

The Dropping of the Ego

Within the Fun Earth Play Divine

It goes without saying, that the following is a well-known axiom in the One World of Spirit, for all who comprise That World constitute the One Eternal Knower—that is, The Mind Divine Embodied as All that Is. You, Me, and All are That! Always were That! And eternally will remain That! Nothing else is Being!

Awaking is a seeming journey here in the earth material appearing matrix—that is, the Divine Cosmic Earth Play. It has varied stages apparently. But it is only a seeming or appearance. When so-called awakening happens, the Mind that remains is by no means that pseudo mind that sought for such. Hence, awakening comes not by seeking! It actually comes not at all. It appears to happen only when seeking is finally abandoned. But seeking is never really finally abandoned by its thinking source.

In plain words: the awake Mind was never nor could It ever be asleep. The perceived seeking mind is not the awake Mind. The perceived seeking mind has less than nothing to do with awaking. Awaking is an erroneous term only. There is no such thing as awaking. The ego or human mind is, in a sense, a trickster—it is the sole source of the notion of awaking.

Only when the deceptive ego is dropped—does the Awake State remain as ever It Is. The ego is like a blinder of the Soul—but not really, only in a pretend way. The Soul is Divine in every case. The Soul is the Only True You. The Soul never sleeps in an illusion called dream. The Soul is always awake.

How does the ego or human mind get dropped? Firstly, No human mind or ego is ever interested in its dissolution. Hence, egos only play a very deceptive game—pretending they are interested in or seeking enlightenment (awakening). However, If the ego lived for fifty million years, it would still be playing the same game—an imaginary game that can never attain its imaginary goal.

Hence, believing in enlightenment and the search for such is entirely a pseudo belief—a belief of the ego only. The ego is the epitome of untruth. Such never tells the truth. It is the father of lies in the Divine Play. The ego is the false-self of the human dream. The ego is not the Soul. The Soul Is God!

Again, how does this imposter get dropped, since there is no hope that it would ever drop itself? The ego is sort of hiding the individual Soul that is always poised behind the earth personality and body. But just a-make-believe hiding!

In the Play Divine each bodily performer is said to have an ego blocking the real essence or Soul represented by that body, from being in open expression. Hence when the ego is dropped the Soul or God-Mind is said to be in instant manifestation in its place.

But in truth, an entity such as an ego does not even actually exist much less could such ever hide Divinity from Its Radiant Immutable Blissful Expression. Hence, the Fun Way of the Magical Earth Play!

The ego is dropped alone at the specific timing as pre-set in the Script arrangement of the Divine Play. Contrary to ego-speech, no dynamic within the Play can possibly accomplish this event!

<https://youtu.be/nYIA2YMpE8w>

Life has NO Goals, No Purpose-Osho