

The University of St.Gallen offers you the unique opportunity to advance your professional development within „Design Thinking“ at the Institute of Information Management. We are looking for a...

Design Thinking Teaching Assistant (100%)

Activities will be, among others:

- + Teaching Team Member for Design Thinking lectures at HSG in cooperation with Stanford University and other global partner universities
- + Coaching of student teams in Design Thinking
- + Organizing events and corporate workshops
- + Design of new lectures in the domain of Design Thinking

What you can expect:

- + Team-oriented project work in an international fast-paced team environment
- + Professional working environment

Applicants with the following qualifications will be considered:

- + Design Thinking Experience
- + Very good writing skills and highly proficient spoken and written English and German
- + Willingness to take on new challenges
- + Relevant internships or practical experience
- + High-level of motivation and commitment, problem-solving skills, responsibility, and willingness to perform on a top level

The job begins with immediate effect. We are interested in a long-term employment.

Please send your comprehensive application to Jennifer Hehn
(jennifer.hehn@unisg.ch)