To whom it may concern,

This letter pertains to Mr. Wright's Ovation Celebrity Deluxe Acoustic/Electric guitar which he purchased in the early 1990's.

This particular guitar consists of very distinct characteristics of which no other guitar in its class is similar. The prominent Bird's Eye Maple body is one of a kind, which also consists of a matching headstock of the same design on the neck of the guitar. This element alone constitutes its rarity, as our other newer models do not carry matching headstocks.

The body also has an epaulet (sound holes), consisting of multi-exotic hardwoods. Additionally, this instrument is manufactured with gold hardware and has abalone fret inlays.

The body of the this guitar is made with one entire piece of wood, as opposed to other models which are comprised of 2 pieces of wood joined in the middle. The area where the 2 pieces join creates a line down the front of the body.

However, Mr. Wright's guitar does not bear this marking. Therefore the quilted grain pattern of the wood is completely fluid and continuous throughout the face of the body.

Furthermore, this specific model is no longer in production which further adds to the scarcity and unlikelihood of it being reinstated nor substituted.

This guitar is exclusive in of itself. It is certainly unequalled due to its individuality which cannot be replaced, given its distinguishable and unique features and qualities.
