we don't want to have a warp core breach, as Geordie LaForge puts it
- it's about this reality in this sacred space here: all of it in this sacred moment here is about these temples of the living goddess, god – all that we need is contained within the trillions upon trillions of cells, as Nassim talks about – the protons, the electrons, the protons - each has a vital place of importance, how they function – with this magnificent
- all she knows how to describe it is as – might talk of it as a bag of energy - talking about the energies that run through all the cells that come from the crown – yes, the soma, the DMT - affects everything throughout the temple and helps us gain wisdom by entering the sacred heart space and moving it on up: heart, throat, 3rd eye, crown, 9 stars above our head – it is how we connect with Source which is just you : “Hi, Me” - it is how we greet ourselves in this sacred moment because we are all so magnificently created in this moment - it is perfection to do this sacred mission we asked to do
- the one thing that gets a little bit in the way - as we move from the high heart into the lower energies; it takes us down to the level where we are looking at the life forms that are vying for the Gauntlet of Power; only one person can sit in that place in this moment, and right now, we have a living master sitting there and that is El Morya, Beloved Ascended Master El Morya, through Mr 19,5*. It may not look it now, but it is so.
- it is already being moved into the place: cannot give us a date – yet she can say we are here; open up . . .
- She doesn't listen to her music very much, but she knows who T means: ref to the Global Citizens Concert at the end of Sept:

M/A: there is no need for poverty – there is more than enough air, love, money, time etc

T: There always has been, yet something is required of us and that is the Law of the One; the limitations are about finding the truth about freedom

M/A: and that freedom is that sacred, holy place inside of us as we learn about freedom in my soul, that sacred place as we learn about this super computer called “Temple of the living Goddess, God, All That Is” – [she is learning how to integrate the energies even at this point: hiccuping, burping]

T: at this point and the coming of age of the internet and whole new realm of 5th Dimensional possibilities and we said we don't need any regulations; get rid of Glass Steagal & all the protection and other kinds of laws . . .

- it's a good thing that the experiment went hog wild in one way: the lessons of Nature and Nature's god are honing in big time: the internet came out strong in the 1990s with the different languages in them & the computers were as big as a room;

M/A: now they are working on putting a hard drive in our bags of water bodies:

T: thank you but no thank you – that is retro-fitting us –

M/A: we are not going to play with the Borg Queen tonight!

T: Talking about the transaction attacks on Redacted Tonight! - Mother says they should cough up a little bit for all the transactions

T: as Bernie said last night: you not going to get to have it all.

M/ A: This planet is not for sale, and neither are we – and because they think they have it, and think they can use it all up, they are getting it removed from their very being – their soul matrix

- the Dark Rift is already on the Event horizon of that black hole on the way to the Void – don't slip on the way in! It's about infinite love and divine neutrality as we do this NOW.

Greetings in the light of the Most Radiant One; kadoish, kadoish, kadoish . . .

Mother: Remember who you are – always! [and she is gone!]

R: Was watching a conversation on Venus with a lot of Ascended Masters who are in charge of this solar system and the neighbouring areas, local solar systems in this area

- they are moving the frequencies up and the way it was described - each time you breathe, each inbreath and outbreath, the energies get a little higher –
- that is why it is so f'ing intense to be in a body, keep a high vibe, keep it in the place of peace and of love.
- R saw a little symbol of the earth with the words: I don't see any borders; do you?

T: saw the same thing on Free Speech today – when you are out in space, you see no borders.

R: this is one little ball of love among lots of other balls of love.

- The biggest things he experienced is that the Ascended Masters have such compassion, such Divine Love, for all of us, even for Mr Hair and Jeb and all of the others who have lost their way and chose to do that. Send them even more divine compassion and love, for that is how we save ourselves.

Audio: David Cobb: End Corporate Rule, Legalize Democracy

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=koTXNcnJAcw&feature=youtu.be>

Published on 18 Aug 2015

Founding member of Move to Amend and former Green Party Presidential Candidate David Cobb visited Washington State to reveal the origins of corporate power in America and inspire activism for I-735. David's presentation will help us understand how we can work together to abolish corporate personhood and establish a government of, by, and for the people.

David is a lawyer and political activist. David has sued corporate polluters, lobbied elected officials, run for political office himself, and has been arrested for non-violent civil disobedience. He truly believes we must use ALL the tools in the toolbox to effect the systemic social change we so desperately need.

David was speaking on behalf of the Washington Coalition to Amend the Constitution (WAmend) which is sponsoring Initiative 735. This initiative calls for a Constitutional amendment clarifying that corporations are not people, money is not speech, and that all political donations should be regulated and made public. Hear an outstanding speaker and be inspired to take action for the future!

This talk was given at the IBEW Local 46 Headquarters in Kent, WA 8/13/15

Democracy: Demos – the people; -cracy – rule

Sovereignty: authority to rule

Earth Focus: Michael Mann: IPCC Downplaying Higher End Scenarios?

<https://www.linktv.org/programs/earth-focus/video/2695496284001>

Earth Focus presents an exclusive interview with top US climate scientist Dr. Michael Mann on ice melt, rising seas and why the findings of the 2013 report of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) fall short. Dr. Mann argues that there is a credible body of scientific study that shows if we continue with business as usual fossil fuel emissions, we will see global sea level rise by as much as two meters (six feet) by the end of this century -- almost twice as high as the IPCC currently projects. A six foot sea rise is a catastrophic prospect for many coastal areas including the East Coast and Gulf Coasts of the United States as well as for small island nations around the world, many of which will be submerged. He argues that the IPCC is more conservative and reticent in what they are willing to conclude given the body of existing evidence.

Will labor endorse Hillary Clinton, Bernie Sanders, or someone else? Larry Hanley began driving a bus in 1978, at age 21, in Brooklyn, NY, and attended his first union meeting soon after. He's now international president of the Amalgamated Transit Union which represents some 200,000 bus drivers, rail operators, mechanic and station attendants across the US and Canada. Since his election in 2010, he has been outspoken on everything from greening the economy to outsourcing of public sector jobs and racism. He was also the first union president to speak up about the 2016 US presidential election, and he was supportive of Bernie Sanders. 2015-08-31 Thou Shalt Not Commit Hypocrisy

<http://www.mikemalloy.com/shows/thou-shalt-not-commit-hypocrisy/>

Right wingers are hypocrites. Especially the Christian variety. And water is wet.

Pious politicians are no stranger to Biblical doublespeak. That whole pro-life/pro-death penalty has been mind-bending for decades. I guess only cellular life is sacred. Once fully formed human beings are walking around, they are fair game. Look at the rabid ammosexuals who shoot first, ask for Skittles later. You could spend a lifetime listing instances of their blatant flip-flopping, but sometimes the Neocons are hypocritical in that extra special way that demands further attention.

Have you noticed, gentle Truthseeker, the deafening silence among the allegedly Christian GOP politicians on the subject of the Ashley Madison scandal? Nary a peep from any of the Rapture Right about these sinful activities. They pound the podium if a rape victim gets an abortion, or a gay man marries his longtime partner, but a website devoted to fostering mass adultery? </crickets>

Now I am no Bible expert, but I do remember something about those commandments as allegedly issued by the magic finger of GOD Himself. One of them was "Thou Shalt Not Commit Adultery," am I right? There wasn't "Thou Shalt Not Terminate a Pregnancy" or "Thou Shall Not Marry a Member of the Same Sex." The Big Ten were quite clear. Worship the one God and only the one true God (no idols, blasphemy, respect Sabbath, etc), honor your mom and dad, don't lie, steal, covet, kill anybody and don't sleep with your neighbor's wife. The Daily Kos has a lovely piece on this very topic:

Since the Ashley Madison scandal broke, I have noticed a distinct lack of condemnation from you rightwing christians.

Where are all the youtube hate videos against the subscribers practicing adultery?

Where are the droves of protestors picketing AshleyMadison.com like Planned Parenthood?

It's pretty clear where Jesus stands with cheating on your spouse. In case you missed the Commandment of "Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife", Jesus laid it out:

In Mathew 5:27-30 he said if you even look at another woman with desire, then cut out your eye because it's better to "lose one of your members than to have your whole body go to hell".

Lust > Cheat > Hell. Pretty straightforward. There were other things He directly condemned, like divorce. Yet He was most clear on His biggest pet peeve: excess wealth. Yet those are three things that today's rightwing Christian doesn't care about. Massive greed? That's called "prosperity gospel" now. The parable of Lazarus? They root for the rich guy in hell.

Divorce? Adultery? Child Molestation? whoopsey-daisies. No big whoop.

But gays and abortions? That's where they burst arteries! Two issues Jesus said NOTHING about. Both of those things existed during His time. If they are the epitome of evil, you'd think they'd at least warrant a mention. But nothing.

So what about actual sins that are specifically mentioned and given no leeway at all in the Bible? Meh.

In fact, on Mike Huckabee's old cheesy talk show five years ago he featured Ashley Madison's CEO to tell "his side" of the story. Yes, Mike disagreed with what Ashley Madison was doing but then added "I could be wrong".

Et Tu, Huckabee? Huckabee who wanted Constitutional bans against abortion and marriage equality, but turns a blind eye to the Scarlet A? Was God "wrong" on one of His commandments? If these politicians realized their dreams of seeing a sacred copy of the Ten Commandments posted outside every hall of justice, would they just take a sharpie to this one? Kinda like a line-item veto?

Join us tonight for further musings, and also a recap of the incoherent Palin/Trump interview. Talk about Dumb and Dumber.

2015-08-25 Hawaii's Governor Dumps Oil and Gas in Favor of 100 Percent Renewables

An unlikely partnership between Hawaii's local government and the US military makes the island a leader in energy policy.

By Juan Cole

Hawaii Governor David Ige signs a bill on June 8, 2015 calling for the state's electricity sector to transition entirely to renewable energy in 30 years. (Governor of the State of Hawaii)

At the Asia Pacific Resilience Innovation Summit held in Honolulu, Hawaii, this week, Governor David Ige dropped a bombshell. His administration will not use natural gas to replace the state's petroleum-fueled electricity plants, but will make a full-court press toward 100 percent renewables by 2045. Ige's decisive and ambitious energy vision is making Hawaii into the world's most important laboratory for humankind's fight against climate change. He has, in addition, attracted an unlikely and enthusiastic partner in his embrace of green energy—the US military.

Ige said Monday that LNG (liquefied natural gas) will not save the state money over time, given the plummeting prices of renewables. Moreover, "it is a fossil fuel," i.e., it emits dangerous greenhouse gases. He explained that local jurisdictions in Hawaii are putting up a fight against natural gas, making permitting difficult. Finally, any money put into retooling electric plants so as to run on gas, he said, is money that would better be invested in the transition to green energy.

Ige, trained as an electrical engineer, is leading his state in the most ambitious clean-energy program in the United States. On June 8, he signed into law a bill calling for Hawaii's electricity to be entirely generated from renewables in only 30 years. He also directed that the University of Hawaii be net carbon zero in just 20 years.

As a set of islands, Hawaii faces special energy difficulties. Residents pay the highest rates for electricity of any state in the union. Last year, before the recent oil price drop, residential electricity averaged around 36 cents per kilowatt hour (the US average is 12 cents/kwh). On the mainland, states that do not generate enough electricity themselves can import it from their neighbors. Islands in the middle of the Pacific just have what they can make themselves. Because Hawaii's energy plants were built before it was economical to ship natural gas as LNG, they for the most part use petroleum. The high oil prices of the past decade are estimated to have cost Hawaii some $5 billion extra that was not anticipated. Part of the impetus for the current drive toward renewables is to escape the volatility of fossil-fuel markets.

Senator Brian Schatz, a Hawaii Democrat, also addressed the summit, insisting that wind, solar, and other renewables are now competitive with fossil fuels and no longer "alternative." Rather, they are practical today, because of significant price drops in the cost of photovoltaic panels and of wind turbines. He argued that change comes only when it is demanded. Several years ago, he said, Hawaii set what seemed like unrealistic green energy goals at that time. The senator's point is valid. By 2015, officials wanted 15 percent of electricity generation to come from renewables. In 2014, it was already 21 percent. At the federal level, Schatz said that the Senate is coming around on climate change issues, with all Democrats backing renewables and even a lot of Republicans privately admitting the climate-change crisis. He said that the United States must lead at the UN's Climate Change Conference later this year in Paris, but that the real test will be in the implementation of the goals adopted there.

Luis Salaveria, director of the Department of Business, Economic Development, and Tourism, made the argument that green energy research in the islands could be the sought-after third leg of the stool for Hawaii's economy, which now mainly depends on tourism and the military. The state is creating a number of research institutions and working with a consortium of private companies in what it calls an Energy Excelsior, which has generated $400 million in investment. Attendees at the summit were largely engineers, entrepreneurs, or military personnel seeking the first two, all of them confident that Hawaii can meet its stated goal.

The state's major utility, the Hawaiian Electric Company (HECO), is on board with the rapid turn to renewables and is partnering with the state and US military bases to meet the 2045 goal. Alan Oshima, the utility's CEO, pointed out that 15 percent of homes in Hawaii already have rooftop photovoltaic panels, and he expected that number to triple.

The rapid drive to renewables faces significant challenges. Environmentalists insist that flora and fauna be protected, and permitting is often a challenge. Some engineers are suggesting offshore floating wind turbines as an alternative to onshore wind, because they would be less intrusive. The Big Island of Hawaii has substantial geothermal potential, with an active volcano, but some native Hawaiians object to pursuing it lest the goddess of the volcano, Pele, be desecrated. On the other hand, other Hawaiians have been impressed by the positive experience of fellow Polynesians, the Maori of New Zealand, in profiting from geothermal energy on their land. Geothermal has the advantage for the Hawaiian grid of being steady and so able to provide baseload support offsetting the variability (called "intermittency") of wind and solar, which can be generated only at some times of the day.

Some 50 percent of the electricity generated in Hawaii is bought by the US military. The Department of Energy has a mandate from the Obama administration to use more green energy, and Governor Ige and HECO are finding the admirals and generals enthusiastic partners in their plans for 100 percent renewables. In fact, the Navy, the Army, and the Marines all hope to generate up to a gigawatt of electricity themselves on bases throughout the United States. The Navy's self-imposed deadline for doing so is only 18 months away.

The state's military bases want green energy in part to ensure base security. Amanda Simpson of the Army Office of Energy Initiatives told the summit that Army bases throughout the United States have seen a quadrupling in electricity outages during the past decade, some of them caused by more frequent extreme weather events, others by aging equipment and infrastructure. It seems clear that Hawaiian bases want back-up solar farms and biofuel plants in case the civilian grid falters. Simpson pointed out that all Hawaiian energy plants presently are on the coasts and so are vulnerable to a tsunami or to rising sea levels caused by the melting of polar ice because of global warming. She said that the planned biofuel electricity plant at Fort Schofield is the only power plant in the islands to be built inland. Pro-army GOP representatives and senators may be climate change denialists, but the actual US Army is in no doubt that human-induced climate change is causing the seas to rise, and that this phenomenon poses a security threat to military installations on the coasts.

US military installations in Hawaii not only have big plans for solar farms and leasing land and facilities to HECO for green-energy projects; they want to put their own uniformed engineers to work in research and innovation, partnering with Hawaiian and mainland entrepreneurs. Even a lot of their research money is coming from private investment in this research and development activity, with hopes of patents and future revenue streams going to the private sector. These military research centers, coupled with the state-backed Excelsior and other R&D enterprises, have the potential to make Hawaii an indispensable center for green-energy innovation and to allow the state to profit from breakthroughs and from selling them abroad.

The attendees at the summit, many of them entrepreneurs and inventors making pitches to the Hawaiian government or to the US military, were full of energy and optimism. Unlike in most of the Lower 48, where legislatures are often putting obstacles in the way of residential solar or luxuriating in a blithe state of denial about the challenges of global warming, Hawaii is getting it done. The steely vision of Governor Ige, the vigorous commitment of Hawaiian Electric Company, the inventiveness of the engineers and businessmen, and the can-do attitude of the generals and admirals on the state's bases are creating an extraordinary public-private set of synergies that hold out hope that the worst climate-change scenarios can yet be avoided.

2015-09-01 "Something" Just Happened! China's Gold Stocks, Dumping of US Treasuries, Quantitative Tightening (QT), Oil Markets

"Something" happened three weeks ago. While we cannot be sure "what" exactly happened, we can speculate. We have many dots and lots of data points to help us but first it needs to be pointed out, even if wrong in conclusion ...just the knowledge alone that "something changed" is enough. If you know something has changed, you can take clues and look at various markets for inflection points. Currently, most markets are stretched to various limits. Whether it be zero bound credit markets, equities, real estate, commodities or gold and silver, all values had reached extreme highs or lows.

Something changed three weeks ago and a series of events began. It all started with China announcing 600 additional tons of gold. This was followed by the IMF rebuff of China, the three yuan devaluations and three "coincidental" explosions. Then equity markets around the world (which were already weak) began to violently unravel and finally spilled over to the U.S.. This tested the PPT's limits (which were apparently $23 billion last week).

There were other behind the scenes dots which I missed and would like to add here before theorizing. In the gold arena, the GLD inventory supposedly rose over the last two weeks even though gold was "weak" and being sold. This was against a backdrop of very deep backwardation going out a full six months in London. The current backwardation is further out in time and far larger in price than EVER before! These two data points are in exact divergence to a dropping gold price. Why would there be buying in GLD if gold was being panic sold? Also, if real gold was being dumped, how could it be in backwardation or shortage? Wouldn't "sales" make product extremely plentiful?

There were several more major anomalies in gold. As of Friday, there were 63 August contracts still open ...even though the contract went off the board. This has NEVER happened in 40 years! How is this possible? The day before on Thursday, there were 552 contracts open. Can someone please explain to me why the shorts would not have delivered gold (like they did in the old days) on the first or second delivery day rather than waiting to the last day? Someone has to pay for storage, why would the short want to pay for storage they are contractually able to deliver nearly 30 days prior and avoid the charges. Are they having problems sourcing gold? Just like several mints who have gone to rationing or halts of production ...and exactly as the backwardation is suggesting?

Over in silver, did you know they had confirmed volume on Thursday of 122,482 contracts traded? Did you know this represents 612 MILLION ounces of silver ...or over 87% of annual global silver production ex China and Russia? How in the world does 87% of a full year's production trade in just several hours? Doesn't this go against commodity laws? AND, silver was pummeled on Thursday so it was supposed to represent PANIC SELLING. Who was panicking and needed to sell all that silver so fast? ...especially since the U.S. Mint just raised premiums and started rationing dealers because they couldn't keep up with DEMAND! Let's not forget the Royal Canadian Mint, they have suspended sales of silver Maples! Why or how could this be? Everyone has been selling silver but the mint could not source any? This defies pre school logic!

Let me give you another very strange data point. The FRBNY (New York Fed.) always reports custodial gold holdings on the 28th or 29th of the month for the previous month. They missed July 29th and reported on August 20 NO GOLD was shipped (to Germany for their repatriation program) when month after month they have been reporting close to 10 tons out the door. What's going on?

Before telling you what I think has changed, we need to look at what China has just done. China has sold $100 billion worth of Treasury bonds over the last two weeks. Before they sold these, they devalued their yuan by about 5% which is the same thing as making their dollar holdings worth 5% more in yuan ...so they increased their sale by the equivalent of $5 billion! Please understand the following because it is VERY important, we have not experienced hyper inflation in the U.S. because the debt was always "sterilized". We actually exported the inflation to other nations and as long as they did not sell the actual dollars (if they sold Treasuries), the trade remained sterilized. It was reported Friday China had actually sold their dollars realized from the Treasury sales for ...you guessed it YUAN! This drove the yuan up versus the dollar so China added even more to their trade. Brilliant!

This topic deserves an entire writing and I'll undertake it later. Suffice it to say, the Federal Reserve had to buy the $100 billion worth of bonds. This is "reverse" QE or as they now say "QT" (quantitative tightening). As the great credit unwind continues, more and more Treasuries from China and other sources will hit the market and force the Fed to buy them. This will take more and more "space" on the Fed's balance sheet but they will have NO CHOICE unless they want interest rates to skyrocket. In the end, the inflation we exported for so many years will come washing back on our shores like a tidal wave!

OK, what do I think "happened" three weeks ago? On the original writing, I erroneously believed the SGE had not reported withdrawals for the last two weeks, this was incorrect and they have in fact reported withdrawals. This led me to believe China was no longer being delivered gold. No proof of this yet but it will mathematically happen. Why? Because the simple math says so. China/India can only import more than total production for as long as Western vaults have metal to dishoard. Once non delivery does happen and becomes known, our hoard of "power" will be gone and so will the façade of financial strength. Our standard of living will collapse into third world status hand in hand with a broken financial system.

Something behind the scenes has caused markets all over the world to convulse. The likely candidate involves leverage and most probably derivatives. As I wrote last week, "dead bodies must be strewn everywhere", call them walking dead institutions or whatever. We have experienced 5% and even 10% moves in various markets in less than a week's time or even in just one day. Many derivatives are carried with just one or two percent margin, in other words the moves have been big enough to completely wipe out equity. Winners become losers when the losers cannot pay and default.

There is one more piece of news that may be nothing at all or it may fit hand in hand with the above. King Salman of Saudi Arabia announced a visit for this coming week with president Obama.

http://www.nytimes.com/2015/08/27/world/middleeast/saudi-arabia-king-plans-to-visit-us.html?partner=rss&emc=rss&_r=0

The press has speculated the meeting has to do with the Iran deal or even aggressions with Yemen. I don't think so. My guess is King Salman may be coming to Washington to say "the deal is off". The "deal" being Henry Kissinger's early 1970's petrodollar. I suspect Saudi Arabia will inform our commandeer in chief, they will begin accepting yuan for oil. The Saudis have over the last year or more done many trade deals with both Russia and China. It should only follow at some point they do not use dollars but instead use their own currencies.

Before finishing, Saudi Arabia increased their oil production at the behest of Washington to injure

Russia. I think the price drop got way out of control as the algos took over. The drop was so severe it has seized up the U.S. fracking industry and put at least $500 billion worth of energy credit in jeopardy while China has filled up her storage reserves with cheap oil. If I am correct about the gold default, China/Russia have also made strategic strides in trade with Iran and Saudi Arabia in preparation.

The important thing is you understand "something" very big has happened and trends are changing in many markets. The leverage in all markets suggests a "holiday" will occur because the unwinding cannot be orderly. The "unwinding" by the way will need to undue the credit built upon credit going all the way back to Aug. 15, 1971!
