Saturday History Call

Opening Meditation: Rainbird

Housekeeping: Rainbird

BBS: Paid up for 2 weeks ago; need $??? for last week, $300 for this week

- A listener supported radio call - let's do this!!!
- Go to BBS radio.com; at top of home page, click on Station 2 where you will find the listing of the 3 calls we have every week. Scroll down to find the Paypal button.
- Grateful for all the donations from all of us!

T&R: Website: www.2013rainbowroundtable.com - scroll down to donate section

- Whatever is donated here is used first to pay the BBS radio bill.
- Rest of Feb. rent [$120] paid by Occupy Santa Fe
- Bills due: Monday $60, $90 Thursday + some extra for gas
- Food taken care of thanks to their friends at the Sikh temple
- Outstanding car repair bill : $650: ET's Auto Repair: would like to gather $100 for this
- Can trade with T & R for readings by Mother Sekhmet

- Please let them know when you are gifting:

R: re story about what we are seeing now: Iran, Syria, US, Israel

Camp Loveway: played an old video of Terrence McKenna and Ram Dass, 1984-5: discussing the lining up, the situation called Iran and the cosmic dance we are seeing called 2012

- Rama is witnessing, listening and things are not what they appear to be: we have been fed a line of bull that is so huge about the people of Iran, Sudan, Saudi Arabia, Bahrain and other countries:
- also has to do with the Mahdi showing up: the essence of the Cosmic Christ
- Teran brought the story up to date about Occupy movement and Arab Spring, and the 99% saying you will not longer tell us that we will worship at your feet: we the people have the power and if you don't like it, there is the door - which is open, and they are leaving - intergalactic war criminals and they are being dealt with at this time
- There's a hidden story going on which is not longer hidden: divine rights for ALL species - in the time since he [Teran] was in school, very few pieces shared
  - Teran and his wife, Bear, could look at history books in the '60s and see items that are not there now: taken out after Reagan came in - Repubs have created what is going on now
  - There have been 15-30 attempts on Obama's life in the last while; a person from Uzbekistan almost killed Obama on Tuesday this week

- This atmosphere of racial hatred goes so deep - we had better take a look at issues in this country before we go out preaching to others. The racial tension is at a fever pitch - as we are to have landings and full disclosure have to drop R A C E

1865 Adam Smith

- Nephilim Abraham was a shepherd pharoh; he was a pure annunaki who volunteered to be hybridized and introduced his gene code to the planet by having sex with the gods of men
- The Egyptians were interveners too; so the story is hybridized too: not about Mormon, about Egypt and Mother;
- now we have a hybrid running around thinking he will be pres, but the hierarchy want Chris Christie - they are holding on with their teeth: making something out of the conspiracy to be a catholic church hater - he has put it on the insurance company to pay for any woman's contraceptive medication - they don't want to hear it
- Teran and Bear brought up the idea of the original birth control -Stephen Gascoigne and ?/ - a book about natural birth control and devices which enable you to find out if you are ovulating
- They brought up a lot about how to bring the country back on track and save this country means bombing Iran back to the stone age:
  - Ahmadinejad spoke in Iran saying they will be revealing what they will be doing - they have 12 nukes which they could use if they wanted, but would be stopped by Ashtar Command
  - Israel also: Netanyahu has been told to stand down, but pays no attention; Ashtar would be in

Right Left and Centre: Robert Sheer - this is a war against Obama, concerning the fact that religious right hate him - it's race! If we are to have first contact, R A C E has to be dropped.

- If we can get to the point of honouring all people for who they are: our DNA strands are connected to the particles - then we can discuss how to heal each other and forget the cancer talk of hate.

MR: she has sent something by Foster Gamble who directed the Thrive Movie

- about what is going on with Iran and so forth; Iran is negotiating with other countries about trading, not trading with US dollars
- Be aware of the false flag stuff - this happened around Iraq, it was only about Money

Audio: Follow the money by Foster Gamble

- He watches network news because they have instantaneous access
But he thinks in terms of sub-titles and what IS REALLY GOING ON
- Not true that Ahmadinejad was talking at the UN about smashing Israel - only asking for regime change in Israel and US
  - Iran is beginning to trade oil for gold, and China
  - Saddam Hussein talked about trading oil for gold and shortly after he said this, he was invaded

The problem: Iran will too dangerous with a nuclear bomb

2nd problem: Iran undermining the international community in economic policy

Next: when there is a problem, a false flag event will be attached.

- Straits of Hormuz - a US ship had 3 reactors on it; they could use it to get into war with Iran
- Fear on part of US citizens that gas prices will rise

Solution: Invade Iran, undermine and justify taking over their oil and trade routes

A Struggle for Regional Supremacy: Syria Conflict Escalates as World Powers Debate Assad's Future

February 07, 2012 | Story

Syria is seeing some of the worst violence of the 11-month uprising against Bashar al-Assad amid an ongoing international standoff over how to respond. Assad's forces have launched what appears to be one of their fiercest assaults on the flashpoint city of Homs to date. Both the United States and Britain have closed their embassies in the Syrian capital of Damascus and withdrawn diplomatic personnel, citing safety fears. As the crisis escalates, Russia and China are facing criticism for blocking a U.N. Security Council resolution backed by the United States and Arab League calling for a political transition in Syria. To discuss the situation in Syria, we're joined by Patrick Seale, a leading British writer on the Middle East and author of "Asad: The Struggle for the Middle East." "It's at least a two- or possibly a three-stage crisis. Internally in Syria, the situation is getting worse by the day," Seale says. "At a higher level, there is a struggle between the United States, on the one hand, and its allies, and its opponents like Russia and China... Then there's a third level, possibly, of Arab Gulf states like Qatar, for example, even Saudi Arabia behind it, who are obsessed and worried by Iran, and they think that Iran might stir up Shia communities in the region." ## Part 2: 'Who Killed Che? How the CIA Got Away with Murder': New Book Ties Johnson Admin to Che Death

Michael Ratner and Michael Steven Smith are the co-authors of a new book about the U.S. role in the killing of Cuban revolutionary, Ernesto "Che" Guevara. Born in Argentina in 1928, Che rose to international prominence as one of the key leaders of the 1959 Cuban Revolution that overthrew U.S.-backed dictator Fulgencio Batista. After a period in the new Cuban government leadership, Che aimed to spark revolutionary activity internationally. On October 8, 1967, he was captured by Bolivian troops working with the CIA. He was executed one day later. In their book, Who Killed Che?, Ratner and Smith draw on previously unpublished U.S. government documents to argue the CIA played a critical role in the killing. The authors also discuss the early life of the revolutionary hero, as documented by his own diaries.

4 planets close together: Saturn, Chiron, Pluto & ? - Saturn is the anchor of the 3D matrix
the energies of the 4 are being relayed to Saturn for manifestation and maintenance

- We will get:
- Sun is source and spirit of local area solar system
  - Mercury is sun's #1 assistant and works on mental plane - in Aquarius, thought, telepathy, transfer of data - it's electrical
  - will go from this frequency - Neptune is now in Pisces, no longer Aquarius
    - How to look at this change in frequency: Neptune is channel of divine wisdom and is working through early Pisces energy, we have an open channel for a different wisdom conversation, which will be Piscean in nature: shift from electrical air Aquarius to feminine magnetic Pisces
    - On one hand, Pisces brings in high levels of idealism - channel open for ideas, ethical ideals, should be getting wisdom downloads; Chiron is involved so we are all getting healed
  - Mercury conjunct Neptune on Tuesday - before Mercury gets into Pisces, it does a trine with ?
  - Last Wednesday, Venus went into Aries, conjuncted Uranus on the 9th - lots of divine will between now and 21st - new moon - these will be the driving characters for last couple of years, as a solar system, have been on the edge of the Galactic Plane

- now, we are going above the galactic Plane and now will get a different view of Galactic Centre coming out of the field - as we get above we get a cleaner path between our solar system and Galactic Centre

now should be able to do the planning: going to new moon, can complete our plans that were instituted at new moon on Jan 23rd

Next week should be OK - will have another sign change - sun goes into Pisces on the 19th - the 2 days before the new moon and the week after will be an adjustment phase today, the con movement has succeeded primary goal was to roll back the welfare state, to stop the feminist movement and ?/ - but not the gay rights one. It seems like a bankrupt movement because it has done what it had to do - Corey thinks it's on the downward spiral

Occupy Wall Street is the beginning of something - it is uncertain of what it wants to do - until it becomes a formidable power and start legislating won't see any kind of push back in conservatism [needed to make it grow and change]

1920'S NEW-AGE GANGSTERS GUIDED BY ETHEREAL CLOWNS:

The 1920's was a prior Hippie era of cyclic wild release and abandonment after the first World War, which had given birth to many a technological wonder, whence there was those whom sought out other spiritual perspectives so as to answer their ever burning questions why there had been such carnage not long before. One such individual was the Russian explorer, Ferdinand Ossendowski, whom travelled extensively throughout Mongolia and Central Asia. His extensive travels and colourful experiences were recorded in his tome of work entitled 'Beasts, Men and Gods', which first published in English in 1922. Ossendowski relates a remarkable story that was imparted to him concerning a subterranean kingdom which constitutes an inner Earth of Underworld that was known of by the Asian Buddhist Lamas as Agharti. The Science Fiction writer Lafayette Ronald Hubbard (1911–1986) also extensively travelled throughout Central Asia just as Ossendowski did to later forge the Scientology movement with its Angels made as Extraterrestrial Aliens. Central Asia does have an affect upon people at differing times such as Alexandra David Neel, Helena Blavatsky and Alice A. Bailey whose prior tourist of a Poet Aristeas (7th century BCE) journeyed from out of ancient Greece to get as far as Mongolia whom was seeking out the birth place of Apollo whom was said to have originally come from out of Hyperborea.

RUSSIAN PROPHETS PROPHECYING BUT STILL SOUNDING LIKE IMPRINTED XTIAN REVELATIONS:

Ossendowski was informed that the entrance into the Agharti subterranean underworld was a cave which was marked out by the inscription "This is the gate to Agharti". Another Russian explorer, Nicholas Roerich, comments upon this curious matter within his book, Abode of Light (1947): "Among the innumerable legends and fairytales of various countries may be found the tales of lost tribes or subterranean dwellers. In wide and diverse directions, people are speaking of identical facts. But in correlating them you can readily see that these are but chapters from the one story. At first it seems impossible that there should exist any connection between these distorted whispers, but afterwards you begin to grasp a peculiar coincidence in these manifold legends by people who are even ignorant of each other's names. You recognize the same relationship in the folklore of Tibet, Mongolia, China, Turkestan, Kashmir, Persia, Altai, Siberia, the Urals, Caucasia, the Russian steppes, Lithuania, Poland, Hungary, France, Germany...." However, there is a connection between these numerous peoples, which many to have missed apart from perhaps Mircea Eliade (1907–1986) who was a Romanian historian of religion whom noticed similar Religious concepts between differing cultures. Many of these peoples from Tibet, Mongolia, China, through to Hungary and Germany etc prior to the ascendancy of Christianity had similar Shamanist beliefs whose interconnected symbolism is quite apparent to also indicate a probable source from whence their shared Shamanist cosmologies had originally emanated.

STIRRING MYTHS DO STIR PEOPLE:

In his fascinating and informative book The Lost World of Agharti (1982) the author, Alec MacLennan, goes into considerable detail in regards to the worldwide ramifications of many a Myth concerning the subterranean kingdom. MacLennan writes that there may well be a number of cavernous openings upon various parts of the globe which in effect are portals into an inner earth domain. This is well known of in Shamanist belief, but such a Shamanic understanding is not what many a literalist Researcher would be able to fathom unless they have some personal experience of Shamanic techniques. MacLennan locates one such entrance within the remote West Riding of Yorkshire, England, and others have been reported, in particular, throughout various parts of the Americas. As Alec MacLennan to say: "Taking the legend in its most basic form, Agharti is said to be a mysterious underground kingdom situated somewhere beneath Asia and linked to the other continents of the world by a gigantic network of tunnels. These passageways, partly natural formations and partly the handiwork of the race which created the subterranean nation, provide a means of communication between all the points, and have done so since time immemorial. According to the legend, vast lengths of the tunnels still exist today; the rest have been destroyed by cataclysms. The exact location of these passages, and the means of entry, are said to be known only to certain high initiates, and the details are most carefully guarded because the kingdom itself is a vast storehouse of secret knowledge. These manuscripts are claimed to be the works of the lost Atlantean civilization and of an even earlier people who were the first intelligent beings to inhabit the earth." However, Plato was a tricky fellow when he to have written about Atlantis in his work of the 'Republic', for he was highly versed in symbolic logic and coded words and around at a time when certain memories were still fresh to a degree to remember a Great Flood, which perhaps refers to the one washing over the Altai region of Southern Siberia that present Geologists now perceive as the biggest flood in Human memory. It is also the region of the Altai that Roerich let alone others consider Agharti and Shambhala to be situated and not far away one to also find the oldest and deepest freshwater lake in the world at whose exact midst is Olkhon Island, which Plato may have referred to as Atlantis for Siberia, is also Apollo's abode of Hyperborea remembering Tunguska.

TUNNELLED CONNECTIONS THAT MOST DO NOT SEE YET THERE FOR ALL TO SEE:

In an autobiographical volume entitled My Joyful Life, Charles James Cutcliffe-Hyne (1865-1944) whom lived in the West Riding of Yorkshire, England, provides the following interesting information: "In South America I heard tell that there were enormous tunnels that traverse the continent, ultimately linking with this forbidden place. More curious still, there was similar talk in Europe, and even some old people in the West Riding knew the story and believe there to be entrances through their own caves. The kingdom was said to be called Agharti." There does indeed appear to be interconnections from one tunnelled myth to another remembered, which to point to a centre of influence for the peoples of the Altai region to lake Baikal are of the original ancestral gene pool from whence the Eurasian, North-Chinese and Native Americans stem as well as that of some of the European peoples whom no doubt long ago were forced to migrate far and wide across Steppe and Bering-straits after a 'Catastrophe'.

MEMORIES DEEP DOWN DEEPER ANCESTRAL OF HELIX:

One to find in tome entitled: The Subterranean World (1960), by the author Dr. Raymond Bernard whom states: "Throughout the Buddhist world of the Far East, belief in the existence of a Subterranean World, which is given the name Agharti, is universal and is an integral part of the Buddhist faith... Buddhist traditions state that Agharti was first colonised many thousands of years ago when a holy man led a tribe which disappeared underground." Underground into deep ancestral memory perhaps...

1920'S NEW-AGE THEOSOPHIST MISFIT RACIAL MYTHS INSPIRING FUEHRER:

Within the book Shambhala: In Search of a New Era, Roerich hinted at a similarity between Shambhala and Thule, of hidden land, which was perceived to be at the North Pole of Hyperborean myth, which had later inspired a number of Occult practitioners whom supported the National Socialist Regime in their quest for such a secret land. He also mentioned the association of Shambhala with the underground city of Agharti (Agarthi), which was reached through innumerable snaking tunnels that wound their way under the Himalayas. It was said that the inhabitants of Agharti would emerge at the "Time of Purification." In her Collected Letters (1935 – 1936), Helena Roerich pointed out that Saint-Yves d'Alveidre had mistakenly identified Shambhala with

NAZIS GOING UNDERWORLD HITTING BRICK WALL FALLING AROUND OF ARYAN HEAD ROLLING:

Similar to Theosophist Alice A. Bailey's (1880–1949) claims of the connection between Hitler and the quest for Shambhala, several post-war studies on Nazism and the Occult have asserted that the Nazis sent expeditions to Tibet whom it was said sought out the aid of those denizens residing in Shambhala and Agharti in order to carry out their Master Plan. Bailey, however, only mentioned Shambhala in regards to the Nazi connection to mention nothing about Agharti. These accounts, communicate that the masters of Shambhala refused to assist the Nazi expeditions, but the adepts of Agharti agreed and returned with them to Germany. Moreover, they attribute the Nazi search for occult support in Tibet to those beliefs put forward by Karl Haushofer and the Thule Society. Haushofer was the founder of the Vril Society in association with the Thule Society who was said to be the major influence on Hitler's Occult philosophy. The Thule and Vril Societies combined beliefs from various sources to synthesise around their Aryan White-Supremacist ideals.

HOLLOW EARTH BIRTHING NOT SO NEW-AGE FLYING SAUCER REPTILIANS WEARING TURBANS:

Shambhala was perceived to be associated with the Crown Chakra of ancient Hindu Yogic practice while Agharti is mostly referred to as being an 'Underworld' Kingdom that many of so called New-Age perspective now associates with the Hollow Earth Myth entwined with UFO's let alone extraterrestrial Reptilians residing within underground bases; such a perspective is merely a continuance of racist driven Nazi orchestrated mythology. The energy associated with Agharti was termed as being 'Vril' while the energy associated with Shambhala is 'Agni', which means Fire. However Agharti represents the Back of ones Head where one to find ones Cerebellum while the Shambhala association with ones crown of skull refers to the Cerebrum to Light up by 'Agni', which is that of the internal 'Illumination' of the Bio-Photon emanating from within the Mitochondria of each and every Cell passed down from Mother to Child. Vril of literary construct is in actual fact based upon the Hindu Yogic term of 'Shakti', which is perceived to be a Feminine energy and again associated with the Mitochondria. Shakti is perceived as being a power, which creates all forms and hence that of Maya-illusion for Maya is perceived to be of Feminine quality.

QUANTUM BRAIN TECHNOLOGY OF UP AND DOWN SHIFT SHAMANIST:

Agharti of Cerebellum is the headquarters of ones Autonomic Nervous system whose main Nerve centre is situated within ones Reptilian-Brain-Stem, which determines ones states of awareness and controls Dream-states and Trance depth. Shambhala of Crown and that of Cerebrum is the headquarters of the Central-Nervous-System whose main Nerve fibres are situated in the Chest of ones 'Heart' area, which determines what one to 'Tune' into of reality as well as to act as a filtering system. It is said that the King of the World resides in Shambhala whence one to find ones Central Cortex of Throne betwixt and between the Hemispheres of ones Shambhala Cerebrum while the Pineal-Gland of vestigial Amphibian 'Third Eye' is to be found atop of the Reptilian-Brain-Stem between the Cerebellum Hemispheres. Ones Body but especially ones Head was symbolised as a Pyramid/Ziggurat and that of the Cosmic Mountain through whose centre interpenetrated the 'World-Tree' of ones Spinal Column.

TEMPLAR ILLUMINATI WAGNARIAN CHRISTIANS:

Jocelyn Godwin, in Arktos, The Polar Myth in Science, Symbolism and Nazi Survival (1993), identified Agni power with Vril. Vril is the perceived psychokinetic power protected by the inhabitants of Thule, which the Nazis tried to obtain so as to aid their Aryan Super-race agenda. But this is all mere Myth making to make the knot ever more convoluted of disinformation. Many researchers to have perceived the Nazi's reviving Pagan beliefs, but the Researchers quaintly forget that such beliefs had long ago been lost in their near entirety and what little had survived was written down by biased medieval Christian Monks to have left out what they considered dangerous to their faith and hence later made somewhat Christian of underlying emphasis by Round-Table Templar orientated Right-Wing-Christian Wagnarians hating Judas. The fact of the matter is this... the Nazi regime was Right-Wing Christian who desired to be the Chosen Race just as the Hebrews considered themselves to be whereby the National-Socialists merely utilised the same philosophy, but of course there could only be one Super-race of mythological focus, which invariably led to the Holocaust. The term Vril for example is actually a literary construct, which was utilised in the novel entitled 'The Coming Race' that was reprinted as Vril: The Power of the Coming Race. The novel was written by Edward Bulwer-Lytton, which was published in 1870. The Coming Race is an early example of science fiction, sometimes cited as the first of its genre. However, many early readers believed that its account of a superior subterranean master race and that of their manipulation of an energy called Vril was that of an accurate account, to such an extent that some Theosophists accepted the book as truth; this in turn influenced the Nazi regimes Occult leanings but such has only been perceived since the 1960's, which has grown into a conspiracy theory about a secret Vril-Society.

WHEN TO PUT A PUZZLE BACK TOGETHER ONE HAS TO UNDERSTAND THE PIECES FIRST:

Due to the fact that the Elder traditions of Europe have been systematically eradicated by the ascendancy of Centralist Christianity much has been lost in understanding; an analogy would be that of a group of individuals finding remnants of a Quantum Computer, whom have forgotten about such a technology since the civilisation that wrought it has long since passed away. Such individuals would no doubt weave many a colourful Myth around their discovery to even war over their deluded beliefs but never to really know what they have actually found unless of course they were shown a working version of a Quantum Computer and how to utilise it, which in fact be that of their own befuddled Brains.

SHAMANIC TRANCE AND DREAM ENGINEERING OF ELDER TECHNOLOGY, WHICH IF ONE DESIRES TO TRULY KNOW, FIND OUT FOR ONES OWN SELF:

The experience of self-induced Trance and deep Lucid Dream Ingress induces certain experiences where one feels as if ones Consciousness to either Shift above ones Cerebrum Head Shamballa to travel through a tunnel into the star hewn void or to fall backwards towards the Back of ones Head Agharti and beyond into the depths of the Earth. The experiences can be somewhat Earth shattering to those who do not know of such an ability which is usually the primary province of the Shaman. When one shifts above the Head via Conscious Dreaming one to find that ones Dreams become far brighter of Bio-Photon Light quality, whose colours are scintillatingly vivid of Shamballa ethereal hue whence one to thereby understand what 'Agni' symbolises. As ones Consciousness shifts to the Agharti Back of the Head the Bio-Photon Light quality is dimmer of hue whose Colours are far more Earthy whereby one to understand what is meant by 'Vril' but more accurately that of 'Shakti' for such Dreams are far more physical of experience.

WEAVING SYNCHRONICITY TO LIFT MAYA'S BIO-PHOTON RAINBOW VEILS:

When one to experience such deep Dreams one will also encounter other forms of Intelligence for one is consciously accessing the Informational Quantum realms underlying all 'Matter'. In Shamanist practice the Underworld of Subterranean kingdom is where one can tap into ones deepest ancestral memories whose innumerable Domains of Time are interlinked by Information Tunnels, which one could construe as being Mini-Wormholes that give the semblance of one Travelling into the depths of the Earth. At an initial level one merely to have normal Dreams of veil, which to reflect back everyday concerns but when to go deeper one will discover another reality amidst many another of Alternate. One will also find that when one consciously activates certain symbolic stimuli within ones Microcosmic Dreams such will set up Macrocosmic Synchronicities of associative symbolic concordance wherefore one to discover that one can manipulate Maya-Space-Time. The Shift to the Back of the Head Agharti generates the experience of 'Space' while the Shift above the Head Shambhala generates the experience of 'Time'. When to experience a Synchronicity it is very much the case of being at the Right 'Place' of 'Memory' at the Right 'Time' of 'Thought' whose Lemniscate of bridge be ones Associative 'Imagination'.

THE TRUTH BE FAR STRANGER THAN FICTION:

The Mythology of Shambhala and Agharti was originally derived from Siberian Shamanistic practice, whence one to then understand where Thule of once hidden land of one time Hyperborea be under Northern Magnetic Pole, which is once again shifting over Siberia. It is from this Hyperborean realm that the Altaic/Mongolian 'Odqan' to have originally come from whose name to mean 'Fire-King', (Fire/Agni) who later became the Norse Shaman deity Odin Trance hanging upon World-Tree that the Saxon's named Woden while the Germani called him Wotan to thence become merry Santa Claus of Christmas Tree while J.R.R Tolkein made Woden into Gandalf. The eldest Rune stones of Scandinavia are very difficult to interpret when using old Norse but as soon as one uses the language of the one time Shamanist Turkic Steppe Nomads out of Siberia so as to read the Runes they then to reveal their Secrets. The ancient Greeks to have their Apollo who came out of Hyperborea with his twin Sister Artemis and it was Apollo who gifted the Double-Helix of interwoven Caduceus to Hermes while Hermes offered Apollo his 'Seven' stringed Lyre that Plato merrily played.

The Hyperborean Dravidian homeland

For me this had a couple of different starting points. One was a realization that the Russian Mesolithic was actually an Epipaleolithic Reindeer-herding culture possibly carrying on with the independent basket-marked-pottery tradition, but also that the people were basically persisting Cro-Magnons there AND that the Russian Microlithic industry was the probable source of the Indian microlithic-Mesolithic cultures by way of Central Asia. The Indian Microlithic was flourishing right up until the Indus Civilization began to take over. The other matter was that Charles Hapgood had mentioned literature on the theory of a Polar Paradise and the Arctic origin of the Vedas. There is actually quite a large literature on this, and one source is on the internet and easily accessible in several variant formats:

<http://www.vaidilute.com/books/tilak/tilak-13.html>

And I quote from the Chapter 13 summary there:

CHAPTER XIII THE BEARING OF OUR RESULTS ON THE HISTORY OF PRIMITIVE ARYAN CULTURE AND RELIGION

Proofs of the theory of the Arctic home summed up — They clearly indicate a Polar home, but the exact spot in the Arctic regions, that is, north of Europe or Asia, still undeterminable — An Arctic home possible only in inter-Glacial times according to geology — Ancient Vedic chronology and calendar examined — The interval between the commencement of the Post-Glacial era and the Orion period cannot, according to it, be so great as 80,000 years — Supported by the moderate estimate of the American geologists — Purânic chronology of yugas, manvantaras and kalpas — Rangâchârya's and Aiyer's views thereon — Later Purânic system evolved out of an original cycle of four yugas of [totalling]10,000 years, since the last deluge — The theory of "divine years" unknown to Manu and Vyâsa — Adopted by later writers who could not believe that they lived in the Kṛita age — The original tradition of 10,000 years since the last deluge fully in accord with Vedic chronology — And also with the American estimate of 8,000 B.C. for the beginning of the Post-Glacial period — All prove the existence of a Polar Aryan home before 8,000 B.C. — Trustworthiness of the ancient traditions and the method of preserving them — The theory of the Polar origin of the whole human race not inconsistent with the theory of the Arctic Aryan home — Current views regarding primitive Aryan culture and religion examined — Primitive Aryan man and his civilization cannot now be treated as Post-Glacial — Certain destruction of the primeval civilization and culture by the Ice Age — Short-comings or defects in the civilization of the Neolithic Aryan races in Europe must, therefore, be ascribed to a postdiluvian relapse into barbarism — Life and calendar in the inter-Glacial Arctic home — Devayâna and Pitriyâna and the deities worshipped during the period — The ancient sacrifices of the Aryan race — The degree of civilization reached by the undivided Aryans in their Arctic home — The results of Comparative Philology stated — The civilization disclosed by them must be taken to be the minimum or the lowest, that can be predicated of the undivided Aryans — The culture of the undivided Aryans higher than the culture of the Stone or the Metal age — Use of metal coins among them highly probable — Beginnings of the Aryan language, or the differentiation of human races according to color or language still untraceable — The origin of Aryan man and religion lost in geological antiquity — Theological views regarding the origin and character of the Vedas summarized — Differently supported by writers on the different schools of philosophy — Patanjali's and Vyâsa's view that the Vedas were lost in the last deluge and repromulgated in substance, if not in form, at the beginning of the new age — The four periods into which the Post-Glacial era may be divided on astronomical grounds — Compared with the characteristics of the four yugas given in the Aitareya Brâhmaṇa — Theological and historical views regarding the origin &c. of the Vedas stated in parallel columns and compared — Vedic texts, showing that the subject matter of the hymns is ancient though the language may be new, cited — Vedic deities and their exploits all said to be ancient — Improbability of Dr. Muir's suggested reconciliation — Vedas, or rather Vedic religion, shown to be inter-Glacial in substance though post-Glacial in form — Concluding remarks.

--Now if the evidence is true as presented, we are not only just talking a cold climate such as we might find in the Himalayas closer to India, we are talking a very high latitude and at least some experience of conditions actually within the Arctic Circle. Such that even the Scythians on the Russian Steppes would not have gone far enough. We are talking the extreme Northern part of Asia, the area that Herodutus called Hyperboria. That seems to correspond to the territory of the Uralic peoples as shown on the map. Then a solution presented itself to me which, while entirely unorthodox, solves the problem very well: The Vedas are not originally Aryan. They are Dravidian and transmitted through the Indus valley culture, and from the Dravidian origins up in Uralic Territory. Furthermore it seems the Uralic Reindeer-herders might even have had a knowledge of horses in those remote days. The references to reindeer in the original would doubtless later be translated as cows The Dravidian Indus texts would have been copied over again later by Satem-Indo-European scribes and here we have the exact same situation as we have in Mesopotamia when the original Sumerian texts were all copied out into Semitic translations by the Akkadians, ancestors of the Assyrians.

<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Urheimat>

Urheimat (a German compound of Ur- "primitive, original" and Heimat "home, homeland"; German pronunciation: [ˈʊʁːhɑɪmaːt], English: /ˈʊərhaɪmaːt/) is a linguistic term denoting the original homeland of the speakers of a proto-language. The homelands of many, but not all, major language families are summarized in this article.

Dravidian homeland

The Dravidian languages have been found mainly in South India since at least the second century BCE (inscriptions, ed. I. Mahadevan 2003). It is, however, a widely held hypothesis that Dravidian speakers may have been more widespread throughout India, including the northwest region<sup>[2]</sup> before the arrival of Indo-European speakers. A map showing where Dravidian languages are spoken today appears to the left.

Historical records suggest that the South Dravidian language group had separated from a Proto-Dravidian language no later than 700 BCE, linguistic evidence suggests that they probably became distinctive around 1,100 BCE, and some scholars using linguistic methods put the deepest divisions in the language group at roughly 3,000 BCE.<sup>[3]</sup> Russian linguist M.S. Andronov puts the split between Tamil (a written Southern Dravidian language) and Telugu (a written Central Dravidian language) at 1,500 BCE to 1,000 BCE.<sup>[4]</sup>

Southworth identifies late Proto-Dravidian with the Southern Neolithic culture in the lower Godavari River basin of South Central India, which first appeared ca. 2,500 BCE, based upon its agricultural vocabulary, while noting that this "would not preclude the possibility that speakers of an earlier stage of Dravidian entered the subcontinent from western or central Asia, as has often been suggested."<sup>[5]</sup> Speculations regarding the original homeland have centered on the Indus Valley Civilization, or on Elam, whose language was spoken in the hills to the east of the ancient Sumerian civilization with whom the Indus Valley Civilization traded and shared domesticated species) in an Elamo-Dravidian hypothesis, but results have not been convincing. The possibility that the language family is indigenous to the Dravidian area and is a truly isolated genetic unit has also not been ruled out.

Prof. Asko Parpola (University of Helsinki), the Jesuit priest Father Heras in the 1930s and other scholars (such as Indian and early Tamil expert Iravatham Mahadevan and Prof. Walter A. Fairservis Jr.) conclude that the Indus sign system represented an ancient Dravidian language, a view that they assume is supported by Tamil artifacts discovered in 2006.[\[6\]](#) Thus, in Parpola's view, the urheimat of Dravidian would be in the Indus River Valley. However, Harvard Indologist Michael Witzel takes the view that has received serious academic consideration (ca. 2004), which is critical of an Indus Valley Civilization Dravidian homeland and of the widely held view that the inscriptions of the Indus Valley Civilization even constitute a written language.[\[7\]](#) In the essay "Substrate Languages in Old Indo-Aryan" (with RV in this context referring to Rigvedic, i.e. Indo-Aryan), Witzel says "As we can no longer reckon with Dravidian influence on the early RV, this means that the language of the pre-Rigvedic Indus civilization, at least in the Panjab, was of (Para-) Austro-Asiatic nature." There are no written examples of Austro-Asiatic languages being spoken further west than Central India during the recent historical era (i. e., in the era for which we have written records).

Recent studies of the distribution of alleles on the Y chromosome,[\[8\]](#) microsatellite DNA,[\[9\]](#) and mitochondrial DNA[\[10\]](#) in India have cast doubt for a biological Dravidian "race" distinct from non-Dravidians in the Indian subcontinent;[\[11\]](#) other recent genetic studies have found evidence of Aryan, Dravidian and pre-Dravidian (original Asian) strata in South Asian populations.[\[12\]](#) Geneticist Luigi Luca Cavalli-Sforza proposes that a Dravidian people were preceded in India by Austro-Asiatic people, and were present prior to the arrival of Indo-Aryan language speakers in India.[This is actually the standard viewpoint-DD] [\[13\]](#)

Uralic homeland

The Uralic homeland is unknown. A possible locus is the Comb Ceramic Culture of ca 4200 – ca 2000 BC (shown on the map to the right in purple). This is suggested by the high language diversity around the middle Volga River, where three highly distinct branches of the Uralic family, Mordvinic, Mari, and Permic, are located. Reconstructed plant and animal names (including spruce, Siberian pine, Siberian Fir, Siberian larch, brittle willow, elm, and hedgehog) are consistent with this location. This is adjacent to the proposed homeland for Proto-Indo-European under the Kurgan hypothesis.

French anthropologist Bernard Sergent, in La Genèse de l'Inde (1997),[\[14\]](#) argued that Finno-Ugric (Uralic) may have a genetic source or have borrowed significantly from proto-Dravidian or a predecessor language of West African origins. Some linguists see Uralic (Hungarian, Finnish) as having a linguistic relationship to both Altaic (Turkic, Mongol) language groups[15] (as in the outdated Ural-Altaic hypothesis) and Dravidian languages. The theory that the Dravidian languages display similarities with the Uralic language group, suggesting a prolonged period of contact in the past,[16] is popular amongst Dravidian linguists and has been supported by a number of scholars, including Robert Caldwell,[17] Thomas Burrow,[18] Kamil Zvelebil,[19] and Mikhail Andronov[20] This theory has, however, been rejected by some specialists in Uralic languages,[21] and has in recent times also been criticised by other Dravidian linguists like Bhadriraju Krishnamurti. [22]

[Emphasis added by Dale D.]

As noted below, many notable linguists have proposed that the Eskimo-Aleut languages and Uralic languages have a common origin, although there is not a consensus that this connection is genuine.

More on the Polar Origin of the Vedas:

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/The\_Arctic\_Home\_in\_the\_Vedas

The Arctic Home in the Vedas is a seminal work on the origin of Aryans presented by Lokmanya Bal Gangadhar Tilak, a mathematician turned astronomer, historian, journalist, philosopher and political leader of India during 1880 to 1920. It propounded the theory that North Pole was the original home of Aryans during pre-glacial period which they had to leave due to the ice deluge around 8000 B.C. and had to migrate to the Northern parts of Europe and Asia in search of lands for new settlements. In support to his theory Tilak has presented certain Vedic hymns, Avestic passages, Vedic chronology and Vedic calendars with interpretations of the contents in detail. The book was written at the end of 1898 but was first published in March 1903 in Pune.

- .....
- According to the latest geological evidence, the last Glacial period must have closed and Post-Glacial must have commenced at about 10,000 years ago or 8,000 BC. There were at least two Glacial and one Inter-Glacial period, and the geographical distribution of land and water on the earth during the Inter-Glacial period was quite different from what it is at present. It was the coming on of the Glacial age that destroyed this genial climate and rendered the regions unsuited for the habitation of tropical plants and animals.
  - At North Pole one sees the heavenly dome above will seem to revolve round him like a potter's wheel. The stars will not rise and set but move round and round in horizontal planes during the long night of six months. The Sun, when he is above the horizon for six months; would also appear to revolve in the same way but with some difference. The Northern celestial hemisphere will alone be visible spinning round and round and the Southern half remain invisible. The Sun going into the Northern hemisphere in his annual course will appear as coming up from the South. Living in the temperate and tropical zones, however, one sees all heavenly objects rise in the East and set in the West, some passing over the head, others traveling obliquely.
  - The long dawn of two months is a special and important characteristic of the North Pole. As we descend southward, the splendor and the duration of the dawn will be witnessed on a less and less magnificent scale. But the dawn occurring at the end of the long night of two, three or more months will still be unusually long, often of several days duration.
  - All these characteristics of Arctic home are clearly recorded in several Vedic hymns and Avestic passages and they come to us sometimes as the description of the prevailing conditions or the day-to-day experience or stories told by the earlier generation and sometimes as myths.
  - [It is entirely possible that the Indo-Europeans heard about these things and passed the stories along, but the original observations would have had to be made in the Uralic Homeland. Hence it looks like the Vedas and Eddas have a common source with the Kalevala in the postglacial Asiatic Hyperboria-DD]

Chronology of the Post-Glacial period

Tilak in his Study

- 10,000 to 8000 BC – The Destruction of the original Arctic home by the last Ice Age and the commencement of the post-Glacial period.
- 8000 to 5000 BC – The age of migration from the original home. The survivors of the Aryan race roamed over the northern parts of Europe and Asia in search of lands suitable for new settlements. Tilak calls it as 'Pre-Orion Period'.
- 5000 to 3000 BC. - The Orion period, when the vernal equinox was in Orion. Many Vedic hymns can be traced to the early part of this period and the bards of the race seem to have not yet forgotten the real importance of the traditions of the Arctic home inherited by them. It was at this time that first attempts to reform the calendar and the sacrificial system appear to have been systematically made.
- 3000 to 1400 BC – The Krittika period, when the Vernal equinox was in Pleiades. The traditions about the original Arctic home had grown dim by this time and very often misunderstood, making the Vedic hymns more and more unintelligible.
- 1400 to 500 BC – The Pre-Buddhistic period, when the Sutras and the Philosophical systems made their appearance.[After Buddhism arose, mis once again spread Indic traditions over Central Asia]

Contents

The book has about 500 pages containing a Preface by the Author and thirteen chapters viz 1. 'Prehistoric Times' 2. The Glacial Period 3. The Arctic Regions 4. The Night of the Gods 5. The Vedic Dawns 6. Long Day and Long Night 7. Months and Seasons 8. The Cow's Walk 9. Vedic Myths – The Captive Waters 10. Vedic Myths – The Matutinal Deities 11. The Avestic Evidence 12. Comparative Mythology. 13. The Bearing of our Results on the History of Primitive Aryan Culture and Religion. At the end, a General Index and Index of Vedic and Avestic Passages are given.

Evidence in Support of the Theory

1) Vedic Evidences

- Particulars of Hymns and Verses in ten Mandalas of Rigveda are given. For Exp. Hymn 1 Verse 2 Page 459.
- Particulars of Passages in Taittiriya Samhita are given. For Exp. Passage I, 3,9,2 Page 91.
- Particulars of Hymns in Vajasaneyi Samhita are given.
- Particulars of Sama Veda Samhita are given.
- Particulars of Atharva Veda Samhita are given.
- Particulars of Aitareya Brahmana are given.
- Particulars of Kaushitaki Brahmana are given.
- Particulars of Taittiriya Brahmana are given.
- Particulars of Shatapatha Brahmana are given.
- Particulars of Tandy Brahmana are given.
- Particulars of Shadvimsha Brahmana are given.
- Particulars of Taittiriya Aranyaka are given.
- Particulars of Upanishads are given.

2) Avestic Evidences

- Particulars of Vendidad passages are given.
- Particulars of Yashts passages are given.
- Particulars of Yasna passages are given.

Neolithic-age representations of horses and other animals, indicating probable domestication of horses and reindeer in Russia. If so then the early Indo-europeans of the Kurgan culture got their horses from the Uralics living nearby, possibly with some large exchanges of Folklore and beliefs. NB, I believe Kurgan culture to represent Satem-Indo-Europeans and that the Centum-Speakers had already separated from them.

Very early Uralic cultures in European Russia, including range of Comb-pitted ware. The origins of the Uralic peoples goes back into the days of the deglaciation since the Glacial Maximum at about 20000 years ago, on the shores of the inland sea that filled the Ob basin at the time, Glacial Lake Mansi. This vast body of water acted as an insulator to warm up the surrounding areas and thus it could be quite comfortable up to very high latitudes. This would go well with Tilak's investigations of the ancient scriptures.

Comb-pitted potsherd

Skulls from the Middle Volga region. These are a recognizable small/reduced-Cro-magnon type. There are also larger and more rugged, and more round-headed types of skulls in the area.

Forensic reconstruction sculptures of skulls from the middle Volga region, by the great Russian restorationist G. G. Gerasimov. The woman above and the man below: there is a general resemblance to some people still living in India today. Gerasimov did many of these and the range of features in this population is remarkable. The area was evidently undergoing a great deal of ethnic mixing from diverse sources at the time.
