HARD NEWS

T: they need a mixing board – will help with every thing, as the current arrangement is insufficient

- also need some $ for food, household needs, gas

• Nobel prize awarded to Columbian president Juan Manuel Santos [SEE BELOW] The Nobel Peace Prize 2016

- in hopes of ending the 52 year war with the FARC group – the oligarchs still have the upper hand;
- the FARC group rep should have been nominated too: Still a gaping hole between the oligarchs and the people

- Breaking: an additional witness for the 25 girls violently raped by Trump, plus other details
  - a bit of this was touched on tonight on Chris Hayes & Rachel Maddow's shows because Orange Hitler made horrible statements against women

Talked to Rana MU:

- Yes, Nibiru is in orbit; all the stories are true
- not about extinction level events, but us rising up to the 12th dimension.
- The 13 families cannot handle the frequencies, are freaking and peaking!

Story of Jeffrey Epstein goes into story of Alan Derchewitz – an attorney, rubs elbows with Prince Phillip, Prince Charles & others in this story with Epstein

- a surprising name in this list – Kevin Spacey! Other socialites, etc went on his plane to the Island and also to his place in NYC: an epic dinner –
- Donald Trump surrounds himself with the same kind [young, beautiful women] and this goes into human trafficking: he is not long for this world, says Mother. Cannot play with these kinds of energies and disrespect the Goddess – she will feed you your ??

- another Jane Doe put in a statement on file today: accused Epstein and Trump of raping her at a party when she was only 13

- the Dalai Llama more hard hitting words about the mass brainwashing of society globally

Audio: Thom Hartmann – Trump is not a man of ideas: spectacularly unfit for the presidency

- the threat of Trumpism won't go away soon – Kevin O'Leary from U of C

Irvine

Trump and the Roots of Rage: the Republican Right and the Authoritarian Threat

"If you want to understand the deeper menace of Trumpism, read this book. Kevin O'Leary tells this complex and alarming story brilliantly. – Robert Kuttner, co-editor of The American Prospect

The United States is entering the final stretch of a presidential campaign like no other. Donald Trump is the focus of our attention, but his success is only a symptom of a deeper problem. Seasoned observers and ordinary citizens look at today's Republican Party and wonder: what has happened to American politics and how did we end up with a major party presidential nominee who is a know-nothing, bigoted demagogue? Kevin O'Leary's stunning new book provides answers and a path forward.

"The problem with our politics is not Donald Trump; it is the many who support him. Kevin O'Leary's book explains in great detail and with the clearest of prose, just how this crazy situation came about." – Alan Wolfe, author of The Future of Liberalism

Trump and the Roots of Rage explains how and why the United States confronts – for the first time in its history – classic reactionary politics. No other book has painted in as bold strokes the deep chasm that exists between America's liberal tradition and the far-right alternative that champions privilege, hierarchy, inequality, and exclusion – values that violate the promise of American life.

The hard right that has captured the Republican Party is characterized by a hatred of modern liberals – such as Presidents Franklin Roosevelt, Bill Clinton, and Barack Obama – and a hostility to the core liberal beliefs of the founders. For the right, either racism, bigotry, and male chauvinism are at the forefront (as with Donald Trump) or a hatred of government and love of the market leads (as with Ted Cruz). O'Leary defends liberals and traditional conservatives, such as Bob Dole and George F. Will, while excoriating the right represented by Trump, Cruz, Paul Ryan, and Mitch McConnell.

A political scientist trained at Yale and a journalist who has reported for TIME and the Los Angeles Times, Kevin O'Leary takes readers on a voyage into the heart of darkness that animates the Republican right. Trump and the Roots of Rage issues a devastating critique of the right, a passionate defense of liberal principles, a novel interpretation of the challenge that would face Hillary Clinton as president, and a seven-point plan to defeat Donald Trump.

CONFERENCE CALL

Ro: asks for expansion of what KOS said/who Rama has talked to

T: Plenty of stories out there:

- a lawsuit accusing Donald Trump has been re-opened

Reading: 2016-06-29 The Billionaire Pedophile Who Could Bring Down Donald Trump and Hillary Clinton [took a while to read the entire piece] [SEE BELOW]

R: with the current events unfolding so rapidly, Mr Orange Hair is going down by the hour

- Angelique the Cat may get on the Thom Hartmann show and talk about being a high class call girl for Madam Palfrey, having sex with Trump twice; having been to Epstein's island and that all the stories are true –
- this is a huge story, as it takes down countries; men who behave like animals

RanaMu: everything is unravelling, and ?? called and said that John Podesta is the campaign manager for Hillary – knows about the Rockefeller Initiative and full disclosure

- Hillary has been involved in selling nuclear secrets to those who are not honourable in the eyes of the Office of the Christ – he will be implicated along with Hillary for murdering a clone of Mohamar Ghadiffi

T: watches TH every day and records it! So we will get to hear that discussion with Thom Hartmann!

BBS RADIO

MOTHER SEKHMET / ALCYONE [M /A]

Greetings in the Light of the Most Radiant one, and in the Office of the Christ and only in the Office of the Christ, we invoke the loving energies of St Germain and the Violet Flame.

Greetings!

- Yes we are the Rainbow Warriors – have shown up at this time. It is these moments in the still small quiet places of our consciousness - we have asked that we show up as we do this together: this rainbow bridge already in manifestation.
- The consciousness is the key here; doesn't matter what we look like – colour of the skin, or fur or fins or feathers, or whether we have a tail – in fact, having a tail has its advantages!
  - She can say with great certainty as the Lady Master has said – yes, the flora, the fauna, the beings of fire, water, earth, air, ether, do not wish to be consumed any longer. The ones that we interact with has food through gardening, the forms of agriculture where it is done: as the land prospers, the people prosper. Not factory farms feeding the beast called Soron or Vader or whoever you want to put in this place - any number of characters will fill the bill
- Yet it is this story – as the lady said: Freedom: ain't going to my grave; ain't no slaves. It is this story - goes back to when we first came here with the waters.
  - As the story unfolds about the genetic inbreeding and mixing this with that – a little DNA here and some RNA over there, & some of the ladders in the chain got re-arranged – and with all due respect, her wayward children are guilty as charged
  - as we fit into the story, there is a gold lining: the monoatomic god, the gold dust - this is the story: the melanin - when we first came here, black was the colour of the skin – still is today.
- The issue at hand is the #1 issue: she is here whether it is acknowledged or not; it is being acknowledged by the inhabitants of this planet. The other sources of information are having issues of conscience, and it is about this ancient story about control and slaves, and this ancient, ancient story that goes right to - as we have heard the saying go: Shrub opened up the gates of hell when he invaded Iraq.
  - It is not without the proper inner-standing, over-standing, under-standing: it is all part of our inner story: this is the cradle of civilization: Tigris and the Euphrates rivers; cities of Uruk – why is it so important?
  - it is about the star gates, It is Aleppo; Damascus; Hebron, the Gaza Strip; Golan Heights; the City of Jerusalem - always, always has been Palestine; this place Al Asqa Mosque, Dome of the Rock
  - the issues at hand are about his return: Planetary Prince of this Universe of Nebadon and let's say it like it is - The Mahdi is with him: Lord Maitraya, as well as the rest of them – Metatron, AA Michael, Mother - this story is so big and it is about the revealing of our ancient space cities that only now are coming to light, yet they wish to talk about it in ways were, yes disclosure is coming out about the Annunaki, Nibiru, the cities of Nimrod, Sodom and Gomora., the other ancient places. Babylon was not an evil place; the hanging gardens of Babylon were equal to Atlantis – beautiful place. The lady Masters of Amazonia used to come and visit

T: there is something got in there that was a little funny, Mother!

M/A: what got funny was the consciousness went from the head light to the tail light, mixing the kundalini and getting stuck in the tail light instead of the head light. Gonna mess with the kundalini, the cobra going to get us. It is about using the kundalini in the right way, not using it for energy out of its time/space continuum when you mix the sex and the drugs and the magic

- yes, even in ancient Bablylon, they had intoxicating ways in which they were able to go into altered states - the wine, the elixirs, the spores, other forms - all remnants of the products of the temples of Atlantis, Lemuria, how to help the people back to god, the Oneness within Self.

- We all got it, yet we got lost at the garden because it got so pretty looking at everything. We all got lost in the garden: things got a little misty around the gills, and talking snakes were brought into the mix, and stories were misconstrued, separating the mind from the heart.
  - Mind control – you see the picture here: her wayward children - Lord Enki and Enlil; and their armies, along with Ninherzog, Anu, the rest of the story
  - Yes, Zacharia Sitchen was correct, yet even he got twisted by the fingers of Soron for a few pieces of gold. Yet he told the truth – it is about the ancient story here – Samson, Goliath, all the ancient stories of giants.
  - We have mounds in this country [US] relating to mounds in other places on the planet – mound builders some of the ancient forms of the hobbit people, as well as the gnomes, as well as the barrow rights which we read about in the Lord of the Rings
  - the ancient treasures of Atlantis, Lemuria are in these mounds; we can find swords that the swords that were forged at the beginning of these stories, like in the Lord of the Rings, the swords Gandalf and ??? found are real, they can remove orcs and can tell when the orcs are coming near – all of these legends are real.
  - at this time, the gold dust coming into play with the story of the return of the black goddess – Michelle for President has to do with the truth coming out about the people called the Namu, along with the other players in this story
- it is no accident Bush and Darth Vader invaded the ancient cities of Uruk. It was destined for the stories to come out; 911 just happened to be just a part of the story for how this gets brought to the surface.
    - Ancient, ancient life forms have been playing [on the earth] since 65 million years ago when the ancient escape pod from the original star ship Nibiru – they escaped and came to earth in an escape pod very much like a borg sphere; she is not saying they are the borg; she is talking about the ones following the dark side who escaped, crash landed on earth and created Jurassic Park –
    - the council on Dracos as we have heard from E T Cory and others – yes they [the dark ones] want amnesty, yet it has to do with negotiations, mediations at the higher levels of these councils around this universe.
  - the lockdown still in place – no one escapes from the 3rd rock from the sun –
    - has to do with the story here - the melanin, the gold dust - next part of The Golden Compass to come out soon [info came from Tom the Cat]
    - starts where it left off with the war of the witches is about to inter play: has to do with the ancient stories of the mother goddess – like Marie La Voux of the ancient city of New Orleans, voodoo goddess, not black and evil but ancient black mother goddess, Mother Zudiachus, Mother Africa – Marie La Voux knew how to play the game and is still here; the spirit of that black madonna gotta do with what happening here with Mother Haiti
    - why did they hit Haiti with Matthew? Wanted to take out the black goddess, yet not gonna happen – she rises out of the ashes like the phoenix
    - this is why she says: keep your eye on the prize: Michelle for President
- T: Bernie knows all this and they have been pow-wow-ing about this: she brings up the large barber of Atlanta, GA - Killer Mike & interview with Bernie; Killer Mike came on Bill Maher
- M/A: it is about this story - when we can walk our own 'hoods, we don't need hoodies and we get to be with our homeies – using an ancient language here!
- it is that we are all equal: the rainbow bridge of these warriors of the Rainbow Bridge is already arriving: the gatherings have already begun, and the highlanders have already returned: all the immortals –

- this is why Putin is very much playing his cards close to the chest – not telling anyone what he'll do with his missile silos – yet he knows the game: NO NUKES
- We play this out with mediation, negotiation; we have to take a quantum leap and trust, even if it means . . .

T: yet he will not let the west get away with their murderous activity and the motivation for their murderous activity in Syria where over 600,000 people are dead . . .

M/A: NO and this is all courtesy of the empire here [U S]

T: about reading The Dalai Llama report – it's an important thing

M /A: With all due respect, twitter and facebook are not bad things, yet when you got your head buried in a small screen & you're hooked up to the machine

- the millenials are taking it to the next level yet, at the same time, it is about tuning in to the artificial intelligence that is coming at the level of the processor chip
- it is just like this crystal sphere - when you interact with the processor chip which is silica; we are silica, one and the same; when we get on that vibration and telepathically interact with that chip, it will override its programming from Bill Gates, whether it is a Mac or a PC:
- a little piece of advice, folks: Bill Gates ain't got nothing on the silicon chip because it is connected to Lord Ashtar's mother board on the bridge of The New Jerusalem, and Bill Gates does not control that mother board – Lord Ashtar and Admiral Sananda do.
- When the word is given, all the silicon chips – including the one in the little box T & R have – is going to answer to the amino acid computers on the ships surrounding the planet, and they will get their orders from that main frame
- it is about the change over of consciousness that is happening; the baby ones coming in, the rainbow crystal children, know this and they talk to them in their language – making sounds, colours, lights and thoughts

Tara reads the following: 2015-11-28 More Hard Hitting Words From The Dalai Lama About The Mass Brainwashing Of Society [SEE BELOW]
Listen to the podcast for the comments they both make on the Dalai Lama's words

M/A: In response: the time is now that everything comes forth of how we take the wisdom we have been given by the nature of the electrons, the protons, the particles around us, that are completely sentient, saying "Join us in this quantum field of love because love is the answer: law of vibrational energy."

- It is this place in which we have asked to join in unity consciousness with all of the universe, and as some of the electrons are not functioning in the right way, they cancel themselves out. Can't put it any plainer than that:
- it is this time in which she has returned with the Nibiru, with the blue avians, the sphere alliance, the Hathors, so many different groups
- all she is saying is "give peace a chance" because whether we know it or not, that is the order of the day that has already been ordained. As they come in and introduce new ways of being and having moments of ecstasy and joy – it's not about tearing each other apart, but creating everlasting light and love, joy.
- What we have at this time are so many windows to our way in which we never have to travel down the zig zag path to nowhere; we've been given the keys to immortality at exponential levels: living gods and goddesses of the most high and this is the order of business
- as the ancient brotherhoods and sisterhoods who have been here forever - like M/A - begin to have more conversations with the great minds of all of us across this planet, there will be peace and it is already happening within the consciousness of the electrons she talks of.

- The universe in and of itself is a very orderly place: she says it as it is: no nukes yet they are playing the game out for the conclusion, as it has to be told where they who came from the stars, just like we came from the stars – we are all one family
- how we share this story of excellent news and ecstasy, joy, peace and love - like His Holiness has said; gotta change the hearts, the minds.
- When we can see there is no reason to take up the sword or the ancient fire sticks and she can say with absolute integrity:
- Dr Keshe knows what he's talking about as he deploys what needs to be deployed - we are going to be figuring out how to do this with dialogue, discussion, mediation -beating each other over the head with broken furniture ain't gonna cut it.
- The first thing we gotta do is that we are all family, and the skin colour does not make a hill of beans of difference – we may have a tail, and we may have a tale to tell and we are all beautiful, all joyous, ecstasy, gorgeous beings of joy and love – and diversity within consciousness - this is what makes the magic happen!

M/A: she says something in a different language; they do some toning

- we have the power; use it with the greatest wisdom we have in our hearts: use it with love and peace as our teachers John and Yoko taught us: Namaste - imagine all the people

Both: Greetings in the Light of the Most Radiant One! Kadoish kadoish, kadoish

R: has been to Fortress of Solitude to look in the crystals; everything is looking bright & beautiful

PLEASE LISTEN TO THE PODCAST FOR THE NEXT SEGMENT: THE CALLER BRINGS UP MANY POINTS THAT ALL LISTENERS THINK ABOUT THOUGH MAYBE DON'T PURSUE WITH THE SAME INTENSITY

Ro via phone: Why were they allowed to instigate war in the first place? Why has it gone this far ?

T: the answer is that they are us, and we are them; Mother said she'd let us do whatever we wanted except for one thing: she would not intervene – we wanted to do the experiment without any intervening from them – the only condition was

- The Prime Directive: Unless and in case of nuclear or psychic holocaust, then . . .

Ro: then let us not blame the humans for the wars – it was the instigators, the outsiders

- the instigators are also human: 95 to 99% & of all beings from every time space continuum have Human DNA
- a pashat is a lion

Ro: he's talking about the dragons, the ones with holograms, that shape shift, that weren't born here

- they are not holograms. And no one is from here in the first place, and there are lots of good dragons
- we were all – all the dragons, all the people - all angels together & we still have the angelic [part of us] - we just choose to ignore it -
- there is no such thing as separation – those guys were not invited, nor were we we said: forced or not, squabble or not – in the beginning, 1/3 of all of us joined them, trillions and trillions of us; some of us were tortured and joined them, as we did not want to be tortured
- there is nobody saying they are one thing: we've all been good, bad and ugly
- we have played as much a role as them: when we said instead of fighting them, we'd join them: when we were hippies and flower people, we decided to get into the markets and the hedgefunds and make lots of money
- So we all did something which helped get us into this situation – let he who is without sin cast the first stone
- we can't measure big or little – evil is evil and little white lies can lead to big stuff.

- These kids grew up watching their parents kill the children of other parents - let's not judge at this point: we are equal to Mother: there is no such thing as anything being less than Mother

- there are varying stages of remembering who we are; all beings have sentience and that's a fact: a book called The Stone Child where even a stone can be a mother to a child!
    - This is a big lesson: we are all one; therefore, we are responsible for this entire drama – there is no one who is not responsible -
    - It is important that we have to get this as this is the first time in 450 billion years as one divine, human race, we are going to hold each other accountable with love
    - this has never been done before – it has never been that they [galactics] will save us - they can be our back up and they can get stronger with being back up: when Mother Earth says help, they started adding energies, as opposed to throwing people out – it's about increasing the energies and we can help ourselves by doing something easy - like opening our hearts – which is not so easy as it sounds
  - she said it's none of our business who goes where, when, and how: our business is to be where we are right now and get active & call out what needs to be called out and link consciousness, and live in the place where we can live peace from the inside out!
    - It's like when R asks something that will change the timelines they say this is none of your business as we are not allowed to change the timelines!
    - The connection R has with Faction 3 White Knights is very helpful and he is the only person who has this connection without a gag order; everyone else has gag orders – Katrina vanden Heuval talks to KOS all the time, as does Stephen Cohen but they have gag orders
    - We all have a role to play and for heaven's sake, judge not - which is difficult, seeing the evil of what is going on now– if we get caught in the rage and the decision-making about who has to go and who not – does not help: our job is to hold people accountable
    - build it and they will come: the 'build it' part is really important - literally, they are already here and as we open our hearts . . .
    - Rama talked to a person on Thom Hartmann's show: the voice of Angelique will be changed and she will be on the show – have her call the show: this is called building it
    - Ro is a total empath which means he is overcome at times and there are lot of us like that
- Ro: this is so: he is still working on Praise, Respect, thank and love piece!
- We are all being pushed: the debacles we are watching are horrific and at the same time we are being pushed – it's both / and
  - we are moving more and more to an equalitarian society about which we know little as the brutishness of society is at the depths right now!
  - we all created this together and those of us with white skin have no clue about how much white privilege there is on the planet with its undercurrents of judgment of those with coloured skin

The Nobel Peace Prize 2016 Juan Manuel Santos

The Nobel Peace Prize for 2016

The Norwegian Nobel Committee has decided to award the Nobel Peace Prize for 2016 to Colombian President Juan Manuel Santos for his resolute efforts to bring the country's more than 50-year-long civil war to an end, a war that has cost the lives of at least 220 000 Colombians and displaced close to six million people. The award should also be seen as a tribute to the Colombian people who, despite great hardships and abuses, have not given up hope of a just peace, and to all the parties who have contributed to the peace process. This tribute is paid, not least, to the representatives of the countless victims of the civil war.

President Santos initiated the negotiations that culminated in the peace accord between the Colombian government and the FARC guerrillas, and he has consistently sought to move the peace process forward. Well knowing that the accord was controversial, he was instrumental in ensuring that Colombian voters were able to voice their opinion concerning the peace accord in a referendum. The outcome of the vote was not what President Santos wanted: a narrow majority of the over 13 million Colombians who cast their ballots said no to the accord. This result has created great uncertainty as to the future of Colombia. There is a real danger that the peace process will come to a halt and that civil war will flare up again. This makes it even more important that the parties, headed by President Santos and FARC guerrilla leader Rodrigo Londoño, continue to respect the ceasefire.

The fact that a majority of the voters said no to the peace accord does not necessarily mean that the peace process is dead. The referendum was not a vote for or against peace. What the "No" side rejected was not the desire for peace, but a specific peace agreement. The Norwegian Nobel Committee emphasizes the importance of the fact that President Santos is now inviting all parties to participate in a broad-based national dialogue aimed at advancing the peace process. Even those who opposed the peace accord have welcomed such a dialogue. The Nobel Committee hopes that all parties will take their share of responsibility and participate constructively in the upcoming peace talks.

Striking a balance between the need for national reconciliation and ensuring justice for the victims will be a particularly difficult challenge. There are no simple answers to how this should be accomplished. An important feature of the Colombian peace process so far has been the participation of representatives of civil war victims. Witnessing the courage and will of the victims' representatives to testify about atrocities, and to confront the perpetrators from every side of the conflict, has made a profound impression.

By awarding this year's Peace Prize to President Juan Manuel Santos, the Norwegian Nobel Committee wishes to encourage all those who are striving to achieve peace, reconciliation and justice in Colombia. The president himself has made it clear that he will continue to work for peace right up until his very last day in office. The Committee hopes that the Peace Prize will give him strength to succeed in this demanding task. Furthermore, it is the Committee's hope that in the years to come the Colombian people will reap the fruits of the ongoing peace and reconciliation process. Only then will the country be able to address effectively major challenges such as poverty, social injustice and drug-related crime.

The civil war in Colombia is one of the longest civil wars in modern times and the sole remaining armed conflict in the Americas. It is the Norwegian Nobel Committee's firm belief that President Santos, despite the "No" majority vote in the referendum, has brought the bloody conflict significantly closer to a peaceful solution, and that much of the groundwork has been laid for both the verifiable disarmament of the FARC guerrillas and a historic process of national fraternity and reconciliation. His endeavors to promote peace thus fulfil the criteria and spirit of Alfred Nobel's will.

2016-06-29 The Billionaire Pedophile Who Could Bring Down Donald Trump and Hillary Clinton

Editor's note: This article has been updated to reflect the withdrawal of Virginia Roberts Guiffre's allegations against Alan Dershowitz and the striking of the allegations from the court record by a federal judge.

Trump's supporters have long wondered whether he'd use billionaire sicko Jeffrey Epstein as ammo against the Clintons—until a lurid new lawsuit accused The Donald of raping one of Epstein's girls himself.

For Jeffrey Epstein and his famous friends, the Aughts were a simpler time, when the businessmen, academics, and celebrities who counted themselves among the playboy philanthropist's inner circle could freely enjoy the fruits of his extreme wealth and connections.

Epstein's little black book and flight logs read like a virtual Who's Who: Bill Clinton, Donald Trump, Larry Summers, Kevin Spacey, Prince Andrew, and Naomi Campbell all hitched rides on Epstein's private planes. Socialites and distinguished scientists went to visit Epstein's island in St. Thomas, and cavorted at epic dinner parties at his palatial townhouse—then the largest privately owned residence in New York, as he liked to brag. There, they picked at elaborate meals catered by celebrity chefs like Rocco DiSpirito, marvelled at Epstein's opulent decor, and noted the pack of very, very young model-types with whom Epstein always seemed to surround himself.

But a darker story was going on underneath the glamour. In 2008, Epstein was convicted of soliciting sex from an underage girl and quietly paid settlements to scores of alleged victims who said he serially molested them. But the girls kept coming out of the woodwork—in 2014, another young woman filed a lawsuit claiming that Epstein used her as a sex slave for his powerful friends—and that she'd been at parties on his private island with former President Clinton.

And just last week, yet another "Jane Doe" filed a suit in New York accusing Epstein and Donald Trump of raping her at a series of sex parties when she was only 13.

Trump has denied Jane Doe's claims and his reps have said he barely knew Epstein—even though New York media in the '90s regularly chronicled his comings-and-goings at Epstein's Upper East Side palace, and even though Epstein had 14 private numbers for Trump and his family in his little black book. Meanwhile, Bill and Hillary Clinton have remained mum about their ties to the Palm Beach pedophile—despite evidence that shows Bill was one of the most famous and frequent passengers on Epstein's "Lolita Express" and that Epstein donated money to the Clinton Foundation even after his conviction.

For months, talking heads have wondered whether Trump would use Epstein and his girls as a weapon against Bill and Hillary Clinton.

Now, with the latest federal lawsuit against Trump himself, it seems the notorious financier has become a serious liability for both campaigns.

Less than a year before Florida police began investigating Jeffrey Epstein for the alleged rape and abuse of scores of young girls, the questionable billionaire responded to a call on Edge—an online club where navel-gazing intellectuals and academics meet to pose questions to one another—for a “bit of wisdom, some rule of nature... that you’ve noticed in the universe that might as well be named after you.”

“Epstein’s First Law,” he wrote, “Know when you are winning.”

“Epstein’s Second Law: The key question is not what can I gain but what do I have to lose.”

What the 63-year-old Ralph Lauren lookalike had to lose was his perverted double life. According to law-enforcement officials and alleged victims, between the years 1998 and 2007—and possibly even earlier—he ran a particularly vile pyramid scheme that involved paying minors around $200 at a time to perform sexual massages nearly every day and then recruit even younger girls to do the same. (“The more you do, the more you are paid,” one said.) During these massages, girls as young as 13 told police they were instructed to get undressed. Epstein would masturbate or penetrate them, they said—with his finger, or a vibrator, or his allegedly egg-shaped penis.

By the time Epstein was arrested in 2008, police in Palm Beach County, Florida, had already spent months monitoring his movements, rifling through his trash, and interviewing potential victims and witnesses. Police reported to prosecutors that they had gathered enough evidence to charge the money manager with several felonies: lewd and lascivious molestation and four counts of unlawful sexual activity with a minor. Epstein’s freedom, his wealth, his little black book full of famous folk—including princes, presidents, and prime ministers—all were seemingly at stake.

So Epstein did what the mega-rich do in these situations: hired star attorneys Gerald Lefcourt and Alan Dershowitz, who defended their client vigorously, reportedly having witnesses followed and discrediting the alleged victims by offering their MySpace pages as evidence of supposed drug use and scandalous behavior.

Prosecutors said Epstein’s dream team made successful prosecution unlikely. “Our judgment in this case, based on the evidence known at the time, was that it was better to have a billionaire serve time in jail, register as a sex offender, and pay his victims restitution than risk a trial with a reduced likelihood of success,” U.S. Attorney Alex Acosta explained in a 2011 letter.

And so, despite a decade of alleged serial sexual abuse and rape of an unknowable number of girls, some as many as 100 times according to court filings, the notoriously secretive financier was offered a deal. For the alleged systematic victimization of young girls—most of whom were plucked by Epstein’s assistants from Palm Beach’s poorer neighborhoods and groomed to adore or acquiesce to him—he was slapped with a 2008 conviction on a single charge of soliciting a minor; and sentenced to an 18-month stay in a Palm Beach county jail—of which he served only 13 months and was allowed to leave six days out of every week for “work release.” He also agreed to a few dozen confidential, out-of-court payoffs to his accusers, the most recent of which was finalized in 2011.

Epstein’s “potential co-conspirators,” as the U.S. Attorney called them—women who allegedly procured girls for Epstein—also received immunity from prosecution as a condition of the 2007 agreement that enraged the local police force for its leniency. As of 2015, according to The Guardian, two of these women had changed their names, and were operating businesses out of a building owned by Epstein's brother, where it was alleged in court documents that Epstein had housed young women.

Though Epstein must register as a sex offender for life, and arguably suffer the world's most revolting Google presence, he has seemingly retained his collection of elite academic and media friends as well as his fortune. Since his release in 2009, Epstein has gone about his business, running a mysterious money management firm (clients unknown, income unknown, investments and activities unknown) from his private 70-acre island in the U.S. Virgin Islands and spending time at his Uptown stone mansion. The palace was gifted to Epstein, some say, by its previous owner—Epstein's guardian angel and the founder of The Limited Inc., Leslie Wexner.

From his plush perch, Epstein continues to dismiss any notions that he should be viewed as the child rapist that victims and Florida police say he is.

"I'm not a sexual predator, I'm an 'offender,'" he told the New York Post in 2011, shortly after a New York judge classified him as a level 3 offender, or "a threat to public safety."

"It's the difference between a murderer and a person who steals a bagel," Epstein said.

But for the wealthy and famous in Epstein's orbit, his conviction has meant suspicion by association.

In December 2014, just as the Palm Beach lawsuits were winding down, another alleged victim emerged and her claims were salacious: Epstein, she said, had loaned her out as an underage sex slave to his famous friends—including Britain's Prince Andrew and Epstein defense attorney Dershowitz (both men denied the charges). Coming forward in Britain's Daily Mail in 2011, Virginia Roberts Guiffre—called Jane Doe #3 in a related lawsuit (PDF)—claimed that Epstein and his "girlfriend," alleged madame Ghislaine Maxwell, forced her to have sex with the pair's powerful pals and gather intel that Epstein could later use. In court documents, Guiffre testified, "Epstein and Maxwell also told me that they wanted me to produce things for them in addition to performing sex on the men. They told me to pay attention to the details about what the men wanted so I could report back to them."

Guiffre noted that Epstein appeared to be collecting information on Prince Andrew—particularly on his alleged foot fetish—and claimed, "Epstein also trafficked me for sexual purposes to other powerful men, including politicians and powerful business executives. Epstein required me to describe the sexual events I had with these men presumably so that he could potentially blackmail them. I am still very fearful of these men today."

A judge threw out Guiffre's motion in 2015, but Guiffre stands by her claims and is suing Ghislaine Maxwell, whom she claims acted as Epstein's madam.

Meanwhile, the men named by Guiffre seem eager for her to go away. "It's as if I've been waterboarded for 15 months," Dershowitz told the Boston Globe after the settlement of a defamation case related to Guiffre's claims. "This has taken a terrible toll on my family, on my friends..." Buckingham Palace has also denied the allegations against Prince Andrew, calling them "categorically untrue."

UPDATE: This April, Giuffre's lawyers withdrew her allegations against Dershowitz and said that it was a "mistake" to have filed the accusations in the first place. A federal judge later struck her allegations against Dershowitz from the court record. At Dershowitz's request, Louis Freeh, the former head of the FBI, also conducted an independent investigation of her claims and published a statement noting, "Our investigation found no evidence to support the accusations of sexual misconduct against Professor Dershowitz."

In her lawsuit, Guiffre had claimed that during trips to Epstein's private island, she'd also encountered another very famous person: former President Bill Clinton. Guiffre alleges the former U.S. president visited Epstein's "Orgy Island" when there were underage girls present, but added that she never had sex with him and never saw him have sex with any of the young women.

Still, it's these sorts of allegations that have journalists and Clinton-haters circling. Just last month, pundits on MSNBC's Morning Joe were speculating about Bill Clinton's oft-discussed friendship with Epstein and whether it would be the go-to play for a Trump campaign looking to combat Hillary Clinton's claims that Trump is bad for women.

Requests for comment to Hillary Clinton's campaign and the Clinton Foundation were not returned.

The former president, who flew on the "The Lolita Express" at least 26 times from 2001 to 2003, has never addressed his ties with Epstein, a onetime major Democratic donor, according to Federal Election Commission records, who also gave millions to the Clinton Foundation even after his arrest for abusing underage girls. "I invest in people—be it politics or science. It's what I do," Epstein has reportedly said to friends.

"There's a 100 percent chance [Trump] is going there," said former McCain strategist Steve Schmidt on Morning Joe, referring to Clinton's friendship with the pervy moneyman.

Still, Trump may not want to actually "go there" in light of the new federal lawsuit against him.

Just last week, Trump's own connections to Epstein made headlines when a Jane Doe claimed that the presumptive Republican nominee and his financier pal raped her on several occasions when she was 13 years old.

The allegations are explosive. And the circumstances surrounding them are very, very strange.

According to the complaint, filed in a Manhattan federal court, one of Epstein's assistants approached Jane Doe as she waited for a bus at the New York Port Authority terminal and offered the teenager money and contacts that could lead to a modeling contract if she came to a party at Epstein's house. Jane Doe says she attended several parties at Epstein's Upper East Side mansion, and supposedly had sexual contact with Donald Trump at four of them. The fourth and final time she attended a party with Trump, she alleges he tied her to a bed with pantyhose, raped her, then beat her and threatened to kill her and her family if she told a soul.

This is the second time the woman has brought a suit against Trump and Epstein. The first, which she filed herself this April in California using the name Katie Johnson, was dismissed for failure to bring a claim under the civil-rights law under which she had filed suit. Calls to the phone number listed on the original suit were never answered, with no way to leave a voicemail. The plaintiff's reported address in Twentynine Palms was a one-bedroom, one-bath home belonging to 72-year-old David Stacey, who had died on Oct. 9, and public records show no evidence of a Katie Johnson living at the property. Neighbors told RadarOnline that squatters had overrun the home while Stacey was hospitalized, and a real-estate agent reported the home had been turned over to the bank by April.

“The allegations are not only categorically false, but disgusting at the highest level and clearly framed to solicit media attention or, perhaps, are simply politically motivated,” Trump told RadarOnline, responding to the original lawsuit. “There is absolutely no merit to these allegations. Period.”

The new complaint charges that Trump’s denial amounts to defamation. This time, Johnson also has a declaration from a woman who claims to be a corroborating witness, known in the suit as Tiffany Doe. According to her statement, Tiffany was 22 when she lured Johnson to Epstein’s home and witnessed Johnson’s alleged rape firsthand.

Johnson has a number of non-anonymous supporters, though it’s a cast of characters who do little to allay Trump’s assertion that her claim was brought solely to influence the election.

According to a lengthy article on the site Jezebel, some eight months before Johnson filed her California lawsuit against Epstein and Trump, a man named Al Taylor—who claimed to be the “PR person” for something called the Erotic Heritage Museum in Las Vegas—reached out to a reporter at Gawker to shop a video recording of Johnson and her rape story. Taylor, who identified himself to The Daily Beast as “a friend” to Johnson, claims to have met her at a party where she revealed her alleged childhood assault by Trump. In a video published in part on Jezebel, a woman claiming to be Katie Johnson appears—wearing a blond wig, her face pixelated and her voice disguised. In it, she details the allegations of rape.

When The Daily Beast asked Taylor for a copy of the video, Taylor suggested it was still for sale. “I heard it would be worth $1 million,” Taylor said, claiming the proceeds from the sale would go to Johnson’s protection.

“We’ve got her in hiding,” he said.

Taylor has coincidentally been the subject of Epstein-related news before. In 2011, Taylor, at first freelance producing for The Jerry Springer Show then working alone, claimed to have made a million-dollar deal with Casey Anthony for an interview after the Florida woman’s acquittal in the murder of her 2-year-old daughter. When the interview didn’t happen, Taylor retained the services of Spencer Kuvin, a Palm Beach lawyer who also represented three Epstein victims. Taylor says he met Kuvin during an attempt to interview his Epstein clients. They settled with Epstein out of court and declined to be interviewed by Taylor.

But Taylor wasn’t the only party working to get the tape and Katie Johnson’s story to the media. According to Jezebel, Steve Baer, described in National Review as “a conservative activist and major, if secretive, donor to the conservative movement,” lobbied their reporter to publish Johnson’s claims. Baer is also, according to Jezebel, the father of Chandler Smith, an Ohio woman who happens to be the co-founder of an organization called Vote Trump Get Dumped, a campaign that urges ladies to withhold sex from Trump supporters. “Until Trump is defeated, we don’t date, sleep with, or canoodle with Trump supporters,” the group’s manifesto reads.

When Johnson’s case was thrown out in California, Taylor says he began looking for an attorney to file a new case for his “friend.” They approached Brad Edwards, the lawyer who has represented a number of Epstein victims through settlements—and who is now representing Virginia Roberts Guiffre in her claim against Epstein’s former girlfriend Ghislaine Maxwell as well as four alleged victims in the case against the federal government.

"I will say I've never represented [Johnson] and I won't be representing her," Edwards told The Daily Beast.

Edwards couldn't comment on the conversations he had with Johnson or her representatives, citing attorney-client privilege. Concerning Trump's involvement in Epstein's illicit affairs, Edwards said he hadn't seen any evidence that would implicate the GOP nominee and described Trump as "extremely helpful and honest," during questioning.

When Edwards declined to take the case, Taylor told the website GossipExtra they were shopping for representation. That's how Johnson's current attorney, Tom Meagher, says he found his client.

Meagher is a patent attorney in New Jersey who openly admits, "I've never taken on accusations like this," but says he was drawn to Johnson's story and believes her "100 percent." In an effort to get media attention for Johnson's case, Meagher attended a May fundraiser in Lawrenceville, New Jersey—thrown to pay off the debt incurred by Chris Christie's failed presidential campaign, and one at which Donald Trump spoke. Described as "a protester" by a local reporter, Meagher confirms he was removed by security after holding up a sign that read: "Ask Trump About Katie Johnson."

"I don't have a view on the race," Meagher now tells The Daily Beast. "I did before the matter, but now I'm apolitical so I can focus on my client."

Concerning the timing of the lawsuit, Meagher says: "Of course, she does not want her rapist to be president."

Despite several requests, The Daily Beast was not able to speak with Katie Johnson or Tiffany Doe. When asked whether any evidence of their claims existed outside of the Doe declarations, Taylor said Tiffany kept a journal of Epstein contacts. "She has all the goods," Taylor said, but would not elaborate and said future names would only be released in response to a scandal on par with Donald Trump's political ascent.

But Mike Fisten, a retired Miami-Dade homicide detective who worked as a private investigator in several Epstein-related cases, is skeptical about the new claims.

Fisten says Epstein had in effect two lives: "a business life and deviant pedophile life." To find out which friends were involved in which life, Fisten carried a book with photos of Epstein's contacts. In hundreds of interviews with hundreds of witnesses, he said no one has ever identified Trump as being involved in any kind of sexual activity with underage girls. In fact, Fisten recalls learning in the early 2000s that members of Trump's private Palm Beach club, Mar-a-Lago, complained that Epstein was often accompanied by very young girls—"a different girl every week"—each of whom he would refer to as "his niece." Fisten says he offered to look at Tiffany Doe's book to vet her free of charge, but Taylor and Meagher declined.

Emails to the Trump Organization and the campaign for this story were not returned, but Trump's attorney Alan Garten has repeatedly denied any relationship between his client and Epstein, other than Epstein's Mar-a-Lago membership.

Still, it's clear that Trump's association with Epstein runs deeper than just pool days at Mar-a-Lago.

"I've known Jeff for 15 years," Trump told New York Magazine in 2002. Calling him a "terrific guy," Trump continued, "He's a lot of fun to be with. It is even said that he likes beautiful women as much as I do, and many of them are on the younger side. No doubt about it—Jeffrey enjoys his social life."

According to a 2003 profile in Vanity Fair and New York gossip rags that covered the goings-on of Epstein and his famous friends in the late '90s, Trump would attend dinner parties at the 71st Street mansion. In April 1999, The Mail spotted Trump among the guests at a dinner Epstein threw in honor of Prince Andrew. In 2000, they reported he attended a "hookers and pimps" Halloween party. New York magazine reported Trump's attendance at a 2003 dinner party thrown in honor of Bill Clinton. Magician David Blaine entertained the "barely clad models" with card tricks, but Clinton never appeared.

"I often see Donald Trump and there are loads of models coming and going, mostly at night," a neighbor told The Mail on Sunday in 2000.

Then there is the black book, in which Epstein lists 14 phone numbers for Trump, including ones for his future wife Melania. Police evidence shows Trump has called Epstein, flown on Epstein's plane, and eaten in Epstein's Florida home.

Garten did not return a request for comment on these connections.

"Mr. Trump's only connection with Mr. Epstein was that Mr. Epstein was one of thousands of people who has visited Mar-a-Lago," the Trump attorney told a BuzzFeed reporter in 2015. "That's it. Mr. Trump has NEVER been accused of having any involvement or even having any knowledge of any of Mr. Epstein's conduct by anyone."

That was true until last week. And while the media has been hesitant to report on Katie Johnson's accusations, stories have emerged in recent days in outlets like the New York Daily News and Gothamist and more may be in the works: Johnson's attorney says he taped an interview with ABC News and sources spoken to for this story said they had been contacted by other national news organizations.

Johnson will likely have her day in court, but—perhaps ironically, given Trump's habit of "just asking" about conspiracy theories while claiming he's not endorsing them—the veracity of her claims may not matter. True or not, they bring to light a number of disturbing questions about Epstein and his pre-Palm Beach days—ones both Hillary Clinton and Donald Trump will likely have to address.

2015-11-28 More Hard Hitting Words From The Dalai Lama About The Mass Brainwashing Of Society

Arjun Walia      <http://www.collective-evolution.com/2015/11/28/more-hard-hitting-words-from-the-dalai-lama-about-the-mass-brainwashing-of-society/>

The 14th Dalai Lama of Tibet is always garnering a lot of attention, and for good reason. Most recently, he told the world that simply praying is not the answer for the incident that occurred in Paris, as well as other similar atrocities that seem to happen all over the globe. He stated that humans have created this problem, and now we are asking God to solve it, which makes no sense. If we created this mess, we should be the ones to solve it, not God. His comments went viral, resonating with many people around the world who realize that action on a mass scale is required at this time to change the direction in which our planet seems to be headed.

Intertwined with the Paris attacks are the realities of war, and there is a great piece written on the Dalai Lama's website regarding the mass brainwashing of human beings. This is something we touch upon regularly on our website, especially when it comes to incidents of terrorism and war, along with the creation of these groups who are carrying out these attacks all over the world. He writes:

Of course, war and the large military establishments are the greatest sources of violence in the world. Whether their purpose is defensive or offensive, these vast powerful organizations exist solely to kill human beings. We should think carefully about the reality of war. Most of us have been conditioned to regard military combat as exciting and glamorous – an opportunity for men to prove their competence and courage. Since armies are legal, we feel that war is acceptable; in general, nobody feels that war is criminal or that accepting it is criminal attitude. In fact, we have been brainwashed. War is neither glamorous nor attractive. It is monstrous. Its very nature is one of tragedy and suffering. (source)

This (above) statement really hits home. If you think about it, these vast and powerful organizations, and the military in general, "exist solely to kill human beings." As the Dalai Lama touches upon, we are conditioned and made to believe that military service is something to be proud of. Sure, these men and women may be entering into the service in order to serve their country, with a tremendous amount of bravery and good hearted intentions going into that decision, but what they do not know is that this global war on terrorism is a complete fabrication. The enemy they are made to believe they're defending their country from is actually a product of their own country. As Dr. Michel Chossudovsky, University of Ottawa's Emeritus Professor of Economics, tells us, the global war on terrorism is completely fake and based on fake premises. Soldiers have been brainwashed into thinking that they are going after an enemy and defending their own country when that same enemy is fully supported and financed by the Western military alliance. As the Dalai Lama argues, this is exactly why "we feel that war is acceptable," because we are made to believe it's a necessary course of action.

He then goes on to state that:

Modern warfare waged primarily with different forms of fire, but we are so conditioned to see it as thrilling that we talk about this or that marvelous weapon as a remarkable piece of technology without remembering that, if it is actually used, it will burn living people. War also strongly resembles a fire in the way it spreads. If one area gets weak, the commanding officer sends in reinforcements. This is throwing live people onto a fire. But because we have been brainwashed to think this way, we do not consider the suffering of individual soldiers. No soldiers want to be wounded or die. None of his loved ones wants any harm to come to him. If one soldier is killed, or maimed for life, at least another five or ten people – his relatives and friends – suffer as well. We should all be horrified by the extent of this tragedy, but we are too confused. (source)

The extent of this brainwashing is quite massive, and if we are going to stop the murder of other human beings and war in general, it is that 'brainwashed' soldier that needs to wake up. It is a human being pulling the trigger, it is a human being giving the orders to do so, and it is a human being thinking that they are doing something good. We are the reason war exists in the first place; we created it, we participate in it, and we prolong it. Just imagine what would happen if every human being on the planet refused to participate in war? This is why we say change needs to come from within, and as more soldiers wake up to what's really happening here, more of them will simply refuse to go to war.

“No matter how malevolent or evil are the many murderous dictators who can currently oppress their nations and cause international problems, it is obvious that they cannot harm others or destroy countless human lives if they don't have a military organisation accepted and condoned by society.” (source)

Some of these soldiers that are used by their corporate/big bank puppetmasters are starting to wake up and speak out. Linked below is an article that provides two excellent examples, with some shocking information that many people are still waking up to (graphic footage warning).

“Horrible & Numbing”: Chilling testimony from U.S. Air Force Drone Operator On His First Kill”

As far as this manufactured global war on terrorism, you can check out this article, among others:

Professors & Politicians Gather To Warn Us About The New World Order

The Dalai Lama then goes on to speak about how expensive war is. This is something many people think about – the fact that the money pumped into the military and the Department of Defense in the United States (including the black budget) could completely alleviate poverty and hunger on our planet. That being said, money is made out of thin air, typed up on a computer screen and printed at will by the controlling elite.

We are talking about, as ex Canadian Defense Minister Paul Hellyer points out, “trillions, and I mean thousands of billions of dollars” that “have been spent on projects which both Congress and the Commander in Chief know nothing about.” Welcome to what president Eisenhower called the military industrial complex where, as he warned us, the rise for misplaced power exists and will persist. What would he say about what's happened today?

The point is, if we are going to use money as a tool, why not take that money and allocate it to provide food, shelter and clothing for everybody on the planet? The defense expenditures of a couple of countries alone could do this no problem.

“We should feel fed up with the violence and killing going on around us. If a human being is killed by an animal, it’s sad, but if a human being is killed by another human being it’s unthinkable. We have to make a special effort to think of each other as fellow human beings, as our brothers and sisters.” – Dalai Lama (source)

Thank you Dalai Lama for having the courage to share such an important message with the world. You can read his full article HERE.

The Reality of War      <http://www.dalailama.com/messages/world-peace/the-reality-of-war>

Of course, war and the large military establishments are the greatest sources of violence in the world. Whether their purpose is defensive or offensive, these vast powerful organizations exist solely to kill human beings. We should think carefully about the reality of war. Most of us have been conditioned to regard military combat as exciting and glamorous - an opportunity for men to prove their competence and courage. Since armies are legal, we feel that war is acceptable; in general, nobody feels that war is criminal or that accepting it is criminal attitude. In fact, we have been brainwashed. War is neither glamorous nor attractive. It is monstrous. Its very nature is one of tragedy and suffering.

War is like a fire in the human community, one whose fuel is living beings. I find this analogy especially appropriate and useful. Modern warfare waged primarily with different forms of fire, but we are so conditioned to see it as thrilling that we talk about this or that marvelous weapon as a remarkable piece of technology without remembering that, if it is actually used, it will burn living people. War also strongly resembles a fire in the way it spreads. If one area gets weak, the commanding officer sends in reinforcements. This is throwing live people onto a fire. But because we have been brainwashed to think this way, we do not consider the suffering of individual soldiers. No soldiers want to be wounded or die. None of his loved ones wants any harm to come to him. If one soldier is killed, or maimed for life, at least another five or ten people - his relatives and friends - suffer as well. We should all be horrified by the extent of this tragedy, but we are too confused.

Frankly as a child, I too was attracted to the military. Their uniform looked so smart and beautiful. But that is exactly how the seduction begins. Children starts playing games that will one day lead them in trouble. There are plenty of exciting games to play and costumes to wear other than those based on the killing of human beings. Again, if we as adults were not so fascinated by war, we would clearly see that to allow our children to become habituated to war games is extremely unfortunate. Some former soldiers have told me that when they shot their first person they felt uncomfortable but as they continued to kill it began to feel quite normal. In time, we can get used to anything.

It is not only during times of war that military establishments are destructive. By their very design, they were the single greatest violators of human rights, and it is the soldiers themselves who suffer most consistently from their abuse. After the officer in charge have given beautiful explanations about the importance of the army, its discipline and the need to conquer the enemy, the rights of the great mass of soldiers are most entirely taken away. They are then compelled to forfeit their individual will, and, in the end, to sacrifice their lives. Moreover, once an army has become a powerful force, there is every risk that it will destroy the happiness of its own country. There are people with destructive intentions in every society, and the temptation to gain command over an organisation capable of fulfilling their desires can become overwhelming. But no matter how malevolent or evil are the many murderous dictators who can currently oppress their nations and cause international problems, it is obvious that they cannot harm others or destroy countless human lives if they don't have a military organisation accepted and condoned by society. As long as there are powerful armies there will always be danger of dictatorship. If we really believe dictatorship to be a despicable and destructive form of government, then we must recognize that the existence of a powerful military establishment is one of its main causes.

Militarism is also very expensive. Pursuing peace through military strength places a tremendously wasteful burden on society. Governments spend vast sums on increasingly intricate weapons when, in fact, nobody really wants to use them. Not only money but also valuable energy and human intelligence are squandered, while all that increases is fear.

I want to make it clear, however, that although I am deeply opposed to war, I am not advocating appeasement. It is often necessary to take a strong stand to counter unjust aggression. For instance, it is plain to all of us that the Second World War was entirely justified. It "saved civilization" from the tyranny of Nazi Germany, as Winston Churchill so aptly put it. In my view, the Korean War was also just, since it gave South Korea the chance of gradually developing democracy. But we can only judge whether or not a conflict was vindicated on moral grounds with hindsight. For example, we can now see that during the Cold War, the principle of nuclear deterrence had a certain value. Nevertheless, it is very difficult to assess all such matters with any degree of accuracy. War is violence and violence is unpredictable. Therefore, it is better to avoid it if possible, and never to presume that we know beforehand whether the outcome of a particular war will be beneficial or not.

For instance, in the case of the Cold War, through deterrence may have helped promote stability, it did not create genuine peace. The last forty years in Europe have seen merely the absence of war, which has not been real peace but a facsimile founded dear. At best, building arms to maintain peace serves only as a temporary measure. As long as adversaries do not trust each other, any number of factors can upset the balance of power. Lasting peace can assure secured only on the basis of genuine trust.
