Pre-conference Thursday: Choose between deepening your improv craftsmanship with the amazing Gary Schwartz or finding new ways to apply improvisation in organisations in a pair of sessions starting with AIN co-founder Paul Z Jackson and continuing with the dynamic duo of David Matthew Prior and Sue Walden.

Conference Friday: We begin by making connections: making connections as a community and finding the links between university researchers and those who apply improvisation in organisations. Then we see improv in action – a workshop with improv practitioners and real clients – live. Saturday: A mix of planned sessions and spontaneous Open Space where anyone can put forward ideas, cases and activities. The emphasis is on different applications of improvisation within organisations. Sunday: We use the World Café format to explore the future of the community and to plan ways of taking applied improvisation even further into organisational practice.
