

Top 10 Open Curricula of How Bangladesh (aged 42) saves the World 1 of 10 Ending Nurseless Villages with the Grameen model of Nearly Free Nursing College

The Grameen Nursing College is a best for the world model for development of health services in developing nations wherever there is a scarcity of medical knowhow and/or a lack of access to health services in rural or poor communities> Millions of youth need to MOOC with Dr Yunus and Khan Academy on this curriculum now.

Because of the way that Grameen has developed hundreds of thousands of village centres owned by and serving village mothers across Bangladesh, it is able to design the most sustainable and joyful benchmark for a nearly free nursing college

Nursing is a dream job -and lifestyle- for many village girls -especially when they are the first literate ambassador for their family

Grameen's secondary scholarship scheme for its 8 million members' daughter enables it to track the best applicants for the Nursing College in terms of hard workers who want to return and help develop rural health

There can be no better investment for a girl power foundation than investing in creating training and jobs of nurses

Ever since Grameen brought mobile phones to the villages in middle of 1990s it has been searching out mobile medical apps as the most exciting social business partnering focus of open technology wizards and leading technology corporations

In developing the Grameen Nursing College, Grameen has found that the world's best trainers of nurses often love their knowledge to have the greatest benefit possible- nurses in developing countries save lives especially of mothers and infants. They are a number one explainer of increasing life expectancy

The case for Grameen Nursing College was so compelling that it has been launched before any massive training of community healthcare came online at platforms like khan academy. Just think what partnerships between those most passionate to end nurseless villages can now scale all over the world

Are you interested in helping Grameen Nursing Curriculum?