

MAKE APRIL 15th a day of action in your school or community with Jane Goodall!

On Wednesday, April 15th at 9:00 a.m. (EST) Dr. Goodall will be giving the keynote address at a Roots & Shoots workshop in Ottawa, Canada and it will be streamed live online!

You can watch the live webcast of Jane's speech by visiting the Algonquin College website and registering (for free) by Monday, April 13th.

We're challenging Roots & Shoots groups around the world to not only watch Dr. Jane's speech, but also to TAKE ACTION for people, animals or the environment on the day of the webcast.

Do anything you want: host a litter-free lunch, a school recycling day, plant trees or put on a play about water conservation – the choice is yours!

Don't forget to email us at roots_shoots@janegoodall.ca to tell us what you're doing. Jane might even give a shout-out to your group if she knows you're watching and taking action!
