Imitation of the Banjo, for the Piano. Published in 1854. "Respectfully dedicated to T. F. Briggs (the world renowned banjoist) of Christy's Minstrels, N.Y. Introducing the favorite banjo melody as played in the scene illustrating the power of music as represented by Briggs and Horn, composed and arranged by W.K. Batchelder."

I omitted the introduction. The original score ends with a triad (ACA) that is a challenge to play on the banjo. I substituted a single C note (measure 104). Otherwise, this is a note-for-note transposition of Batchelder's score.
