HARD NEWS

Camp Lovewave: a repeat – tinkering with the antenna; the local station is moving the antenna up the mountain for better reception.

- Talked to Stephanie Miller, Jim Ward, Wendy Davis: doing their podcast on current issues, including Mr Hair and other outrageous things
- SM talking about M. Moore and his sign: if it had been anyone who's black, the cops would have been there a lot sooner, with not so pretty pictures: this is the bigger story going on
 - Moore raises everyone's hair with what he says: he stood there in front of Trump Tower with his sign "We are all Muslims" until the cops came
- Mr Obama is on vacation which is not a vacation, and Mr Hair is in his cross hairs

- They discussed the story of undocumented workers, people from other countries; R brought in galactic piece: itinerant visitors from other planets.
 - In the story, Ka-El superman is an undocumented immigrant who saves the people on the oil rig – Russell Crowe played his father Ja-El; Superman's cousin, Supergirl
 - in the story the names are reversed: the EL is at the end of the name not in front. - this is a variation of Elohigh to Elohim; nephilim the fallen angels, ET visitors; it is interesting how Hollywood reversed the names:
- Starbucks the Seattle coffee company is trying to change their practices & give their people a living wage: they use GMO coffee – agent orange sprayed on the coffee
 - it doesn't make any difference: they don't need to raise the price of coffee under a dollar – has to do with understanding economics: we have a social safety net so people have food, a roof, good water, health care, an education – to be kept in place for free – the $1 given for the safety net gets re-used 7 times! To raise the minimum wage to $15 / hour

- bringing up the deviation on the names: reverse Ka – El, the son of Jor-el -
 - in the movie, Superman comes to earth with abilities we might consider of creator gods,
 - the missing part brought up by Nassim and others is that we are all creator gods, and are equal in that reality. Nassim was on Foster Gamble's website with a 2-3 minute video: our thoughts can change reality – the natrinos of the thoughts are part of the space-time

- when Ka-El and Jor-El came from Krypton which had a different sun: R thinks that sun was a red giant; our sun is a blue dwarf, a different kind of sun. Krypton and the red giant sun is very close to the Galactic Centre of our local universe of Nabadon; when you are so close to the universal centre, the sun changes the frequency:
 - our gifts and abilities that we all have are normal on the planet Krypton: they flew on ships and on beings like in Avatar: dragon-fly like beings that riders communicated with telepathically.
- All of these stories are coming full circle: we are being introduced whether we know it or not, like it or not, to galactic society; thoughts are things, physical matter and we can change reality with our thoughts. This came up with that story.
 - Now, as we get in touch with our gifts and abilities, and do kundalini yoga – Stephanie Miller and the others were bringing into this story the idea that our reality is changing so fast and so intensely now, and we are being asked to be all that we can be in these nano-seconds. As we let go of the old stories, we can change reality.
- Dr Greer, Dr Nassim: most of humanity across the galaxy are humanoid in some form; as we get introduced to this, we are unlearning all we have been taught: as Joda said to Luke: you must unlearn everything and begin again: let the old thoughts go, the monkey thoughts

T: how did R get to go up and down to the ships in the physical, and the rest of us are asking how can we do that too?

R: it began for him when he started working with D'Hanni Yahoo, the female equivalent of the Dalai Llama in the west; in the 60s, he began working with the crystals and he was taking acid and other materials that invoked higher realities: he knew lots of the people at that time – went to see Sufi Sam and learned the Sufi dancing.

- Most of the time, he focussed when he was straight [not on acid, etc] : Sufi Sam told him to spin the crystals, see the energies of them and use that energy.

T: Rama is using large, 6-sided crystals; there is also an affinity [to this kind of thinking] as he is Ashtar's son

R: Sufi Sam started Sufi dances in Golden Gate in 1967/68 – human love-ins: the cops would look at them and roll their eyes, yet he knew cops who did LSD – Sam showed him and others

- Rama used to go to the Farm on Monday nights: Stephen Gaskin, a professor at Berkley and in San Fran, started Monday night class: everyone present talked about everything: ceremonial magic, tarot cards, the 13 families, etc etc etc – to awaken the people; the Viet Nam war was at its height.

- Sufi Sam explained as you spin the crystal in a clockwise direction and look at it with your 3rd eye and your physical eyes – can see the DNA

- He could get into an altered state with the crystal and the prana yama and could literally see the energy and would go into higher energies
 - would go to Mount Tam, and took stuff called Clear Light – not being made any more! - the energy now does not allow the use of such concoctions! - get in touch with the prana yama via kundalini yoga; soma is an actual secretion from the crown chakra

- It's like lichen coming from the Himalayas: there are caves there where the Bigfoots / Sasquatch of the Eva Race go: they have human DNA and are from Andromeda: all they eat is the lichen on the inner walls of the cave; has all the required nutrients and all the vibrations we need are in that; it correlates with the rising in consciousness

- As we were to examine Soma; it has all the 22 amino acids, perfect food for the body!

- Going back to his story: Sufi Sam, one of his mentors on the crystals: R took the Clear Light and went up to Mt Tam, did the prana yama; he went so far out of his body though he was connected with the silver, gold and platinum cords at the chakra

- he was way far out – close to the asteroid belt; and the cords were dissipating and he lost consciousness and fell over on the hillside: at that moment, Ashtar beamed him up to the New Jerusalem and he was pulled back into his body and he looked up at Ashtar:

“Greetings, Commander. We weren't expecting you, but now you're here, class is now in session.” Rama prostrated himself in front of Ashtar who picked him up and said “We are all equal here.”

- From the moment on, Ashtar and Mother taught him – working with the frequency that we are equal to all: not about giving away your power: Sananda Kumara is no different than us: he went to India when he was young; the books by Baird T. Spalding tell the story – The Life and Times of the Masters of the Far East, especially Bks 1 & 2

- Rama's father is still alive: born 1928 – lives in Sri Lanka at the SRS shrine, still has black hair and a black beard; does yoga every day

- As we get in touch with the abilities we have, we are physically immortal

- We did volunteer to take on the worst grunt work of ninja turtle – they nuked us, put radiation poisoning in the chemtrails, poisoned the water, the food – Tara doesn't get that this damage is forever

- the brain damage from the lead poisoning – the lead got into the water system in Flint, MI – they were supposed to put a chemical in the water to prevent the lead from leaching into the water and that did not happen!

- Dr Greer uses military style lasers and calls in the ships: the lasers have metal casings; run on lithium ion batteries - $100 - $300 each; when you push the button, the laser goes 200 feet out.
- Out of the Stephen Gaskin classes, they started to listen to his wife and the natural birthing processes without drugs – in a bathtub, a horse trough – a way in which, as a child is born underwater, it's like what the dolphins and whales do – they too are human souls, and chose to come in
- Mr Spock: dolphins and whales came to earth 10 million years before Pangea, when we were still light beings – we are now returning to silica-based life forms; that is what we were before and we could literally merge with things being formed at the time: trees, stones,
 - Whales and dolphins had crystalline light bodies when we were at the beginning of
- Mother came in at this time, bringing in the Watchers who were here before the gods were here – in the other 7 super universes, we learned how to seed – our thoughts are things – this is not taught to us in schools! This is in our own DNA and they don't want us to remember this stuff and they are trying to change our forms – the small band of rebels – they are playing with the soldiers in Iraq and Afghanistan : putting soul matrix into non-human bodies
- ET Cory and ??
 - the various races, as we descended into matter in the Fortunate Fall, we took on denser forms and ego got in the way, and issues of control – now we are re-learning things that have not been taught to us, yet it's in our crystal DNA: we are 80 - 90% water, like the ocean – it is so cosmically perfect that babies are born under water, like the whales and dolphins; also done in Norway, Finland and other places
 - have to get rid of the AMA first: when the Zetas came in in 1947 and we bounced radar off the moon and crash landed an ET ship, and the MIB took Ebe into custody – all these things are contained within the wisdom of the crystals. The Zetas had crystals on the ships which contained all the wisdom
- the nukes have been neutralized; no nukes, no flukes:
 - This conversation has changed to something more uplifting – not my god is better than your god, I'm better than you because I'm white
 - Mohammed was an immortal
 - Just another cosmic lesson in who we are!
- Don't underestimate the idea of doing this stuff: there are like-minded people everywhere – it's the heros quest- when we reach the
- Brings up what Trump just said and what Cruz said in the last 24 hours: we are watching such a fiasco -
 - T: Bernie did a great job with the interview with Killer Mike
- AMA was given an order: Sandos IG Pharben, and ??

Happy Solstice! Many astrologers draw up a chart for the moment the Sun ingresses into the sign of Capricorn as a means of looking at what the future year is holding for us. This year's chart (shown above) would show the Sun squaring the Moon's nodes and a Taurus Moon opposite Venus among other aspects.

As I spoke about in the report, there is no greater remedy for our ills, nourishment or nurturing, than Mother Nature. As our society, environment, physical bodies, and relationships undergo stressful changes now and in these coming months, there really is no better place to be. During this hectic holiday season as we are lured by the media to lose ourselves in the rat race of materialism, time out to tune into the greater seasons of our lives can really be the cure for any holiday blues. Wishing you the best of these times! Injoy!

Reading: 2 Carl Boudreau blogs in sequence

- Astrology for Dec 2015 – slower is faster
- 2015-12-16 Things to Come Carl Boudreau

[SEE BELOW]

Be sure and listen to the podcast as you read the posts: the comments explain things more.

CONFERENCE CALL

T: reads the rest of the Carl Boudreau posts -

- we have to go to 2023 and there is a lot of work to do

R: since 2012 and at this point, things have changed: the energies are such that we've crossed the threshold – it's because we've reached critical mass and beyond.

T: Carl has gone out to 2026

R: He does not specifically talk about interacting with the galactics

T: Even as Mother has said, they would never do it for us – except to prevent holocaust – those ones will take a little journey, and we are left with the mess:

- Mother also said that a month will see things changed – and as the same time people have to align their natures with the new reality

R: we'll have to jump off the cliff!

T: the refugees are going to need quite a bit of time to get on their feet -

R: he gets that! What he's heard: we are at the place where it might look like hell on earth, and at the same time, we are being told on so many levels to make a quantum leap of faith –

- yes, there are questions, yet jump off the cliff and walk over to me, as Baba Gi said and the next step will be revealed

T: even the young man who has found a way to clean up the gyres in the ocean said it would take 10 years – and there are 3 more gyres to deal with.

R: Maarten Horst – something that looks like a vibe machine: quite different from the Keshe machine R to get more info on this. [they know people in NM who use the machine for physical healing; it is an expensive piece of equipment]

T: What is happening now is really wrong: she looked everywhere to find evidence of the Democratic Debate – could find it nowhere!

- Yet she also trusts that we will hear something here: Thom Hartmann and Amy Goodman will likely have something to say
- Speaks of Joy Reid on the MHP show, to which P responds with what she heard Joy say on the program: it sounded like a prepared script, and she did not like the script!

T: Thinks the screws have come down tight on MSNBC and CNN, and the Republicans story is that Obama can do nothing right

- she played a piece of Obama's presentation on the 13th amendment and could not really speak to what it is really about [See below]

Charles: the debate was on ABC tonight – it's going on right now

Returns to the reading of Carl Boudreau

- Talks about the labour movement getting stronger
- Taurus is plodding, but is very very steadfast

Tommy: there are discrepancies in what she is reading and what she talks about

- Carl B is a good guy, but he doesn't take into account the galactic presence or their operation; the caller does not know much about ascension but thinks we cannot have the current astrology if we ascend because we won't have the free flow of energy if we have planets in retrograde

T: Retrograde is a very important work: it does not hold us back but it gives us another chance to review what we missed [by going over our history. Those born with Mercury retrograde in their charts are OK being in that place.]

To: Yes, that is so in the 3D – in a higher dimensions, we don't need those lessons as we have our memory back and our gifts

[T goes back to Friday's call: we continue to have lessons, no matter the level of our ascension – there is always growth as there are so many layers to ascension. For example, there are 7 chakras with 7 layers in each, plus all the chakras above our bodies with all the levels in them, plus all the combinations of events in which we find ourselves that call on us to act with love and compassion.]

T: It's not going to work on an individual basis as in the past: everyone has to do this together – so those who have gone ahead and have adeptship have to teach and help others up – we are only ahead to bring the others along

- As Carl said: slower is faster: it will continue to circle around so we don't go ahead without the others

To: he understands that. The other thing is about 2025 etc – implies there is no mass arrests, and the world can move ahead

T: disagrees – the statement at the very beginning – refers to the arrests – he said we have no idea what to do

To: if there are arrests, there's no 1% any more

T: YES – he said that!

To: The beginning of what: 2025?

T: No, right now! He said the beginning was in 2008 – and Hillary had been arrested in June, 2007 and 10,000 banksters by Oct

To: when everyone knows what happened, they will all know the same thing and that will change the reality for all; the arrests will help people understand what happened and so they can move forward

T: when these ones go down, there will be 4/6 full months before another set of elections begins –

- we will have 64 good members of Congress and Obama running the country PLUS the Council of Wise Elders from the Ashtar Command – this is a full galactic undertaking!!!
- In the 1st month after the announcement, things will stay much the same in terms of our work, our finances
- in the 2nd month, there will be the re-indexing of all finances into the new money system - so for example, if you make $4000 in a month, you can buy in the next month a $30,000 car for $3,000

To: that's all good – what will be out of this world fantastic will be the arrests – a huge amount of negativity will be lifted off the planet, and we will be free to express ourselves – will see a lot of wonderful stuff coming just from the arrests, never mind the money.

- They will have to explain to people what is going on, and their minds will be full of the new information and people will come together when they
- we have a co-dependent society at the moment: will change so dramatically: now if we talk freely, we can be killed

T: and every single one of the dark ones will be rounded up AT THE SAME TIME with galactic intervention

- she also understands that no guns, equipment will work – the frequency of love disarms everyone
- [as for landings: there are trillions of starships in our atmosphere – they will not be overwhelming people by landing all at once: will reveal themselves in such a way that every city in the entire world will see them; they will land in rural areas outside cities, in places where they can be accessed by the people]

To: and also disarm the ability of gunpowder to explode!

T: and the people in the US who hate everyone and have ammunition in bunkers all over the place to blow things up: even at that the galactics will not intervene with our free will choice –

- It's complex: people who want to kill people will have a hard time. With the ½ million being removed, there will be no access to things like the NRA – all corporations will be dissolved.

To: today people look at you funny as a conspiracy theorist;

- once they get the story and know how they got screwed, they will be better – so much of the mistrust that exists now will be gone

T: no matter whether a gun works or not, if you have lead in your water, or you don't have food or decent housing, or earth changes are going on: some kind of help will help change the whole mess.

2015-12-09 Remarks by the President at Commemoration of the 150th Anniversary of the 13th Amendment

U.S. Capitol
Washington, D.C.

12:02 P.M. EST

THE PRESIDENT: "In giving freedom to the slave, we assure freedom to the free." That's what President Lincoln once wrote. "Honorable alike in what we give, and what we preserve. We shall nobly save, or meanly lose, the last best hope of earth."

Mr. Speaker, leaders and members of both parties, distinguished guests: We gather here to commemorate a century and a half of freedom -- not simply for former slaves, but for all of us.

Today, the issue of chattel slavery seems so simple, so obvious -- it is wrong in every sense. Stealing men, women, and children from their homelands. Tearing husband from wife, parent from child; stripped and sold to the highest bidder; shackled in chains and bloodied with the whip. It's antithetical not only to our conception of human rights and dignity, but to our conception of ourselves -- a people founded on the premise that all are created equal.

And, to many at the time, that judgment was clear as well. Preachers, black and white, railed against this moral outrage from the pulpit. Former slaves rattled the conscience of Americans in books, in pamphlets, and speeches. Men and women organized anti-slavery conventions and fundraising drives. Farmers and shopkeepers opened their barns, their homes, their cellars as waystations on an Underground Railroad, where African Americans often risked their own freedom to ensure the freedom of others. And enslaved Americans, with no rights of their own, they ran north and kept the flame of freedom burning, passing it from one generation to the next, with their faith, and their dignity, and their song.

The reformers' passion only drove the protectors of the status quo to dig in harder. And for decades, America wrestled with the issue of slavery in a way that we have with no other, before or since. It shaped our politics, and it nearly tore us asunder. Tensions ran so high, so personal, that at one point, a lawmaker was beaten unconscious on the Senate floor. Eventually, war broke out -- brother against brother, North against South.

At its heart, the question of slavery was never simply about civil rights. It was about the meaning of America, the kind of country we wanted to be -- whether this nation might fulfill the call of its birth: "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights," that among those are life and liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

President Lincoln understood that if we were ever to fully realize that founding promise, it meant not just signing an Emancipation Proclamation, not just winning a war. It meant making the most powerful collective statement we can in our democracy: etching our values into our Constitution. He called it "a King's cure for all the evils."

A hundred and fifty years proved the cure to be necessary but not sufficient. Progress proved halting, too often deferred. Newly freed slaves may have been liberated by the letter of the law, but their daily lives told another tale. They couldn't vote. They couldn't fill most occupations. They couldn't protect themselves or their families from indignity or from violence. And so abolitionists and freedmen and women and radical Republicans kept cajoling and kept rabble-rousing, and within a few years of the war's end at Appomattox, we passed two more amendments guaranteeing voting rights, birthright citizenship, equal protection under the law.

And still, it wasn't enough. For another century, we saw segregation and Jim Crow make a mockery of these amendments. And we saw justice turn a blind eye to mobs with nooses slung over trees. We saw bullets and bombs terrorize generations.

And yet, through all this, the call to freedom survived. "We hold these truths to be self-evident." And eventually, a new generation rose up to march and organize, and to stand up and to sit in with the moral force of nonviolence and the sweet sound of those same freedom songs that slaves had sung so long ago -- crying out not for special treatment, but for equal rights. Calling out for basic justice promised to them almost a century before.

Like their abolitionist predecessors, they were plain, humble, ordinary people, armed with little but faith: Faith in the Almighty. Faith in each other. And faith in America. Hope in the face so often of all evidence to the contrary, that something better lay around the bend.

Because of them -- maids and porters and students and farmers and priests and housewives -- because of them, a Civil Rights law was passed, and the Voting Rights law was signed. And doors of opportunity swung open, not just for the black porter, but also for the white chambermaid, and the immigrant dishwasher, so that their daughters and their sons might finally imagine a life for themselves beyond washing somebody else's laundry or shining somebody else's shoes. Freedom for you and for me. Freedom for all of us.

And that's what we celebrate today. The long arc of progress. Progress that is never assured, never guaranteed, but always possible, always there to be earned -- no matter how stuck we might seem sometimes. No matter how divided or despairing we may appear. No matter what ugliness may bubble up. Progress, so long as we're willing to push for it; so long as we're willing to reach for each other.

We would do a disservice to those warriors of justice -- Tubman, and Douglass, and Lincoln, and King -- were we to deny that the scars of our nation's original sin are still with us today. (Applause.) We condemn ourselves to shackles once more if we fail to answer those who wonder if they're truly equals in their communities, or in their justice systems, or in a job interview. We betray the efforts of the past if we fail to push back against bigotry in all its forms. (Applause.)

But we betray our most noble past as well if we were to deny the possibility of movement, the possibility of progress; if we were to let cynicism consume us and fear overwhelm us. If we lost hope. For however slow, however incomplete, however harshly, loudly, rudely challenged at each point along our journey, in America, we can create the change that we seek. (Applause.) All it requires is that our generation be willing to do what those who came before us have done: To rise above the cynicism and rise above the fear, to hold fast to our values, to see ourselves in each other, to cherish dignity and opportunity not just for our own children but for somebody else's child. Applause.) To remember that our freedom is bound up with the freedom of others -- regardless of what they look like or where they come from or what their last name is or what faith they practice. (Applause.) To be honorable alike in what we give, and what we preserve. To nobly save, or meanly lose, the last best hope of Earth. To nobly save, or meanly lose, the last best hope of Earth. That is our choice. Today, we affirm hope.

Thank you. God bless you. May God bless the United States of America. (Applause.)

First Quarter Moon Phase: step out of comfort zone, take action

Moon in Libra/Scorpio Sunday at 8:54 pm ET/Monday at 1:54 am UT

Goddess of Wisdom: Tara - Goddess Who Guides Through Troubles, Dhumavati - Goddess Who Sorts Through and Purges

God of Will/Desire: Elias, God of the West, God of Transformation

Skill: bridge over

Sabian Symbol for the Solar-Lunar Month: "in winter, people cutting ice from a frozen pond for use in summer"

Sabian Symbol for the Solar-Lunar Year: "the music of the spheres"

Major astrological activity continues this weekend, all of it in service, we remember, to furthering the mission and theme for this lunar month: mental/emotional preparations, seeing ahead, loosening or melting mental/emotional barriers, and action taken to produce joy.

The most powerful astrological aspect is the first of the weekend, so let's start there and follow how it flows through the weekend:

SATURDAY

1:41 pm ET/6:41 pm UT: MERCURY CONJUNCTS PLUTO WITH URANUS IN SQUARE:

COMMUNICATIONS/MISCOMMUNICATIONS/NEWS AND INFORMATION THAT LEADS TO CHANGES: The WAY we SAY things is key this weekend, particularly when communicating feelings. This dynamic is amplified by the fact that the Sun is in a Disseminating Cycle -- the energetic time of sharing, communicating, receiving information and messages for guidance, and feedback from the Universe. A conjunction of Mercury and Pluto always intensifies communications between people (since Pluto is "God of the Underworld" with a "Scorpic" nature), and words can sting. And they can go deeply. Words that come from the depths of the heart resonate with the highest octave of this conjunction.

The element of surprise accompanies the conjunction of Mercury and Pluto, since Uranus is in square (90 degrees away). Uranus is the Planet of Changes. It puts people, places, and things where they need to be. However, with Uranus, the changes can feel quite disruptive. Rejections or things that seem unfortunate and even tragic and emotionally devastating happen to rectify and realign. If you are experiencing this, seek integration of the attending fact with Uranus: your "guardian angel" is saving you from something. Suspend judgment of it being good or bad. It is not what it will be in the future and you will not always feel like you do now. Change is the nature of life. We are moved on to greater experiences.

The Sabian symbol for the degree of the Mercury-Pluto conjunction is "in a hospital, the children's ward is filled with toys." We welcome the healing that underlies this energy.

1. 2:25 pm ET/7:25 pm UT: MOON OPPOSES THE BLACK MOON - Yes, it's a Black Moon weekend, one of the two times each month when everyone's shadow sides (fears) tend to be triggered. Issues related to self-worth, self-esteem, achievements (or the lack thereof), and being included are in focus. This is strongest now for those with the Sun, Chiron, or the Black Moon in Aries or Libra. The Black Moon is traveling through the last arc minutes of 13 Libra and "children blowing soap bubbles." The joy of blowing bubbles is not easily felt when the Black Moon is transiting So, let's "blow past" that and begin the next energetic of the Black Moon early: 14 Libra - "in the heat of the noon, a man takes a siesta." The best advice with any transit of the Black Moon is 1) rest as much as possible and 2) remember that it is a PROCESS of rebirthing/regenerating/starting over and it will end. We are restored when a transit of the Black Moon ends.

In fact, several of the Sabian symbols suggest nourishing, resting, and reconnecting with the physical body this weekend.

8:35 pm ET.1:35 am UT: MOON CONUNCTS URANUS:

LOOSENING UP, REFRESHING, CREATING OR ACCEPTING OPPORTUNITIES AND INVITATIONS - Uranus is trying to bring people together, move stagnation, and expand our comfort zones as it continues to discharge "two prim spinsters sitting together in silence."

SUNDAY

5:51 am ET/10:51 am UT: MOON OPPOSES MARS: Just a heads up that the communication/miscommunication dynamic is energized with this, with angry or depressive feelings enhanced. However, it also brings energy to get things done.

8:19 am ET/1:51 pm UT: BLACK MOON MOVES TO 14 LIBRA (see above)

5:01 pm ET/10:01 pm UT: MOON TRINES SUN: Appearances take on way too much importance this weekend, coming to a head at this time. If you have a feeling that things are not quite as they seem, pay attention. What is unsettling about the situation? Is it fake?

8:54 pm ET/1:54 am UT: MOON ENTERS TAURUS: This weekend's Moon Dance (ah Van Morrison) with the Black Moon ends. Fears and insecurities return to ease. Until this time, we are very far into the mystic. What did you learn this weekend? What changed? What transformed into another level? What came to light?

These are the headlines, but there are a few more themes: bridging over things, linking things, going back over things, going back and forth, second chances, tendency toward bitterness, making melodies, and interactions/sightings of birds.

I hope you find something to take from this report that is helpful this weekend. Much love to all the wise owls out there!

Tough Love from the Universe

I would like to devote December's astrology status to a discussion of a crucially important astrological event that took place on November 12, 2015, UT, the North Node's Virgo ingress.

Recap

In recent months, I have discussed the world's gradual emergence from a social, political and economic imbalance that massively favored the 1%. This imbalance was caused by a planetary arrangement that first went into effect in the early 1980s. Roughly 30 years of this imbalance left the world's social, economic and political systems in very serious need of reform.

Cloudy with A Chance of Reform

Since 2010, when Uranus began its transition into Aries, we have seen a series of astrological events that helped ease this destructive imbalance and stoked the fires of activism, protest and reform.

Progressive victories are no longer sporadic. They no longer seem like flukes. Hope and the determination to bring change are quietly suffusing global collective consciousness. Once common, predictions of catastrophic global economic collapse and worldwide chaos have become rare.

The astrological tables have turned. The economic and political tables appear to be turning also. Many of us want to hear that trickles of reform will soon combine into surging, torrents of reform. But the planets are telling us something different. They seem, rather, to be talking about long, slow, carefully thought out changes.

The Cold Gray Light of a Brand New Dawn

Most recently, in November, Saturn re-entered Sagittarius for the full transit, forming a mutable T-Square with Jupiter in Virgo and Neptune in Pisces.

With this, Saturn came back into its own. It began casting everything in a much more realistic, sobering light. Sober analysis began winning out over the simplistic, deceptive, inflammatory, fear-based rhetoric of recent years. At the same time, Saturn set its sober, disciplined energies against the expansive, idealistic, optimistic, but often unrealistic energies of Jupiter and Neptune.

A Side Note about Saturn

The last time Saturn transited Sagittarius, in the mid-late 80s, it was already under the distorting influences that brought the dangerous social, economic and political imbalances into global life. In effect, then, we are just now beginning to look at many issues with a clarity and rigor that we have not known since Saturn was in Sagittarius in 1956, nearly sixty years ago and farther back than most of us today can remember with any clarity.

Keep that in mind in the months ahead. Prepare to dig much deeper for better answers. Instead of rapid, sweeping reforms, it seems that we will soon be making slow, careful progress through a forest of unknowns.

The North Node and Global Dharma

The North Node is the soul of a chart. It transforms a collection of loosely related astrological facts into a whole that works synergistically, synchronistically and unerringly toward the realization of some larger, spiritual evolutionary purpose, regardless of outward appearances. The North Node sets the world's dharma for a particular cycle.

Its placement reveals the global spiritual priority of a given cycle. It determines the tides everyone sees in the the world's affairs. Astrological charts as a whole advance the spiritual evolutionary priority - Global Dharma - set by the North Node. They do it one way or another, with carrots and sticks, by hook or by crook, with vinegar and honey, with incentives and disincentives and more or less obviously.

Basically, those who further the priority set by the North Node experience positive synchronicity. Those who resist it meet with negative synchronicity.

At the moment, the mutable T-Square formed by Jupiter in Virgo, Saturn in Sagittarius and Neptune in Pisces is the dominant astrological formation. When the North Node moved into Virgo, the dynamic of the mutable T-Square merged with the dynamic of global spiritual evolution - the quest to fulfill global dharma. The two most powerful influences in current charts combined forces.

A Jupiter/Saturn/Neptune T-Square Under Normal Circumstances

The mutable T-Square, considered by itself, sets up a three-way contest between Jupiter, Neptune and Saturn, each in its respective mutable sign.

Taken by itself, the mutable T-Square would apply chart by chart, person by person, nation by nation. People all over the world, at every level, would be doing recognizably similar things in different areas of their individual and collective lives.

The North Node, which functions on a meta level, will affect every person in every nation and, in that way, influence the nature and progress of reform movements. It will coordinate all of these efforts in the service of a single higher purpose. But, for now, that purpose does not seem to be to meld existing reform efforts into a single, unified effort at global reform.

I know that many want to see a global surge - a rapid and sustained acceleration - of progressive reform. We want to see the collective consciousness lit brightly from within with a burning enthusiasm for sensible, realistic, practical, lasting, but above all, quick reform.

We all want to hear that the next new aspect will forge these promising trends into an unstoppable global reform movement. But the planets seem to be thinking that would be too easy. The charts, then, are talking more about process than they are about substance, or content. The planets are saying that rather than a shared passion for reform, the people of the world will develop a shared passion for careful reasoning, guided by a will to heal, uplift and preserve, colored by a will to fairness and compassion. That is not the same thing as a unified global reform movement.

T-Square + North Node = ∞

The mutable T-Square is currently the dominant aspect in the heavens and it will remain so for about a year. Taken by itself, the T-Square would encourage a painstaking but even-handed approach to balancing the energies of Neptune in Pisces, Jupiter in Virgo and Saturn in Sagittarius. Each angle in the T-Square would get its fair share of influence and attention.

The North Node in Virgo changes that. It works decisively against an even-handed, balanced response to the T-Square. It adds a strong, all but total bias in favor of Jupiter in Virgo at the expense of Neptune in Pisces and Saturn in Sagittarius.

The North Node in Virgo tells us that working through the energy of Jupiter in Virgo is most important now and will yield the best results. By the same token, working to understand the meaning of Jupiter in Virgo and giving those energies proper expression is the most important and valuable thing we can do.

The participation of the Moon's nodes also multiplies the importance and dramatically amplifies the power of the T-Square. It elevates the power of the T-Square to transcendent levels. It guarantees that a violation of the principles at work in the T-square will have especially serious consequences. The North and South Nodes in large part determine the location of eclipses, also. That further increases the certainty and seriousness of consequences for sidestepping the North Node mandate.

It is true that the components of a T-Square will always tend to vary in importance and relative power. However, the North Node in Virgo tilts the astrological balance of power very heavily in favor of Jupiter in Virgo.

At the same time, it dramatically increases the power of the T-Square. It subordinates all the other aspects in the chart to the dynamic of the mutable T-Square in general and to Jupiter in Virgo in particular and multiplies it by the power of the North Node.

To find answers to the challenges we face, we must infuse Virgo's characteristically painstaking work and humanitarian concern with Jupiter's characteristic optimism and benevolence, its tireless positivity, and its compassion. We must remember that Virgo is the sign of service, cooperation, well-being and nurturance - and, above all, purity of motive.

We don't get to crank out cold, heartless data or coast on Jupiter's easy optimism. We need to find that sweet spot where careful analysis and inexhaustible benevolence overlap and blend. We must find answers that combine Virgo's exhaustive attention to detail with Jupiter's inexhaustible benevolence to produce a result that will further the highest good of all.

Factoring in Saturn and Neptune

As just explained, the chief focus of the T-Square, now that the North Node is part of it, is to reconcile the profoundly paradoxical archetypal tensions between Virgo and Jupiter. But it will still be necessary to factor in the effects of the opposition from Neptune and the Square from Saturn. The biggest karmic and dharmic 'threats' are from Neptune in Pisces. The South Node, in its own way, is a very magnetic point. It attracts us because it is the path of least resistance. Accordingly, many will want to retreat into spiritual sentimentality and reassuring but empty platitudes.

With the North Node in Virgo, the universe is requiring a strictly concrete, down-to-earth, hands-on, service-oriented approach to issues. We must de-emphasize, de-prioritize, the strictly spiritual, idealistic and abstract. In today's energetic climate, Neptunian glamour will not substitute for Virgoan service. If we find a place for the appropriate use of Neptune's positive qualities, that will be OK, though.

Responses inspired or influenced exclusively or primarily by the South Node, i.e, spirituality, will carry negative synchronicity. We must guard especially well against the illusions, seductions and escapism of Neptune or a simple dogmatic appeal to spiritual principle and no recourse to facts or action in the real world. The North Node could tax us very heavily for falling back on this kind of South Node solution - or non-solution.

The same general kind of thinking applies to the square from Saturn. The emphasis will always be on the Jupiter/Virgo dynamic. We will have to draw upon Saturn's strengths, all the while strictly avoiding Saturn's negativity and rigidity and its harsher, colder qualities.

If we emphasize a Jupiter in Virgo approach, for all its difficulties, the North Node guarantees that this complex astrological alchemy will produce results that the forces of spiritual evolution - the Universe, Source - will support and perpetuate.

Major Reality Checks and Wake Up Calls

The mutable T-Square, now augmented by the North Node, will very soon begin confronting us with the errors of our ways. The consequences of poor decisions and past failures will arrive at our doorstep.

This T-Square will deprive us of quick fixes and easy outs. It will also negate self-serving rationalizations. Instead, it will require that we finally devote the necessary time and attention - the hard work - to resolve the challenges in our lives. Starting very soon.

I we've been skating by in some area of our life, cutting important corners, this would be the time to change.

Tough Love Ahead

In more general terms, under the influence of this mutable T-Square with its Saturnian, Neptunian and Jupiterian emphasis, we will all have to dig much, much deeper and more carefully to find the answers we seek. We will also have to face much deeper, more penetrating questions than we are used to facing and do so with far greater honesty. Probably with painful honesty.

The North Node determines what feels right and natural in the collective consciousness, what will feel right on the collective level, to the masses of people. It determines what people think the universe wants during a given cycle.

If we screw up, our friends and neighbors might not be quite so forgiving as they once were. Everybody will be in the mood to dish out a little tough love. Besides, everyone will be trying to answer their own quota of hard questions and dealing with their own dose of tough love.

It is true, as I said, a desire for careful reasoning guided by compassion will infuse collective consciousness. However, the kind of compassion in question is the kind that can only come after a lot of tough questions are asked and answered and some hard realities are faced honestly.

On the Upside

The mutable T-Square is embedded in a bracelet of positive supportive aspects. Jupiter is trine Pluto. Saturn is semi-sextile Pluto and trine Uranus. Pluto is sextile Neptune. Neptune is semi-sextile Uranus. The supportive, facilitating aspects between the powerful, slower moving outer planets counteract the tensions created by any conflicting aspects in the chart. I have discussed this strongly supportive, synchronistic set up in the past.

If you do find yourself confronted with some hard or seemingly impossible choices, step back. There are answers out there. You just need to look for them.

And be willing to change your mind about a few things, eat some crow, show a little humility and wipe that egg off your face. And perhaps be willing to do a little more leg work.

Recap

Within roughly four years, beginning in 2008, the three powerful outer planets all changed signs. These three great ingresses triggered world altering and life changing events and, on a personal level, persistent inner turmoil.

Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune and Pluto have settled into a supportive, resourceful bracelet of semi-sextiles, sextiles and trines that is opportunity and option rich, though not challenge free.

As of now, the world still looks and feels like a violent and dangerous place, wracked with chaos in many places. Socio-economic inequality is still extreme. Thousands are still suffering from war and its aftermath.

People are understandably concerned about the future. But, as I have said in recent posts, the planets are offering much reason for hope.

The Re-Empowerment of the 99%

As I explained in recent posts, when Uranus entered Aries in 2010, it broke up a long-standing planetary arrangement. That arrangement had the effect of increasing social, political and economic inequality to extreme levels, worldwide.

When Uranus entered Aries, one of the three powerful outer planets entered a sign associated with the 99% (i.e., the middle class and working people) for the first time in over 40 years. The power of the great outer planets was no longer concentrated exclusively in signs associated with the 1% (i.e., the governing elite).

Before Uranus moved into Aries, while this concentration of power was still in full force, virtually every event and circumstance somehow conspired to further enrich and empower the 1%. The good news is that the new planetary arrangement, too, constitutes a lasting archetypal pattern. We can expect events to follow this pattern until it, too, changes.

With Uranus transiting the signs of the 99%, we can expect the continuing, progressive re-empowerment of the 99%. In fact, around the time of the 2010 Aries ingress, the 99% did begin their first tentative, halting steps to reclaim their power.

As of now, we still only see somewhat sporadic revolts, erratic social activism and occasional attempts at restoration. Though that is changing. If the past is any indication, however, if astrology is a reliable indicator, these efforts will multiply.

Coming Astrological Attractions

Several important ingresses in the years immediately ahead of us will intensify, accelerate and broaden the re-empowerment efforts of the 99%.

There are many layers of astrological complexity at work in the astrological events I will describe. However, this complexity produces a vibrant, subtle, highly textured and nuanced energy that supports creativity and innovation.

- 2017 - The Saturn Capricorn Ingress

Saturn will join Pluto in Capricorn in 2017, reaching conjunction with Pluto in January 2020. It will be exact only once.

Saturn/Pluto conjunctions are commonly thought to be highly disruptive. However by the time of this conjunction Jupiter will also be in Capricorn.

Jupiter does not do well in Capricorn, but any impairment is more likely to translate into deeper and more thoughtful analysis than negative events. No matter the difficulty level of a formation, Jupiter always mitigates or even neutralizes its negative effects. Jupiter's effects are usually felt as a blessing.

The energies of Jupiter and Saturn are also commonly thought to conflict. But in reality their combined energies often produce brilliance and creativity. Reason and inspiration combine to produce genius.

- 2018-19 - The Uranus Taurus Ingress

In a couple of years, Uranus will enter Taurus (2018-9). This ingress will dramatically accelerate the re-empowerment of the 99% but not only because it puts Uranus deeper into the territory of the 99%.

In the US chart, Taurus is in the 6th house, the house of the working person. The Uranus Taurus ingress will galvanize the American workforce on their own behalf.

When Uranus re-energizes the American working people, the re-empowerment of the 99% will take a giant step forward. The most likely result will be an American work force inspired to fight for its rights. Much of this energy is likely to be channeled into the American labor movement. This will very likely result in a re-energized, resurgent American union movement.

Given the global political and economic influence of the United States, the resurgence of the American labor movement would almost inevitably trigger a resurgence of the labor movement globally.

- 2023-4 - The Pluto Aquarius Ingress

During 2023-4, Pluto will enter Aquarius. Pluto's transit of Aquarius will powerfully energize Aquarian and Uranian archetypes generally. Revolution will be in the air. Pluto will, thereby, dramatically enhance the power of Uranus in Taurus and contribute dramatically to the re-energization of the American worker.

A great deal of astrological complexity comes into play here. For example, Pluto in Aquarius will square Uranus in Taurus. But the deep, innate connection between Aquarius and Uranus is only likely to facilitate the release of Plutonian energy through the labor force.

Again, Uranus "falls" in Taurus (so does Pluto, interestingly). Here again, these energetic nuances are more likely to stimulate healthy thought and discussion than block progress or trigger negative events.

Essentially, this potent square will support strenuous and productive negotiations between the 1% (Pluto in Aquarius) and the 99% (Jupiter and Uranus in Taurus). The 99% will not be negotiating from a position of weakness.

In that way Pluto in Aquarius will contribute to the restoration of balance between the 1% and the 99% and, in effect, advance the re-empowerment of the 99%.

2025-6 - Neptune and Saturn enter Aries

Neptune and Saturn will enter Aries in 2025-6. By their presence in Aries, Neptune and Saturn will intensify and accelerate the re-empowerment of the 99%.

Saturn and Neptune energies are also commonly thought to conflict, or to interfere with each other's expression. However, their combination often brings about powerful, productive cooperation between the imagination, intuition and reason. This cooperation produces brilliant and innovative solutions to thorny problems.

My belief is that the contribution of Neptune and Saturn to the re-empowerment of the 99% will be a vigorous, well-thought out, widely shared understanding of the rights and privileges of the working person.

It's Complicated

I think it is clear from the above that we will continue to move beyond the harsh and chaotic conditions of recent decades.

An energetic shift like the one we are seeing will release very different and powerfully transformative currents in collective consciousness. No government or special interest can for long withstand that kind of shift in collective consciousness.

Nor need we fear the return of such damaging extremes of inequality on astrological grounds for many years.

The coming decades will be characterized by deeper, more rigorous analysis of issues, solidly realistic thinking about problems old and new, some of which have plagued us from our beginnings. The coming years will also see far greater balance of social, economic and political power.

The cosmic winds are carrying us into safer harbors.

I want to express my appreciation to everyone who has supported me with expressions of appreciation and support and by liking and sharing my work. I also want to thank those who have showed their appreciation financially. Creating these posts really does exert a constant, generally upward pressure on my cost of living and contributions help alleviate that.

My heartfelt thanks to all.
