[Hospital has been sued for letting people go home too soon and then fall again]

T: asking KOS about Obama fast-tracking the TPP; repeated he knows what he is doing

- they are flushing out all the foxes in the hen house: it will all work out

R: Blackwater: got a new name [The Academy]; Eric Prince is scot free somewhere

- this is what he means by private armies: corporations hire them to do their bidding
- ethnic cleansing is going on globally

T: talks in Brussels about ending the Mediterranean immigration crisis:

- There is no political will to help the people who are risking their lives to get out of Libya
 - they are considered a work problem, not a crisis that would warrant their being classified as refugees
 - the work problem has to do what the US and the rape, pillage, & plunder of the natural resources in the country they escaped from – all carried out by US black ops

Tom the Cat: an absolute fiasco what is going on in Congress

- wouldn't it be interesting if a team of White Knights showed up at Shelly Adelson's Republican Primary event this weekend in Las Vegas; Bush Jr to speak for $250,000 from Adelson; if they showed up with phasers and said "on the floor! Sread 'm, GW!"

- KOS: confirmed – a picture of Lord James of Blackheath in the Ben Fulford Report $15 trillion fraud

- Egyptian ships
- Israeli planes involved
- MORE & MORE SHIPS COMING OUT OF THE VORTEX, AN INTERDIMENSIONAL PORTAL –
 - they are coming from the ORT CLOUD, a constellation on the edge of our solar system, just going into interstellar space
- Because our planet is in lock down, the only ships that can come in are those that are 15 MILLION TO 100 MILLION YEARS IN ADVANCE OF our technological abilities
- In 2006, it was already activated; the G20 had their ships there & they were parked for years
- It was the same time as the earth was expanding its mass: it is more than 25,000 miles around the equator!
- 1/3 of the Antarctic Ice Field had already fallen off & was melting and thanks to the expansion of the earth, there was more room for the water to spread around.

Guest: Bevonne Birch Crookston <https://www.facebook.com/bevonne.birch>

- how our handwriting can empower us or change things in a way we might not think possible
- Also has essential oils

B: will start with handwriting: changing handwriting can change things in our lives

- 1622 – the first handwriting book appeared; had much to do with artists
- In 18
- some graphologists look at whole sentences, others at the slant of the writing
- She began studying in 2003 – took the class and was told if you don't change your handwriting, you will die as there is no energy going to the heart
 - Because she went to Hawaii when she first started studying graphology and had no access to computers, she had to write all the exercises by hand – gave her much opportunity to change the way she wrote.
 - Even changing a little stroke can make a difference.
- Can study graphology in art, sculpture, painting as well as in handwriting.
- Even if you lose your hands and use your feet or your mouth to write, it will still reflect what - you are like because it is the sub-conscious mind that tells you how to form the letters.

- She asks us to write 4-5 sentences as well as the numbers from 1 – 10, plus your signature
- When people print, it's about having no connection with other people. Writing cursively allows you to flow in and out of people's lives
- Schools have stopped teaching cursive writing: kids are independent, want to do what they want, don't know how to interact with others
- There are 10,000 + neurons in the brain that you use when you write – if you don't use them, you can fall into road rage, depression or even alzheimers. If you type, there are only about 8,000
- Also involved is pressure when writing
- the size of the handwriting
- Most important is the slant – walks listeners through various slants and meaning of them
- To call in: 888-429- 5471 toll free # in US and Canada

A slant – straight up and down

B slant - 4* slant to the right: still in the head and the heart – good counsellors, friends, neighbours – can make decisions and get along well.

C slant - 120* to the right – taught in schools because it makes you accept what the teacher says; what you read in a book, you'll believe

D slant – even further to the right: the drama queens – quick temper and then they want to be forgiven; can't believe you might still be affected by what the person said – they let the emotions out; easily influenced, emotional decisions – live in turmoil and chaos; affectionate, friendly, easily jealous; money is the driving force

E slant – really close to the line – totally emotional – will do anything to be noticed. Health, relationship, financial problems. Heart rules the head; high strung; difficulty getting along with almost anyone.

F slant – making letters a bit backwards – don't want others to know what they are feeling

- cannot make decisions for self but can for others;

Straight up and down: the military slant – walks stiffly; emotions held in tightly until they just blow; the A & F slant anything

T: asking for further explanation of slants oration

- Still left handed, about 4* - Every 2 weeks, fills a 5 ring binder of notes – it's her work!

B: When you write a lot, it's good for the frontal lobe of your brain!

T: has been doing this since 1996

- when you write and you're happy, your letters are a little larger, and smaller when you're sad – how you feel affects your handwriting. If angry, if you write with a heavy handwriting, have a lot of energy to get rid of – writing can be heavy. Light hand writing: kind of flighty Looking for medium weight – helps us feel better.

T: had a medium blue colour and always uses the same pen & its refills;

- Her penmanship stays at about the same size
- she likes her work – uses big writing and underlining when she wants to emphasize

Zone and writing

- When you write a letter, there are letters that go up high – t , l, b, etc
- Want letters up high into the thinking, letters in the middle and down below the line which is the physical and how you get things done. need to close ? Off

L going up is into thinking area – helps with creativity, hopes dreams middle area: emotion – the feeling letters; when you open an e, you are open to good things coming into your life bottom area: lower level – closing the g, bring

T: about the vimil presentation of the alphabet – she changed her penmanship after

- always cross your t at the top
- look at the t and see where it is crossed: wherever it crosses shows where your emotional hurts are & you haven't been able to release that.
- t has to do with self-esteem: it's who you are: if it is crossed low down, you have been hurt sometime – one person was affect by a teacher who shamed her; as she crosses her t in an upward slant that means she has let go of it

T: makes sure that the line you cross a t with is straight across

- if you cross it straight, won't get rid of past stuff – need to slant it up a bit
 - once you are over the issues, can make it straight
- LH of a word is the past; RH of the word is future
- Capital I is the most important letter you write:
 - In the 70s, the teachers taught us to change the way we wrote it
 - When you make your capital I is backward, your life is turned upside down & backwards
 - sometimes she sees people using lower case I – don't know who you are
 - she knows the hurting they will go through
- To get out of stress: the push-pull – do a page of this to help you go to sleep
- to improve your memory by 75% - make 50 small letter is and then a dot, an i then a dot – helps you learn how to pay attention
- On the O make sure there are not extra loops there – worry going on!

Caller: a book, website?

B: Yes: change your handwriting, change your life – on amazon
Bivonne Birch Crookston. Also has a DVD – will send the book and the DVD for $25 including shipping – USE THE E-MAIL TO GET IN TOUCH WITH HER.

Closing

- to drop resentment
 - make the capital C without loops too
 - Capital E – should look like a backwards 3 – the loops have to do with different kinds of resentment
- Capital I to a Y and a T – helps you know who you are, move forward in life

HARD NEWS

- Dr Warren Einstein, an aid worker who had been taken by the CIA -duh, and Giovanni Porto near the border of Afghanistan; the drone program killed them
 - this is the Black Ops opting to not do due diligence with intelligence
 - also Ahmed Farouk and Adam Gadon – a combination of “I don't care”, unreliable intelligence and “take your best potshot” drone strike
- She reads what Obama said publically about the strike

T: wants to acknowledge what the President said

- Yesterday, Rama went to see RanaMu up the mtn at Dept of Energy
 - they walked through a portal in her office to Delhi, India; there was a protest of farmers going on whose crops and land & lives had been ruined by Roundup; Rama watched a man hang himself from a tree because he could no longer care for himself & his family

R asked RM why she had brought him there: I brought you here so we could bless the situation

- as soon as his body stopped jerking, they saw a light emanating from his solar plexus & his heart Chakra, a light brighter than the noon day sun; all the other protestors saw it too
- the sphere of light moved towards all of them; we could hear him ask like an inner voice: "Am I not in my body anymore?"

RM: "yes, you are no longer in your body". Then a shaft of light opened in the sky and came to him. "Rashiff, follow that shaft of light; it will take you to the Anterres Arcturus Midway Station"; he did as RamaMu said and the shaft of light closed behind him

- Some of the others called an ambulance and brought his body down from the tree & tried to revive him; they went with his body to the hospital
- then RM and Rama returned to Santa Fe and her office

R asked RM if Obama was being black-mailed lately

RM: yes, it's coming from the Bush/Clinton crime family; the reason is he has evidence the size of Mt Everest against both the Bushes and the Clintons:

9/11; Waco, TX; Oklahoma City bombing; the murder of the clone of Chandra Levy; the taking of huge bribes; murder of Vince Foster; the Keating Savings and Loans scandal; the murder of Kathleen Willey's husband; the murder of 20 admirals and generals by taking out their plane on their way to arresting Clinton for treason - a trail of dead bodies, at least 300 or more

- with the WESAK festival energies coming in now, this May 3rd and with the people's participation and ceremonies around the event, this can change everything;
 - they want to just use Project Bluebeam – let's call in Ashtar and the Command: as above, so below; no more lies, no more false flags
- we are witnessing myriads of star ships enter our planet from the spinning vortex in Gulf of Aden waters; though it appears that the ships are appearing from the sea, they are really coming in from interdimensional entrance portal of the ORT Cloud

INFORMATION RELATED TO THE NOTES

2015-04-20 US Corporate government goes bankrupt on April 17th, refuses to acknowledge Benjamin Fulford

The UNITED STATES OF AMERICA CORPORATION based in the Washington D.C. extra-territorial enclave inside the Republic of the United States of America failed to make a payment on March 31st and was given until April 17th to come up with the goods but was unable to, according to Chinese government and CIA sources. For that reason the US corporate government has gone bankrupt, the sources say. However, the folk in Washington do not plan to go quietly and are still fighting to survive.

This can be confirmed in the corporate propaganda and government news wires around the world in reports about the Washington IMF/World Bank meetings that ran from April 16-18. The news reports to the general public do not mention the word bankruptcy but rather say things like 19 out of the 20 so-called G20 countries are angry that the US will not give up its veto over the World Bank and IMF. In other words the US government has been publicly repudiated by leaders of 19 out of the 20 top economies.

The current US situation reminds of an old joke my mother told me about a woman watching a military parade and shouting proudly "look my son is the only one marching in step."

Underneath the surface too, there is a lot of spy movie type subterfuge going on involving high denomination bonds, identity theft, murder and secret negotiations as various players jockey for position in the emerging new financial system.

A new set of meetings between the White Dragon Society and Chinese communist government representatives last week ended with a basic agreement that China was to get a 20% voting share in the new system and that China would not be seeking world hegemony. There was a lot of other stuff discussed that cannot yet be made public for security reasons but involve a plan to seriously help the vast majority of humanity.

There were also negotiations involving the WDS and representatives of Iranian, Chinese, Japanese and Korean royal families. In each case, the genuine heirs to historical gold fortunes told the WDS many of their relatives had been murdered and that they also feared for their lives. In several cases cabal members were caught trying to pass themselves off as genuine Korean, Persian, Chinese etc. royals, according to Japanese military intelligence and other sources. A representative of the Japanese emperor, Akihiko Yamaguchi, who was wrongly arrested in Chiasso, Italy and had billions of dollars worth of bonds stolen from him, also told once this writer that at least 4 different people had been caught trying to impersonate him at financial institutions.

The story that all these different sources tell is that Khazarian gangsters acquired the rights from various royal families around the world to use their gold as backing for huge denomination financial instruments. As mentioned before in this newsletter, Lord Blackheath discussed one such case in detail at the House of Lords in England in 2012. For those of you who have not yet seen his testimony, please take 11 minutes of your time and watch it at this link:

Lord James of Blackheath $15, 000, 000, 000, 000 exposed – Feb 12, 2012

https://www.youtube.com/watch?feature=player_embedded&v=eL5hqvTWkYg

What Lord Blackheath discusses is the use of 700 tons of gold owned by an Indochinese royal to fabricate 750,000 tons worth of gold backed certificates that were used to create $15 trillion that was used to bail out the Federal Reserve Board after the Lehman crisis of 2008.

Now, other Royals are coming out of the closet with their paper certificates theoretically worth trillions of dollars that were issued to them by the same Khazarian or Federal Reserve Board con-men as Lord Blackheath mentions.

The Persian/Iranian royal heir claims to have $45 trillion worth of such bonds. Two of this heir's brothers, his parents and many other relatives have been killed by the Khazarians to prevent them from either cashing the bonds or claiming their rights to the dynastic gold that underwrites these bonds, the Persian royal claims.

In addition, a Manchurian/Korean/Chinese royal family has produced detailed documentary evidence that they handed over their gold to the Americans before and during World War 2 in exchange for a promise it would be used to create a Korean, Manchurian, Chinese federation. Instead, the gold was used to fund the post war Marshall Plan that rebuilt Europe and Japan but left everybody else out in the cold.

To put it another way, the post war prosperity of the US and Europe was financed with gold that was fraudulently obtained from ancient mostly non-European royal families. These families have been asking for their gold back and, it was the failure to come up with the gold that led to the bankruptcy of the US corporate government on April 17th. The European royals, for their part, have reached an accommodation with their counter-parts in the rest of the world and that is why England, France, Germany, Italy, Switzerland etc. agreed to ignore the US corporate governments' objections and join China's proposed Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank

We also have on the record public confirmation from IMF head Christine Lagarde that big money is about to be released. Here is what she said at last week's IMF meeting in Washington:

"The Asian Infrastructure Investment bank is ... the new kid on the block to actually respond to a massive need that is out there, which is infrastructure financing. People are talking not billions, they're talking trillions needed to finance infrastructure in Asia.

"So if that institution is there to finance vital needs, that will push growth... and we can cooperate. If we can work together, that is excellent news. We are ourselves very supportive of this prospect, and we will happily cooperate and contribute to the extent helpful to this new institution."

In other words, she is drooling at the mouth at the prospect of the IMF getting a share of some of the "trillions" that is about to be released. World Bank head Jim Yong Kim also drooled at the prospect of the World Bank getting in on some of the expected new action that will come when these trillions are returned to their rightful owners.

With this as background, we can understand why there has been so much radical activity taking place in the US recently. One such story was the plan announced by the NORAD military command to reopen the mothballed Cheyenne military base under the Rocky mountains to prepare for "an electromagnetic pulse attack."

<http://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-3031041/Why-military-moving-Stargate-base-deep-Rocky-Mountains-decade-abandoned.html#ixzz3Wod66mbE>

The fact they have publicly announced they will reopen this base confirms that the newer underground bases built near Denver, Colorado, Washington D.C. and elsewhere have been seized by the white hats and taken out of cabal control.

There has also been a lot of speculation about why a bunch of Walmart stores located near US military bases have been suddenly shut down.

<http://money.cnn.com/2015/04/16/news/companies/walmart-closing-plumbing/>.

CIA sources say there are underground bunkers being built under these stores for the elite to hide in. However, a pentagon source says the Walmarts are being prepared as distribution centers for food and other essential products in preparation for a shut down and reboot of the banking system. Time will tell which of these sources is telling the truth.

The other odd event is the New York Federal Reserve Board's plan to move most of its essential functions to Chicago. We have previously noted that the Chicago Fed has been filling its windows with concrete. We have also noted the US Treasury department has been stocking up with water purifiers, emergency food stocks, emergency blankets etc. This is hardly the sort of material needed during an ordinary financial crisis.

However, please do not get paranoid just because the Feds are; this is not the end of the world but rather the end of the fraudulent fiat money world. For the 99.99% of us humans, this will be a time of great liberation from ancient Hyksos debt slavery.

2001-04-14 Sufi tokers and the green saint

April 23 is the feast day of Khizr, Islam's patron saint of cannabis.

By Chris Bennet

Cannabis has a tradition of use in the Near East that stretches back farther than recorded history, and it has served the Arab people as an initiator and healing medicine for at least six millennia.

Unlike alcohol, cannabis was not prohibited by Mohammed (570-632 AD). Many Moslems have used and praised marijuana over the centuries, and coffeehouses that served the drug were at one time commonplace. Some have even suggested that Mohammed himself was a secret imbiber of the herb, noting the prophet's shamanistic out of body flight to Mecca.

In his 1988 book Essays in Islamic Heresy, Peter Wilson writes how "cannabis inspires some of its devotees with precisely the sort of 'state' which the Koran appears to associate with paradisaal wine, which 'causes no headaches,' and enhances the play of love with houris and cup-boys."

In his 1987 book The Assassins; Holy Killers of Islam, Edward Burman writes that "hashish has an ancient and accepted importance in the history of Persian mysticism, where it has traditionally been used not as a stimulant but as a spiritual soporific, producing a quiescence of the soul which is known as keyf or kaif, which translates as intoxication, carouse or placid enjoyment..."

Although it is generally prohibited in Islamic countries today, at different times many Moslems have seen cannabis as a holy plant. Medieval Arab doctors considered cannabis a useful medicine, calling it kannab among other names. Yet like the establishment of today, the ancient Arab elite viewed marijuana with suspicion, seeing it as a subversive element that usurped the work ethic and seduced the youth away from their orthodox heritage.

As early as the 13th century, government troops in Cairo were sent into battle against cannabis, eradicating fields and punishing offenders, in some cases extracting the teeth of users and putting dealers to death. Yet despite these harsh reforms, the public refused to give up their beloved keyf, and through intervening centuries it became somewhat culturally accepted.

The hippies of the Arab world

Part of the reason for cannabis' eventual prohibition in some Moslem countries had to do with the drug's association with certain heretical sects that existed on the fringes of Islam. The Sufis were one such group ? they originated in the 8th century and are referred to by cannabis historian Ernest Abel as "the hippies of the Arab world." The Sufis used hashish, along with wine and coffee, to stimulate mystical consciousness and appreciation of the nature of Allah.

(The Sufis are actually considered to be the inventors of the drink coffee, which they would consume in potent brews that enabled them to stay up for hours singing and chanting. An Arabic story records how a wandering Sufi revealed the drink's preparation to a Moslem woman, brewing a pot over his hash-filled hookah.)

Cannabis was made into a chewy medicinal confection called ma'joun and, to the Sufis, eating hashish was an act of worship. The benefits they claimed from their use of hashish included otherwise unattainable insights into themselves, as well as laughter, happiness, reduced anxiety, reduced worry, and increased music appreciation. But most importantly, as the Sufi al-Is'irdi noted, was the "secret" of the drug, which permits "the spirit to ascend to the highest points in a heavenly ascension of disembodied understanding." It was for this reason that many of the more mystically inclined of the Sufi preferred cannabis over wine.

In Essays in Islamic Heresy, Wilson explains that "The Turkish Sufi poet Fuzuli... wrote a treatise on Bang and Wine in which he claimed that wine is merely 'an eager disciple setting the world afire,' but hashish is the Sufi master himself. Wine shows the way to the hermitage of the Shaykh of Love... but hashish is the refuge itself. Once a certain Sufi of Basra began to consume hashish regularly, his shaykh realized this meant he had reached the ultimate degree of perfection, and no longer stood in need of guidance. This (says Fuzuli) 'proves that hashish is the perfect being, sought after by mankind with great eagerness. It may not be the perfect being for everybody, but it most certainly is for the seeker of mystical experience.'"

Shayk Haydar, Sufi hash-head

According to legend, hashish was first introduced to the Sufis by Shayk Haydar, (1155-1221), the Persian founder of one of their religious sects. The story has it that after years of silent recluse, Haydar one day decided to leave his monastery. While walking in the desert, he noticed a plant that seemed to sparkle and shiver as it basked in the still desert heat. Wondering what this mysterious plant was, he felt compelled to taste of its leaves and flowers.

Usually a reserved and silent man, when he returned to his monastery afterwards, his disciples were amazed at how talkative and animated he seemed. Cajoling Haydar into telling them what he had done to make himself so happy, his disciples ran off into the desert to try the magical plant for themselves.

Upon the return of the plant's new devotees, Haydar made them take an oath to refrain from revealing the mystery of the herb, telling them "God has granted you the privilege of knowing the secret of these leaves. Thus when you eat it, your dense worries may disappear and your exalted minds may become polished."

After living another ten years as the Sufi's psychedelic shaykh, subsisting mainly on cannabis preparations, Haydar passed on, leaving the request that seeds of his holy plant be sown around his tomb, so that even in death he might enjoy the shade of its leaves and scent of its flowers.

The Green Prophet

With this history, it is not surprising to find that cannabis had its own mythical prophet in the Arab world, as noted by Joseph Campbell over a century ago, in his epic 1894 study for the Indian Hemp Drugs Commission, On The Religion of Hemp: "To the follower of Islam the holy spirit in bhang... is the spirit of the great prophet Khizr, or Elijah." That bhang should be sacred to Khizr is natural, as Khizr means green, the revered color of the cooling water of bhang. So the Urdu poet sings "When I quaff fresh bhang I liken its color to the fresh light down of thy youthful beard."

Islam inherited Khizr from many earlier myths, as can be seen from stories that associate him with such luminary figures as Moses and Alexander the Great.

By medieval times he came to represent the type of esoteric knowledge which breaks the trance of everyday existence through shock, usually in the form of outrage, laughter, or both at once.

Wilson explains that Khizr was seen as "the initiator of Sufis who have no human master." In the 1990 book Green Man, William Anderson describes Khizr as "the voice of inspiration to the true aspirant and committed artist. He can come as a white light or the gleam of a blade of grass, but more often as an inner mood. The sign of his presence is the ability to work or experience with tireless enthusiasm beyond one's normal capacities."

In his 1993 book Sacred Drift, Essays on the Margins of Islam, Peter Wilson writes "When you say the name of Khezr in company you should always add the greeting Salaam aliekum! since he may be there... immortal and anonymous, engaged on some karmic errand. Perhaps he'll hint of his identity by wearing green, or by revealing knowledge of the occult and hidden. But he's something of a spy, and if you have no need to know he's unlikely to tell you. Still, one of his functions is to convince skeptics of the existence of the Marvelous, to rescue those who are lost in deserts of doubt and dryness. So he's needed now more than ever, and surely still moves among us playing his great game."

Originally a sort of vegetation spirit in whose footprints plants and flowers were said to magically sprout, Wilson explains that "nowadays Khezr might well be induced to reappear as the patron of modern militant eco-environmentalism? Khadirian Environmentalism would rejoice simultaneously both in [Nature's] utter wildness and its 'meaningfulness.' Nature as tajalli (the 'shining through' of the divine into creation; the manifestation of each thing as divine light), Nature as an aesthetic of realization."

With the wealth of esoteric lore, environmental products and medicines sprouting from the renaissance of his beloved cannabis, it seems that Khizr is once again trying to communicate to humanity through his most holy of plants.

Interestingly, there are legends of Khizr in which he is dismembered and reborn. As well, certain prophecies connect him with the end of time and the revealing of esoteric truths.

April 23

The Green Prophet Khizr's feast day is April 23. On April 23, 1993, when Vancouver experienced its first major smoke-in since the 1971 Grasstown Police Riot, the organizers of the event had absolutely no idea that this was the feast day of the patron saint of cannabis.

On April 23, 1997, when the Senate of Canada proudly released an announcement stating: "Senator Lorna Milne... today praised the Senate Finance committee for persuading the government to expedite regulations permitting the cultivation of hemp in Canada," the politicians were unaware of the implications of this most auspicious day.

On April 23, 1999, a government-appointed panel in Switzerland officially recommended that the government legalize the sale and use of Khizr's sacred plant.

Another curiously synchronistic example is found in the works of pot-smoking gnostic guru Robert Anton Wilson. In Wilson's newest Illuminatus book, Bride of the Illuminatus, he has an event take place in Vancouver, BC, on April 23, 2003, that leads to North America splitting into Christian and Non-Christian States.

Perhaps in these coincidences one can see the handy work of Khizr, the spirit of keyf working behind the scenes and speaking through his holy plant on his sacred day? So this April 23, why not take a moment to plant a seed, or light a sacred spliff in honour of pot's patron saint?

Salaam aliekum Khizr, wherever you are!

2013-01-21 An interdimensional vortex in the Gulf of Aden

<http://www.utaot.com/2013/01/21/an-interdimensional-vortex-in-the-gulf-of-aden/>

A strange report prepared by Admiral Maksimov for Prime Minister Putin of the Russian Northern Fleet indicates that a 'mysterious magnetic vortex' currently centered in the Gulf of Aden has "defied" all the combined efforts of Russia, U.S. and China to stop it, without being able to determine its exact origin or reason for being. "

Gulf of Aden is one of the busiest waterways in the world. Located in the Sea Oman between Yemen, on the south coast of the Arabian Peninsula, and Somalia in the Horn of Africa, it sees over 21,000 ships sailing in its waters every year.

According to this report, U.S. scientists began noticing the "formation" of this vortex in late 2000, after the Americans had established a base of operations on the Horn of Africa, Djibouti, the capital and largest city of the Republic of Djibouti. After the attacks of 9/11, Djibouti became the home of the Combined Joint Task Force Horn of Africa (CJTF-HOA), which is a joint task force command of the United States in Africa.

Following have remained "relatively stable" since its discovery in November 2000, the vortex gulf of Aden began to "expand" in late 2008, says the report, which prompted the United States to issue a special warning world about this mysterious event. In response, many nations rushed with their naval forces in this area: the Australian Royal Navy, Belgian Navy, Bulgarian Navy, Canadian Navy, Peoples Liberation Navy (China), Royal Danish Navy, the French Navy, German Navy, Greek Navy, Indian Navy, the navy of the Islamic Republic of Iran, the Italian Navy, Japanese Navy, Navy of the Republic of Korea (South Korea), the Royal Malaysian Navy the Royal Navy, my Navy Netherlands, Pakistani Navy, Portuguese Navy, the Royal Saudi Navy, the Russian Navy of the Republic of Singapore, the Spanish Navy, Swedish Navy, Royal Navy Thai, Turkish Navy, British Royal Navy and the Navy of the United States.

Under the pretext that these Naval Forces were needed to protect the Gulf of Aden from Somalia pirates, Admiral Maksimov states in this report that accumulation is the largest of its kind in human history and that Russia is "prepared" to join the Americans in what world leaders consider an attack on our planet by "forces" previously unknown, but described as being "inter-dimensional" or "extraterrestrial."

From earlier last month, this report continues, the Gulf of Aden vortex began an "extraordinary" series of "expansions" that for the first time since its discovery were preceded by earthquake activity. It is important to note that the estimated 40-60 earthquakes occurring in the Gulf of Aden last month are also the first to have occurred in this region in modern history.

This report also all these earthquakes have ranged between 4.5 and 5.4 on the Richter scale and almost all are on or around 10 km depth and are "strangely" linked in timing to the mysterious "reappearance" of the South Equatorial Belt of Jupiter [which] "disappeared" last May.

Though the information contained in this report is blacklisted from all major world media there can not be said of alternative news sites; some have speculated that the Gulf of Aden vortex may very well be a "Stargate" opening our world to a dimension and / or world about which we know nothing.

Another remarkable coincidence, or rather 'synchronicity' is that this series of earthquakes (in the stargate) fell on the same day the Time Wave Zero webbots and both have shown a "tipping point"

A Chinese website (Dawni) said about this "stargate" that existential rumors connect the Norway spiral and the appearance of the Stargate in the Gulf of Aden. From December 9, 2009, a spiral of blue light, as generated by computer suddenly appeared in the sky over northern Norway.

Approximately one month after the spiral magnetic field mass appeared in the Gulf of Aden and opened a wormhole or "Stargate." Rumor has it that the military supposedly there to fight against Somali pirates are actually studying distant galaxies through the Stargate to a distance of a million light-years.

Professor Wang Sichao of the Astronomical Observatory of the Purple Mountain, an authority on UFO research in China, said that the theory of the phenomenon: "Stargate" is not credible. There is no basis in astronomy or the facts. "

But also Maksimov said in its report that, since the recent earthquakes on our planet and frequent the jet stream in the northern hemisphere is "nearly collapsed" plunging vast regions of the world into chaos weather.
