

Understanding White Magic

Starting in November 2006, a re-emergence of bodies of white magic is taking place. Great gifts to restore to humanity its magical birthright have been given. The various mystical kingdoms have participated in this dawning of an era of magic among men by sharing with us their precious secrets.

The greatest sources of mysteries and magic have been found in the hidden libraries of the earth. The Isis libraries opened their secrets in December 2006. The libraries of the order of the White Dove opened not quite a year later in September 2007. Others have followed in the succeeding months.

Yet man has had trepidations about embracing these gifts. Perhaps it is because over eons magical powers have been abused. Or perhaps an innate knowing that the magic that has always been available to man was communicated from a tainted source and exacted a price. It is time now for us to understand the vast difference between first and second ring magics so that these prejudices can be released.

*“A day shall come when magic is restored
When man again shall have what was his before”*
(From the 13th plate in the White Horse Libraries)
