

TO LISTEN TO THIS CALL:

- GO TO BBS RADIO 2 & SCROLL DOWN THE SCHEDULE UNTIL YOU REACH SATURDAY.
- CLICK ON "HISTORY OF OUR GALACTIC WORLD & NESARA" & THE INFORMATION PAGE WILL COME UP.
- UNDERNEATH THE PICTURE OF THE GALAXY AND THE LOTUS, YOU WILL SEE A BLUE BOX WITH THE WORDS PROGRAM ARCHIVES.
- CLICK ON THAT BOX TO GET TO THE LISTING OF PROGRAM ARCHIVES: latest ones are at the top.
- YOU CAN DOWNLOAD THE PROGRAM TO YOUR OWN COMPUTER OR LISTEN DIRECTLY.

Opening Meditation: Cheryl

Everyone is invited to Cheryl Croci's Sunday and Monday ascension and activation calls
 • 9 pm EST/6 pm PST • 213-342-3000; PIN 9467441#

Housekeeping: Cheryl

- BBS:
- We owe $50 for last week + $300 this week = $325 Thank you! Thank you! Thank you!
 - A listener supported radio call - Grateful for all the donations from all of us!
 - Go to BBS radio.com; at top of home page, click on Station 2 where you will find the listing of the 3 calls we have every week. Click on any of these names & scroll down to find the Paypal button.
 - Website: <http://2013rainbowroundtable.ning.com> - scroll down on home page, close to blog page to find the donate button - can indicate whether it's for BBS or T&R

- T & R:
- Money for rent - $900 by Nov 9th [only need $700 more]
 - Also, money for food and gas
 - Can trade with T & R for readings by Mother Sekhmet
 - Please let them know when you are gifting:

E-mail: koran999@comcast.net
Mintaka9999@yahoo.com

Mail: Ram D Berkowitz
 1704 B Llano St, # 249
 Santa Fe, NM 87505

Or contact MariettaRobert at 317-773-0061

The work we do together, the sharing we do - all of this is important: thank you all for sharing!

Phone Numbers: 530-413-9537
 530-513-6472

BBS Toll Free 888-429-5471 [Canada, US]

Hard News:

R: as the Sirian Commander has said: 32 months of consecutive job growth! Yet the next half of the story is about the free energy about to be released, and the way "work" will be changed

Camp Loveway: they talked of Dr Keshe - talked of The Anti-Gravity Manual, put in 70s, 80s

- Nick Beggage: as Iran activates its anti-gravity technology, air force jets will be flying bathtubs!
- Talked of Dr Keshe's magnetic gravity technology that is in harmony with the universe
- What is happening in our present reality as time and space are shifting - clocks go back tonight
- There are eco engineers, bio engineers working in labs in Iran: they are so far advanced that their technologies are looping circles around our scientific technologies
- There is an internal war inside the Iranian regime: the current Iranian ayatollah won't be here much longer; the theocracy is not in line with the new energies coming in - the younger people in Iran are Indigo Crystals, do not want war
- The fake war on terror has to do with the petro dollar which is going into nothingness, as we move into global economics about to be played out -
- as Jacques Fresco and wife say, we don't have to work for the man, and be where we are: a new way of working - the hippies have won, as Cynthia says
- Fred Alan Wolf and ? are quantum physicists
- 3 days away from the most historic election of our lifetime: has to do with hyper dimensional election of Barack Obama, the son of Malcolm X who was a prophet with message of the ballot or the bullet; about the people of Kennet, the black land; black is not an identity; it's a colour and there are also many shades of brown
- They shared legends - like story about passing Samhain, the thinnest doorway in the fall: when the gateway is open and it is All Souls Night / Hallowe'en - it's about working with the souls which have passed on in previous year, and they have stepped in the the Antares Midway station and are getting ready to move on by Metatron
- The Rainbow Bridge between all the 9 dimensions we speak of, and all the other stories - the hyper dimensional worlds bring in stories that are not legends, but are real: The Green Lantern one of the guardians of our universe; the whole Green Lantern alliance is about part of Elohigh and Elohim and intergalactic brother hood and sister hood, and the Justice Leagues about the ancient, eternal and supreme of days - their job is to control the Archons - Sacha Fall, Gordon Duff speak of this - yet they are Faction 2, and don't like what Obama represents for the first time, he and the people of planet earth are on the verge of something REALLY BIG

T: Naomi Prince and Max Keiser, they are compromised due to gag orders, have been talking -vely about Obama - due to Hillary

R: Some of the reporters have over-stepped their bounds - like Thom on Friday spoke about the ones in the restaurant when Obama was inaugurated - called them treasonous - a little over his bounds!

T: stop pursuing dinars: those working and getting paid and talking to you - they are working for those who want to see you stripped of your money and then dead! NONE OF IT WILL BE PAID THAT WAY - ONLY THROUGH NESARA so there will be no harm to us, the people. The Ashtar Command has the ability to make sure we are kept safe, via the White Knights.

R: Yes, the Green Lanterns are part of the plan - Tuella in the 60s and 70s spoke of the 12 Motherships and trillions, quintillions of others surrounding this planet; as the ancient ones called Mother's children & play with the ancient war weapons cannot use the technology which has the activation of the wisdom of the silican chips which has amino acid awareness; it knows when it is being messed with and it will protect itself in a defensive way - the activations are going in in such a deep way with humanity

R: this particular Samhain is different from last year's Samhain

T: talking about purging by stealing 38% of Ohio's vote, according to Romney's game plan

- We are really seeing quantum leaps at the moment; as despicable as it is that we had a manipulated storm - it was 100% manipulated in spite of what the channels say
- The astrologer Christine on Thursday said there are many levels of denial as well as a lot of levels of channelling due to the prime Directive which says cannot interfere with where the channel is at!
 - Go Deeper! Send deeper love; do your own homework.
- There will not be one strand of the old order left - and they must be gone out of us, as well as out of others.

Audio: Ed Schultz from Friday, Nov 2

- Job numbers are +ve: added 175,000 jobs; 7.9% is unemployment - the 32nd straight month of increasing job numbers. Hired more workers in October than in any of past 8 months
- Pres finishes strong in Ohio while Romney tries to scare Ohioans
 - presenting himself as agent of change
 - has 5 people with him from the old Bush regime
 - tries to scare Ohioans - could have another recession; wages remain stagnant
 - makes up stories about working across the aisle - cave into GOP, as Obama will not be able to be bipartisan, but he will!
- Pres takes Romney on - R's ads are lies and he tells the people so
- Nancy Pelosi was on ed's show on Friday - are we better off than 4 years ago? YES
 - It would have been better if the GOP had not been obstructionist.
- The Tea Party is breaking up in Congress
- David Cay Johnson: all growth in private sectors - 171,000
 - things were understated last month: people voluntarily quite jobs because they were confident they could find another one - this is a change.
 - In another report, housing starts were up
- Richard Wolfe - consumer confidence is up as per spending patterns
 - No one gives Pres credit
 - Pres approval numbers at 50% and going up - hard to unseat him

David Cay J: if the Republicans has not insisted on giving the money to the bankers etc, and left the teachers and policemen and firemen in place, there would have been more spending and the US would have been better off, already

- Infrastructure in US needs to be dealt with, not hollowed out
- Richard: Romney keeps on saying Obama cannot work with Republicans - yet watch Obama/Christie, and Obama and the others!

T: Romney Campaign, DIA Mormon Mafia both responsible for Benghazi attack

by Webster Tarpley, Ass't Sec of Defence under Colin Powell

[SEE BELOW]

R: when Alex Jones had his 9/11 conference, Tarpley showed up with the architects eng etc - a whistle blower; glad he is still alive!

- In reference to the paragraph beginning "The existence of the CIA base has been first suggested . . ." Tara brings up Syria, ref to people killed who were unarmed, then beaten and killed

"Obama Administration asked the papers "not to reveal details about the CIA's Benghazi base": the administration is full of Faction 1 and similar kinds of personnel

- R: a // story - Ironman movie - the person who became Ironman turned his story around: became a borg-like person for the good guys - he had been an arms dealer at the beginning of the story
- The more she reads the article, the more evidence there is of pre-meditation.

Reading: The Russell Bloodline: The Watchtower and the Illuminati

[SEE BELOW]

Audio: Greg Palast presentation from Pirate TV

- Talks about Citizens United -
- tells the story of grand theft larceny on Federal property - so they follow the trucks and end up at a
 - loading dock in Oklahoma city - see a man there saying "I want more" - he is asked why he is doing this as he was born a millionaire!
 - "I want my fair share, and that's all of it!" - Charles Koch on why he wants $50 worth of oil from an Indian family
 - the billionaires are the ballot bandits- the FBI had tapes, evidence so why isn't he prosecuted/
 - tells the whole story: indictment is written up - enough evidence to put him away until next century - prosecutor released, other things - and he walks!
- Toxic waste in bottom of truck is put in the river, of course! And he is caught -
 - Contract for America seems to have been written for the Kochs to relieve them of regulation - not FOR the Kochs, but BY the Kochs!
 - How do they get out of the fines for polluting?
- Rest of the interview explains it

Music:

Astrology: Richard

Richard describes his O B E & how he felt so much better afterwards - and benefits of doing inner work

- Chiron in early Pisces, trine to Saturn -

- If you think you're stuck, change your thinking!
- Be sure and vote on Tuesday

T: if you can get a paper ballot, use it and put it in the ballot box yourself

Ri: this is another system that needs integrity!

T: there is to be a legal case against Tagg Romney and Mr Sproule - it's election fraud

T: Koch Bros to be arrested too!

Ri: another good thing of the time we live in:

- Scorpio is holding the energies of deep deep transformation
- north node is moving into Scorpio from Sag side - we are getting another download of info and know how we are being assisted.
- Saturn insists on accountability - as we keep the pressure on the bad guy banksters, we are helping this
 - they have been doing all they can to drive down price of gold and silver - they screwed up and are in a bad hole and they will not get out of it.

Reading: The Opening of the Rose Stargates : energies for 2009, by Celia Fenn

[SEE BELOW]

Ri: as we go back 3 years, Saturn was anchored in late Virgo - in terms of our generation those with Saturn in Libra - late 50s, early 60s - have completed 2nd Saturn return - now in 3rd cycle of life

Music: dedicated to Richard for his birthday

Music: a musical telethon in support of the flood victims on the east coast of the US.

Reading: Michael Bloomberg's support of Barack Obama

Music: Arrowsmith

R: Jamie Dimon is going to have to fork it over to St Germain to help those people.

Audio: Amy Goodman - Democracy Now

- Amy refers to all the climate change summits Democracy Now has attended
- David Suzuki interview

http://www.democracynow.org/2012/6/25/david_suzuki_on_rio_20_green#transcript

[SEE BELOW]

Monday, June 25, 2012 Full Show [INCLUDING THE VIDEO OF THE INTERVIEW]

David Suzuki on Rio+20, "Green Economy" & Why Planet's Survival Requires Undoing Its Economic Model

Short Audio: cannot change the future with the same thinking that has created the situation

Audio: about Hillary Clinton and a felony: campaign contributions to Hillary and Bill during 96 - 97 re-election; Stan Lee who created X Men and Spider Man made a contribution which ended up as taxes; now Stan is suing Hillary who says she did nothing of the sort.

- Hillary committed 4 or 5 felonies under Federal law - Tara and Rama explain what is heard

Audio: a discussion of Rumi's poetry - host is John Cleese of program called "Global Spirit"

Reading: Jose Arguelles - had an inkling the calendar might be a code - more than a calendar

- refers to the mystic teachings of Shamballa, important to Buddhism
- his intuition thought of some kind of connection between Shamballa and Toulon [how it is pronounced] - where Pacqual Volcan came

Reading: Rainbird on the panther / midnight Jaguar

Music: I am the Medicine Man
Something from Hawaii - "I am Perfection of Grace"

2012, Oct 14 Romney campaign, CIA Mormon Mafia both responsible for Benghazi attack

US Republican presidential candidate Mitt Romney

Sun Oct 14, 2012 9:15AM GMT

<http://www.presstv.ir/detail/2012/10/14/266560/benghazi-attack-cia-mafia-in-action/>

By Webster G. Tarpley

“Ironically, when Secretary of State Hillary Clinton appeared to defend her policy at a conference on the Maghreb region held at the Center for Strategic and International Relations on October 12, she was introduced by the Mormon General Brent Scowcroft, a former National Security Council chief and close associate of Henry Kissinger, who is a grey eminence of the Mormon Mafia. Of course, if security was lacking in Benghazi, Mrs. Clinton should be held responsible. She is in any case about to resign.”

The Mitt Romney presidential campaign and the CIA Mormon Mafia have embarrassing questions to answer about the September 11 deaths of US Ambassador to Libya Christopher Stephens and three members of his staff in Benghazi, Libya, new information confirms.

Responsibility for what happened in Benghazi on September 11 has now emerged as a favorite issue of Republicans and Romney supporters, who are accusing the Obama administration of failing to provide sufficient security for the Benghazi consulate. Republicans are also eager to use the Benghazi killings to attack Obama’s claim that the alleged death of Osama bin Laden in the spring of 2011 marked the definitive defeat of al-Qaeda. This issue was aggressively cited by Republican candidate Paul Ryan in his vice presidential debate with incumbent Democrat Joe Biden. Biden asserted that the US intelligence community had told the White House that the Benghazi attack was a protest demonstration against an Islamophobic film which had turned violent, rather than a militarily planned terrorist attack. This was the analysis repeatedly offered by US Ambassador to the United Nations Susan Rice in the days after September 11. Biden also stated that the White House was not aware of requests for anti-terror reinforcements by US consular officials in Benghazi.

So far, the most important information about the Benghazi events has been ignored in the controversy between Republicans and Democrats.

As the London Daily Mail reported on September 19, 2012, all signs suggest that the attack on the US Consulate in Benghazi and the murder of Ambassador Stevens were carried out by forces under the command of Sufyan Ben Qumu (or Kumu), a notorious terrorist leader of the Libyan Islamic Fighting Group, an affiliate of al-Qaeda. Qumu, who once worked as Bin Laden’s chauffeur, is a native of Derna, Libya, the city which US Army files suggest has produced more violent terrorists per capita than any other in the world. The US government knows everything about Qumu, who spent about five years as a prisoner in detention at Guantánamo Bay, Cuba. Qumu was then sent back to Libya in September 2007, where he was set free by Gaddafi in an amnesty in 2010. Qumu currently heads the Ansar al-Sharia brigade, also an al-Qaeda affiliate.

Clearly, the likely way somebody like Qumu could be released from Guantánamo would be if he had become a double agent working for the CIA in the overthrow of Qaddafi. We therefore have a situation in which a reputed CIA asset has carried out the assassination of the US ambassador. The existence of a Mormon Mafia within the CIA interested in staging an October surprise to help Romney get elected may provide the key to explaining these phenomena.

CIA Director Petraeus Pushed Demo Gone Violent Theory

One authoritative source for the theory that the Benghazi attack was a protest demonstration gone violent was none other than CIA Director General David Petraeus, a figure who feels no special loyalty to Obama. Petraeus unites Pentagon and CIA networks. According to a Fox News story dated September 27, “a congressional source told Fox News that CIA Director David Petraeus, during a briefing with members of the House Intelligence Committee three days after the attack, also espoused the view that Benghazi was an out-of-control demonstration prompted by the YouTube video. According to the source, this was ‘shocking’ to some members who were present and saw the same intelligence pointing towards a terrorist attack.” Petraeus is notoriously the darling of neocon networks who are now actively supporting Romney. Is Petraeus using his current position to help Romney against Obama? Is Petraeus now actively allied with the Mormon Mafia inside his own agency?

Disturbing questions about the role of the CIA in Benghazi were raised during an October 10 hearing of the House Oversight and Government Reform Committee chaired by partisan Republican Congressman Darrell Issa. Issa, reputedly the richest man on Capitol Hill, sought to use the hearing to blame the Benghazi deaths on the Obama White House. Issa was assisted by Congressman Jason Chaffetz of Utah, a spokesman for the Romney presidential campaign, and like Romney a leading member of the tightly-knit and sectarian Mormon Church of Latter-day Saints. Issa introduced Chaffetz as the congressman who had started the entire investigation of Benghazi; Chaffetz had just returned from a short fact finding visit in Benghazi along with other Republicans, but no Democrats.

Issa’s leadoff witness was Special Forces Lt. Col. Andrew Wood of the Utah National Guard, who had actively sought to be heard as a witness. Wood had been the top security official for the Benghazi consulate for several months before the assassinations. Coming as he does from Utah, a state largely dominated by the Latter-day Saints, we may safely assume that Lt. Col. Wood is either a member or ally of the Mormon Church. Lt. Col. Wood testified that he had asked the State Department in Washington for additional security personnel, but never received the requested reinforcements. But other witnesses pointed out that Wood’s application had been incomplete, since he never substantiated his request with descriptions of a specific threat, thus making it difficult to grant.

A revealing incident occurred during the testimony of Charlene Lamb, the Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for International Programs in the Diplomatic Security Bureau of the State Department. Secretary Lamb, basically a policewoman, sought to describe the Benghazi events with the help of a satellite photo showing the US facilities in Benghazi. But Congressman Chaffetz immediately became agitated, calling out “Point of order! Point of order!” Chaffetz wanted the photo hidden away, and fast. “We’re getting into classified issues that deal with sources and methods that would be totally inappropriate in an open forum such as this,” Chaffetz explained. Secretary Lamb reply at the photo was “entirely unclassified,” and in fact came from a commercial satellite.

But the Romney backer Chaffetz was implacable. “I totally object to the use of that photo. I was told specifically while I was in Libya I could not and should not ever talk about what you’re showing here today,” Chaffetz asserted. Chairman Issa said that the photo could remain on display, and Secretary Lamb completed her prepared testimony. But while she spoke, various aides busily whispered in Issa’s ear. By the time Secretary Lamb had finished, Issa ordered that the photo be taken down. “In this hearing room, we’re not going to point out details of what may still in fact be a facility of the United States Government or more facilities,” Issa argued.

Secret CIA Base in Benghazi Revealed

From subsequent references to an “other government agency” or “other government entity,” it became clear that the additional building shown on the photo was in fact a CIA base, the home of a CIA “rapid response force” with between seven and 12 members. This force was comparable to the Site Security Team which Lt. Col. Wood said he had requested in vain. It emerged from the hearings that these CIA personnel were not under State Department command. As Dana Milbank noted on October 11 in the Washington Post, “the victims may have been let down not by the State Department but by the CIA.” So where had this considerable CIA force been during the attack on the consulate? Why had the CIA failed to defend the American Ambassador’s life? Could the CIA Mormon Mafia somehow have been responsible for this failure? Was this why the Mormon loyalist Chaffetz was so anxious to hide the evidence?

The existence of the CIA base had been first suggested by a September 23 New York Times article by Eric Schmitt, Helene Cooper, and Michael S. Schmidt, which reported that more than two dozen American personnel had been evacuated from Benghazi on September 11, including “about a dozen CIA operatives and contractors, who played a crucial role in conducting surveillance and collecting information on an array of armed militant groups in and around the city.” It might be more accurate to say that the CIA was providing liaison with armed groups in the infamous Benghazi-Derna-Tobruk or Cyrenaica terrorist corridor, terrorists which NATO was widely known to have been deploying into Syria through Turkey. But the question remained: why had the CIA forces not helped to defend the consulate when it came under attack? Was it to help manufacture an incident which Romney could use to defeat Obama?

On October 11, in his article entitled “Security Lapses Indeed,” Dana Milbank revealed in the Washington Post that his paper and the New York Times had been asked by the Obama administration not to reveal details about the CIA’s Benghazi base.

The late Ambassador Stevens had reportedly been in close contact with the militias of the Benghazi-Derna-Tobruk corridor since no later than 2008, when he had served as Vice Consul in Benghazi. His last visitor on September 11 was a Turkish diplomat who departed from the consulate at about 8:30 p.m. Was the subject of this meeting the deployment of more jihadis from Cyrenaica through Turkey into Syria? According to Leveyng writing in the Daily Kos of September 14, "Stevens believed that he was safe because he routinely worked with Libyan militant groups in the area." But suddenly, something changed.

Leveyng of the Daily Kos argues that working closely with Ambassador Stevens starting in March-April 2011 was evidently former CIA employee James F. Smith, a former director of the infamous Blackwater private military firm who became the boss of SCG International, a private security firm, according to a March 19, 2012 report by Yazan al-Saadi in the English edition of Al-Akhbar of Beirut based on alleged e-mails from the private intelligence firm Stratfor which that paper had obtained. These e-mails include a report that, after the death of Col. Gaddafi, Smith had been sent by the US government to contact Syrian opposition figures in Turkey to determine "how they can help in regime change."

According to one of the supposed Stratfor e-mails obtained by Al-Akhbar, "Source [presumably James F. Smith] and Dr. Walid Phares are getting air cover [political support] from [Republican North Carolina] Congresswoman Myrick to engage Syrian opposition in Turkey (non-MB and non-Qatari) on a fact finding mission for Congress. The true mission is how they can help in regime change." Rep. Sue Myrick, an Islamophobic reactionary, is a member of the House Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence. She has announced her retirement.

Dr. Walid Phares has been named as a member of the Islamophobia network in Fear, Inc., a 2011 report issued by the Center for American Progress. This Islamophobia network, of which the best known figure is the neocon John Bolton, Romney's chief foreign policy adviser and probable secretary of state in a Romney administration, is implicated in the production of the anti-Muslim film which set off the protests in two dozen countries on and after September 11, 2012.

Walid Phares is a Lebanese Christian who was named on October 20, 2011 as Special Advisor to Mitt Romney and co-chairman of Romney's Middle East Advisory Group. According to Mother Jones, Phares in the 1980s was a "close adviser to Samir Geagea, a Lebanese warlord." Phares' appointment as a Romney advisor was also criticized by The Daily Beast, Politico, Salon, and The New Republic. Serwer reports that Phares had told a third party that "Romney had promised Phares a high-ranking White House job helping craft US policy in the Middle East should the ex-governor win in 2012."

Ironically, when Secretary of State Hillary Clinton appeared to defend her policy at a conference on the Maghreb region held at the Center for Strategic and International Relations on October 12, she was introduced by the Mormon General Brent Scowcroft, a former National Security Council chief and close associate of Henry Kissinger, who is a grey eminence of the Mormon Mafia. Of course, if security was lacking in Benghazi, Mrs. Clinton should be held responsible. She is in any case about to resign.

WT/HSN

The Russell Bloodline

THE WATCHTOWER & THE ILLUMINATI

Last year in the Jan. '93 newsletter I wrote an article about the Illuminati and the Watchtower Society. Recently, on Dec. 10, '93, Texe Marrs interviewed me over international short wave radio about the 1990 book "The Watchtower and the Masons." Having got a good response from the short wave radio interview, it is only appropriate that this newsletter starts off the new year with another article on the Watchtower Society and the Illuminati. Because of numerous problems within the congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses with Satanic Ritual Abuse, the Watchtower Society put out an article in the Oct. 8, 1991 issue of the magazine. Lee Waters of Bethel Headquarters kept a file on his computer of Jehovah's Witnesses who were reported to be victims of SKA. It is possible headquarters has told him to delete the file. Another man who was at headquarters who is now believed out of the Society was also well informed of SRA among the congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses. In fact, two J.W.s who had actually been in the Illuminati while J.W.s but had broken free, confronted the Governing Body and headquarters with their evidence of the Illuminati operating within the membership of the Jehovah's Witnesses.

What was the response of the WF leaders?

To simply ignore and coverup the evidence. The actions of the Governing Body in squelching any serious action against the high level Satanism secretly operating within the Jehovah's Witnesses shows what my Be Wise A Serpents book revealed, which is that very secret high level Satanism has long been controlling the Watchtower Society. One of these 2 eyewitnesses to Illuminati activities within the higher levels of the Watchtower Society realized that something is seriously wrong at the top, when the WF leaders do not really care for those people in the congregations who are becoming the victims of SRA. One elder in good standing lost his position because he warned the WT Society of satanic infiltration. It is obvious that the Watchtower organization is more interested in public relations than it is in having a clean organization. In examining the families that are involved with the Illuminati who use the Watchtower Society as a cover, we find a continuation of the same pattern as I noticed before: there is a large contingent of Scottish and a large Jewish bloodlines. For instance, one J.W. Illuminati family was the Udell family (Scottish name) who married Picketson Milliken (English maiden name with Jewish first husband).

This type of combination typifies so many of the elite who I have researched. In the Be Wise As Serpents book, chapter 1.11 discusses how the Satanism within the Illuminati and the Watchtower Society could be tracked by an understanding of Enochian magic. Readers may want to refer back to that chapter after reading this paragraph. The Illuminati operating within the Watchtower Society use the Enochian Language which has its own language and its own Enochian alphabet (letters in boxes).

According to eyewitnesses who have left the J.W. part of the Illuminati, the Enochian alphabet is known and used as the cult language by those Illuminati operating in the high levels of the Watchtower Society. In other words, their ceremonies are done in this ritual Enochian language. Sir William Sinclair in the 16th century was one of those who introduced Enochian Magic to Scotland. The Scottish connection in the Watchtower Society is overpowering. Both the Russell and the Rutherford families came from Scotland as well as MacMillan and many other key early Watchtower leaders.

From this it appears that the Scottish type of Illuminatism that created the early Watchtower Society has always practiced Enochian magic. Remember from the Be Wise As Serpents book that knowing the Watchtowers is the key to Enochian magic. The same type of winged-sun-disk that C.T. Russell used was also used on the Magic. Two phrases that were popular among satanists who practiced Enochian Magic in Rumli's day were 'Millennial Dawn and 'Golden Age.' The following are some of the Illuminati operating within the Watchtower Society today (names may be spelled incorrectly in some cases):

- ✦ Chris family - Domelie family-Irish bloodline
- ✦ Karrls - JW Overseer in Miami, FL Prince George McKee-Monroeville, AL Melers, or Myer-Jewish Satanic bloodline.
- ✦ Sharon Russell - left the Illuminati, still a JW, worked with police showing ritual sites.
- ✦ Princess Proud Swift - lived in Delaware, with the travel industry Jim Tifton-important WT official and elder in So. Calif. A secret Satanic serial murderer.
- ✦ Walt family - Woomer family- The areas which have been identified as strong Satanic stronghold within the Watchtower religious empire are:

Southern California (cap. San Bernadino Valley), Florida, the Carribean, Scotland, Bethel Headquarters in Brooklyn, and various places in New York. I expect that this list of strongholds is very incomplete. According to an eye witness of the Illuminati within the Watchtower Society the following items can be ascertained:

- ✦ Some type of trauma based mind control is being used to create MPD and control children born into the Illuminati within the WF Society.
- ✦ The rank and file JWs have no awareness that the WT Society has a secret upper level of involvement. (Note, I identified this upper level in my chart explaining how religions are controlled by Satanism.)
- ✦ The Illuminati within the Jehovah's Witnesses have a hidden agenda that is separate from the published goals of the WT Society, although they also support many of the goals of the Society.

RITUAL SITES

Beside rituals taking place in the above mentioned stronghold areas, it is of value to point out that one of the rituals that I have found out about took place when a boat load of generational satanic JWs went to the Bahamas (believed to be Andros Is.) and had a ritual at a high place. This was in 1958.

Related items

There are three items which relate to what has been described above.

- ✦ There is a particular man who is well informed about the WT Society who is able to explain how the WE Society is interlocked with a lot of major corporations.
- ✦ As a consequence of how connected the WT Society is with politics, big business, etc. the WE Society has been closely watched by the FBI which has over 12,000 pages in its files on the WT Society alone. This figure does not include its extensive files on individuals, of which everyone of the WE Society Presidents has had a file.
- ✦ The WT Society performs a secret ritual every year which is their primary ritual. This ritual is actually the ancient gnostic (satanic) ritual of saying no to the body of Christ. This ancient satanic ritual is now secretly practiced under the disguise of the Memorial Supper - where the elements of communion are passed and no one partakes of the elements. (When I say 'no one' I mean that in a qualified sense-only a small group are allowed to partake. The actual figures of how many partake of the elements is a totally fictitious figure according to my sources, which is created at Bethel headquarters in Brooklyn.
- ✦ Canadian citizens who have tried to find out why the Watchtower Society in Canada is allowed to evade taxes, have been stonewalled by government officials. MacGregor Ministries newsletter News & Views, Oct. 1993, p. 10 discusses how various people have tried to expose the Watchtower's avoidance of the GST and how the Minister of Finance, the Minister of National Revenue and many other government groups have simply stonewalled people. The fax no. of one of the most powerful committees of the Watchtower Society is the WT Service Dept. whose fax no. is 718-6244030. This newsletter will continue to bring articles on the various branches of Satan's One World Religion which includes the Mormon authority structure, the Catholic authority structure, the Pentecostal and the Jehovah's Witnesses authority structures just to name a few.

One of the strangest things for this Author was to continue running into evidence that seems to indicate Charles Taze Russell, the man who started the Jehovah's Witnesses' Watchtower Society, was secretly an important Satanist. Lest the reader devalue the evidence, permit this author to state that the evidence came in first before I came up with my theory that Russell was an important Satanist, and not vice-versa. Some of the outstanding clues are:

- a.) C.T. Russell was definitely a Mason, yet he puts up some great smokescreens in his writing concerning his membership.
- b.) C.T. Russell's Bethel staff became concerned about his occultic activities and required him to take an oath forswearing any further occultic activities.
- c.) In my previous book The Watchtower and the Masons, I study 35 parallel beliefs that Russell had with Masonry. I spent a page per parallel. These 35 are not in any way inclusive, Russell had many other identical ideas to what the Masonic lodges propagate.
- d.) Various items from magic were part of Russell's religious beliefs including healing handkerchiefs, phrenology, the Winged-Sun-Disk, Enochian Magical planes, etc.
- e.) Russell's family's possible Illuminati links, and his wife's possible connections with a family line of Satanists.
- f.) Russell's apparent secret Rosicrucian membership with the Quakertown, PA group of Rosicrucians, as revealed by the pyramid he ordered erected, his use of the Winged-Sun-Disk. and his cremation three days after his death.
- g.) Russell owned a cemetery in Pittsburgh. Leading Satanists try to own cemeteries for several reasons. First, it facilitates the disposal of human sacrifices which are buried in pieces below the fresh holes dug for someone else's burial. When the casket is placed in the hole, it would be rare for anyone to dig below the casket level ever again. Second, magic power is associated with cemeteries. The spiritual power of the dead is pulled up by making a circle of light over them then within the circle a naked Satanist lays. Third, specific bones are sought such as the skulls and left hands. Left hands are preserved in order to hold candles for certain ceremonies.
- h.) Contacts from various places today indicate that the modern Watchtower Society is working with the New World Order. This implies that at some point the Society began cooperating with the New World Order. Russell seems to be the likeliest starting point.

UNDERSTANDING CHARLES T. RUSSELL

As with all occult organizations a veil of secrecy is maintained by requiring initiates to take secrecy oaths on penalty of death. As in Witchcraft, Masonry repeatedly demands secrecy oaths at every new level. Charles T. Russell began participating in this secrecy when he took the Entered Apprentice (first Masonic degree) oath on penalty of mayhem and violent death, "I ... do hereby and hereon most solemnly and sincerely promise and swear that I will always hail, ever conceal and never reveal any of the arts, parts or points of the secret arts and mysteries of ancient Freemasonry which I received, am about to receive, or may hereafter be instructed in ..."

NOTES

1. Confidential interviews with ex-Satanists.
2. Interview by Dr. Al Carlisle with a Black Prince recorded in Stratford, L. Satan's Underground. p. 144.

Should the reader allow, I will quote from the Power's own statements plus other proof to show that this god, the god of the world, is Lucifer (aka Satan, Sanat, Venus, etc.) For thousands of years, The Plan for world domination has been passed down from occult generation to occult generation. Spaced every 28 is a Feast of the Beast, a year-long holiday during which Satanists receive new instructions from Satan on how to carry out The Plan.' We read of the great holiday and its Great Councils in Externalization of the Hierarchy, when Satan's instrument Alice Bailey writes, "The past year... has, however, been the year in which the greatest spiritual Approach of all time has shown itself to be possible - an Approach for which the initiates and Masters have for centuries been preparing, and for which all the Wesak Festivals since the meeting of the Great Council in 1925 have been preparatory. I have, in past instructions, referred to the great meetings held at intervals by Those to Whom is entrusted the spiritual guidance of the planet and particularly of man." (Externalization of the Hierarchy, p. 389.)

ONE SAMPLE OF THEIR PLANS

As example of how ingenious these plans are to create a One-World-Government consider the following part of it. The Drug War is not what it seems. It is a very ingenious scheme to enslave the American people, and destroy all their civil rights. The first rumblings of the Drug War part of The Plan seem to stir from the occult, so it is highly possible the Drug War originally was first developed by Satanists, perhaps even given during one of the Feasts of the Beast. The Drug War seems like the perfect plan, with no way for the Power to lose. First, the Power creates a drug culture in America. The Drug Culture would and did give many their first step into the Aquarian (New Age) conspiracy.⁶ The Power would make billions of dollars by running drugs, to further finance other nefarious schemes, and could use their world-wide power to crush all their competitors.

When the Power crushed and arrested their competitors in drug running, they would be hailed as heroes by the majority of people. (And they have.) The introduction of drugs into society does several things. It taxes the Christian church's ability to oppose immorality. It gets the public indignant about drugs, and the public's moral outcry allows the Power to pass "drug" laws that remove the last vestiges of legal civil rights. In fact, the beguiled public demands the laws which abolish their rights, and applauds these laws in ignorance unknowing what the laws actually say and mean. If the public somehow gets a complete picture that their government has been smuggling drugs to create a drug war in spite of the controlled media, or perhaps through the media at the right time, then they can create a scandal involving several U. S. Presidents to eliminate the U. S. government and switch the public's allegiances to a world government. (See chapter 3.9 for more details and a chronology of the secretly planned escalation of today's designed Drug War.) As an ex-Mason, who is very aware of their plans, said to this author, "These people are in it for the long-term."

THE BLOODLINE OF THE RUSSELLS

The purpose of this next subsection may be misunderstood, unless I make myself clear at this point. This author has not established any link between the various famous Russells. (Although I have been doing genealogy work, I have not had the chance to do the long term genealogy work required to clarify the issue, if the reader is dissatisfied with the extent of this information, he is encouraged that rather than criticize to research it himself.) The reader will observe by the time he finishes this book, that this author has done extensive research into many groups. One item that has popped up consistently is that people with the surname Russell repeatedly appear as important figures in the various elements of the World Order as it has developed. Before becoming aware of the One World Order, this Author had no inkling how important blood lines have been for the elite that controls the world. Friendships have also played a role, for instance, Eleanor Roosevelt (who was involved in numerous communist organizations' and was an actual card carrying member of the American communist party) was a close friend and confidant to Ronald Reagan's mother.

This seems trivial, but the reoccurrence of blood lines and the reoccurring discovery of connections of friendships between what have been thought of as unrelated personages, compels one to believe the elite is more compact than appears. (More on that later) The mysterious Watchtower Society and its founder Charles Taze Russell will serve as perhaps the most used example in this book of an organization that is secretly serving the New World Order. (The reader will be presented with the history of all this throughout the book, especially in chapters 5-17 of the first section.) Chapter 1 .8 will go into more details on what circumstantial evidence there is that might lead one to believe that Charles T. Russell was a Satanist. The author is aware that there are Jehovah's Witnesses that are covert Satanists.⁸ The Russell family appears to have moved from Germany to Scotland and from Scotland to northern Ireland. In the 1820's Alexander G. Russell went to New York City and then onto Orange Co., NY. He could write firsthand how good it was. When the Potato famine hit during the 1820s, the Russells did not have the roots to Ireland that the original Irish had, and the rest of the family moved to America, except for Fannie's husband Alexander Harper, who stayed behind in Donegal estranged from his wife. The family tree looked like this:

Let's comment about the type of Russells that keep appearing throughout the course of the history of the New World Order as this author went about his research. To summarize, these various Russells (who until the genealogy work is done to show the connections should be viewed as individuals -- not a group) have been prominent members of the Illuminati, the Masons, the Fabians, the Mormons, the Jehovah's Witnesses, the Jesuits, the Royal Society, and the Media controlled by those of the New World Order, and a deputy chairman of the Federal Reserve. Typically they have been merchants and lawyers, with a fair share of them also as Christian heretics. It will be easier perhaps to illustrate how the Russells keep popping up in the New World Order story line by listing a good sampling of them.

SAMPLE OF RUSSELLS OF INTEREST

RUSSELLS WHO FOUNDED FRATERNAL SOCIETIES

- ✦ William Huntington Russell - founder of what is believed to be an American chapter of the Illuminati (Skull & Bones Order).⁹ More on this in chapter 2.3. It's legal name is Russell Trust.
- ✦ John Russell - founder of the fraternity of Daughters of Isabella (DOI) in May, 1897 in New Haven, Conn.¹⁰

RUSSELLS CONNECTED TO FRATERNAL ORGANIZATIONS

- ✦ Charles Taze Russell - Knights Templar Mason of York Rite, in Allegheny Pa. and founder of the WT Society.
- ✦ Harvey D. Russell - KT Mason leader of Pittsburgh, PA Beaver Valley Lodge No. 8412
- ✦ John Russell - Pastor C . T. Russell's step-mother was executor of his will. His mother was the one chosen to dance with famous Mason and Illuminatus Lafayette when he was in Philadelphia.¹³
- ✦ William H. Russell - Mason and part owner of the Pony Express, which was a firm made up mainly of Masons.¹⁴
- ✦ George William Russell (1869-1935) - leading member of the Dublin Theosophist lodge, wrote art. for the theosophic periodical The Irish Theosophist. Initiated into the Lodge of Isis (with it sexual rites). The keynote of his work is from the Bhagavadgita. He was a good friend of Golden Dawn leader William Butler Yeats who wrote some of the Satanic Masonic Rituals for the Golden Dawn.¹⁵
- ✦ James Russell- President of the Royal Society of Edinburgh which was associated with esoteric groups like the Masons.¹⁶

- ✧ Archibald D. Russell (1811-1871) - A Presbyterian Mason who graduated from the Univ. of Edinburgh, Scot. He studied at the Univ. of Bonn, Ger. and was active in setting up various organizations in the United States. 17
- ✧ Benjamin Russell (1761-1845)- Mason and early American Journalist.18
- ✧ Charles H. Russell - Governor of Nevada, 1950-58, and 32° Mason, also in the York Rite, and a Shriner. 19
- ✧ J. Stuart Russell - Mason and newspaper editor and deputy chairman of the Fed. Reserve Bank in Chicago.20
- ✧ Lee M. Russell (1875-1943) - Mason and Lt. Gov. of Miss. 1916-20. (21)
- ✧ Louis A. Russell (1854-1925) - Mason, organist for South Park Presbyterian Church, Newark, N.J.22
- ✧ Richard B. Russell (1861-1938) - Mason, judge, editor & business exec.22
- ✧ Richard B. Russell, Jr. - Mason and Gov. of Georgia, 1931-33 and Sen. from Georgia since 1933. 24

Before going to our next section would be worthwhile to cover the family that Bertrand Russell came from. They hold the title of Dukes of Bedford. Ordo W. Russell served in Lord Palmerston's office from 1850-52. He served as unofficial ambassador for Great Britain to the Vatican from 1857-70. His son Baron Ampthill was Grand Master of the English Masons 1908-1935. He joined the English equivalent of the Knights of Malta - that is the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, and served as the Grand Master of the lodge formed at the Bank of England! He was appointed head of the Indian Masons of Madras, India (home of the Theosophical Society). Ordo Russell's son also served in some high political positions.

RUSSELLS CONNECTED TO GROUPS THAT TIE BACK TO THE ILLUMINATI (see future chapters such as 2.5)

- ✧ Charles Edward Russell, Jewish Socialist who worked for N. Y. Life controlled by J.P. Morgan, and also for N.Y. Tribune and Herald.25
- ✧ James E. Russell, Columbia University professor who introduced Wundt's Hegelian philosophy to his students at Columbia.26
- ✧ Thomas Russell (1767-1803) - a revolutionist of the Illuminati-stream of Revolution.27
- ✧ Samuel Russell - represented Baring Bros. Helped open up the Port of Shanghai for the International Financiers.28
- ✧ Bertrand Russell - famous Fabian socialist, and One-World Order .29
- ✧ Alys Russell- ex-eccentric Quaker, wife of Bertrand and also a Fabian Socialist.30
- ✧ Rev. Matthew Russell (1834-1912)- Jesuit writer.31

RUSSELLS CONNECTED IN SOME WAY TO THE IBSA (NOW CALLED JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES)

- ✧ Charles Taze Russell, Sr. - Pastor RusseU's uncle, broker and real estate agent.32
- ✧ Moses F. Russell, Postmaster of Saltillo, Hopkins Co.
- ✧ Brother Russell- an early elder of the Belfast Ireland IBSA congregation.34

RUSSELL'S CONNECTED IN SOME WAY TO MORMONISM

- ✧ Elder Isaac Russell- a prominent early Mormon missionary to Great Britain in 1837.35
- ✧ Captain Joseph H. Russell- original investor in stock in the Mormon Deseret Manufacturing Co. which was intended to be an umbrella company for many early Mormon enterprises.36
- ✧ The Russell who opened a store with Mormon blessings in the newly created Salt Lake city. The store was called Miller, Russell & Co., a branch of Russell, Majors, & Waddell, and was a primary source of goods in the area of Utah.37

OTHER RUSSELLS

- ⤴ Baron Charles Russell (1832-1900)- Solicitor (Lawyer) in Ulster and advocate for Ireland.38
- ⤴ Jerome Russell a Greyfriar, burned in 1539 for heresy with John Kennedy in Glasgow, Scot.39
- ⤴ Philemon R. Russell- editor of the Christian Herald & Journal, in the Mar. 19, 1840 issue he stressed 2,520 years in prophecy, which was an idea C. T. Russell would later pick up and promote.
- ⤴ William Howard Russell- first war correspondent for London's The Times newspaper in 1854. The London Times has long been part of the World Order, that William was the first of his kind is quite significant.

NOTES

1. Michaels, Robert. Political Parties: A Sociological Study of the Oligarchical Tendencies of Modern Democracy. (orig. 1915) reprint: New York: Free Press, 1962, p. 70.
2. This Author has collaborated the connection of the Mormon leadership to the Satanic bloodlines and the Priere de Sion through several independent sources. One descendent of Joseph Smith who took part in Satanic rituals has been willing to tell about the family's occult history. A Christian who was once part of the Satanic hierarchy who ran verbal instructions to the Mormon First Presidency from the Council of 13 collaborates their connections. The historical roots, even those that the Mormon leaders themselves have printed, expose the genealogical ties to some of the most powerful occult bloodlines.
3. This subject is very controversial. One of the few books even willing to touch the subject in a scholarly biblical manner is Crawford, Jarah B. Last Battle Cry, Christianity's Final Conflict With Evil. Knoxville, TN: Jann Publishing, 1986. Although I don't concur with all of Crawford's conclusions, the book shows more than enough evidence to support the point superscripted.
4. Confidential source personally involved with the it.
5. The documentation to show that the drug war is a contrived scheme is extensive. I have chosen to place some of the documentation much further back, but will state that several researchers give seminars exposing it in detail. The Vietnam War was an important part of the scheme and since then some of the recent important laws passed to implement this contrived war are P.L. 99-570, P.L. 100-690, and the Omnibus crime bill in 1991.
6. Marilyn Ferguson, New Age writer, states in her famous book The Aquarian Conspiracy, p. 90, "LSD gave a whole generation a religious experience. But chemical satori is perishable, its effects too overwhelming to integrate into everyday life. Non-drug psycho-technologies offer a controlled, sustained movement toward that spacious reality. The annals of the Aquarian Conspiracy are full of accounts of passages: LSD to Zen, LSD to India, psilocybin to Psychosynthesis."
7. Checks by the FBI, and other federal agencies confirmed this.
8. Victims of Satanism have disclosed information about some of the extent of Satanism within the rank and file Jehovah's Witnesses, and hierarchy. When it became obvious that the art department of the Watchtower Society has been hiding Satanic symbols in the pictures of Watchtower publications for many years the Governing Body chose to cover it up rather than stop it.
9. Sutton, Antony. America's Secret Establishment. Billings, MT: Liberty House Press, 1986, pp. 5,6,8,35, 86-67, 100, 212, 253.
10. Schmidt, Greenwood. Encyclopedia of American Institutional Fraternal Organizations. Westport, Conn. : Greenwood Press, 1980, p. 84.
11. Various Christians have seen Charles T. Russell's KT membership records which are filed in the Mother Lodge in Ireland. The connections between his beliefs and his actions as the WT Society's leader and the Masons is the subject of my previous book The WT & the Masons.
12. Proceedings of the Ninetieth Annual Conclave held in the City of Harrisburg, Dauphin County... PA: Knights Templars, 1943, p.114.
13. This information is compiled from research from several sources. a. Nevin, Adelaide Mellier. The Social Mirror A Character Sketch of the Women of Pittsburgh and Vicinity during the first Century of the County's existence. Society of to-day. Pittsburgh, PA: T.A. Nevin Publisher, 1888, p. 19.; b. The Pittsburgh Directory 1878-79 showing Elizabeth the widow of John, and c. John Russell in the 1850

Census, and John Russell's Will.

14. Denslow, 10,000 Famous Freemasons, Vol.4, p.82. William H. Russell is also mentioned in the New Age Magazine (June, 1963) p. 45.

15. This information comes from several sources including a. Boylan, Henry. A Dictionary of Irish Biography. NY: St. Martins Press, 1988, p. 345; b. Ancient Wisdom and Secret Sects, Time-Life, 1989, p. 154.

16.

17. Denslow, op. cit., p.80.

18. ibid.

19. ibid.

20. ibid.

21. ibid.

22. Denslow, op. cit., p.82

23. ibid.

24. ibid.

25. Biography of Americans.

26. Sutton, Antony C. America's Secret Establishment. Billington, MT: Liberty House, p. 84.

27. Boylan, Henry. A Dictionary of Irish Biography. NY: St. Martins Press, 1988, p. 345.

28. Mullins, Eustice. The World Order. Staunton, VA: Ezra Pound Institute of Civilization, 1985, p.92.

29. The Fabians.

30. ibid.

31. Boylan, Henry. A Dictionary of Irish Biography. NY: St. Martins Press, 1988, p. 345.

32. Springmeier, Fritz. The WT & the Masons, pp. 9, 215.

33. Author's geneological research in Hopkins Co. TX history.

34. Early Convention Report

35. Evans, Richard L. A Century of Mormonism in Great Britian. Salt Lake City, UT: Publisher's Press, 1937, pp. 34-35.

36. Gibbons, Francis M. John Taylor Mormon Philosopher Prophet of God. Salt Lake City, UT: Deseret Books, 1985, p. 129.

37. Utah Historical Quarterly, 1941, Salt Lake City, pp. 190-211.

38. Boylan, op. cit., p. 344

39. ibid., and Black, George F. The Surnames of Scotland. NY: The NY Public Library, 1962, p. 705.

QUESTIONING OLD ASSUMPTIONS

There was enough circumstantial evidence to lead one to question several assumptions. I began to question the assumption that the W. T. presidents were unconnected to each other. Another supposition that was questionable was that the WT Society did not have a hidden agenda.

C.T. RUSSELL'S STORY

Once there was a Jewish family whose name was Roessel. They lived in early 17th century Germany. They moved to a country called Scotland. There they re-spelled the name Russell. They took on the ways of their new homeland. The English tried to settle Protestants from Scotland in Ireland in order to control the Irish. When the opportunity opened up to go to the Emerald Island (Ireland) with the Scottish settlers who went to the plantation Ulster they went. It is possible, but not known for sure that they learned to know the Rutherford's either in Scotland or Ireland. Scotland repeatedly appears as the source of much of the religious heresy connected with the Power. That C . T. Russell's family were in Scotland for a period, and also from the German states which seem to be a hot bed for Jewish Satanism may be only a coincidence and then again it might be a clue to understanding the origin of the Watchtower Society. This Author's previous book The Watchtower and the Masons tells the story how the Arian heresy began at the University of Edinburgh, Scotland and spread to the the Presbyterians of the Synod of Ulster. The book gives this Author's reasons for believing that the C . T.

Russell's family in northern Ireland were Arian in belief before coming to the U. S. and chances are they were involved with Freemasonry also.

THE ACKLEY CONNECTION

In The Watchtower and the Masons the early history of C. T. Russell is given. Charles and his father married two Ackley sisters a number of years after Charles' mother died. What is an intriguing item is that C. T. Russell's mother's will indicates she owned land in Iowa. A description of that land shows it was north of the town of Ackley, Iowa. It turns out that a man named William Ackley had purchased the land in that area, and had sold it in large part to Scot-Irish settlers of the Presbyterian faith as they were coming to America. At the time C. T. Russell's mother died a town named Ackley had been staked out in 1857, but the Civil War had interfered with construction plans. A Presbyterian congregation had been formed in the area during the early 1860s in the Ackley area, which indicates some settlers had arrived. What connection did the Russells have with the Ackleys years before Charles T. and his father married Ackley sisters? Who are the Ackleys? Maria Ackley, who was Charles T. Russell's wife, was well-educated and an excellent writer. Interestingly, in the 19th century she believed a socialist revolution was coming.

She wrote, "This great revolution has not yet come, but where is the statesman or the intelligent citizen that does not see it coming?" (Russell, Maria. This Gospel of The Kingdom, p. 26.) She was the ghost writer and ghost editor for much of her husband Charles Taze 's work. Her family was well-off. William Ackley, the land speculator/seller in Iowa, traces his ancestry back to Prence Doane and Elizabeth Godfrey. Elizabeth Godfrey in turn was the great-granddaughter of William Brewster of the Mayflower fame. The Ackleys were Puritans to begin with and seem to have been concentrated in the Connecticut area, and from there their family members moved out into NY and PA. Another Ackley (1832-1881) at that time was Richard Thomas Ackley, a Freemason who worked for the Miller, Russell and Company store in Salt Lake City in 1858 soon after the Mormons built Salt Lake City.

LEADS

Of course, these are all simply tantalizing leads for the investigator but nothing solid. There seems to be much more to Charles Taze Russell than the little that the public has been told. In the next few chapters we will attempt to dispel some of the mystery surrounding the man.

God's "Anointed Seed"

In 1852, the Joseph Lyttle Russell family had a baby who they gave the same name to as his uncle had. This baby, named Charles Taze Russell had a brother Frank who was two years older, but Charles ended up the favorite of his father. Later Charles would get a sister Margaret M. Both Charles T. and his sister Margaret spoke on various occasions that his had been chosen before his birth for the work that he was to carry out.¹ Margaret referred to her brother as the greatest man alive "a giant unmatched." She stated that he had been chosen for his religious work before his birth. Perhaps, Charles' Russell family, and his father Joseph L., (like Joseph Kennedy who had goals for his son to be president) had goals for Charles. If Charles had been encouraged to meet such expectations and had gone forward, then that could account for his sister's great admiration for him. He had fulfilled her father's wishes. At the Put-In-Bay Convention his sister Margaret had outlined how God planned and chose her brother. First God had planted a seed with the early church. But the seed had laid dormant for centuries. "In due time", she says, the seed of truth grew and was watered according to God's plan. During the Dark Ages the seed of truth was barely kept alive waiting for God's Chosen One to bring it to fruition. When it was time, God "anointed the eyes" of her brother at age 17, and "God's smile of favor rested upon him." Margaret said her brother was the one, the faithful one who God could depend upon, the "one despite the burden and heat of the day" would remain faithful to God.²

NOTES

1. C.T. Russell is noted to have privately admitted his belief that he was chosen for his great work before his birth. The Finished Mystery. The Watchtower Bible & Tract Soc. 1917, p. 53. A testimony speech given by his sister at the Put-In-Bay Convention where she said similar things is commented on the The Laodicean Messenger, pp. 179-180.

2. The Laodicean Messenger, pp. 179-180.

The Illuminati's SECURITY SYSTEM

Russell Trust is the legal corporation that is the Order of the Skull and Bones, financed the creation of host of security co. under the Wackenhuts, incl. a Security Service called Wackenhut Corporation. Another part of this is Wackenhut World Technologies, Inc. or WWT Inc. Wackenhut operates worldwide. Their headquarters are in Florida. They have branch offices even in places like Portland, Oregon. Wackenhut handles all Intelligence-related and Super Secret work-classified ULTRA for the US. worldwide. They are the ones who guard the UFO bases topside, along with the CIA's Delta Teams, and various MP units, etc. Their branch in Las Vegas provides security for the Groom Lake UFO facility. Las Vega's Review Journal on Fri. 7/26/91, p. A1 & 3A had an article about 3 Wackenhut agents who lost their lives in a helicopter crash near the Groom Lake.

The telephone number to Wackenhut World Technologies, connects first through the Russell Trust - it is 702-646-4406, and it will be answered by the Russell Trust. Wackenhut's board of directors are CIA, FBI Div. 5, NSA, ISA, and NRO officials. The girls who answer the various local Wackenhut Corporation numbers are not in the know about what Wackenhut Wd. Tech. are all about. Their 1-800 # is 929-2431. Their San Reme Ave, Cerel Gabels, FL 33146 # was 305-666-5656. Their local no. here is 256-3996, and one of their local CA # is 714-9794966. George Russell Wackenhut is their security services executive. He is also the Chrm & Chief Exec. Officer. He worked for the FBI, and is a Christian Scientist. Richard Russell Wackenhut is the President & Chief Oper. Officer. Wackenhut has in the neighborhood of 40,000 employees.

Return to Bloodlines

Return to "The Family"

Return to The Dark History of The Vatican

The Opening of the Rose Stargate 11:11:11

The Energies for November 2009

Archangel Michael through Celia Fenn

Meditation by Mary Magdalene

"The Sacred Rose Mandala" created by a group of Lightworkers in Buenos Aires, Argentina on 1st November 2009.

Beloved Lightworkers, you enter into a sacred moment as the Light intensifies. This is the moment when the Sacred Rose Stargate begins to open and you begin to align your Consciousness with the Cosmic Creation Matrix, in preparation for the final steps in your current Evolutionary Journey of Transformation.

This 11:11 portal is especially powerful, for it is in effect an 11:11:11. The triple energies represent an activation point for the energies of the Divine Christ Light. At this time, there will be an "explosion" of Radiance, and you will begin to activate the Rose Stargate or Portal that will be your connection point to the Cosmic Consciousness.

Dearest Ones, in this last phase of your transformation, you have activated your original perfection blueprint in your DNA, balanced your inner masculine and feminine energies, and brought your Lightbody into full activation. You have activated the Pineal gland and begun the process of transforming the gland into its crystalline new energy form so that it can receive and transmit the higher frequencies of crystalline light.

Now, you begin to unfurl the "petals" of the Rose within your energy field and to form or create the Auric "stargate" that will allow you to access the Cosmic Light of the "One" directly and as a Collective. As you begin to formulate this coherent pattern of Beauty within your energy body, so the Planet also begins to create this stargate beginning over that region that you know as the southern pole.

Beloved Ones, this is the culmination of the Mystery of the Sacred Rose and the Twin Flame, and the Activation of the Grail Codes. The Sacred Rose is the symbol of the Ascended Christ Consciousness, as it encodes a Sacred Truth about Who You Are and your Ascension process.

Let us explain it this way. The Grail Codes of Light activate the potential within your physical being to carry the Golden Flame of the Christ Consciousness. This is also symbolized by the Golden Chalice. You, yourselves, in your enlightened physical body, are the "chalice" that holds the golden and infinite light of Spirit.

The Sacred Symbol for the Ascended Christ teaching is the Rose within the Chalice. Beloved Ones, the Rose is your Light Body Spinal channel, culminating in the "Flower" of life, the Rose Stargate that connects you to your Divinity and the Divine Cosmic Consciousness of the Cosmic Creation Matrix.

This Rose, or in the eastern tradition, the Lotus flower, opens to create a portal to Cosmic Consciousness, and it was known to the Ancients to be a part of the "design" of the "Divine Human" or Human Angel. Many of the ancient spiritual practices were designed to ascend power up the spinal channel of light and to open the "blossom" which was the Sacred Geometric Portal known as the Rose Stargate.

This flower design was encoded into the great cathedrals of France, such as Notre Dame de Chartres, that honored the life and teachings of "Our Lady", the Feminine Christ Light of Mary Magdalene and her partner, Yeshua ben Josef.

And so, Beloved Ones, the Sacred Rose of the Flower of Life is the Cosmic Stargate that you will begin to formulate and "unfurl" in your Soul Star energy field, as you and your Planet are rebirthed and restructured into the Great Cosmic Rose or Flower. This is the Geometry of the Stargate Harmonic that will facilitate your final ascension into the Cosmic Heart and Mind and the full Creation and Experience of the New Earth.

Beloved Lightworkers, as you activate the Sacred Rose, you will indeed need to hold the highest vibration of Peace and Love. You are creating, within your Spiritual Body or spherical energy field, a Sacred Geometric design of the Highest Frequency available the Humans at this time. This pattern of Higher Coherence will need to be held in place by the physical energy of Coherence and Integrity, or the energies will become unbalanced and will collapse into chaos very easily. If this happens, dearest ones, do not panic or become anxious or depressed. Return to your Heart center, as we have taught you, and breathe deeply, connecting with the Golden Flame of the Christ Consciousness and the energy of Unconditional Love. Connect with the Sacred Heart energy within, balance your inner masculine and feminine energies through intention and enter into Sacred Union with your Soul and Spirit, as we have taught you. So, you will return to patterns of Coherence and Grace and Beauty and Integrity.

For, you are the Sacred Rose, you are Beauty and Coherence and Grace and Passion. You are Divine Love enfolded into Human Form.

At this time of 11:11:11, those of you who are ready will begin to create the Rose, or "unfurl" the "petals" of Light that will coalesce into the Rose Stargate of Cosmic Light and Consciousness.

The Sacred Rose Meditation for the 11:11:11, given by "Our Lady" Mary Magdalene in her role as Teacher of the Christ Consciousness Beloved Flowers of Light and Love, you have reached a very Sacred Moment when you are ready to become the Sacred Rose. I ask you, now, to be with me and to allow the Radiant Christ energy to enter into your being and to allow you to open the Rose of Cosmic Consciousness. This was the work that I did with my Beloved, with the purpose of raising your consciousness to the point where you could truly embrace the Divine and Cosmic aspects of your Being. It is that point where you know within your heart and soul and body that You Are Heaven on Earth and that you are the Rose of the Christ Light.

So, sit very quietly, and allow yourself to breathe very deeply. Focus into your beautiful and Sacred Heart and feel the Flow of the Divine Energy moving through you. You are Beautiful and you are Loved, so deeply Loved. Feel that Love moving through every cell in your body and every aspect of who you are in the Realms of Light. You are so deeply Loved. Breathe that Love. Feel it in your Heart. It is best if you breathe deeply through your nose and exhale through your mouth, letting the breathe of life move through your body. You are Loved.

So, sit in this way and allow yourself to breathe for at least ten minutes. After this time, your body should be still and your mind clear. Now, focus into your Heart again and ask your Higher Self to align your inner Divine Masculine and Feminine energies. Feel the explosion of ecstatic radiance in your Heart moving down your body through your lower chakras and into the Earth, down to the Earth Star. You are grounded and you are connected to the Earth. Feel the Love flowing from your Heart to the Earth and back into your Heart. Breathe that Love into your Being.

Now, as you bask gently in that Beautiful Love, feel the energy of Divine Grace all around you. You are held in Grace and Beauty, and you trust absolutely that you are being supported and guided by the Divine Light within. So, now, allow yourself to feel the channel in your Light Body that aligns with your spine, and allow yourself to pull that energy of Love up that channel, through the Heart channel and up into the Crown. At this point, you will feel the Pineal Gland activate in an explosion of Light and Love, and that Light will travel upwards, and the petals of the Rose will begin to open.

It will be the most beautiful and ecstatic experience, if you are ready to receive the Divine Love that will pour through you and into your Heart and down into the Earth. And you will feel the Rose opening all around you. The colors will swirl around you and you will feel movement, as your Spirit Sphere restructures into the Sacred Geometric patterns of the Sacred Rose.

Dearest Children of Light, know that you are Loved. Know that this beautiful Rose of Light will be the Spirit and Soul vehicle that will lift you into Cosmic Consciousness. We celebrate with you the opening of the Rose...the Flower of Love. Feel how this restructuring will open you to the Cosmic Creation Matrix, the Great Womb of all Creation. You will know, as I knew, your own Divine Essence and you will become One with the Divine Light of Creation.

Beloved Children of Light, this was my work and my purpose with my Beloved. And we succeeded. For now, we are here to give to you these simple words that will begin to fire the completion sequence of the Grail Codes in those who are prepared to accept their own transformation and emergence into the New Earth way of Being. For us, this is a moment of Great Joy, as we see the completion of that which we came to do two thousand years ago. And we rejoice that not only our work finds completion, but the work of many others who have served the Divine Plan for your Evolution and Ascension into the Flower of Light that you Are.

So, at the end of this meditation, know that the process has begun. Breathe deeply and allow yourself to return your focus to your Heart. Again, breathe deeply, and allow the focus of your awareness to enter into your body once again.

Beloved Ones, know that as this Rose opens in your Spirit Sphere, you will feel and experience great change. You will feel safe, you will feel loved, you will feel Connected to Our Love, and you will know that All is Well, no matter what you must move through. You will feel Light at Heart and you will enjoy Life as you feel the richness and the abundance of Divine Blessing around you. You are truly home with your Beloved!

But, as our dearest Archangel did say to you, you will need to walk now in the absolute highest integrity and truth, whatever your Truth is. Speak your Truth and live your Truth. You will need to be Awake and Aware and discerning, you will need to be open and loving and honest. For to accept the Rose of Light into your Spirit Sphere is to commit to a life Ethical Purity and Integrity, and anything that is not in the highest integrity for you will create instant discord and disharmony that can only be aligned by returning to that state of Grace and Love and Harmony that is the result of living in the Highest Integrity, Truth and Love.

And so, we leave you with great Joy in our Hearts!

You are Loved. You are Beautiful. You are Divine Light. You are the Sacred Rose!

© 2009-10 Celia Fenn and Starchild Global

As the Rio+20 Earth Summit — the largest U.N. conference ever — ends in disappointment, we're joined by the leading Canadian scientist, environmentalist and broadcaster, David Suzuki. As host of the long-running CBC program, "The Nature of Things," seen in more than 40 countries, Suzuki has helped educate millions about the rich biodiversity of the planet and the threats it faces from human-driven global warming. In 1990 he co-founded the David Suzuki Foundation, which focuses on sustainable ecology, and in 2009 he was awarded the Right Livelihood Award. Suzuki joins us from the summit in Rio de Janeiro to talk about the climate crisis, the student protests in Quebec, his childhood growing up in an internment camp, and his daughter Severn's historic speech at the Rio Earth Summit in 1992 when she was 12 years old. "If we don't see that we are utterly embedded in the natural world and dependent on ... Mother Nature for our very well-being and survival ... then our priorities will continue to be driven by man-made constructs like national borders, economies, corporations, markets," Suzuki says. "Those are all human-created things. They shouldn't dominate the way we live. It should be the biosphere. And the leaders in that should be indigenous people, who still have that sense, that the earth is truly our mother, that it gives birth to us. You don't treat your mother the way we treat the planet or the biosphere today." [includes rush transcript]

Filed under Environment, Global Warming, Climate Change, Rio+20, David Suzuki

Guest:

David Suzuki, Canadian author and environmental activist, perhaps best known as host of the long-running CBC program, The Nature of Things, seen in more than 40 countries. In 1990, he co-founded the David Suzuki Foundation, which focuses on sustainable ecology. In 2009, he was awarded the Right Livelihood Award. His latest book is called Everything Under the Sun: Toward a Brighter Future on a Small Blue Planet.

Links

- ⤴ David Suzuki Official Website
- ⤴ Democracy Now! Reports on Rio+20 Summit
- ⤴ Democracy Now! interview with David Suzuki's daughter, Severn Cullis-Suzuki at Rio+20 Summit

Transcript

AMY GOODMAN: The U.N. Conference on Sustainable Development, known as the Rio+20 Earth Summit, has concluded with few successes to report. Negotiators unveiled an agreement that sets new development goals and lays the groundwork for future talks. Many groups working on environmental and poverty issues have criticized the agreement for being too weak. Greenpeace called it, quote, "an epic failure." Politicians such as Nick Clegg of Britain called it, quote, "insipid." And some protesters protested the final text by ripping it up and renaming the summit "Rio minus 20."

The gathering came 20 years after the '92 U.N. Earth Summit in Rio, when leaders pledged to protect the planet by endorsing treaties on biodiversity and climate change. At that meeting, a 12-year-old Canadian girl named Severn Cullis-Suzuki made a riveting plea to world leaders.

SEVERN CULLIS-SUZUKI: My dad always says, "You are what you do, not what you say."
Well, what you do makes me cry at night. You grown-ups say you love us. But I challenge you, please, make your actions reflect your words. Thank you.

AMY GOODMAN: Severn Cullis-Suzuki, then the age of 12, delivering her famous address at the '92 first Earth U.N. summit that took place in Rio. Well, two decades later, Severn was back in Rio, this time as a veteran international environmental campaigner and mother of two. Democracy Now! spoke to her from Rio on Friday and asked her about what progress had been made since '92.

SEVERN CULLIS-SUZUKI: Twenty years have passed, and everybody wants to know what have we done, how have we progressed. Well, last week, scientists released a report in the academic journal Nature that suggested that we are pushing for a tipping point in the earth's biosphere, that we are attacking our ecosystems that sustain us and all life on this earth, in so many ways, on so many levels, that we are pushing for a state shift like what was seen 12,000 years ago with the end of the last ice age. But this time it will be human-caused, and it will be orders of magnitude faster than the thousand-year transition that happened last time. I mean, that report, released on the eve of this world summit, is clear that we have not achieved the sustainable world we knew we needed 20 years ago.

AMY GOODMAN: Severn Cullis-Suzuki, now mother of two. She delivered the famous Rio address in 1992 at the age of 12.

Well, today we bring you—today we bring you our interview with Severn's father, David Suzuki, one of Canada's leading environmentalists. We spoke to him just after speaking with Severn. He is perhaps best known as host of the long-running CBC program, The Nature of Things, seen in over 40 countries. In 2009, David Suzuki was awarded the Right Livelihood Award. His latest book is Everything Under the Sun: Toward a Brighter Future on a Small Blue Planet.

I began by asking David Suzuki if anything has changed since his daughter delivered that famous address 20 years ago.

DAVID SUZUKI: Absolutely not. We're going backwards. You know, certainly from the standpoint of my country, Canada said that it was playing a leadership role at Rio '92. Here, there's just been no question that Canada is a laggard. We are a global outlaw, a renegade country.

But overall, the science is in: the planet is in terrible shape. And the difficulty is that meetings like this are doomed to fail, because we see ourselves at the center of everything, and our political and our economic priorities have to dominate over everything else. If we don't come together and say, "Look, let's start with the agreement that we are biological creatures, and if you don't have air for more than three or four minutes, you're dead; if you don't have clean air, you're sick," so, surely, air, the atmosphere that provides us with the seasons, the weather, the climate, that has to be our highest priority. Before anything economic or political, that has to be the highest priority.

But what you're getting is a huge gathering, as we saw in Copenhagen two years ago, a huge gathering of countries trying to negotiate something that doesn't belong to anyone, through the lenses of all of the political boundaries and the economic priorities, and we try to shoehorn nature into our agenda. And it's simply not going to work. A meeting like this is doomed to fail, because we haven't left our vested interests outside the door and come together as a single species and agreed what the fundamental needs are for all of humanity. So we're going to sacrifice the air, the water, the biodiversity, all in the sake of human political and economic interest. They're doomed.

AMY GOODMAN: David Suzuki, in 2008, you urged McGill University students to speak out against politicians who fail to act on climate change and said, quote, "What I would challenge you to do is put a lot of effort into trying to see whether there's a legal way of throwing our so-called leaders into jail, because what they're doing is a criminal act," you said. Do you still feel the same way today? And what exactly are the crimes that are being committed?

DAVID SUZUKI: Absolutely, absolutely. I think there are a number of—you know, you can charge people who are at a scene, where someone is being murdered, and if you don't do anything to try to help that, you can be charged with criminal negligence. If something is going on that you should know about, and you ignore it deliberately, that's called "willful blindness." That's a legal category for taking people to court. And I think that what we have to also find is a mechanism to judge people and to make them accountable for the implications of what they do or do not do for future generations. That is, there should be a category of intergenerational crime. You come here 20 years later: how many of the political leaders that were here in 1992 are now here again? Very, very few, if any. So, these guys come, they make a lot of nice words, and they say, "Oh, yeah, we care about this. We're going to do that." Nobody holds them accountable, because they go out of office, they go on to become billionaires or whatever they do. But who's accountable for the lack of any kind of profound activity?

AMY GOODMAN: When Democracy Now! was at the U.N. Climate Change Conference in Durban this past December, I spoke with Marc Morano, who published Climate Depot, a website run by climate denier group Committee for a Constructive Tomorrow. I asked him about President Obama's record on climate change. This is what he said.

MARC MORANO: His nickname is "George W. Obama." Obama's negotiator, Todd Stern, will be here today. They have kept the exact same principles and negotiating stance as President George Bush did for eight years. Obama has carried on Bush's legacy. So, as skeptics, we tip our hat to President Obama in helping crush and continue to defeat the United Nations process. Obama has been a great friend of global warming skeptics at these conferences. Obama has problems, you know, for us, because he's going through the EPA regulatory process, which is a grave threat. But in terms of this, President Obama could not have turned out better when it came to his lack of interest in the congressional climate bill and his lack of interest in the United Nations Kyoto Protocol. So, a job well done for President Obama.

AMY GOODMAN: That was Marc Morano of the climate denier group Committee for a Constructive Tomorrow, saying President Obama is basically their best ally, calling him "George W. Obama." Do you share that assessment, David Suzuki?

DAVID SUZUKI: Well, you know, Obama was signaled a sea change in American politics in the United States. Unfortunately, he's held hostage—and he made some fundamental appointments right from the beginning that were fantastic, really top-notch scientists heading NOAA, heading the Energy Department. This was a sea change. You think of a Nobel Prize winner being appointed the minister, or whatever you call him, secretary of energy. These are huge changes.

The reality, though, is he's held hostage by an absolutely dysfunctional Congress. And he's held hostage by the corporate agenda, which is still a primary obligation that politicians have, even though he's been very successful at getting that grassroots support. The fact is that corporations hold a huge hammer over the heads of our elected representatives, and they're calling the shots. The economic system is the driving force that is destroying the planet, but now it's the corporations that are setting the direction, and they're calling the shots. I think that it's not that Mr. Obama is like

George Bush, because he is definitely not, but he's held hostage by the same system within which Bush operated.

AMY GOODMAN: I want ask about the Canada XL Keystone—the Keystone XL pipeline. Just two months after President Obama rejected the project, after mass protests where more than 1,200 people were arrested around the White House last summer, he announced his support for TransCanada to build the southern leg of the pipeline from Oklahoma to Texas. In his remarks, President Obama said his administration has authorized enough gas pipelines to encircle the earth.

PRESIDENT BARACK OBAMA: There is a bottleneck right here, because we can't get enough of the oil to our refineries fast enough. And if we could, then we would be able to increase our oil supplies at a time when they're needed as much as possible. Now, right now, a company called TransCanada has applied to build a new pipeline to speed more oil from Cushing to state-of-the-art refineries down on the Gulf Coast. And today I'm directing my administration to cut through the red tape, break through the bureaucratic hurdles and make this project a priority, to go ahead and get it done.

AMY GOODMAN: TransCanada has reapplied for a permit to build a 1,200-mile segment from Alberta, Canada, to Steel City, Nebraska. Just this past Friday, the U.S. State Department said it would conduct a new environmental impact statement on the Keystone XL pipeline. Talk about the significance of the project, the role of activists in stopping it, then President Obama being slammed afterwards. I mean, Republicans in Congress even said they would pass legislation in Congress, because he, in a very poor economy, was stopping people from getting jobs to build it. David Suzuki, your answer to jobs versus the environment?

DAVID SUZUKI: Well, that's always been the dichotomy that's thrown up. But we haven't looked at the real job opportunities that lie from taking a completely different direction. I mean, Obama's statement shows that he is captive of the oil industry, as are most governments on this planet. He could have—he had an opportunity to really offer Americans the real job creator, which is in renewable, sustainable energy, greater energy efficiency, getting us off the oil addiction that we have. It's going to run out. It's going to run out. We're going to more and more extreme sources of energy. This is the moment that we should create the opportunity to go down a different path.

I mean, I just came back from Japan, where they had an absolute disaster that was an opportunity. They've now shut down every single one of the 54 nuclear plants they have. And they have an opportunity to take a totally different path. Japanese people cut their energy use by 25 percent immediately after Fukushima. They showed there was huge opportunity there. And instead, the government simply wants to get those plants up and running again. So the nuclear industry, the fossil fuel industry have an enormous hammer over our elected representatives, and it really is up to civil society.

And I don't know. I think in the United States you're in deep trouble right now because of the huge support for parties that want to take us back, back to the past. You know, the Tea Party and all of that are taking us away from having an opportunity for civil society to really contribute. I think we're really in a crisis when Sir Martin Rees, one of the leading scientists in Britain, the Royal Astronomer, was asked on BBC, "What are the chances that human beings will survive to the end of this century?" This is whether we will still be around. His answer was 50-50. Fifty-fifty that human beings will avoid extinction? I mean, surely to goodness, we ought to be on an absolute crisis mode and getting off of all of this rhetoric that's being fostered by the fossil fuel industry and the nuclear industry and get on to a truly sustainable path.

AMY GOODMAN: On Wednesday, French President François Hollande held a brief news conference and said he saw in green economy a path to overcome the economic crisis.

PRESIDENT FRANÇOIS HOLLANDE: [translated] Some people say there is an economic and financial crisis, and therefore the issues related to the environment and sustainable development may be set aside, may be treated separately, and that there would not be much pressure. This is not how I reason. I believe that the lasting development, the environment, which we also call "green economy," is also a means of overcoming the crisis.

AMY GOODMAN: That's the new French president, a Socialist, François Hollande, speaking at Rio+20. David Suzuki, do you feel there's a counterweight to the corporations and the climate change deniers?

DAVID SUZUKI: The green economy will simply allow the corporations to make a shift. So, I mean, you can see it in Exxon. Exxon, one of the companies that has spent tens of millions of dollars denying climate change, denying any responsibility to deal with, taking government subsidies on a massive scale, now their ads are all about, "Oh, we want a clean future. We're looking at clean energy and all that stuff." Sure, the green economy is just about being more efficient, being less polluting, being less energy intensive, but still it's a system built on the need to continue to expand and grow. The true—the true economy has got to come back into balance with the very biosphere that sustains us. And I think a lot of people just see the green economy as a different way of allowing the corporate agenda to continue to flourish.

We've got to change the economy, and we have to do what we did in 1944, when governments came to Bretton Woods in Maine and said, "We've got to develop an economic system for a post-war world." And they designed—they instituted GATT, the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade. They invented the World Bank, the IMF. They tied world currency to the American greenback. But, they left out the environment. It's time for a Bretton Woods II. We've got to overhaul the economy. You can't change nature, but you can change our inventions, like corporations and the economy. They have got to change. So, greening—greening the economy, that is itself a totally destructive system because it's bent on exploiting resources in—unsustainably and growing forever, that's got to be overhauled. It doesn't work.

AMY GOODMAN: Leading Canadian environmentalist, David Suzuki. We'll continue our interview with Canada's environmentalist just after our break. You can visit our website, democracynow.org for our in-depth coverage of Rio+20. Back in 30 seconds.

[break]

AMY GOODMAN: The Rio+20 Earth Summit has concluded. We're returning to our conversation with Canada's leading environmentalist, David Suzuki. I spoke to him about the largest U.N. conference ever and asked him about his own family background and how he became the renowned environmentalist he is today.

DAVID SUZUKI: Well, I was born in Vancouver, British Columbia, in 1936. My mother and father were born in Vancouver in 1909 and 1911. I am what Japanese call a third-generation Canadian. My mother and father had never been out of Canada. They were citizens all their lives. They couldn't vote until after World War II. And when World War II happened, although we were full Canadians by birth, we were regarded as enemy aliens, as were Japanese Americans. We were incarcerated in camps. And then as the war was coming to an end, we were told that we had two choices: we could sign up and get a one-way ticket to Japan, which for us was a foreign country, or we could get out of British Columbia, go east to the Rockies. And so, because we only knew Canada, we went east of the Rockies, and I ended up in Ontario.

Now, you know, after the war, my parents said the way out of our poverty was hard work and education. And fortunately, both of those things were possible for me. And then a very amazing thing happened. I was offered a scholarship from an American college that was worth more than my father earned in a year. In 1954, Amherst College in Massachusetts offered me a scholarship for $1,500, because Amherst believed that foreign students added to the education of American students, and they were willing to pay money to have a foreign student come and be part of that college. And for me, Amherst College made me as a scholar, and I'm ever grateful to the United States for that.

In 1957, when I was entering my last year in college at Amherst, on October 4th, the Soviet Union launched Sputnik. We had no idea there was a space program. And in the months that followed, we saw the American rockets take off and explode on the—either on the launching pad or, once they got into the air, they exploded. Meanwhile, the Soviets launched the first animal, a dog, Laika; the first man in space, Yuri Gagarin; the first team of cosmonauts; the first woman, Valentina Tereshkova. Americans realized, "Holy cow! The Soviets are very advanced in science and technology." They didn't roll over and say, "Oh, my god, they've got too big a lead. We can't afford to do this. It'll destroy the economy." They simply said, "We've got to go and beat these guys." And, you know, even though I was a Canadian living in the States at the time, all you had to do was say, "I love science," and Americans just supported you, threw you into universities. And I got a graduate education and a training that I could never have gotten in Canada.

And, well, what happened: Kennedy declared a race to the moon. Americans are not only the first and only country to reach the moon, but think of all of the spinoffs, the unexpected spinoffs, that came from that commitment to beat the Russians. I mean, you've got 24-hour-a-day newscasts. Well, maybe that's not such a great thing. But you've got GPS, you've got cellphones—all of the things that came about simply because America said, "We've got to make the commitment, and we've got to beat the Russians to the moon." And it doesn't make sense to me that there's all this sense of, "Oh, my god! You know, we can't get off fossil fuels. It'll destroy the economy." This is not the American way. The American way is to meet that challenge and realize huge things will happen once we make the commitment. We can't anticipate. Certainly in solar panels, certainly in geothermal energy, there are huge opportunities. The America that I knew and loved would have said, "This is a challenge. American know-how will lead the world and create jobs at the same time." So I'm astounded at the position the United States is in today, compared to what it was like when I graduated from Amherst College.

AMY GOODMAN: David Suzuki, I wanted to ask you about the mass student protests that have been taking place in Quebec province. You wrote in a recent piece, "Governments all across Canada have no qualms about investing vast amounts of money to exploit 'natural resources', yet they all but ignore the most precious, our children." In the United States, there is very little written about or very little coverage of these mass student protests that have been taking place, some of the largest in Canada. Talk about what you see has to happen.

DAVID SUZUKI: Well, Quebec is a very, very different society, and I'm very proud that they've remained in Canada. They reflect a great deal of a value difference, so that the environment, for example, on Environment Day this year attracted 300,000 people on the streets of Montreal, for Earth Day. They attracted over 100,000 people objecting to the student tuition increase. Now, the English press in Canada has portrayed this as: "These spoiled brats in Quebec, they don't realize they've got cheapest tuition in all of Canada, and they're objecting to a few hundred dollars' tuition raise." No, that's not what it's about. They're saying that they like to look to countries like the Scandinavian countries, even France, where young people are regarded as the most precious commodity, where they are supported, and their universities are free, if they reach a certain level of ability. They're supported through the system, and that's what the Québécois are trying to tell us. But no, we portray this as spoiled kids that don't want to spend any more money. I don't think that's what it is. But, of course, Charest, the premier, who in some areas is quite progressive—in the environment, for example—but Charest has brought in really very severe, draconian legislation to suppress this kind of public dissent. And now that's what's attracting more kids to the streets to say, "This is not a civil society any longer when you suppress us in that way." So, what underlies the student protests is, I think, a very profound question about what are our values in our society.

AMY GOODMAN: David Suzuki, your long-running CBC show called The Nature of Things explores environmental diversity of the planet. Can you talk about some of the experiences and discoveries that have had the most impact on you? And in these last few minutes, because climate change is so little addressed, while weather is increasingly on every channel, and it says "extreme weather," "severe weather," the other two words, "global warming," rarely flash, if ever, on the networks. Can you talk about what's at stake for people to even understand, since in the United States it's even a debate? Given the amount of money oil companies pour into the global warming denier groups, it's even a debate whether in fact this really is a concern.

DAVID SUZUKI: Well, it's astonishing to me, because I want to remind your viewers that in 1992 an American president had declared himself—well, in 1988, he said, "If you vote for me, I promise I will be an environmental president." That was George H.W. Bush. There wasn't a green bone in his body, but the American public had put the environment at the top of its agenda. He had to say that. Many people say, George Bush came to Rio in 1992, so he should be recognized for that. George Bush wasn't going to come to Rio unless they watered down the climate convention. They were aiming at the original—the original plans were for a 20 percent reduction in greenhouse gas emissions in 15 years. George Bush said, "I am not going," until he got a much watered-down target of stabilization of 1990 levels by the year 2000. And he came down and signed that. But he was—his actions were predicated on American concern about the environment.

But since then, of course, we've gone into recessions. But I think we have not recognized that you've got people like the Koch brothers, you've got these right-wing think tanks, Competitive Enterprise Institute, the Heartland Institute, that are—the Heritage Institute, that are all now pushing a radical right-wing agenda, funded by fossil fuel industry and rich people, to say this is not true, which is undermining scientific credibility.

June 7th, this year, Nature is filled with articles from scientists who have looked at the ecosystems of the planet. We're in deep trouble. We are facing an absolute crisis now. But countries like Canada and the United States, which are endowed with huge resources, can float by on the assumption everything's OK. We don't see the crunch coming as countries like [in] Europe are seeing. They don't have the kind of resource plenty that we have in North America. And so they're seeing it, and they're leading the call for change. But we have the illusion that the economy is the source of everything that matters, and we've got to keep that growing at all costs. It's at all costs to the future for our children and grandchildren.

AMY GOODMAN: Speaking of children and grandchildren, in 1992, David Suzuki, you were in Rio with your daughter Severn, who was then 12, who gave this remarkable address to the Rio summit, the first Earth Summit.

SEVERN CULLIS-SUZUKI: You don't know how to bring the salmon back up a dead stream. You don't know how to bring back an animal now extinct. And you can't bring back the forests that once grew where there is now a desert. If you don't know how to fix it, please stop breaking it!

AMY GOODMAN: That was Severn Suzuki. David, that was your daughter. It's now 20 years later, and you are now back in Rio with Severn, who is now Severn Cullis-Suzuki, and with your grandchildren, her two sons. Can you talk about what it meant to you for her to give that address 20 years ago and where you see we are right now?

DAVID SUZUKI: Well, it was a remarkable speech, and at the end of her talk she got a standing ovation. She went back to sit with us. Al Gore came up and said, "That's the best speech anyone has given at this conference." And the power of her speech—which, by the way, she and the other kids together wrote. Her mom and I didn't have any input. She said, "Dad, I know what I want to say. I want you to tell me how to say it." But she wrote that speech, and a child speaks from the heart. You know that there is no hidden agenda. They just speak in that childlike way of innocence. And that was the power. Her words had power because they came from that kind of innocence.

Now she's back. She's brought her youngest son. The only reason I'm here is because I said, "Sev, I don't believe these conferences achieve anything, but I'll go as your babysitter." And I'm here as a babysitter. You just happened to corral me because I'm here looking after the baby. I've got to get back and take care of my grandson.

But I can tell you she feels unbelievably desperate, because she says the problem is that we've got a breakdown in governance. Leaders came here in 1992. They were moved by a child's plea, a child's request to do something for her future. And now those leaders aren't here, and there's no one accountable for the fact that they failed fundamentally. And now there's a new set of leaders, and they're making the same kind of promises, without any understanding of the urgency of the crisis we face. And so, she comes to this with a very—from a very dark place, by the disillusionment of her childlike belief that our leaders will truly lead and care about a future for her children. And now she's got an investment into the future, and that makes her even more desperate about the lack of governance.

AMY GOODMAN: Well, David, talking about taking care of your grandson, if you were in charge, if you could have anything accomplished right now, what are the steps that you feel are most important to take right now?

DAVID SUZUKI: Well, you know, the thing we hear over and over again is that we need a paradigm shift. It's become a cliché. But I absolutely believe this is the critical change, that all of the stuff that goes on will not achieve anything unless we ultimately see the world in a different way. You see, our beliefs, our values shape the way we look out at the world and the way we treat it. If we believe that we were here, placed here by God, that this—all of this creation is for us, it's for us to go and occupy, dominate and exploit, then we will proceed to do that. And that's the paradigm we now exist within. And we're driven then by that sense that it's all there for us.

We need to shift that to a better understanding that we are part of a vast web of interconnected species, that it is the biosphere, the zone of air, water and land, where all life exists. It's a very thin layer around the planet. Carl Sagan told us that if you shrink the earth to the size of a basketball, the biosphere, the zone of air, water and land, where all life exists, would be thinner than a layer of Saran Wrap, and that's it. That's our home, but it's home to 10 to 30 thousand—30 million other species that keep the planet habitable. And if we don't see that we are utterly embedded in the natural world and dependent on nature, not technology, not economics, not science—we're dependent on Mother Nature for our very well-being and survival. If we don't see that, then our priorities will continue to be driven by man-made constructs like national borders, economies, corporations, markets. Those are all human-created things. They shouldn't dominate the way we live. It should be the biosphere.

And the leaders in that should be the indigenous people, who still have that sense, that the earth is truly our mother, that it gives birth to us. You don't treat your mother the way we treat the planet or the biosphere today. If we don't make that fundamental shift, then we'll just go on: "Oh, we got to be more efficient. We got to have a green economy," and all that stuff. But we haven't fundamentally changed in our relationship with the biosphere.

AMY GOODMAN: And if we do treat it in that way, what needs to happen?

DAVID SUZUKI: Well, I think then we have to reassess everything. We have to set—I believe we have to start with the fundamental understanding that we are animals. And believe me, I've said that in many parts of the United States, and people get mighty [bleep] off at me when I tell children, "Don't forget we're animals." They say, "Don't call my daughter an animal! We're human beings!" We don't even want to accept our biological nature. But, as animals, our absolutely highest need for survival and well-being is clean air, clean water, clean soil that gives us our food, and energy from the sun that plants use for capture by photosynthesis. That's what we depend on. So, how could we, claiming to be intelligent, use air, water and soil as a garbage can for our waste and the most toxic chemicals ever known on the planet, as if somehow that's not going to have consequences? The minute you accept that we are biological creatures, then our highest priorities become absolutely clear. We've got—that means stop all release of any kind of human-created material into our surroundings, until we learn ways to recycle that and mimic nature in how we create and then degrade those things.

Then we have to say we're biological—social animals. And as social animals, what is our most fundamental need? And to me, this was shocking, when I began to read the scientific literature. The most important thing we need is love. Children, to grow up to be fully formed and developed human beings, need love at very critical times in our development. If you look at children that grow up under war-torn conditions, under—in genocide or terrorism, and see children deprived of love are fundamentally crippled physically and psychically. Well, that means then we've got to work towards creating strong families and supportive communities. We need full employment. We need equity and justice. We need freedom from war, terror and genocide. To me, those are my issues, because if you don't have that kind of a society, you can't have a sustainable environment. Hunger and poverty are my issues, because a starving person who finds an edible plant or animal is not going to say, "Oh, I wonder if this is an endangered species?" They'll kill it and eat it. I would. And probably you would, too. So we've got to deal with these issues.

And then we say we're spiritual beings. And as spiritual animals, we need to understand that we're part of nature, that we emerge from nature and return to it when we die, that there are forces out there that we'll never understand or control. We need sacred places. To me, those are what we construct as the foundation of the way that we live. And then we say, how can we create an economy that will allow these fundamental needs that we have to be protected? How do we construct a way of living as a species, protecting these values? But if we don't see what the primary needs are, then I just think that we're just playing at the edges, and we're not being serious about reaching a truly sustainable future.

AMY GOODMAN: That was David Suzuki, speaking from the Rio+20 Earth Summit in Brazil just before it concluded on Friday. More than 120 world leaders attended. Greenpeace called the summit "an epic failure." David Suzuki is a Canadian author and environmentalist, best known for the long-running CBC program, The Nature of Things. His latest book is Everything Under the Sun: Toward a Brighter Future on a Small Blue Planet. And speaking of Canadian journalists and environmentalists, congratulations to Naomi Klein and Avi Lewis on the birth of their baby. Welcome to the world, Toma.