(121) HYPNOSIS FOR FERTILITY with Lynsi Eastburn, BCH, CI

Each year, more than a million North Americans pursue treatment for "infertility." Most consult conventional doctors - an infertility work-up is conducted and, depending on diagnosis, drugs or high-tech procedures such as IVF are recommended. However, the success rate for those who undergo high-tech procedures is currently about 20%. To boost this, women are seeking complementary treatments. One of the most powerful of these is hypnosis. Following the guidelines of this program not only increases the odds of conception but also enhances overall health.

(123) 6 KEYS TO WINNING SPORTS CERTIFICATION

with Laura Boynton King, BCH, CI

One of the more frequent challenges faced by all athletes is how to improve their performance. They express frustrations that they often possess identical - if not superior - physical attributes to their competitors, yet they're consistently being out-performed by that competitor. In many cases, the problem is rooted in self-doubt, which limits their levels of performance. Using hypnosis and Neuro-Linguistic Programming, the client will learn how to identify and accept self-doubt. Once this is achieved, the client can stop dwelling on past failures and other negative feelings and images through hypnosis techniques, positive imagery, concentration-focusing skills. Whether the athlete feels held back by physical fear or by negative comments from competitors, trainers or officials/judges or by performance anxiety, the 6 Keys to Winning Sports Certification will help the hypnotist to help their clients replace a "losing" mentality with the winning edge.

(125) COACHING THE UNCONSCIOUS MIND

with Melissa Tiers, CI

In this 2-day workshop you will learn a dynamic form of multi-level change work that combines conversational hypnosis, Neuro-Linguistics, and practical neuro-science to create lasting and generative change. You will practice processes created from the latest research in psychological priming, cognitive neuroscience and embodied cognition to shift unconscious filters. Most coaching courses focus on the rational, analytical and very limited conscious mind. But most people know, consciously, what they "should" be doing. From the recent studies on the adaptive unconscious we know that most issues are habituated patterns that have their roots in priming, cognitive biases and conditioning. This program teaches you how to access and change these programs to rewire the brain. It's time to take your practice into the 21st century.

(221) HYPNO-PARENTING

with Mona Abdulrahim-Santl, BCH, CI

Many of my hypnosis students take the training for personal use... One of the most common comments is: "I wish I had had this info before I had children!" Parents, amongst others, are hypnotizing their child every day. This course will show you how to pass on the knowledge parents wished they had known in order for them to affect their children positively and teach you the basic and safe tools a hypnotist needs to dehypnotize later on. Tuition $375

(222) FROM RELATIONSHIPS TO ELATIONSHIPS

with Beryl Comar, MA, MEd, CH

To have a good relationship or to improve an existing one requires us to use our Listening and Inner Wisdom, NLP and Transactional Analysis tools and skills that facilitate our own and others' communication styles and perspectives. In this course you will learn about these skills and gain insight into why people misunderstand or respond the way they do. We will also examine belief systems and expectations and their effect on relationships, as well as discuss unhealthy relationships, what to avoid, relationship games and traps that frequently occur, how a life script is developed and plays a role in forming long lasting relationships. Through the study of transactional analysis and other skills we can develop to help create more positive relationships...the Elationships that humans crave. Tuition $375

(227) HELPING PEOPLE HEAL THEMSELVES WITH HYPNOSIS with David Quigley, CH

Hypnosis has been used successfully in medical clinics and hospitals for pain and symptom control for many years. Yet, I believe a far more effective use of hypnosis is its power to help us explore and deal with what may be the underlying cause of disease in the subconscious mind, as an adjunct to medical treatment. In this course, we will learn many methods of utilizing hypnosis to assist clients in doing so. I have used these methods to help people speed their own recovery from cancer, eliminate migraine headaches, and wipe out food and pollen allergies. If I am correct, we may now be able to effectively assist doctors in treating fibromyalgia, diabetes, and a host of other diseases vastly accelerating the results of medical treatments. We can then utilize emotional release and child rescue processes to alter the memories stored in the body and thus release the pain and tension contained therein. We will learn to implant new memories of love, safety, and empowerment into these same body parts to greatly speed up the body's natural healing abilities. Tuition $375
