The Hands-Only CPR Video →

Simplifying to hands-only CPR

Experts now believe an adult who suddenly collapses due to cardiac arrest has enough air in his lungs and blood during CPR and doesn't need mouth-to-mouth breathing.

If you see someone collapse ...

... have someone call 911.

Position unresponsive adult.

Begin hands-only CPR with straight arms and forceful compressions at about 100 a minute.

Lift hands slightly after each to allow chest to recoil.

Take turns with a bystander until emergency medical services arrive.
