JIM HEANEY

AND HIS ACADEMIC

A Celebration of Jim Heaney's Career

As you may be aware, Jim Heaney retired recently from the University of Florida Department of Environmental Engineering Sciences (EES). Jim's academic career began with EES in 1968 just after its inception in 1966, advancing to become Professor and Director of the Florida Water Resources Research Center. Jim became a professor of the Civil, Environmental, and Architectural Engineering Department (CEAE) at the University of Colorado in 1991 (was Chair of CEAE from 1991-1994), until returning to UF EES as Chair in 2003. Throughout his career, Jim has made significant contributions in systems management of water resources, and he has advised many M.S. and Ph.D. students in Florida and Colorado.

Please join us for the celebration at the Florida Room of the University/Gainesville Hilton, 1714 SW 34th St., Gainesville, FL on Thursday, October 27 at 12:00 pm. The arrangement with the Hilton is flexible and billed per person, at an estimated cost of $35 per person. Please reply to dsample@vt.edu if you will be attending, and how many are in your party, if you have not already done so.

For those of you who graduated from UF, you should be aware that the 50th Anniversary Symposium of the Department of Environmental Engineering Sciences begins later in the afternoon of October 27th. Your participation in that event is strongly encouraged. The link to its registration is:
