

Help us create a clever and captivating title for our new travelling exhibition

As the AMMC workshop in Echuca approaches (18-19 October 2018), we would love to collectively bring everyone's minds together to come up with a catchy, clever and captivating title for an exciting new travelling exhibition. You can also go into the draw to win a grant of up to $250 towards the next AMMC workshop in Hobart in February 2019.

The travelling exhibition by the AMMC and the Australian National Maritime Museum will explore the legendary relationship between Australians and their boats. With over 36,000 kms of coastline, it's no surprise that Australia's history is populated with tales from the sea and maritime stories.

This exhibition will delve into some of the lesser known, personal stories and explore people's unique connections with seafaring vessels. The content is diverse: we may feature special boats for special places and the people that build, operate and keep them; leisure craft; and the coast and sea in Indigenous culture; or any story that portrays the special relationship between a person, a boat or a town.

We need a title for the exhibition which embraces all the themes, boats and stories which are likely to feature once we gather them together. So creative hats on AMMC!
