

The Center for Nonprofits and the Master in Public Administration program present

FROM SURVIVING TO THRIVING

Navigating Today's Management and Financial Challenges

Save the Date – Friday, November 2

Join other senior nonprofit leaders to discuss the strategies that nonprofits must implement to survive and thrive in today's environment.

Keynote speaker: Amy Houston, Professor of Management at Columbia University and former head of management and administrative operations at the Robin Hood Foundation. She is at the forefront of innovative thinking about the management of nonprofits.

Friday, November 2, 2018
8 a.m.–2 p.m.
Sacred Heart University

Registration: The conference is by invitation and free, but pre-registration will be required.

More information coming soon.

CENTER FOR NONPROFITS

Sacred Heart University