Hard News

T: the new arrangement with the rent is that it must be paid on the 1st of the month WITHOUT FAIL.
They now have a property management company to pay rent to, not such an accommodating landlady~

- Things have turned around: As Tom the Cat said to Rama, it is 9/11 on them now!!!
- Necessity for rain in California where BBS is

KOE, Dodi: they are still wandering high in the Himalayas

It has been a year or more since R talked to the King of Egypt; has been on a fact-finding mission about the death of KOE's daughter-in-law [Lady Di] – indicted are Bill and Hillary, QE II, all the alphabet agencies in the US and UK [NSA, CIA, MI5, MI6]

R asked KOE about the Rupert Murdoch story – everyone except Andy Coulson got only 18 months

- Rupert threw himself on the mercy of David Cameron and asked him to pull strings
- Cameron is also guilty of mass murder, and Sarkozy is in jail at the moment.

- They said things going on right now are at the end of the story; they are in free-fall freak out.
- He said that Lady Isis is on the planet and will be cleaning house all around the globe
- They read this yesterday “The Return of Isis~; how it will affect you and where you can find her” by Anna Merkaba – imagine you are on the Isis ray & look [SEE BELOW]

R: the story has to do with the 78 programs and what Lady Di knows about St Germain's accounts and the dossier a/c numbers; they are in Lady Di's head, a very safe place.

- This has to do with nailing the 13 families who want to bargain with Mother's wayward children and buy planet earth with a pittance of the entire planet's supply of gold and buy it from the original people:
- the tables have been turned as Mother's people on the Nibiru are not here to bargain, they are here with the Ashtar Command: and earth is not for sale at any price
- it does not matter how much they have or what they want to do, it is in Beloved Ascended master St Germain's hands – THE NEW ATLANTIS IS BEING MADE MANIFEST AND WE ARE THE I AM RACE.
- Revolution, Revelation, Evolution is what is happening things evolving at hyperdimensional level
- all they have left is the FEAR card; all that is going on across the planet is a reflection of that
- they have raised a blatant issue: inequality and a small handful of lifeforms who want to buy the planet and leave the rest in the dust – this is why we have so much help

KOS: everything is ripe for a match to be lit and things to come to a head in a flash point

- Could be Palestine
- Could be the Israeli children who were killed by Netanyahu himself and his black ops and the US black ops – israel is the 51st state of the corporate US state, not the common law state.
- Ashtar has said no nukes, and they are playing with the fuse.

R: Yes, he saw the story on Rumour Mill News:

- Gov of Maine, Rick Scott of Florida; Chris Christie, Gov Kasich and some other governors playing a dirty race game and bring in Nazi Germany: think Mr 19.5* is illegitimate because of his birth certificate & that he is a secret Islamic terrorist! Nothing could be further from the truth.
- they are trying to blackmail him and he has nothing to hide – yet people/lightworkers are confused because Obama has to say what he has to say & is not representing himself:
  - the criminals in Congress are in bed with the Zionist Nazis, Bolsheviks and others
- people like Karl Rove and others are playing with people's emotions: if people find out Obama went to Mars, maybe they will become afraid of a fake alien invasion which is their last card
- So all their other ruses [he's Hitler; he's a terrorist] did not work so they will try the fake alien one? [that he's from Mars]
- playing with people's emotions: America's PDSD due to 9/11 has not been dealt with – our own government did this; no one has gone to jail for this, and 78,000+ people are gone
- The people who did 9/11 were ordered by someone else to do it
- All tied in with PINAC, the Zionists, Khzarians – they are not really Jews at all – they are skin walkers as Richard Mirabel has called them

T: have you told us about the 13 families promising all the reptilian families of the ancient dynasties of the Mid East - the not-nice reptilian Saudis; the reptilian Persian families, the usurpers of the lineage of Persia of the Light; the Bedouin war lords, mercenary tribal dictator types of Syria, Libya, Jordan, Turkey, Egypt, Iraq-

- Iraq has been usurped by the Nazi collaborator Republicans of the US, the Bush-Clinton crime family – Peter King was mentioned particularly:
  - as a Zionist; his work was to cover up the 9/11 crimes;
  - he is part of the homeland gestapo
- Draconian background of family lineages of Armenians, the Kurdistanians, the whole of the middle east. Libya is like North Africa; Lebanon has not-so-nice ones running around – from the church.

- The Syrian story has been conjured up by the US and Israel – Al Asayd not working alone:
- the plan is that the US will get rid of Bashir Al Asayd so they can say the bad one is gone and hopefully no one will find out that the US and Israel are behind the whole operation.

R: supposed to be finished disposing of Syria's chemical weapons – they are loaded on a US ship and taken to the Mediterranean; T says there are devices on the ship, into which the weapons are put and water is applied – takes a while to reduce the potency of the chemicals though they are not 100% clean

T: just learned that Strontium 90 is used to produce the red dye of fireworks.

T: Sept 12, 2013 article from Dalton Cook of nesaranews.blogspot.com

- "This is not a joke: military coup in process in DC: 09.11.2013 "
- the hatred of Obama – Ann De Hart and Kathryn May of Inner Earth are connected to John McAffey of white hats
- T reads bits of it – this has to do with Poofness, Caspar, and others from Faction 2 – all these people consider Obama a traitor

R: has to do with absolute hatred of the First Family; tied into this are Phil Gram and Wendy Gram and the folks involved with the tea party, the dinars and all other issues

- this is a race issue; Goddess Sekhmet has said this will no longer be tolerated on the planet:
- there will be equality for everyone.

T: Mother had her paws on the ground in Egypt with Isis 13,000 years ago

R: has to do with Sarkozy sitting in jail; Blair is next and Cameron & a few others

T reads: "Every 13,000 years on Earth a sacred and secret event takes place that changes everything. Mother Earth's Kundalini energy emerges from its resting place in the planet's core and moves like a snake across the surface of our world."

- This is why this is happening: Why Isis is here, and Mother.

Every 13,000 years on Earth a sacred and secret event takes place that changes everything. Mother Earth's Kundalini energy emerges from its resting place in the planet's core and moves like a snake across the surface of our world. Once at home in ancient Lemuria, it moved to Atlantis, then to the Himalayan mountains of India and Tibet, and with every relocation changed our idea of what spiritual means. And gender. And heart. This time, with much difficulty, the "Serpent of Light" has moved to the Andes Mountains of Chile and Peru. Multi-dimensional, multi-disciplined and multi-lived, for the first time in this book, Drunvalo begins to tell his stories of 35 years spent in service to Mother Earth. Follow him around the world as he follows the guidance of Ascended Masters, his two spheres of light, and his own inner growing knowledge. His story is a living string of ceremonies to help heal hearts, align energies, right ancient imbalances, and balance the living Earth's Unity Consciousness Grid-in short to increase our awareness of the indivisibility of life in the universe. We are all-rocks and people and interdimensional beings-one!" Life may seem to be business as usual, but it is not. We are changing fast ...Remember this for life is going to present stranger things to you in your lifetime, and they all have meaning and purpose ...Only Mother Earth and ancient Maya know what's going to happen." - from "Serpent of Light". *black and white photographs included

T: Stepen Gaskin died on Thursday at 79 years – same day as Paul Horn

- Amy is the only one who announced this
- In 1977, Gaskin founded a community – Summertown, Tennessee [no longer there] – and in 1980, received the Right Living Award [alternative Nobel Peace prize] for founding Plenty International.
- Soy was promulgated as being a splendid food – yet it has anti nutrients that accumulate in the body which rejects the ability of the body to absorb nutrients no matter what you eat. Soy is not a food, but poison for humans. Cows can break down the cellulose

• KOE met Stephen Gaskin once and wanted to help out with a financial donation; Gaskin refused it - maybe he did not trust KOE at the time.

Camp Lovewave: David Icke was on

• talking about current affairs: to this day all that is going on in Iraq and Afghanistan has to do with 9/11 and the stealing of the gold from the towers as part of the down payment for the Annunaki warlords that they think they can bargain with for the price of the planet

R: the planet is not for sale, those who play with the idea of archons and the sons and daughters of god do not realize things have completely changed: we are in Sat Yuga and the goddess is calling the shot!

Dodi: at this time, overall what is happening – as we meditate more and work with the energy of the mighty I AM presence, it changes the dynamics of the story which is why these ones are pulling their hair out – things are always coming to the surface to show how criminal they are.

T: found some info from 2006 – Sophia Small Star www.911mysteries.org www.911weknow.com

911 Mysteries (Part 1 of 10)

Uploaded on 28 Dec 2008

911 Mysteries demolishes the 'official' 911 conspiracy theory more graphically than any movie previously released. See for yourself what really happened in the 3 demolished buildings in the weeks before 9/11. Since 9-11 the American public has shown a "remarkable indifference to being deceived" (George Soros).

But this is changing. As Hugo Chavez put it: "The world is waking up. It's waking up all over. And people are standing up." Millions around the world are realizing that they are being lied to - not in a small, lazy way, but in a big way. It's time to ask hard questions, many of which 911 Mysteries helps to answer. 90 minutes of evidence and analysis, filled with eyewitness testimonials. Point-by-point review of the official story set alongside clear science.

The question is not one of politics or nationalism or loyalty, but one of strict and simple physics. Does steel melt in open air fires? What caused the core to vanish in seconds? No agenda. No finger-pointing. Just the facts and the questions. A story of people: Willie Rodriguez's strange recollection of noises on the 34th floor. Who was up there, bumping around? Scott Forbes' similar story, weeks before the towers fell. Here's how shaped charges slice through steel beams to control the way they fall. For greater clarity, download the movie - or buy a DVD online at www.911weknow.com.

Finally, make sure you don't miss the ending - minutes 1:26-1:30. Absolutely the best part. 911 is a Keyhole into Consciousness. If you make it through to the other side, everything looks different. Do Not Be Afraid. Follow your curiosity, like Alice in the rabbit hole. You are becoming free.

Reading: has found a past article about 9/11 - Bush and Clinton are just puppets of the bigger Khazarian bunch.

• Reads info under the pictures

Look out for the Sun Opposite Pluto (and more) this week! It can be a time of frustration (Moon in Virgo for a couple days too) and bumping heads. One perspective is to try to be as firm and true to yourself as possible and stand up to anyone trying to run your life without running over them! Run that energy like the martial artists who step aside and either let it go or send it back with ease, not strain. With consciousness, all that energy can be used to create good things.... go for it!... Enjoy.... music by <http://chadwilkinsmusic.com>

I am now powerful, upright, and strong,

Max Keiser and Stacy Herbert discuss the central banking model of passing off down-market potato wedges of cheap money for high-end, luxury housing bubbles. No value has been added, no wealth created and yet the fraud continues. They talk about the reverse process of taking the National Health Service in the UK and turning it into a down-market privatized entity. In the second half, Max interviews Jeffrey Sommers, professor at University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee about a new book he's edited with Charles Woolfson called, 'The Contradictions of Austerity: The Socio-Economic Costs of the Neoliberal Baltic Model'. In particular, they discuss the economic miracle that is NOT Latvia and how Swedish bankers are acting as conquistadors in Latvia.

INFORMATION RELATED TO THE NOTES

2014, July 5      Oracle Report      Saturday, July 5 - Sunday, July 6, 2014

First Quarter Moon Phase: taking action, stepping out

Moon in Libra (Moon moves into Scorpio Sunday at 3:33 pm ET/ 7:33 pm UT)

Ruling Mahavidya: Dhumavati (Goddess of Death) and Kali (The Destroyer)

Skill: find beauty

Negative Imprint: control issues, frustration, road rage, shocks

Positive Imprint: balance, liberation, nurturance, integration

Mars moves into aspect with the Eris Point energy this weekend. Mars (Aries) and Eris are twins, the Brother and Sister of the Battlefield. When these two archetypal energies come into aspect, in this case by astrological opposition, a great deal of power is released. It's an alchemical explosion that can bring balance and freedom at the highest octave and chaos and domination at the lowest octave.

When these two energies smash together, battle cries are heard. People naturally tend to voice their opinion in strong ways, especially if there is an injustice or if something has been building just under the surface. Harsh words can be thrown. In general, people can become more aggressive and embattled. Frustration tolerance is lower, particularly for people and situations involving lack of respect and things that are superficial.

The union of these masculine and feminine energies is white hot. It brings people together in beautiful ways and it severs ties between people in surgical ways. Situations that have been weakening feel the force of this, causing them to move farther apart. Situations that have been strengthening become even more closely welded together.

The Moon will empower the Mars-Eris energy. The Moon will oppose the Eris Point on Saturday at 9:50 pm ET (Sunday at 1:50 am UT).

Mars makes exact opposition with the Eris Point on Sunday at 6:00 am ET/ 10:00 am UT. You see how these energies are in effect all weekend. It comes in waves.

Navigating this energy requires insight. Impulsivity is high, so we want to slow down and think twice before speaking or taking action. We tend to be hyper-judgmental, so we want to remember that there are usually two sides to anything that develops under Eris energy - the surface appearance of things and what is actually going on.

Because we are prone to wanting to take action or do something right now, if we do not have a direction or outlet or plan for our time this weekend, we can feel quite wayward. It is not fun to feel compelled to act but not really knowing what to do. In these cases, the best thing to do is not act. Sit tight and wait for the Universe to provide guidance. Don't judge yourself. It is ok to indulge in "not doing" when you don't know what to do. "Not doing" opens up space for change and shift to occur.

Change and shift is the name of the game right now. We have powerful forces in play this weekend to assist us with this and liberate us from what binds us. In the midst of it all, wise owls "feather their nests" - they take heart in the beauty that surrounds them. <http://www.oraclereport.com/blog/>

We begin the month of July with Mercury going direct and lots of planets shifting... Here are some carefully harnessed revelatory insights from the beloved Sarah Varcas and the wise and cosmic Robert Wilkinson.

First from Sarah Varcas from her Astro-Awakenings.uk:

“From June to August 2014 the yearning for greater authenticity is powerfully supported by the cosmos, especially throughout July. Many are conscious these days of a burgeoning restlessness alongside the desire to live a more satisfying life...

“Increasing dissatisfaction with the status quo propels us on a journey of discovery and these three months provide a map to find our way into a more authentic and vibrant existence.

“We are not, however, talking about an ‘off-the-peg’ answer to our dreams. Instead we can receive insight into whether those dreams faithfully reflect the truth of who we are. If not, they may simply reflect naive yearnings for a magical solution when, in fact, our life requires fundamental change not just the odd tweak here and there!

“There is work to be done now, not a magic wand to be waved, but if we truly desire change we now have the chance to embrace it, especially in July when no less than five planets change signs (Mercury, Jupiter, Venus, Sun and Mars), one of them twice (Mercury).

“To see so much change in a single month tells us there are energies around willing us to shift too. In doing so we are not swimming against the tide but being swept up along with it.

“And with an emphasis on planets in Cancer and Leo this month we are encouraged to both establish who forms our true family – be they blood relatives, partners, friends, colleagues or spiritual companions – and how we fit into that family as individuals with our own unique contribution to make.

“The month begins with Mercury stationing direct on 1st, which may come as something of a relief if the previous three weeks have been rather trying! That said, whatever obstacles we have encountered during this time merely show us where we now need to focus our attention, smooth out wrinkles and clarify misunderstandings.

“If we’ve used the past three weeks well, exploring the deeper meaning of frustrations encountered, the outcome will be greater clarity in moving forward, which is never a bad thing!

“If we’ve allowed ourselves to get lost in the frustrations without engaging with their message we may have something of a mess to untangle, but it’s not the end of the world and by 6th July we should be able to see our way forward with greater clarity if we need to.”

“...The 20th and 21st July (GMT) see Saturn station direct and Uranus station retrograde within a day of each other, signalling the beginning of a phase during which external limitations and demands can trigger inner change as we begin to recognize that true freedom exists apart from circumstances not as a result of them.

“Everyone wants the life of their dreams, but everyday reality often falls far short! Sages throughout history have reminded us that true freedom is found within, independent of external conditions and in the coming months we have an opportunity to discover what that truly means. But how do we reconcile this truth with the fact that many situations feel toxic and heavy and we know we need to remove ourselves from them in order to thrive?

“This central challenge of the spiritual path presents itself for deep enquiry now, and is one to which the heavens will return many times in the coming months. The shift in direction of Saturn and Uranus at this point merely signals the beginning of a profound inner shift available to us all if we are willing to enquire deep enough and allow some of the most intransigent aspects of our feelings, beliefs and behaviours access to the penetrating light of self and spiritual enquiry.”

“...we have the opportunity to reflect on just how much of our inner experience is at the mercy of the apparently random nature of life events, and how much is more readily influenced by the fruits of our own spiritual practice and enquiry.

“A spiritual path followed only for its material rewards is no path at all when life intervenes and the unexpected arises. But one which nourishes wisdom, insight and peace in the face of adversity, by default creates a more fulfilling and authentic life, for a peaceful heart sees the potential in the present moment and a clear mind knows how to fulfill it.

“So enjoy July, for it offers many opportunities through which can be born a deeper and more peaceful experience of life.”

And from Robert Wilkinson from his Aquarius Papers:

“This month Mercury... is the ‘herald’ for all that is developing in July. It is very strong and extremely favorable by aspects. Those who can see to the core of things, knowing what the essentials are while preparing to move forward after pruning off excess whatever, will soon find their lives springing forward dramatically...”

“Saturn continues to put a focus on eliminating stagnant feelings and responses, finding appropriate boundaries and a sense of responsibility for our magnetism as we continue to shed various ‘skins of personality.’

“...Saturn in Scorpio continues to help us make choices about what to eliminate, what to regenerate, and how to let go of all that we don’t want nor need to take with us into a future that began to rapidly unfold last July and August around the time Mars conjuncted Jupiter. And as I’ve told you before, when in doubt, you might as well let go, since you cannot hold on to those things anyway.

“Saturn continues to help us see a) how we have shifted our magnetism on relationships since Summer, and/or b) how we need to find a new view or way of understanding the losses and eliminations of the past we’ve been through. Now we’re flowing into a long wave period of finding the right focus to allow inspiring teachings to transform our daily lives...”

“Saturn in Scorpio indicates a period of elimination and regeneration, as well as seeing what to let go of that which no longer works.

“We are finding ways to get focused and clear about what structures are worthwhile and which need eliminating or purifying, and have finished the preliminary stage of a long wave process showing us how to conduct ourselves at a higher social level of interaction. This long-wave transformation time will last through September.”

“Pluto, the Cosmic Purifier, will be in Capricorn for many years...Pluto is now in a zone in Capricorn it hasn’t been in for 250 years, and recently went retrograde at 14 Capricorn. 14 Capricorn is a technique for sorting out what’s valuable and what’s not in our past, so we can find a way to a greater assurance and ‘personal immortality’ (as strange as that concept is!)

“...we are in a time of opening to new ways of viewing how to claim our divine power and express it creatively as we explore the natural laws underlying manifestations, and see Nature Herself as a laboratory where we learn about how our system is constructed.

“We can ‘pierce through appearances’ to see the magic at the core of things, and through a ‘keen vision’ can find or demonstrate a ‘universal living touch.’

“...Since Summer 2013, we’ve found a new dedication to ‘collective values’ we want to uphold and defend, and many have perceived higher goals through a process of ‘self-testing.’ We now flow deeper into that dedication. This will have an impact on the collective atmosphere in August 2014. Withdraw from an old experience so you can regasp reality in another realm, especially when the situation attempts to repudiate your higher ideals.

“Be active in defending and/or maintaining your allegiances ‘through which life has been made worthwhile,’ and by listening to your inner voice, you’ll quicken your Soul’s expression.

“Follow your conscience into a great compassion for yourself and others, and be independent of spirit while courageously rejecting that which would compromise your highest spiritual principles.

“With Saturn in Scorpio, the more you understand how Life itself requires constant elimination of old forms and occasional major restructuring regarding duties, obligations, and ultimate loyalties, the more you make Saturn your friend through embracing its virtues of self-discipline, patience, persistence, understanding, and long range vision. Keep growing into a reflected, illuminated transcendent wisdom that allows your maturity and authority to come forth in potent, focused ways.

“Stay focused on experiencing feelings of deep connectedness with the life that’s all around you as you eliminate the next layers of what you no longer need and move into a new expression of your individuality and/or unique qualities.

“Now that much has ended, we should be experiencing a sense of relief that things are moving forward in a slow but measured pace. And take time to enjoy yourself by seeing how everything is playing the exact part it should!

“Retire with dignity from obnoxious and nasty people and situations, see what’s done and how to release any lingering inhibiting factors, and allow your mind to embrace a new creative vitality! And of course... practice appreciation for what is gone, what is, and what’s to come.”

Transcript

AMY GOODMAN: We are broadcasting from the very windy Swedish city of Visby on Sweden's largest island, Gotland, located about 60 miles off the southeastern coast of Sweden in the Baltic Sea. We're in the middle of an event called Almedalen Week, a week-long political festival perhaps unlike any other in the world. Over 25,000 people are gathering on the island to hear political speeches and take part in seminars. Every Swedish political party is represented here, from the Social Democrats to the Greens to the new Feminist Initiative party.

The name Almedalen comes from a park here in Visby where, in 1968, Sweden's education minister at the time, Olof Palme, stood on the back of a flatbed truck and gave one of the rousing political speeches for which he was renowned. Palme went on to become one of Sweden's most transformative prime ministers, up until his assassination on the streets of Stockholm in 1986. He was shot dead just a week after he gave a keynote speech at the Swedish People's Parliament Against Apartheid in Stockholm. Rumors have swirled for years about the South African government's involvement in his killing.

While the United States considered the African National Congress a terrorist organization, the Swedish government openly funded the group for decades, even though it was banned by the South African government. According to many accounts, Sweden was the largest single source of financial aid to the ANC. Shortly after he was released in 1990, Nelson Mandela came to Sweden on one of his first foreign stops after being released from prison. During an address to the Swedish Parliament, Mandela thanked Sweden for standing in the, quote, "front ranks of the international forces that have fought against the apartheid system."

NELSON MANDELA: We would like to take this opportunity to salute this outstanding democratic institution, the Swedish Parliament, which has stood in the front ranks of the international forces that have fought against the apartheid system. From here has issued legislation which has made an important contribution to the process of securing the international isolation of apartheid South Africa. For many years, you have approved budgets which have enabled this country to extend invaluable humanitarian assistance to the ANC, the democratic movement and the sovereign people of our country. From here, you have provided moral and political leadership, which has inspired many others throughout the world and sustained us in those dark days in prison, when it was impossible even to guess when the terrible night of racial tyranny would give way to a new dawn.

AMY GOODMAN: That was Nelson Mandela about a month after he was released from prison in 1990 after 27 years in the apartheid prisons of South Africa. The Swedish Parliament was the first parliament he came to address.

Well, last night here in Visby, Sweden, one of Mandela's closest associates jailed with him, Ahmed Kathrada, spoke here. Kathrada, who goes by the nickname Kathy, spent 26 years in prison, including 18 on Robben Island. He began by talking about Nelson Mandela's famous statement during his trial in 1961.

AHMED KATHRADA: I remember his words during our trial—sorry. He ended with the words, "I have struggled all my life for a nonracial, nonsexist South Africa. It is an ideal which I hope to achieve. But if need be, it's an ideal for which I'm prepared to die." That was his—in a part of his address to the court. And throughout the trial, the expectation was a death sentence. But in the face of the death sentence, this is how the trial was conducted under the leadership of Mr. Mandela—an ideal for which he was prepared to die.

Our whole struggle was for a nonracial, nonsexist, democratic South Africa. In pursuance of our goals, people of all communities paid the supreme sacrifice. It may not be known, but just to mention a couple of names, we had a person by the name of Ruth Slovo. She went into exile and assumed the position of a professor at the University of Maputo. She received a package from the United Nations. Unknown to her, the passage—the package, rather, went through the South African police. And the South African police planted something in that package. And when Ruth opened that package, it was a bomb. And as she opened it, the bomb exploded, and she died. Now, that was one of many who paid the supreme sacrifice in the struggle for our democracy—people of all communities. I can talk of Dulcie Hartwell—I mean, Dulcie September, rather, who was an ANC representative in Paris. She was assassinated in Paris. There's Saloojee, there's Timol, who were thrown off the buildings of police headquarters and killed.

Ours was historically a struggle for a nonracial, nonsexist, democratic South Africa. That is what sent many people to prison, and that is, for many, many of our colleagues lost their lives and were not alive to see the birth of democracy in our country. So we are 20 years old as a nonracial, nonsexist, democratic South Africa, but we have made quite important strides. Every university in our country is mixed now. Almost every university director is black. And one can go on and on to talk of the progress that has been made towards a nonracial society.

But coming here tonight, it's a great honor to be here because, throughout our struggle, one of our greatest friends were the people of Sweden. They supported us throughout our struggle, whereas other Western countries, many of them, connived with apartheid, connived with the apartheid government. But Sweden, in particular, and other Scandinavian countries stood by us. When our president at that time, Oliver Tambo, got a stroke, it was in Sweden that he was hospitalized. It was in Sweden that he regained his health and was in a position to return to a free South Africa. So I want to once again take the opportunity to thank the people of Sweden for being such close friends of our struggle. We are seeing the fruits of that every day of our lives.

AMY GOODMAN: That's Ahmed Kathrada. He is speaking here in Visby, Sweden, just last night. He was one of Nelson Mandela's closest associates. He spent 26 years in prison, including 18 on Robben Island.

When we come back, we'll be speaking with the head of the Left Party here in Sweden. We'll also be speaking with the head of the Feminist Initiative, a radical feminist group that already has a position in the European Parliament. Will they take a seat in the Swedish Parliament? And we'll speak with Congress member—the former congress member—Dennis Kucinich, who's here at Almedalen in Gotland in Sweden. Stay with us.

2014, July 3 As Neo-Nazis Rally, Sweden Poised for Election-Year Shift of Power Balance from Right to Left

Guests: Andreas Gustavsson, editor-in-chief of the daily Swedish newspaper Dagens ETC.

Sweden is in the middle of a "super election year" with elections taking place for the European Parliament, as well as local and national elections. After eight years of a right-wing government, our guest says the balance of power is set to shift to a red-green alliance between the country's Left Party and Green Party. "There is a lot at stake for a lot of people," says Andreas Gustavsson, editor-in-chief of the daily Swedish newspaper Dagens ETC. He discusses key issues in the election, and recent protests against the Party of the Swedes, a neo-Nazi party whose members oppose immigration and have joined in fighting alongside fascist groups in Ukraine.

Transcript

AMY GOODMAN: This is Democracy Now!, democracynow.org, The War and Peace Report. I'm Amy Goodman. We're broadcasting from the Swedish city of Visby. It's on Sweden's largest island, Gotland. We're in the middle of an event called Almedalen Week. It's a week-long political festival where all of Sweden's political parties gather. It's almost as if, you know, the Democratic and Republican convention in the United States, they were all held together. Twenty-five thousand people have gathered here.

For those who are watching, you can see it is very windy. It is pouring rain. We're hoping it won't be a thunderstorm, but you'll hear the rain hitting against the mic, if that's the case.

And we're joined right now by Andreas Gustavsson. He is the editor-in-chief of a new newspaper, daily newspaper in Stockholm, has come over to the island, as so many journalists have, to cover this unusual week, that has been going on since Olof Palme, the former Swedish prime minister who was assassinated in 1986, came here years before that and just started giving speeches. And so this convention, this festival continues.

Andreas, welcome to Democracy Now!

ANDREAS GUSTAVSSON: Thank you. Thanks for having me.

AMY GOODMAN: Talk about the significance of this event and the journalists who come here, why you come.

ANDREAS GUSTAVSSON: [inaudible] quite a super election year. We have the Parliament, the EU Parliament. We have the national elections, as well, and local elections, all at once, all in the same year. And we've got eight years with a right-wing government. Sweden has totally changed during these eight years. So, there's a lot at stake for a lot of people.

AMY GOODMAN: The name of your newspaper and what it means in English?

ANDREAS GUSTAVSSON: It's called Dagens ETC, which is basically The Daily Etc., the story that continues.

AMY GOODMAN: And so, talk about the critical issues that people are debating now. This, clearly a surge in the polls for what they're calling the red-green alliance—who these parties are?

ANDREAS GUSTAVSSON: First, we've got the biggest party in Sweden, the Social Democrats. They are about 30 percent of the, yeah, electoral base. And then there's the Left Party, which is currently almost outside of a future government. The Social Democrats are preferring the Green Party; they are having close discussions together. So, there will be a change of government in September. I'm fairly sure of that.

AMY GOODMAN: And what are the issues of the day that are most hotly debated?

ANDREAS GUSTAVSSON: Jobs. We've got mass unemployment—on a Swedish level, mass unemployment.

AMY GOODMAN: Which is about how much in percentage?

ANDREAS GUSTAVSSON: Eight percent.

AMY GOODMAN: Eight percent.

ANDREAS GUSTAVSSON: Eight percent, yes. And climate change and feminism—or, feminism, yes, because of the Feminist Initiative.

AMY GOODMAN: And the Feminist Initiative is this new political party.

ANDREAS GUSTAVSSON: Yeah, yeah. It's not new. It's been around for a couple of years, but there's been a backlash regarding feminists here in Sweden. But it's back with a vengeance. So, they've got seats in the EU, the European Parliament, and I'm fairly sure they will get seats here in Parliament here in national Parliament after September.

AMY GOODMAN: Just as I was coming to this broadcast walking through the island, there was a mass protest of what are called here anti-racists.

ANDREAS GUSTAVSSON: Yeah.

AMY GOODMAN: Hundreds of them protesting the speaking of the Party of Swedes. Can you explain what this Swedish Party is?

ANDREAS GUSTAVSSON: The Swedish Party are not in Parliament, but it's a Nazi party.

AMY GOODMAN: Nazi party.

ANDREAS GUSTAVSSON: Yeah, it's a Nazi party, no discussion about it. They want to throw out every migrants, immigrants from Sweden. And they don't even believe in the democratic system, but they are taking part in the elections this autumn. And they are—there are the Swedish Democrats. They are already in Parliament. They are not Nazi, but they are racist. So, first we've got the Swedish Democrats, and now we've got this—I'm ashamed of them.

AMY GOODMAN: This Swedish Party, also allied with it, the Swedish Resistance Movement. Explain who they are.

ANDREAS GUSTAVSSON: Yeah, yeah. That's the violent part of the Nazi movement here in Sweden. They have attacked several people just this year, almost killed one person in Malmö on the 8th of March. And now they are taking part in combat in Ukraine, with fascist groups in Ukraine.

AMY GOODMAN: Now, explain that. So, in Malmö, in one of the Swedish cities, on International Women's Day, one of these Nazis knifed one of the anti-racists on the street.

ANDREAS GUSTAVSSON: That's correct. That's correct.

AMY GOODMAN: He had just come from—the Nazi, from Ukraine, fighting on whose side?

ANDREAS GUSTAVSSON: In the coup in Ukraine, there was a fringe movement of fascists. We've got Svoboda—that's one major party—and the even more extreme-right sector. And the Swedish fascists are involved with both Svoboda and the right sector.

AMY GOODMAN: So now he—was he arrested after he knifed this Swede?

ANDREAS GUSTAVSSON: Some of the Nazis were arrested, but one of them, he's still at large.

AMY GOODMAN: And he went back to Ukraine?

ANDREAS GUSTAVSSON: We don't know.

AMY GOODMAN: So, the issues here around immigration, that ties into these far-right parties, do you see this as part of a European sort of resurgence of the right?

ANDREAS GUSTAVSSON: Yeah, yeah, we see it. And both the Swedish Democrats and the more extreme Party of Swedes have close connections to all these groups, from Le Pen's party in France to other Nazis in Greece. They are closely knit together. And there's a brown fascist surge in Europe right now.

AMY GOODMAN: Johan Gustavsson, I want to thank you—I mean, I want to thank you, Andreas Gustavsson.

ANDREAS GUSTAVSSON: Yeah.

AMY GOODMAN: I want to thank you very much for being with us, editor of—why don't you pronounce it yourself—of the new newspaper. In English, it's Etc., E-T-C.

ANDREAS GUSTAVSSON: Yes, Dagens ETC, it's called. Thank you.

AMY GOODMAN: Thank you so much for being here.

2014, July 3, How Sweden's Feminist Initiative Party Became First...

As we broadcast from Almedalen Week, a unique political festival in Sweden, we are joined by Jonas Sjöstedt, Swedish chairperson of the Left Party and member of the Swedish Parliament. Sjöstedt describes the Left Party as a modern socialist, left-wing party with roots in the labor movement and a new focus on tackling climate change and privatization. "Sweden has become kind of an experiment for privatization, especially in the education system, in healthcare and the homes for the elderly," Sjöstedt says. "We want to ban all profit-making companies from these welfare sectors."

Transcript

AMY GOODMAN: We turn right now to, well, a very familiar face in U.S. politics. Well, it looks like before we turn to that very familiar face in U.S. politics, we're going to turn now to a familiar face in Swedish politics. He is head of the Left Party here. We are turning right now to one of the leaders of the Left Party. We're broadcasting from the Swedish city of Visby. We are at a political gathering unlike any other in the world. We are joined right now by Jonas Sjöstedt, chairperson of the Left Party. But I'm going to start off by asking him to pronounce his own name—people speaking for themselves.

JONAS SJÖSTEDT: Yeah, my name is Jonas Sjöstedt.

JONAS SJÖSTEDT: Well, we are a socialist party. We have our roots in the labor movement, but we realized many years ago that we need to broaden our perspective, so we consider ourselves being a red-green party. The climate issue is essential for us. And we're also a feminist party. So, you could say that we are a modern socialist, left-wing party. There are similar parties in the other Scandinavian countries.

AMY GOODMAN: And what are the issues that are most important to you right now?

JONAS SJÖSTEDT: The main issue we're campaigning on is against privatization. Sweden has become kind of an experiment for privatization, especially in the education system, in healthcare and in the home for elderly. And we said that we want to ban all profit-making companies from these welfare sectors, meaning that we would have the public sector working as it should be, but also allowing other nonprofit actors, like churches or cooperatives, etc. We can see these devastating effects from the privatization in the Swedish society—schools closing down in the middle of the education of children. We can see that many of the home for elderly that are run by big venture capitalists lack fundamental resources like educated staff. They have very few employees. And they make huge profits from taxpayers' money. So this is our main topic. It's something that we have had great support from Swedes, in general.

AMY GOODMAN: Climate change?

JONAS SJÖSTEDT: Climate change is, of course, essential. I mean, if we don't solve the climate issue, other discussion becomes meaningless. And we want Sweden to be kind of a role model. We want Sweden to really take a big step ahead and prove that we can be a modern welfare society and an industrial nation and still cutting greenhouse gas emissions substantially. And the only goal we can have is zero emissions.

AMY GOODMAN: And so, how do you achieve that?

JONAS SJÖSTEDT: Well, first of all, we have a major program of investments—rebuild our old houses, have railroads instead of heavy lorry traffic on the highways. We have investment in renewable energy, etc. But we think that even if we do all this investment that we need to do to swift into another kind of society, when it comes to energy systems, etc., we need to reconsider our way to look at economy and growth. We think that the classical way of measuring the success of a society by economical growth is useless when it comes to climate. We have to take into account that we use resources that have certain limits and that we are destroying the climate of the world. So, we also, for example, favor shorter working hours. We think that it's a lot easier to achieve a solution of the climate issue if we have a more equal society. It's about distribution of limited assets, globally and in Sweden.

AMY GOODMAN: And how does shortening the workday achieve that?

JONAS SJÖSTEDT: Well, we think that instead of using the increased productivity for higher salaries, we use it in more spare time, more time for families, more time for culture, more time for gender equality.

AMY GOODMAN: Right now, what's happening in the Palestinian occupied territories and Israel is escalating. Can you talk about the Left Party's position on Israel and Palestine?

JONAS SJÖSTEDT: We have a long tradition of supporting the Palestinian struggle for an independent state. We think that the fundamental problem is the occupation of the Palestinian territories. As long as that is going on, it's very hard to find any kind of solution of the conflict. We are, of course, favoring a peaceful solution through negotiations, but this is not a conflict between two equal parties. It's one country occupying another people, the Palestinian people. So that is the whole core of the issue. And so, we think that Sweden should be an active supporter of a two-state solution and that we should recognize the Palestinian territories as an independent state.

AMY GOODMAN: And the role of the United States in dealing with Israel and Palestine?

JONAS SJÖSTEDT: I think that's crucial. I think the recent—

AMY GOODMAN: What is your assessment of it today?

JONAS SJÖSTEDT: Well, I'm sorry to say that I think the reason why the Israelis can be so self-confident in their occupation is that they feel that they have a silent support from the U.S. administration. And that's also why the U.S. partly has the key to a peaceful solution. They have to put pressure on the Israelis.

AMY GOODMAN: Iraq?

JONAS SJÖSTEDT: Well, I think we now harvest the bitter fruits of the Iraq War, and it's very sad to see the suffering of the Iraqi people in the sectarian violence. And we—

AMY GOODMAN: The U.S. first invading Iraq in 2003?

JONAS SJÖSTEDT: I mean, that's where the problem got worse. And I think the peace movement was right that the military intervention and occupation would make things worse. And now we are in the situation, but we cannot abandon the Iraqi people. We have to support the good forces that speak up in favor of living together regardless of your religion or your ethnical background.

AMY GOODMAN: Amnesty International and other groups have been here protesting the Swedish arms trade. Most people might be surprised to know that though this is the home of Alfred Nobel, founder of the Nobel Peace Prize, that Sweden is one of the largest exporters of arms in the world.

JONAS SJÖSTEDT: Yeah.

AMY GOODMAN: Can you talk about the Left Party's position on this?

JONAS SJÖSTEDT: Well, we would like to ban all export of arms. We think what we can achieve the next four years, if we go into government and form a progressive majority, is to have an effective ban on the export of arms to dictators, to countries that violate human rights or that are involved in an armed conflict. For example, one of the big receiving countries of the Swedish arms export is Saudi Arabia, which is bizarre. And Pakistan is another country that's importing a lot of arms. And I think this does a lot of harm to our potential role as a peacemaker and someone who speaks up in favor of disarmament, because it shows that we are hypocrites, as long as we continue this arms export.

AMY GOODMAN: Most people know Saab in the United States as the auto company; they don't know it as the major weapons manufacturer of Sweden.

JONAS SJÖSTEDT: They certainly are, and they make a very expensive fighter jet that Sweden tried to export all over the world. And I would be so much happier if we exported things that we are better in doing, like environmental technology and children literature.

AMY GOODMAN: I wanted to ask you about a case that is known around the world—it is the case of Julian Assange—and the position the Left Party takes on him. I got a chance to question the foreign minister yesterday, Carl Bildt, because this week there was an appeal by his Swedish lawyers, and it's around the issue of this pre-charge detention. It's something that is not—people, I think, in other countries are not as familiar with, but that he has been dealing with this for four years—

JONAS SJÖSTEDT: Yeah.

AMY GOODMAN: —without charge. And he's concerned that if he were to come to Sweden, if he were extradited to Sweden, he would then be sent to the United States, wanted by the United States for WikiLeaks.

JONAS SJÖSTEDT: Well, I think that the Swedish juridical system is to be trusted. We would not send him to the United States. I think no one in Sweden believes that we would do that. And we look on the crime of sexual assault as a very serious crime. And if he's under investigation, he should be questioned by the Swedish police. There might be an opening in doing so in London instead of in Sweden. But I think that the claim that you cannot trust the Swedish juridical system is not true.

AMY GOODMAN: Well, what about that issue of the Swedish police meeting him, well, at the Ecuadorean Embassy in London and questioning him there?

JONAS SJÖSTEDT: I think if there was such a solution, that would be very positive. Now there's a complete deadlock that is good for no one.

AMY GOODMAN: What would break that deadlock?

JONAS SJÖSTEDT: I don't know, maybe some kind of initiative from the Swedish juridical system, but also some sign of goodwill from Assange himself maybe.

AMY GOODMAN: Any words to people in United States, here at Almedalen, of this kind of gathering? There are more than 25,000 people here.

JONAS SJÖSTEDT: I think this is something good. There is a very open political debate, and anyone can come to me as a party leader and speak to me on the street or take a photo or just discuss their favorite topic. I lived, myself, in the U.S. for a couple of years, and I think—

AMY GOODMAN: Where?

JONAS SJÖSTEDT: In Brooklyn. Where else? And then, I think there's a lot to learn from the U.S. in campaigning methods, in public initiatives, etc. But there's also something to learn from Sweden.

AMY GOODMAN: Well, I want to thank you very much for joining us.

JONAS SJÖSTEDT: Thank you so much. Thanks, Amy.

AMY GOODMAN: We've been speaking with Jonas Sjöstedt, who is the chairperson of the Left Party since 2012. He has been a member of the Swedish Parliament since 2010 and, before that, was a member of the European Parliament from 1995 to 2006. When we come back, we'll hear from the head of the Feminist Initiative and also a very familiar face in U.S. politics, Dennis Kucinich. Stay with us.

2014, July 3 How Sweden's Feminist Initiative Party Became First of Its Kind to Win a Seat in European Parliament

Guests: Gudrun Schyman, co-founder of Sweden's Feminist Initiative, which recently became the first feminist party to win a seat in the European Parliament.

In May, Sweden's Feminist Initiative party won a seat in the European Parliament, becoming the first feminist party in history to do so. We are joined by the party's co-founder, Gudrun Schyman, a former member of the Swedish Parliament. Schyman talks about the Feminist Initiative's focus on climate change, anti-racism and connecting the violence in intimate relationships to the violence in international relations. "The patriarch structure is global, and it shows in all fields of society, in your intimate relations, in the labor market," Schyman says. "We have to ban violence, and we have to see that the role of violence is always control, always power."

AMY GOODMAN: This is Democracy Now!, democracynow.org, The War and Peace Report. I'm Amy Goodman. And we're broadcasting from a very windy and rainy Visby. That's the Swedish city of Visby on the island of Gotland in the middle of an event called Almedalen Week, a week-long political festival. Over 25,000 people come here. It's unlike any other political event in the world. We've come to the island to hear these speeches. People come here to take seminars. Politicians from all the country's parties are here.

Here in Sweden, there are nine political parties with representatives serving in the Swedish Parliament or the European Parliament. They're the Swedish Social Democratic Party, the Moderate Party, the Green Party, the Liberal People's Party, the Centre Party, Sweden Democrats, Feminist Initiative, Christian Democrats, Left Party. In May elections, the Feminist Initiative earned over 5 percent of the vote and won a seat in the European Parliament, becoming the first feminist party to do so.

Well, on Wednesday here in Gotland, I spoke to the party's co-founder, Gudrun Schyman, who used to head the Left Party. I asked her about the founding of the Feminist Initiative.

GUDRUN SCHYMAN: Well, this question is about gender equality, high enough up on the political agenda. So I started discussions with different kind of feminists, from the peace movement, from the environmental movement, from the anti-racist movement. And we were discussing how to do, because women very often has the function of being a lobbyist in their own political parties. And they go together in special women groups, and then they try to have an opinion for the political—the real political questions and the real political party. And we thought it will be a time now to go from the status of lobbyistism to parliamentarism. So we created an independent Feminist Initiative with an own independent ideologic platform.

AMY GOODMAN: Now, your party has made it into the European Parliament?

GUDRUN SCHYMAN: Yes, we just did in May. We had election to the European Parliament, and we ran for office. And we had 5.7, I think. We had one member. Sweden has 20 members, and we got one. And that was a big success, absolutely. And now we are going further when it comes to the national and regional and local election, which we all have on the same day in September.

AMY GOODMAN: Talk about the different platforms, the different positions you have in your platform, on everything from military spending to, what, climate change.

GUDRUN SCHYMAN: Yeah, I mean, this is questions that also the other political parties deal with—security policy, defense policy and environmental questions. But we have another knowledge about that we have paternal power in society that makes women, as a group, to be seen as less worth, which means salary gap, which means men's violence against women—all that what you have all over. It's a global structure. The patriarch structure is global. And it shows in all fields of society—in your intimate relations, in the labor market. And we connect this idea of violence, that is in our relation, with the idea of violence in the international relations. And we see we had to take a civilistic step forward and ban violence as a tool for solving conflict, because the world is not getting more secure when you have more weapon. And this comes to Sweden, and this comes to our civil society, and this comes to our intimate relations. We have to ban violence, and we have to see that the role of violence is always control, always power.

AMY GOODMAN: So, you've proposed a cap on military spending?

GUDRUN SCHYMAN: Yeah, we want to see militarism out from our society. That is the vision. That is the long run. And I think—we think that Sweden should start with cutdowns on military and change the idea of security policy into security policy not for territories, not for countries, not for nation, but for people, which means that we want Sweden to do what the United Nations organization for banning men's violence against women told their member countries to do: cut spending on military and build a security policy for people.

AMY GOODMAN: For people listening or watching outside of Sweden, they might say that can't be too hard for Sweden, you know, home of Alfred Nobel, the founder of the Nobel Peace Prize, but it might surprise people to know that Sweden is one of the largest military exporters in the world.

GUDRUN SCHYMAN: Absolutely. And we are criticizing this heavily, because this way of behaving is also—has also the result that poor people don't get their needs in the countries where we sell weapon to. We sell, for example, these airplanes. JAS, they are called. It was sold to South Africa when South Africa needed the money for educating of and for healthcare for the children. Now it's Brazil. Brazil has a lot of problems with a lot of poor people. They don't need airplanes. They need social welfare. So this is very embarrassing, we think. And it's a contradiction to the idea of cutting military expenses.

AMY GOODMAN: The issue of global warming, how do you propose to deal with it?

GUDRUN SCHYMAN: We have to make sustainable environment way of behaving in every level in society, and we have to work with the tools that we have, which means taxes, which means changing energy systems. We have to go to sun and wind and water. We have very good possibilities in Sweden to do that. But there are different opinions. We don't want—among the political parties. We don't want nuclear power, for example. Some political parties want. But we are quite on the same view upon this question as the Green Party, which is now ending the scene back here. It's their day today.

So, but what makes us different from other political parties is that we put in a lot of knowledge about discrimination, how it works in society, the knowledge about that we have structures in our society that turns people into different positions because of gender, because of ethnicity, sexuality, and things like that. And all this kind of discrimination are working together in the same time. And we have had very clear, the last years, that it is not an equal country, Sweden. Gender equality is not reached. It has also been very clear that we have structural racism. We have a lot of problems with men's violence against women and things like that.

AMY GOODMAN: You were speaking out here at Almedalen around the issue of the anti-immigrant fervor in some parties. There was a very small protest surrounded by hundreds of anti-racists, but of those who are seriously opposed to immigration.

GUDRUN SCHYMAN: Yeah.

AMY GOODMAN: Can you talk about how to deal with that in society?

GUDRUN SCHYMAN: Well, we think that we should have—in the long run, we should be a country, Sweden, that is open to people that comes from other parts of the world, people that have to flee from their own situation because of war or other things. And in the long run, it should be possible for people to go free and to come free. And we mean that we are a country, Sweden, that are a rich country. We have a good welfare. We haven't had a war in our territory the last 200 years. We have the possibility to be generous, and we should make it easy for people that want to come. We should open our doors.

AMY GOODMAN: Gudrun Schyman, co-founder of Sweden's Feminist Initiative, which recently became the first feminist party to win a seat in the European Parliament, and she could well take a seat in the Swedish Parliament come September.

2014, July 3 Dennis Kucinich on the Iraq Crisis & What the U.S. Can Learn from Sweden's Political Diversity

Guests: Dennis Kucinich, former U.S. congressman and presidential candidate.

Former U.S. congress member and presidential candidate Dennis Kucinich speaks to Democracy Now! while in Sweden to observe the political festival Almedalen Week, which brings together people from all points on the political spectrum. Kucinich says the United States needs a similarly inclusive political process. "You come here and you see so many different political persuasions represented, and our politics back at home are monochromatic," Kucinich says. "We need to awaken those sentiments in America and one way to do it is proportional representation." On the crisis in Iraq, Kucinich says: "If we learned anything from our experience, it should be that interventionism is not the wave of the future." Kucinich served in the in the U.S. House of Representatives from 1997 to 2013, and ran for the Democratic presidential nomination in 2008 and 2012.

AMY GOODMAN: And we end today's show with a very familiar voice in U.S. politics, here at the University of Uppsala in Visby, Sweden.

AMY GOODMAN: This is Democracy Now!, democracynow.org, The War and Peace Report. I'm Amy Goodman. We're broadcasting from Visby, Sweden, from the largest Swedish island of Gotland, where Almedalen is taking place. That is this mass gathering of tens of thousands of people of every party debating the issues of the day, sort of like a political convention in the United States except all of them together and more.

So, we're joined by Dennis Kucinich. That might surprise some of the people who are listening and watching right now, the former congressman who lives in Washington right now. What are you doing in Almedalen?

DENNIS KUCINICH: Well, I found out about this amazing event here, and I had to see it for myself. Can you imagine where people of every political persuasion come together in an open space, freely discussing and debating in a sense of joy, like a festival? And the thinking is very deep. And it's consequential. I believe that what's happening here has the potential to catch on all around the world, in terms of improving the level of political dialogue and enabling people to try to find a way to reach common ground.

AMY GOODMAN: Joy in politics, you said?

DENNIS KUCINICH: Yeah, absolutely. There should be. I mean, the fact that we don't have that is a testimony to our disconnecting ourselves from our own hearts, what it is we desire. You know, life should not be a funeral march to the grave. We should have the capacity for being able to lift up not just public dialogue, but lift up each other in a greater cause of nationhood. And so, when you see the kind of internecine conflict that happens in the United States—the partisan divide, the dichotomous thinking, the separation from each other—there is a different thing happening here in Sweden at Almedalen, which is a sense of a common bond as citizens with a common purpose for the nation. And people come together here. And the thing that impresses me is how quickly on the street you can get into the deepest discussions that have consequence. And so, that's why—you know, having been here only for two days, I've had a chance to meet people from every level of society, decision makers as well as citizens, and there's a sense that things matter in these kind of discussions, which are direct, relatively low-key, nonconfrontational, matter-of-fact. And behind it is—what animates it is a sense of commitment to each other and to the nation.

AMY GOODMAN: Proportional representation is really the name of the game in Sweden, right? Anyone who gets—I think it's 4 percent of the vote, can be represented in Parliament. Can you comment on this? It's a growing movement in the United States.

DENNIS KUCINICH: Well, it should happen. So, it's really, you know, a step towards democratization, so that points of view that are held in the general populace are not squelched because they don't reach some numerical significance that we call a majority. You know, majority politics are all very interesting, but what's happening in the United States, with an increasing—increasingly blurring the differences between the two parties, there's a hunger for alternatives, and there's a hunger for those alternatives to find a means of inclusion into the process. So, certainly, you know, that's one way to do it. And we need to broaden our discussion in America. When you come here and you see so many different political persuasions represented, and our politics back home are monochromatic—I mean, increasingly. It's grey, and you can't really tell the difference. Here, you can. But at the same time, there's a common commitment to the nation. We need to awaken those sentiments in America. And one way to do it is proportional representation.

AMY GOODMAN: Congressman Kucinich, the issue of Iraq? I mean, for many of the years you were in Congress, this was a battle, not only all over Iraq, but a battle in Congress.

DENNIS KUCINICH: It was, yeah.

AMY GOODMAN: What do you feel needs to be done right now?

DENNIS KUCINICH: Well, first of all, we have to recognize that the American people were lied to. Our country was taken into war against innocent people, and the consequences have been disastrous for the people of Iraq, who perhaps had a million extra deaths during that period, the destruction of their country, for the people of the United States, who saw their own men and women led to their deaths or grave injuries, and at a cost of perhaps anywhere from $3 [billion] to $6 billion long-term. This thing was a catastrophe.

And if we learn anything from our experience in Iraq, it should be that interventionism is not the wave of the future. We need to reassess this whole idea that somehow we have the right to intervene in the affairs of other nations. And we have to put away the pretense that we do it for some higher principle. The fact of the matter is we went after Iraq for oil. And the fact of the matter is that the United States has degraded our role as a great nation by attacking this nation that had no capacity to attack the United States and no intention of doing so, that didn't have anything to do with 9/11, didn't have weapons of mass destruction. It wasn't a mistake, Amy. It was a lie.

So, what about Iraq today? Iraq today, we have to stop the games that our government is playing of subterfuge, of duplicity. The double game that's being played in Iraq is a violation of what America should be about. And as we should be honest with people, we should be straightforward in our international policies. But we seem to be constitutionally incapable of doing that. And that's a problem. That's a problem that involves a broad national discussion, involving people at every level, because the consequences of our continued interference in the internal affairs of nations is to create blowback, as Chalmers Johnson and others have written, and to create the conditions where America will always be at risk in the future of a loss of our ability to be able to meet the needs of our own people and of leading the planet toward destruction, because this planet that we have—you can talk about global climate change, but war is a form of ecocide. This planet that we have is not guaranteed to us. If we are faithful stewards of the planet, we also have to be mindful of our capacity to create peace, that we cannot imagine that peace will be created of itself. We have to be architects of peace. We have to be—we have to change our relationships with nations so that America is no longer a nation above nations, but a nation among nations. And I think that if we take that approach, we won't find ourselves trapped in situations where we really violate the basic wisdom that our founders gave us in saying, "Beware of foreign entanglements." And we have entangled ourselves willfully, duplicitously, and America is better than that.

AMY GOODMAN: Former U.S. congress member and former presidential candidate Dennis Kucinich, yes, speaking with me here at Almedalen Week on the island of Gotland in Visby, Sweden, where over 25,000 people have come to attend this unique political open-air festival. That does it for Democracy Now!

This chapter of Solving 9-11 reveals a very significant part of the extensive Israeli and Zionist criminal network, which the evidence indicates was behind the crime of the century.

The information in this chapter, which comes from material in the public domain, strongly supports the thesis that senior officers from Israeli military intelligence agencies were the chief architects of the false-flag terror of 9-11.

The spectacular explosions that accompanied the crashes (WTC 2) produced light flame and whitish smoke (seen on left; impact area), which is indicative of Thermite in the two computer rooms struck.

The bizarre explosions that shot out of the east and north side of WTC 1 came from the computer room of Marsh Kroll, a Zionist-owned company that has profited from the "War on Terror."

"But now, nearly seven years since 9/11, it's past time to be moving on."
- "Only Dust Remains," New York Post, July 9, 2008

There is no reason good can't triumph over evil, if only angels will get organized along the lines of the Mafia.
- Kurt Vonnegut, A Man Without a Country, 2005

These are the times that try men's souls. The summer soldier and the sunshine patriot will, in this crisis, shrink from the service of their country; but he that stands it now, deserves the love and thanks of man and woman. Tyranny, like hell, is not easily conquered.
- Thomas Paine, The American Crisis, 1776

Thomas Paine was the most popular and inspirational writer of the American Revolution.

"The cause of America," Paine wrote in Common Sense (1776), "is in a great measure the cause of all mankind."

In 1787, having "stood out the storm of one revolution," i.e. the American, and with "no wish to embark in another," Paine returned to Europe and wound up playing a role in the French Revolution – and nearly losing his head.

To the Citizens of the United States is a series of letters written by Paine in 1802-03, when he returned to America after an absence of almost 15 years.

In the first letter, Paine wrote:

"But while I beheld with pleasure the dawn of liberty rising in Europe, I saw with regret the lustre of it fading in America. In less than two years from the time of my departure some distant symptoms painfully suggested the idea that the principles of the Revolution were expiring on the soil that produced them."

"A faction, acting in disguise, was rising in America; they had lost sight of first principles," Paine wrote. "They were beginning to contemplate government as a profitable monopoly, and the people as hereditary property."

Two hundred years later, as an American student of history, I made the same observation: A faction, acting in disguise, was rising in America. This faction also viewed government as a profitable monopoly, which they sought to control.

The rising faction I noticed taking control in the 1980s was primarily Jewish by ethnicity and Zionist by ideology.

LIVING IN JEWISH TIMES

Ariel Sharon with the kabbalistic hexagram, the symbol of the Zionist state of Israel. Sharon, a known terrorist and war criminal, became prime minister in 2001.

"I want to tell you something very clear. Don't worry about American pressure on Israel. We, the Jewish people, control America and the Americans know it."

- Israeli Prime Minister Ariel Sharon to Foreign Minister Shimon Peres, October 2001

After spending several years in Europe, Israel, and the Middle East, I returned to the United States in the late 1970s and found the discourse in the media about Zionism to be extremely one-sided and distorted.

Zionism, a racist ideology if ever there was one, was grossly misrepresented in the U.S. mass media as being a progressive and democratic movement of national liberation while Israel was depicted as being a kosher slice of America in the Middle East. It was very clear that the people distorting the view of the Middle East were themselves Jews devoted to the very un-American political and racial agenda called Zionism, the violent and chauvinistic nationalism of Eastern European Jews which has brutally occupied Palestine since 1948.

Honest and unbiased coverage of Israel and the Middle East became increasingly difficult to find in the U.S. during the 1980s and 1990s. The sale of Ted Turner's progressive Cable News Network (CNN) to Gerald Levine of AOL Time Warner and the transformation of the informative Christian Science Monitor marked the end of the last independent and unbiased news outlets covering the Middle East. An ethnic minority group with a foreign agenda – Zionism – had gained monopoly control over the U.S. mass media.

The Jewish monopoly of the U.S. media coincided with the United States being drawn more deeply into the Arab-Israeli conflict as the primary supporter, financier, and political ally of the Zionists.

This combination has been extremely detrimental for America and disastrous for the people of the region, as the criminal Israeli invasion of Lebanon in 1982 clearly showed.

U.S. Marines removing the dead from their bombed barracks in Beirut, 1983.
The U.S. intervention in Lebanon was disastrous for Americans, Lebanese, and Palestinians.

Aware of the increasing prevalence and dominance of Zionist Jews in the political, financial, and academic sectors, I came to the conclusion that I was living in Jewish times.

As an American raised with traditional Christian values, I realized that the culture I had grown up in was under attack and being reduced to a sub-culture. Through the Jewish-controlled media, a distinctly foreign and anti-Christian culture of pornography, perversion, and violence was being pushed. The producers of this "new culture" were primarily Jews of Eastern European origin. Through their control of the mass media, film, radio, and television networks, a diet of perverse entertainment and un-American values was being force-fed to the unsuspecting American people.

Concurrent with the rise of the Jewish-Zionist faction in the U.S. media was the significant increase in Jewish power in the executive, legislative, and judicial branches of government.

Their influence could be seen in the way the U.S. government and federal courts unfairly prosecuted innocent people, including the president of Austria, on unfounded allegations of crimes having been committed decades ago against Jews in distant countries. Meanwhile, there was a noticeable increase in the number and magnitude of crimes committed by Jews in the United States and the international arena that went completely unpunished.

As in the Soviet Union, Jewish criminals in America used the "holocaust" and the slanderous charge of anti-Semitism as a shield to protect their criminal network and extortion rackets by intimidating and silencing those who would dare to expose the monstrous crimes they were involved in.

A secret "combination" or Zionist network was clearly at work pulling the strings at the highest level behind the scenes.

THE ISRAELI ARCHITECTS OF 9-11 - "It's very good"

Benjamin Netanyahu, leader of Israel's extreme right-wing Likud, the party of former Irgun terrorists, at the Ron Lauder School of Mossad U. (IDC), Herzliya, 21 January 2008. (AFP/Getty)

"It's very good."

- Benjamin Netanyahu, when asked what 9-11 meant for U.S.-Israeli relations; New York Times, September 12, 2001.

"We are benefiting from one thing, and that is the attack on the Twin Towers and Pentagon, and the American struggle in Iraq."

- Benjamin Netanyahu, as quoted in Ma'ariv, April 16, 2008

The "false-flag" terrorism of 9-11 is a monstrous Jewish-Zionist crime of our time.

The true culprits of this heinous crime are clearly being protected by a gang of like-minded Jewish Zionists in the highest positions of the U.S. government, particularly at the U.S. Dept. of Justice and in the federal court system where justice for the victims of 9-11 has been obstructed and delayed for more than 6 years.

The lies and deception about 9-11, spread by the Zionist-controlled media, have been accepted as truth by millions of Americans. Based on a fairy tale spun from the outrageous terror spectacle, a fraudulent "War on Terror," a Zionist construct against our American liberties, and at least three extremely costly and illegal wars of aggression in Afghanistan, Iraq, and Somalia, are being waged. Countless thousands of lives have been wasted and more than one thousand billion dollars have been spent on this criminal enterprise and there is still no end in sight to the madness.

The controlled media has completely ignored the evidence of Israeli involvement in 9-11 and refused to investigate any of the unanswered questions about what really happened that day. Likewise, the media has avoided doing any serious investigation of the official version of events, which is simply not believable due to the large number of inconsistencies and complete lack of supporting evidence.

As a result, the public has been left with a confusing mixture of fact, fiction, and disinformation from which the truth is very hard to discern. It is unacceptable for a baseless fairy tale to pass for truth while the real history is suppressed and muddled.

Solving 9-11 is my attempt to clarify this muddled history by discovering and exposing the true culprits.

"But let them go on," Paine wrote about the rising faction of his time, "give them rope enough and they will put an end to their own insignificance. There is too much common sense and independence in America to be long the dupe of any faction, foreign or domestic."

Paine was, however, writing long before television became the most pervasive and powerful thought-control device on the planet. Given the fact that the majority of Americans now rely on television for their news and understanding of world events, I am not so sure that America will not continue to be deceived and manipulated by the Zionist faction that controls the mass media.

The Jewish faction controlling the media and government has done immense and irreparable damage to our republic and national prestige. Today, our once great nation is in dire straits economically, politically, and morally. Absent a revolution or sea change in political thinking, I am not optimistic that there will be any justice for the victims and relatives of 9-11 or that the real culprits will ever be held accountable in a U.S. court.

I am, however, convinced that the truth of 9-11 is of the utmost importance and that the guilty must be exposed. We all need to know who did it and how they did it.

The reasons why it was done have become increasingly obvious from the criminal wars of aggression and oppressive "homeland security" apparatus that have followed in its wake.

9-11 - THE ISRAELI THESIS

"Consistency is close to being the mark of a set of true beliefs;
it is at least rationally compelling."
- Robin Waterfield on the Socratic dialectic, Plato's Gorgias, 1994

"The worst thing in the world," Socrates said, "the supreme curse, is to do wrong and not pay the penalty for it."

I believe that the available evidence and facts are sufficient to disprove the official version and that the truth of 9-11 is within our reach. The guilty must be found.

9-11 is an unsolved crime; the fairy tale promoted by the government and controlled media has not been proven because it is not provable. Finding the truth about 9-11 requires using the Socratic method to ask questions and develop a thesis from what can be proven to be true.

Since the day it happened, I have been asking questions about Israeli involvement in 9-11 because of the early and clear evidence, made public, of prior knowledge by the five dancing Israelis and members of an Israeli instant messaging network called Odigo. From the beginning, therefore, I considered the possibility that 9-11 was an Israeli-produced false-flag terror spectacle. The Zionists, after all, have a long history of doing these kinds of things.

I investigated and researched to see if the evidence supported this thesis. I found a great deal of evidence consistent with the Israeli thesis, which I have examined for nearly 7 years. I have discovered that agents of Israeli military intelligence or people devoted to the Zionist cause occupied every key position in the 9-11 saga. This consistency has led me to believe that the Israeli thesis is correct.

This chapter of Solving 9-11 reveals a very significant part of the extensive Israeli and Zionist criminal network, which the evidence indicates was behind the crime of the century. The information in this chapter, which comes from material in the public domain, strongly supports the thesis that senior officers from Israeli military intelligence agencies were the chief architects of the false-flag terror of 9-11.

The truth can be deduced from the available facts and evidence, and as Socrates said,

"The truth can never be proved wrong."

"THE MAGNITUDE OF PLANNING"

Some day, perhaps, if it's decided that the stories can be told, you'll see that the state [Israel] has been involved in acts which are a thousand times more dirty than anything going on in Colombia. But these things were decided by the government, in cabinet meetings. As long as the government decides to do something, something that the national interest demanded, then it is legitimate. But if an individual wants to do the same thing, it isn't. That's just the way it is. It's very simple.

- Lieut. Gen. Rafael Eitan, Israeli Chief of Staff, 1978-83

"The Colombia Connection," Jerusalem Post, September 1, 1989 - See more at: <http://www.bollyn.com/the-architecture-of-terror-mapping-the-network-behind-9-11#sthash.DhE2naWK.dpuf>

In December 2001, I spoke with Eckehardt Werthebach, the former head of the Verfassungsschutz, the domestic branch of German intelligence, about the terror attacks of 9-11.

"The deathly precision" and "the magnitude of planning" behind the attacks would have required "years of planning," Werthebach said. Such a sophisticated operation, he said, would have required the "fixed frame" of a state intelligence organization, something not found in the "loose group" like the one allegedly led by Mohammed Atta while he studied in Hamburg. The nebulous Al Qaida and the Taliban of Afghanistan clearly lacked the "fixed frame" of a state intelligence organization. Many people would have been involved in the planning of such an operation and the absence of leaks was a further indication that the attacks were "state organized actions," Werthebach said.

Andreas von Buelow, the former head of the parliamentary commission that oversaw the German intelligence agencies, told me that a sophisticated false-flag operation like 9-11 has an organizational structure with three basic levels: architectural, operational, and working. Atta and the 19 Arabs blamed as the "hijackers" of 9-11 were part of the working level, von Buelow said, and were simply part of the deception. That is, after all, how false-flag terror works.

Von Buelow said that he believed that the Mossad, Israel's foreign intelligence service, was behind the terror attacks of 9-11. These attacks, he said, were designed to turn public opinion against the Arabs, and to boost military and security spending.

Six years later, with more than one thousand billion U.S. taxpayer dollars wasted on the fraudulent "war on terror" and the disastrous and costly wars in Afghanistan and Iraq, there is no question that 9-11 has been crassly exploited to push military and security spending through the roof.

"You don't get the higher echelons," von Buelow said, referring to the "architectural structure," which masterminds such false-flag terror attacks. At this level, he said, the organization doing the planning, such as Mossad, is primarily interested in affecting public opinion.

It goes without saying that the mass media must be tightly controlled in order for such large-scale deception to succeed. "Ninety-five percent of the work of the intelligence agencies around the world is deception and disinformation," von Buelow said, which is widely propagated in the mainstream media creating an accepted version of events. "Journalists don't even raise the simplest questions," he said, adding, "Those who differ are labeled as crazy."

TERROR AS DECEPTION

"Terror is theatre."

- John Le Carré, The Little Drummer Girl, 1983

"Terror is theatre and theatre is illusion" is the theme of The Little Drummer Girl, the realistic novel about Israeli false-flag operations in Europe written by the late John Le Carré.

"On the old reality we impose the new fiction," said Joseph, the Israeli agent in the book engaged in creating a false history for a Palestinian "terrorist" in the same way false histories were created for the 9-11 "hijackers".

"Terror is theatre," another character says. "We inspire, we frighten, we awaken indignation, anger...The guerrilla is the great actor of the world."

Illusion is what theatre is all about, the main character, a British actress, says:

"Theatre's a con trick. Do you know what that means? Con trick? You've been deceived."

Le Carré gave a "sincere thanks" to "certain past and serving officers" of Israeli intelligence in his forward to the book. He expressed "special gratitude" to General Shlomo Gazit, the former chief of Israeli military intelligence.

The Israeli characters in The Little Drummer Girl come through without a scratch while Palestinians and Europeans are blown to bits in engineered false-flag terrorism. In one scene, a kidnapped Palestinian is put into the trunk of a car, which is then exploded at a rest area on the German Autobahn.

"Disinformation,' we used to call it, designed to misguide the enemy's eye, and very nice too," Picton, the angry and sarcastic British police commander scolds the Mossad agent after viewing the Israeli presentation of fabricated evidence. "But that's too simple for you and Misha. Being a bunch of over-educated fanatics, you've gone one further. 'No dead meat for us, oh no! We'll use live meat. Arab meat. Dutch meat.' So you did. And you blew it up in a nice Mercedes motorcar. Theirs."

Similar Israeli techniques have long been used in "suicide bombs" in occupied Palestine, Iraq, and Afghanistan to kill and maim thousands of innocent people and foment sectarian violence. These terrorist bombings are now routinely blamed on "suicide bombers" – without examining the evidence.

"Of the Palestinians," whose real-life stories informed the plot of The Little Drummer Girl, "some are dead, others are taken prisoner, the rest presumably are for the most part homeless or dispersed," Le Carré wrote in July 1982 as the Israeli military led by the Zionist terrorist and war criminal Ariel Sharon carried out new atrocities on a daily basis in Lebanon.

Thousands of Palestinians were slain in the Israeli-orchestrated massacre of Sabra and Shatilla in September 1982. An Israeli commission found Sharon personally responsible. 18 years later, as a war criminal, he became prime minister.

Sharon, a well-known genocidaire from the extreme right-wing Likud party became prime minister of Israel in early 2001 as George W. Bush entered the White House as an un-elected president, creating the same dangerous political and ideological conjunction that had produced the illegal invasion of Lebanon in 1982.

THE "FIXED FRAME" OF 9-11

If one accepts Werthebach's expert judgment that "the magnitude of planning" behind 9-11 required the "fixed frame" of a state intelligence organization, then there should be evidence of such an organization connecting the key players of the operational network behind the crime. If we can only discern some elements or identify some of the key people in this network, we should be able to discover other key people involved in the organization through their mutual connections.

In order to carry out the sophisticated terror attacks of 9-11, the architects would have had to create an organizational structure in the United States over a period of years, or even decades. This structure is needed to connect the key individuals and crucial points of the crime, including those involved in the on-going non-investigation and cover-up. All the bases have to be covered.

The organizational structure is required to provide secure channels or "pipelines" for the criminal organization, the conduits through which the terror operation is set up and carried out.

A secure conduit could be a company, a group of people, or even a single individual. The most important thing is that it be wholeheartedly devoted to the organization. When the 9-11 structure was complete and the wiring in place, the switch was thrown and the long-planned terror atrocity became real.

There is simply no evidence whatsoever that any such "Al Qaida" or Islamic terrorist structure ever existed in the United States or that any Muslim or Arab organization was interested in or capable of carrying out such a sophisticated attack. There is, on the other hand, a great deal of evidence that an Israeli military structure, which employed Arab disguises when necessary, is behind 9-11.

This network connects the highest officers and veterans of Israeli military intelligence with all the key players, companies, and funding entities involved in setting up the 9-11 attacks.

There is evidence of an Israeli military intelligence matrix connecting every key player and entity behind 9-11. At the most crucial position in U.S. law enforcement, for example, where executive decisions were made concerning the federal non-investigation, sat Michael Chertoff, an Israeli whose mother was one of the first agents of Israeli intelligence. Having the devoted Zionist Michael Chertoff in the key position as Asst. Attorney General controlling the criminal division of the Dept. of Justice gave the Israelis the operational security to carry out this massive crime without fear of exposure or prosecution.

Chertoff also played a central role in the prosecution of the 1993 false-flag terror bombing at the World Trade Center.

Michael Chertoff, Homeland Security chief, is an Israeli through his mother. As Asst. Attorney General running the Criminal Division at the Dept. of Justice in 2001, he supervised the "non-investigation" of 9-11.

Likewise, two dedicated Zionists-cum-federal judges named Alvin K. Hellerstein and Michael B. Mukasey have overseen virtually all the litigation from the massive death and destruction of 9-11 as well as the 1993 false-flag incident at the WTC.

Small wonder there has yet to be a single trial for any of the 96 families who chose to seek justice through the courts rather than accept the government pay-out for the loss of their loved ones. Less than two months before the 7th anniversary of 9-11, fewer than 7 of the original 96 cases remain to be settled and still no trial is planned for any of the victims of 9-11.

This can hardly be called justice for the relatives. As they say, "Justice delayed is justice denied."

The appalling absence of any significant investigation or discovery, the egregious acts of confiscation and criminal destruction of evidence, the escape or removal of all Israeli suspects, and the use of unwarranted secrecy measures to block discovery in the federal investigation and litigation processes of the worst terror attack in U.S. history, all indicate the presence of an Israeli-based terror structure being protected from exposure.

It stands to reason that the terror network being protected by high-level Zionist agents is itself a Zionist structure. If it were truly an Arabic, Islamic, or even American criminal network, it would have been exposed long ago. The fact that the terror network behind 9-11 has been protected from the beginning by Zionist agents and the controlled media strongly suggests it is something they are dedicated and devoted to.

There were certainly early and clear indications of Israeli involvement, particularly in the form of the five dancing Israelis and the instant messages conveyed, presumably in Hebrew, on the Israeli-owned Odigo text messaging system which warned recipients of an imminent terror attack at the World Trade Center.

MICHAEL GOFF, THE PTECH "CUT-OUT" & GUARDIUM

The Ptech story is a crucial piece of 9/11 because the software was used to simultaneously coordinate the FAA with NORAD and the Secret Service.

- Jamey Hecht, "Ptech, 9/11, and USA-Saudi Terror," FTW Publications

Ptech was with MITRE Corporation in the basement of the FAA for two years prior to 9/11. Their specific job is to look at interoperability issues the FAA had with NORAD and the Air Force in the case of an emergency. If anyone was in a position to know that the FAA -- that there was a window of opportunity or to insert software or to change anything -- it would have been Ptech along with MITRE.

- Indira Singh, "Risk Architect" at 9/11 Citizens' Commission, Sept. 9, 2004

Indira Singh and others pushed false "Arab terror" links to Ptech.

My discovery in 2005 that the Ptech software company from Quincy, Mass., was actually a disguised Israeli intelligence operation is key to understanding the role of Israeli military intelligence in the crimes of 9-11. This is a discovery that has helped reveal other key people in the Israeli network behind the crime.

Michael Goff - the Ptech "cut-out"

Michael Goff was the key person at Ptech when it was founded in 1994. Goff, a young Zionist lawyer from Worcester, Massachusetts, subsequently worked for Guardium, an Israeli software company tied to military intelligence. This is the crucial connection that has helped expose the larger Israeli military intelligence network working behind the 9-11 scene.

Through Goff's connection to Guardium we can see how a nexus of senior officers of Israeli military intelligence agencies links all the key elements of 9-11. This connection also explains how dodgy Israeli enterprise spy software wound up on critical U.S. government and military computer networks.

Ptech is the allegedly Arab-owned and Saudi-financed company whose enterprise software found its way onto the most critical computer networks of the U.S. government and military. By 2002, Ptech reportedly provided software to more than 18 federal agencies, including the FBI, U.S. Treasury, Customs Service, Secret Service, Department of Energy, Army, Navy, Air Force, Federal Aviation Administration, the U.S. Postal Service – and even NATO.

Investigators from the U.S. Customs Service searched Ptech's office on December 6, 2002. Federal authorities were reportedly concerned about Ptech's ties to a Saudi named Yassin Al-Qadi (a.k.a. Al-Kadi). Qadi's name had been added to the UN blacklist on October 19, 2001.

Daniel Glaser, a Jewish deputy assistant secretary for Terrorist Financing and Financial Crimes at the U.S. Treasury, described Al-Qadi in Congressional testimony in 2004 as a "key terrorist financier and facilitator."

In December 2007, after an investigation that lasted six years and two months, Yassin Abdullah Al-Qadi was exonerated of all charges by judicial authorities in Switzerland.

Al-Qadi's funds had been unfairly frozen for six years based merely on the reckless accusations of Daniel Glaser, an irresponsible Zionist at the U.S. Treasury who went on to negotiate the freezing and thawing of North Korean funds.

Daniel Glaser, Deputy Asst. Secretary of Treasury, in Beijing, Dec. 2006; In 2001, Glaser supervised Dept. of Terrorist Financing and Financial Crimes. He represents America?

How a Lebanese Muslim immigrant funded by a Saudi suspected of being "a sponsor of terrorism" ever sold enterprise software to the entire U.S. government is never addressed by those, like Indira Singh, who promoted the post 9-11 myth that Ptech was a central part of the Arab nexus of terror. Singh is a bit of a mystery.

Why did she promote the Arab terrorism story without any evidence other than baseless accusations provided by Jewish insiders?

The discovery that Goff was actually the key person at Ptech; that he was Ptech's original marketing director; and that he was the person responsible for "procuring" software for Ptech should have demolished the Arab myth. My revelation that Goff was working for Guardium, a software company run by Israeli military intelligence officers, was ignored by the "whistle blowers" who had pushed the Arab myth as well as by supposedly non-partisan investigators of 9-11.

The Ptech-Guardium connection through Michael Goff, however, is a key link to the terror structure behind 9-11. Ptech enterprise software, which has spy, surveillance, and intervention capabilities, according to "experts" like Singh, was running on nearly all of U.S. government computer networks at the time of 9-11.

Goff, who had procured all software for the "Arab-owned" Ptech and who had been responsible for marketing Ptech's enterprise software, went on to work for Guardium, a company that is a branch of the research and development department of the Israeli Air Force.

What's the connection?

WHO IS GUARDIUM?

Guardium is a spin-off of Log-On Software, an Israeli military intelligence company based in Ramat Gan, Israel.

Log-On Software was founded by Major Gil Migdan and Joseph Segev, the former head programmer and telecommunications officer for the Israeli Navy. The vice president of the company is Danny Zeitouny, the head of logistics programming for the Israeli military, the Israel Defense Forces (IDF).

One of the directors of Guardium is Gill Zaphrir (a.k.a. Zafir), an Israeli colonel who "headed the research and development department of the Israel Air Force."

Col. Gil Zafir of Guardium headed R&D for Israel Air Force

In its "Executive Profile" about Col. Zaphrir, Business Week says:

Mr. Gill Zaphrir is a Partner at Veritas Venture Partners. He joined Veritas in 1999 and has been actively managing the funds of Veritas. Mr. Zaphrir has research and development and management experience in Israel's air force and aerospace industry. Prior to joining Veritas in 1999, he headed the research and development department of the Israel Air Force. In 1987, Mr. Zaphrir served as System Engineer on the first Israeli satellite project, under the auspices of IAI-MBT.

Mr. Zaphrir is a Director of Bamboo Mediacasting Inc., and Guardium Inc. He was a Director of eShip-4u Inc. He was born and raised in Israel, served as a military navigator in the Israel Air Force and is a Colonel (reserve). Mr. Zaphrir holds a B.Sc. in Aeronautical Engineering from the Technion in Haifa and an M.B.A. from Bar-Ilan Business School in Israel.

Another founder and director of Guardium is Amit Yoran, the Israeli who went to West Point and became the manager of computer network security for the Pentagon and Secretary of Defense.

Yoran went on to serve as the "czar" of cyber security for the U.S. Dept. of Homeland Security.

Amit Yoran, a high-level Israeli "hacker" tied to military intelligence, designed computer security for the Pentagon, Air Force, and U.S. government.

Business Week says this about "Dr. Yoran":

Dr. [Amit] Yoran is a Co-Founder of Guardium, Inc. and also served as the Chief Executive Officer and President. He was the President and Chief Executive Officer at Riptech Inc, which Dr. Yoran co-founded in 1998.

He was appointed by George W. Bush as the administration's Cyber Chief, responsible for coordinating the nation's activities in cyber security. Prior to this, Dr. Yoran served as a Vice President for worldwide-managed security services at Symantec Corp. and was primarily responsible for managing security infrastructure in 40 countries.

Before working in the private sector, he served as a Network Security Manager at the Department of Defense and [was] responsible for maintaining operations of the Pentagon's network. Dr. Yoran also served as an officer in the United States Air Force [as the Director of Vulnerability Programs for Dept. of Defense's Computer Emergency Response Team]. He designed security architecture for the Pentagon and Office of the Secretary of Defense networks' backbones.

Dr. Yoran served as a Director at Guardium, Inc. and Director of the Vulnerability Assessment and Assistance Program for the U.S. Department of Defense Computer Emergency Response Team. As a Director, he worked with national and international law enforcement and intelligence organizations to prevent and respond to security breaches of national infrastructure networks.

He serves as a Member of the Adjunct Faculty at George Washington University. Dr. Yoran has conducted a Doctoral research in the area of Intrusion Detection Technologies.

Michael Goff's working relationship with Amit Yoran and the Israeli intelligence operation known as Guardium, Inc. is an excellent example of an Israeli military intelligence "channel" in the United States. I don't have specific information about exactly when Goff's relationship with Israeli military intelligence began, but I would assume it began sometime prior to 1994 when he suddenly left his law practice and began working "for the Arabs" at Ptech.

Goff's father and grandfather were both highest-level Freemasons in the International (Jewish) Order of the B'nai B'rith (a.k.a. Benai Berith), an exclusive Jewish-Zionist (i.e. closed to non-Jews) order of Freemasons founded in New York City in 1843.

SON OF BENAI BERITH

The B'nai B'rith is a secretive, but extremely powerful and influential order of Freemasonry. It is, for example, the parent organization of the Anti-Defamation League of the B'nai B'rith (ADL), which has a great deal of influence with legislators and law enforcement agencies across America.

It is also the parent of Hillel, an organization for Jewish students found on virtually every college campus in the United States. The New York Times can also be called a B'nai B'rith newspaper due to its ownership by the Sulzberger family, one of the leading families of B'nai B'rith Lodge No. 1 in New York City.

Goff's relationship with the Israelis who created Guardium appears to have been the channel through which Israeli spy software was provided to Ptech.

The resulting Israeli-Ptech enterprise spy software was then installed onto the most critical computer networks of the U.S. government in the years prior to 9-11.

"The boy's job in this operation is to play cut-out," the Mossadnik in The Little Drummer Girl says. "That's all he does. He breaks the circuit."

In real life, Goff played the "cut-out" at Ptech; he was the connection between the Israeli military programmers and the crucial computer networks of the U.S. military.

At the time that Goff worked for Ptech, Yoran was Network Security Manager at the Dept. of Defense designing computer security for the Pentagon. In this position, Yoran was ideally situated to arrange the installment of Ptech software onto the critical computer systems of the U.S. military. The Israeli nexus between Michael Goff, Ptech, Guardium, and Amit Yoran provides a logical explanation for how Israeli-cum-Ptech enterprise "spy" software wound up on the critical computer networks of the U.S. government and military.

Guardium is closely connected with other companies of the Israeli military intelligence network in the United States. Some of the key Israeli-run companies linked to Guardium are Amdocs, ViryaNet, Nice Systems, and CreoScitex. Like Guardium, these companies are all run by senior officers of Israeli military intelligence.

Amdocs and Nice Systems are especially noteworthy because these two companies were involved in the espionage network of computer programmers and demolition experts from the Israeli military who posed as art students as they tried to infiltrate offices of the U.S. Drug Enforcement Agency (DEA) in 2000 and 2001, according to a leaked DEA document from the summer of 2001 concerning this spying activity.

The "most activity" of the Israeli operation aimed at infiltrating offices of the DEA was "reported in the state of Florida," according to the report. "The Hollywood, Florida area seems to be a central point for these individuals with several having addresses in this area," the DEA report said. Hollywood is also the area which connected 15 of the 19 Arab "hijackers" of 9-11.

If the "art student" operation is connected to 9-11, as it seems to be, then Amdocs and Nice Systems are also involved.

"A majority of those [Israeli "art students"] questioned has stated they served in military intelligence, electronic signal intercept, or explosive ordinance units. Some have been linked to high-ranking officials in the Israeli military. One was the son of a two-star general, one served as the bodyguard to the head of the Israeli Army, one served in a Patriot missile unit. That these people are now travelling in the U.S. selling art seems not to fit their background," the U.S. DEA investigators concluded.

One of the Israeli agents was 27-year-old Lt. Peer Segalovitz, a platoon leader with Israeli special forces 605 battalion in the Golan Heights.

Segalovitz and the 80-man platoon he commanded "specialized in demolition."

"Segalovitz acknowledged he could blow up buildings, bridges, cars and anything else that he needed too," according to the report.

If the Israeli "art student" intelligence operation is connected to 9-11, then the prevalence of military computer programmers and demolition experts among the agents would make sense given the evidence that the terror attacks of 9-11 required a great deal of expertise with computer networks and explosives.

NICE SYSTEMS

Nice Systems, Inc., the wholly owned U.S. subsidiary of an Israeli company with the same name, was headed by Brig. General Shlomo Shamir from April 2001 when he became President and Chief Executive Officer. This is the precisely the time when Israeli employees of Nice Systems and Amdocs were caught trying to infiltrate Drug Enforcement Agency and other U.S. government buildings posing as art students.

Gen. Shamir certainly must have been aware that his employees had been sent to the United States where they were arrested for illegal spying activity prior to 9-11.

Brig. Gen. Shlomo Shamir

Brig. Gen. Shamir "built and led the planning division in the IDF [Israeli military] headquarters and served as Israel's military attaché to Germany" until 1994, when he began working at Scitex America Corp., which he headed from 1997 and which later became CreoScitex America, Inc.

Avinoam Naor Aharonovich, one of the founders of Amdocs, was President and CEO of Amdocs Management Ltd., the company's management group from 1995 to 2002.

As Chief Executive Officer of Amdocs Management Limited, Naor had overall coordination responsibility for the operations and activities of the company's operating subsidiaries.

Avinoam Naor Aharonovich of Amdocs

A number of senior corporate officers of Amdocs, all Israelis, moved between Nice Systems, ViryaNet Ltd., and Guardium. Sometimes a person would go to a company for a while and then return to the previous company.

In some cases, such as with Gill Zaphrir, a person would be involved in an Israeli "venture capital" fund supporting a company while serving as a director of the company he is funding.

Elad Yoran

Elad Yoran [a.k.a. Naftali Yoran], Amit's older brother, held similar dual positions at Broadview International and Riptech, his brother's company that specialized in hacking into corporate computer networks while selling them Riptech's "security" software.

AMIT YORAN'S "ETHICAL HACKERS"

"Mr. [Amit] Yoran is chief executive of Riptech, a U.S. company that employs 'ethical hackers' to test vulnerability of networks, including those of utility companies," the Irish Times reported on October 5, 2001. "He [Yoran] says his teams have had success in disrupting utilities' power networks, in Europe particularly," according to the article, which was aptly titled, "Welcome to the Art of Electronic Warfare."

The Yorans' company hacked into the computer networks of dozens of energy companies, the Los Angeles Times reported on August 20, 2001:

Riptech Inc., a security company in Alexandria, Va., has tested security for dozens of energy-industry clients. In every case, the firm penetrated Internet-connected corporate networks and often hopped from those networks into supposedly sealed grid-control systems, according to Riptech's president, Amit Yoran.

In February 2001, Amit Yoran, then chief executive of Riptech, told the Associated Press that hackers often break into a system through a computer that runs a Web site. "Once you break in (to the Web server), there are fewer protections between it and other parts of the network," Yoran said.

Elad Yoran, Tim Belcher, and Amit Yoran, the senior hackers of Riptech

Riptech "was founded by Elad and Amit Yoran, two Israeli West Point graduates who claim years of security experience, and Tim Belcher, a Desert Storm veteran who serves as the company's chief technology officer," the Washington Times reported on December 11, 2000.

"Amit Yoran reportedly helped design the Pentagon's computer security architecture," the Times reported.

"The threat changes every day. There has always been and always will be a criminal element out there. [The crooks] are not going away," said Elad Yoran, the company's chief financial officer. He should know.

He was Riptech's chief marketing officer and vice president for business development at the time of 9-11.

"Riptech's specialty is in security management and monitoring of corporate computer networks," the Washington Times reported on October 23, 2000, when the Yoran brothers' private company of "ethical hackers" announced an infusion of $23 million in venture capital.

Oddly, the Washington Times reported that Elad Yoran had "joined" RipTech in August 2001, when he had already been the company's vice president for two years:

"Elad Yoran joined RipTech as executive vice president for corporate development and chief marketing officer. Mr. Yoran was a vice president with Broadview International," the Times reported on August 6, 2001.

But, nearly two years earlier, on October 25, 1999, the Washington Times reported:

"Elad Yoran has joined RipTech Inc., an information security application service provider in Alexandria, as executive vice president. Before joining RipTech, Mr. Yoran was a senior associate with Broadview, an investment bank that specializes in mergers and acquisitions for information technology and media companies."

In both cases it was reported that Yoran had been a vice president with Broadview, one of the mysterious funding entities of RipTech, prior to joining RipTech. Elad Yoran was clearly performing two functions for RipTech: funding the company through his position as "vice president at Broadview International," an unknown source of funds that poured millions of dollars into RipTech, and as "executive vice president" of RipTech, the privately-held recipient company he co-founded with his brother in 1998.

It is through such secretive "venture capital" funding entities like Broadview and Veritas Venture Partners that the hand of Israeli military intelligence can be clearly seen running the computer network "security" companies they have spawned, like Guardium.

Before becoming a director of Guardium, for example, Col. Gill Zafrir was "actively managing the funds of Veritas," and funding Guardium.

Prior to joining Veritas in 1999, Col. Zaphrir "headed the research and development department of the Israel Air Force."

SECURITY GROWTH PARTNERS

Elad Yoran is also the CEO and founder of a similar funding company called Security Growth Partners (SGP). The SGP website says this about the company's mission:

Security Growth Partners' (SGP) mission is to support companies that provide security solutions for the security market. SGP serves a large and diverse industry including, among others, information technology (IT) security, Critical Infrastructure Protection (CIP), homeland security and their related markets.

SGP is more than a fund or typical venture capital organization. We identify desirable opportunities and become extensively involved in the strategy and operations of each company with which we work.

Rather than simply invest, we capitalize on both our extensive expertise and experience in the security sector and our strong network of contacts to help management grow their businesses.

The founder of SGP, Elad Yoran,

"advises leading companies in the security market and helps guide emerging companies with innovative technology to rapid growth. Mr. Yoran also advises government and infrastructure organizations on security and business risk matters."

The list of Elad Yoran's advisors and partners at SGP is very interesting. It includes his brother Amit Yoran, of course, and previously included another Israeli named Ilan Juran, which is another spelling of the same Israeli name.

Ilan Juran works at the Polytechnic University in Brooklyn, New York. Juran is director of the US-Israel Civil Infrastructure Security Program, an initiative of the Urban Utility Center, which he is "executive director" of.

Juran's program is "designed to foster collaboration, as well as knowledge and technology sharing, between the U.S. and Israel governments and critical infrastructure organizations."

Ilan Juran

Tim Belcher, a co-founder of Ripstech, the company of "ethical hackers," is another advisor at SGP.

As Belcher's biographical sketch says:

Mr. Belcher has also conducted security assessments of some of the nation's most critical infrastructure components, including the Federal Aviation Administration's Air Traffic Control Network. He has also worked with government organizations such as the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, the National Reconnaissance Office, the Office of the Secretary of Defense, and Space and Naval Warfare Command.

THE KROLL CONNECTION

It is interesting to note that Jeremy M. Kroll, the Managing Director of Marsh Kroll, is also on the "advisory board" of Elad Yoran's Security Growth Partners. This is a crucial connection in the Zionist network behind 9-11; this is where we hit the mainline.

Jeremy Kroll of Marsh Kroll

Kroll, the son of Jules B. Kroll, has been an executive at Marsh Kroll, a division of Marsh & McLennan Co. (MMC), since 1996. Jeremy Kroll's connection with Elad and Amit Yoran through SGP reveals a key link between the American Zionist network and Israeli military intelligence.

MMC is headed by Jeffrey Greenberg, the son of Maurice Raymond Greenberg (a.k.a. "Hank"). Maurice Greenberg, the CEO of A.I.G., has been a business partner with Jules B. Kroll since 1993 when he reportedly bought 23 percent of Kroll Inc. for $15 million.

In 2004 MMC acquired the rest of Kroll for the hugely inflated price of $1.9 billion. Jules Kroll reportedly retired in July 2008.

Jeffrey Greenberg is CEO of MMC. The first plane flew directly into his company's computer room. What an amazing coincidence - or was it?

KROLL SECURITY AT THE WORLD TRADE CENTER

Kroll Associates was responsible for "revamping security at the World Trade Center after the 1993 terrorist bombing," Douglas Frantz of the New York Times reported in 1994. This is a crucial point because those who controlled security at the WTC are prime suspects in the demolition of the twin towers.

It was directly into the computer room of Marsh (Kroll) USA in the North Tower that the first plane struck, or was precision-guided, on 9-11. The light orange flame and whitish smoke that exploded out of burning computer room of Marsh USA are indicative of a Thermite reaction. Burning jet fuel produces darker orange flames and blackish smoke.

John O'Neill, the former chief of counterterrorism with the FBI, who had investigated Al Qaida, was the head of security for the World Trade Center complex, and was reportedly killed on his first day of work on 9-11. O'Neill had been appointed to this position by the managing director of the Kroll security company, Jerome M. Hauer.

Kroll evidently continued to manage security for the WTC complex from 1993 until 9-11.

Jerome Hauer (left), the first director of Giuliani's Office of Emergency Management and the person who chose to locate the command bunker in WTC 7.

Prior to joining Kroll, Hauer, a Zionist Jew, had been the director of Mayor Giuliani's Office of Emergency Management (OEM), where he had been the driving force to have the OEM command bunker built in Larry Silverstein's 47-story WTC 7, the tower which fell into its footprint at 5:21 p.m. on 9-11.

Testimony from Larry Silverstein and physical evidence strongly suggest that WTC 7 was demolished with explosives and Thermite.

HISTORY OF ISRAELI "SECURITY" AT PORT AUTHORITY

There is a very significant, but little-known history of senior Israeli intelligence officers seeking to gain control of security of New York airports, ports, bridges, tunnels, and the World Trade Center in the 1980s.

Being in charge of security at the twin towers was obviously crucial to the 9-11 operation. The explosive charges and Thermite that evidently demolished the three towers could not have possibly been placed in the buildings without the perpetrators having complete control of security.

Getting control of security at the WTC was something senior officers of Israeli military intelligence had actively sought since at least 1987. This was clearly part of the Israeli master plan for 9-11, a plan first articulated in 1979 by Isser Harel, the former head of Israeli intelligence (Director Shin Bet, 1948–1952; Director Mossad, 1947-1963).

Harel, formerly the director of Haganah intelligence in the 1940s, is seen as the founder of Israeli intelligence. The Haganah and Irgun were the largest Zionist militia/terrorist organizations in Palestine prior to the creation of Israel in 1948. Both organizations were involved in the terror bombing of the King David Hotel and other acts of terrorism.

Harel was evidently involved in the long-term planning of 9-11. More than 20 years earlier he had told Michael D. Evans, an American Zionist missionary, that terrorism would "come to America."

Arab terrorists would strike the tallest building in New York City, "a symbol of your fertility," Harel said.

Michael D. Evans is a hard-line Zionist Jew who poses as a Christian. Here Evans embraces Menachem Begin, the former terrorist head of the Irgun who ordered the bombing of the King David Hotel. Isser Harel told Evans of the plan to bomb the World Trade Center in 1979, about the time of this photo.

Evans, a Jewish Zionist who has long had close ties to Israeli officials, wrote about Harel's prediction of 9-11 in several newspaper articles and talked about it in an interview that followed the publication of his 2004 book entitled The American Prophecies, Terrorism and the Mid-East Conflict Reveal a Nation's Destiny.

Note: Harel's 9-11 prediction is discussed in greater detail in the previous chapter entitled "America the Target."

Harel had dinner with Evans on September 23, 1979, according to Evans, and told him that America's alliance with Saudi Arabia "was dangerous and would develop a tolerance for terror among Americans."

Harel went on to say that "Islamic fundamentalists would ultimately strike America."

HAREL'S AMAZING PREDICTION OF 9-11

When Evans asked where the Arab terrorists would strike, Harel said:

"In Islamic theology, the phallic symbol is very important. Your biggest phallic symbol is New York City and your tallest building will be the phallic symbol they will hit."

Now, how did Harel know that, in 1979, if he was not part of it?

Isser Harel, founder of Israeli intelligence

"Isser Harel prophesied that the tallest building in New York would be the first building hit by Islamic fundamentalists 21 years ago," Evans said in the 2004 interview; how amazingly prescient – or telling.

Seven years after Harel's bizarre prediction, a team of senior Israeli intelligence agents, men who had worked directly under Isser Harel for decades, obtained the security contract for the Port Authority of New York, the agency that owned and operated the World Trade Center. The Israeli false-flag terror of 9-11, designed to create the "War on Terror" and drag the United States into the Israeli-Arab conflict on the side of Israel, was evidently planned decades in advance.

A team of senior Israeli intelligence veterans, men who had worked under Harel since the founding of Israeli intelligence, obtained the security contract for the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey (PA) in 1987, according to a Washington Post article from April 12, 1987. The Port Authority manages operations at New York's airports, as it did at the World Trade Center prior to the complex being leased to Larry Silverstein in late July, 2001.

The contract with an Israeli "security" company called Atwell Security of Tel Aviv was cancelled after the PA learned that the firm was headed by Avraham Shalom Ben-Dor, the former head of the Israel's General Security Service (GSS), a.k.a. Shabak or Shin Bet.

The Atwell company appears to have been created only for the purpose of obtaining the security contract for the Port Authority and the World Trade Center.

Avraham Shalom Ben-Dor

Avraham Bendor, or Ben-Dor (a.k.a. Abe, Avrum, or Avram Shalom) had been forced to resign as head of the GSS, which he ran from 1980 to 1986, following the disclosure that he had ordered the execution of two detained Palestinian bus hijackers by having their skulls smashed with stones, and then lied about it.

"Avrum lied and kept lying," a senior security official involved in the Bus 300 affair told the Jerusalem Post in 1995. "He failed because he was too sure of himself and too used to hearing how great he was."

Shalom, the head of the GSS, was identified by an Israeli Justice Ministry report in December 1986 as having ordered the murder and subsequent cover-up of the two Palestinian bus hijackers captured in 1984. Shalom and 10 other Shin Bet agents were forced to resign, although President Chaim Hertzog subsequently granted them all pardons.

Shalom corrupted the GSS, as well: "Some of the vices of the Shalom regime still plague the GSS," the Post reported in 1995. "One problem...is the lack of parliamentary control over the GSS."

This is a very important observation because it indicates that the Shin Bet under Shalom had become a rogue agency and had a history of being out of control.

"The most disturbing trend is the recurring episodes in which GSS agents provide misleading information to officials and the courts," the Post reported.

"The head of Shabak [GSS] has an unusual personal relationship with Prime Minister Shamir, partly perhaps because of Shamir's own past in the espionage business," the Jerusalem Post wrote in June 1991.

Shalom had ordered the murders but tried to blame a senior army officer at the scene and later claimed that Shamir had given him a free hand.

The former Irgun and Lehi terrorist Yitzhak Shamir (born Jaziernicki in Belarus) was the prime minister responsible for Shin Bet at the time.

Yitzhak Shamir was a leader from the extreme right-wing Likud. After joining the Irgun terrorist group in 1935, he joined its most militant faction, Lehi, in 1940. He personally authorized the assassination of the UN representative in the Middle East, the Swedish Count Folke Bernadotte, in September 1948. Inset is Shamir's son, Yair.

Edward J. O'Sullivan, director of the office of special plans at the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey, simply said that the contract with Atwell Security of Tel Aviv had been terminated because "we are no longer satisfied with the agreement," the Washington Post reported in April 1987.

O'Sullivan said the port authority's legal office told him not to comment on why he was killing the contract. O'Sullivan said he acted after a reporter inquired about the contract and Atwell's president, Avraham Bendor, acknowledged that he was also known as Avraham Shalom. Atwell, a subsidiary of the Eisenberg Group [Shaul Eisenberg of the Mossad], had been chosen "largely on the basis of Bendor's credentials," O'Sullivan said.

Use of aliases in Israeli intelligence is common, the Washington Post reported.

"One intelligence expert said that even Bendor may not be the former Shin Bet chief's real name."

A New York-based senior Israeli intelligence officer, Peter [Zvi] Malkin, had acted as a New York representative for Atwell Security of Tel Aviv in the negotiations with the PA, O'Sullivan said. Malkin is famous for being the Mossad agent who grabbed Adolf Eichmann during the Israeli kidnapping in Argentina in 1960.

The executives running the Port Authority in 1987, the mayor, and his first deputy, all Zionist Jews, certainly must have been aware of the PA decision to hire a company run by a senior Mossad agent to provide security for New York's airports, ports, commuter trains, and World Trade Center under its authority. The people who made the decision to give the security contract to Avraham Bendor's Atwell Security of Tel Aviv must have known that Zvi Malkin was a senior Mossad agent; they had negotiated with him, after all.

The executive director of the Port Authority in 1987 was Stephen Berger (1985-1990). As executive director of the PA, one of the world's largest transportation agencies, Berger was described by Thomas J. Lueck of the New York Times in August 1987 as,

"a man at the center of New York City's economy, deftly pulling strings in business and government alike."

Today, Berger is Chairman of Odyssey Investment Partners, a private New York investment firm that specializes in private corporate transactions.

Berger, a Jew, is a member of the board of New York's Citizens Budget Commission (CBC) with fellow Zionist Jews Larry Silverstein and Felix Rohatyn.

when Atwell Security, a Mossad company, received the security contract in 1987.

Prior to becoming director of the Port Authority, Berger was a principal with Odyssey Partners (1983-85) with Leon Levy and Jack Nash, both Zionist Jews. Before joining Odyssey Partners, Berger had been Director of Corporate Development at Oppenheimer & Co., where Nash and Levy had been "senior-most partners."

Levy was "a hedge fund pioneer" who founded Odyssey Partners LP with Jack Nash in 1982.

"Odyssey's leverage buyouts (LBOs) and other investments reveal a pattern of slash-and-burn management and financial opportunism," Brooks Bitterman, Research Director for Local 100 of the Hotel Employees and Restaurant Employees Union in New York, wrote in September 1995.

"And with Stephen Berger's return to Odyssey Partners in July of 1993, the firm has been reinvigorating its LBO investing business," Bitterman wrote.

Philip D. Kaltenbacher, a former running mate of Governor Thomas H. Kean of New Jersey, was the chairman of the Port Authority's Board of Commissioners from 1985 to 1990. Prior to becoming a PA commissioner in 1983, Kaltenbacher had been Chairman of the New Jersey Republican State Committee. Kaltenbacher's father, Joseph, was a founder of the New Jersey Chapter of the American Jewish Committee and a former member of the national board of governors of the AJC, a major Zionist organization.

Stanley Brezenoff, who later became executive director of the PA in 1990, was Deputy Mayor for Operations and First Deputy Mayor under Mayor Edward Irving Koch (1978-89) at the time the Port Authority's security contract was being negotiated with a senior Mossad agent.

Brezenoff was "the second most powerful official in the Koch administration and was the government's chief operating officer, often serving as acting Mayor in Mr. Koch's absence," according to the New York Times.

Brezenoff directed the day-to-day operations of city agencies, including police, fire, and transportation. It is hard to imagine that Brezenoff, whose Yiddish-speaking grandparents had immigrated to the United States in the early 1900s from Russia and Austria, was unaware of the deal to give the PA security contract to Atwell Security of Tel Aviv. Malkin was, after all, a legendary figure among the Zionist Jews of New York.

Malkin was one of the Israeli intelligence agents involved in the kidnapping of Adolf Eichmann in Buenos Aires in 1960. Malkin later wrote a book entitled Eichmann In My Hands, about his role in the kidnapping. It was none other than Isser Harel, then head of the Mossad, who had sent Malkin and six others on the mission to find Eichmann, where previous agents had failed. Harel had worked closely with Shimon Peres and Teddy Kollek in the pre-state Haganah militia of the 1940s when they had been responsible for procuring weapons and smuggling them to Zionist forces.

MOSSAD: AMERICA IS THE ENEMY

Other agents on the seven-person Mossad team involved in the Eichmann kidnapping were Avraham Shalom Ben-Dor and Rafael "Dirty Rafi" Eitan, the senior Mossadnik [not the Chief of Staff with the same name], who ran the Jonathan Pollard espionage operation against the United States in the 1980s.

Eitan later told the Israeli press that he had been made a scapegoat to cover for Shimon Peres and Yitzhak Shamir, senior Israeli politicians who knew about Eitan's espionage network in America, but defended themselves - and the State of Israel - by saying it was "a rogue operation."

Eitan headed a special spying unit known as the Scientific Liaison Office and directed a team of agents working out of the Israeli Embassy in Washington when the Pollard spy operation was exposed in 1985.

For Eitan, a minister in the current Israeli government and member of the cabinet, the United States has always been considered "the enemy."

Rafi Eitan, Mossad spymaster, advisor to Fidel Castro, and Israeli cabinet minister

That Eitan, a senior Israeli intelligence officer and member of the Israeli cabinet, would say to one of Israel's largest daily newspapers in 1997 that the United States is an enemy of Israel, and that his position would not be challenged, is something that, unfortunately, very few Americans understand.

"I failed in the Pollard affair, just as I failed in other intelligence operations beyond enemy lines," Eitan told the newspaper Yediot Aharonot in June 1997. "That is the lot of an intelligence officer who runs complex intelligence operations. When you work a lot and do a lot, especially in the intelligence field, you win some and you lose some," he said.

"Nobody knows either about your successes or your failures. It doesn't cause a fuss. But this was a big fuss. You take such a possibility into consideration, but there is nothing you can do about it."

"I'm surprised he would admit this," Joseph diGenova, the U.S. attorney who prosecuted the case, said. "But this is basically all stuff that the evidence in the case shows."

DiGenova said Eitan's statement was unusual in that it contradicted the "official Israeli position" that the Pollard case had been an unauthorized "rogue" operation, and in that Eitan "does not refer to the United States as an ally, which is regrettable."

Eitan's statement about the Pollard operation being an operation "beyond enemy lines" reveals how Israeli intelligence veterans view the Israeli-U.S. relationship, something DiGenova seems unable or unwilling to grasp or articulate.

Eitan said he has close relations with senior Cuban leaders, including Fidel Castro, and has helped develop the Cuba's agricultural infrastructure with Israeli irrigation equipment, chemicals, pesticides and fertilizers, along with agricultural advisers.

According to Eitan, the 10 Israelis actively doing business in Cuba for the past five years [1992-97] "have more influence than Russia had in the last 30 years."

The business has developed Cuba's corn, citrus fruit and tomato farming for export, and Eitan represented "a long list of Isareli companies in Cuba."

"We are changing agriculture in Cuba," Eitan said, adding that his business violated the U.S. embargo and had made U.S. officials "very angry."

He declined to identify his business partners in Cuba, citing a U.S. law that penalizes foreigners doing business in Cuba who use confiscated American property.

Eitan's revealing comments were published in the Washington Times of June 22, 1997.

WHO IS ZVI MALKIN?

Peter Malkin (a.k.a. Zvi Malchin or Milchman) was born in Poland in 1928 and raised in British-occupied Palestine during the mandate period. At age 12, Malkin joined the Haganah, the Zionist underground militia. In 1950, he joined the Shin Bet, the Israeli security agency. He became an explosives specialist and was known as a master of disguises.

Malkin preferred international work and became chief of operations for the Israeli intelligence agency, the Mossad. "During foreign postings, Malkin posed as an artist," his March 3, 2005, obituary in the New York Sun said.

A very young Malkin "retired" as head of operations of the Mossad in 1976 and moved to New York, where he worked as "a security consultant" and "posed as an artist." His "security consultant" work clearly involved brokering the security contract for the Port Authority and the World Trade Center - for the Mossad. Malkin had not retired from the Mossad; he'd gone undercover.

Malkin's artist disguise is probably the inspiration for the "art student" operation to infiltrate DEA offices in 2001. It is interesting to note that Michael Chertoff's mother, Livia Eisen, one of the first Mossad agents, owned an art gallery in Elizabeth, New Jersey, when Malkin was posing as a painter in nearby New York. These "retired" Mossad "artists" probably spent a great deal of time together.

Mossad chief Peter Zvi Malkin brokered a deal in 1987 giving the security contract for the Port Authority to fellow Mossadnik Avraham Shalom Ben-Dor. The contract was cancelled when the PA discovered Ben-Dor's criminal past, forcing Malkin and Ben-Dor to change tack and use American partners.

Malkin, supposedly "retired" from the Mossad in 1976 – at the very young age of 48.

This is a very similar profile to that of Shalom Yoran, the former head of the I.A.I., Israel's aircraft industry, who retired at age 50 and moved to New York to write and talk about his days as a Zionist soldier.

Malkin moved to New York, where he wrote, painted, and helped his friend, Manhattan District Attorney Robert M. Morgenthau, "on investigations." Morgenthau helped Malkin get a "green card" and to become a U.S. citizen.

Zvi Malkin, the Israeli intelligence agent who "will forever be known as the man who captured Adolf Eichmann," continued to work as "a security expert" in the United States.

"I'm out of the secret service business for sure," he told Ralph Blumenthal of the New York Times in May 2003. "But I help."

PLUTONIUM SMUGGLERS

The Washington Post revealed the serious nature of the crimes Malkin, Shalom, and Eitan had been involved in when it reported in 1986 that Rafi Eitan, posing as a chemist, had travelled, in 1968, to the Pennsylvania nuclear processing plant that secretly diverted several hundred kilograms of weapons-grade uranium to Israel.

A declassified FBI document shows that another Israeli, "Abraham Bendor, department of electronics," accompanied Eitan on that trip.

Malkin and the same Avraham Bendor were later named as the senior Israeli intelligence agents who obtained the security contract for the World Trade Center in 1987, only to lose the contract when Bendor's criminal past was discovered.

Rafi Eitan, Zvi Malkin, and Avraham Ben-Dor had been working together on super-secret Israeli missions from 1960 through 1987, when they obtained the security contract with the Port Authority, the owner of the World Trade Center.

For the Mossad and the WTC, however, 1987 was just the beginning.

KROLL, GREENBERG & THE ISRAELIS

Rebuffed in 1987, the Mossad team of Malkin and Shalom didn't give up on Isser Harel's prophecy of 9-11, which meant getting the Port Authority security contract. They simply changed tack and decided to work in a less obvious manner, through dedicated and corrupt American Zionists like Jules Kroll and Maurice Greenberg.

Shalom went to work for Kroll, according to the online 9/11 Encyclopedia entry for Maurice "Hank" Greenberg, the CEO of the American International Group (A.I.G.) insurance company.

Messrs Malkin, Eitan, and Abe Shalom/Ben-Dor crop up frequently in Miami in the 1980s and 90s:

"Israeli intelligence agent, author and artist Peter Z. Malkin" addressed the Young Leadership Council of the Greater Miami Jewish Federation, for example, on October 8, 1991, at the Hyatt Regency in Miami, according to the Miami Herald.

Amazingly, a "Rafi Eitan" and "Abe Shalom" shared the same address in Miami in the 1990s.

"Abe Shalom" also shared a Miami address at 19707 Turnberry Way with a Morris (and Lillian) Saffati, a name very similar to that of the Miami-based Israeli agent who sold weapons to the Medellin drug cartel, Maurice (and Ilana) Sarfati, a.k.a. Moshe Tzorfat. "Abe Shalom" also lived in Deal, New Jersey, near Lillian Saffati, the wife of Morris.

Are these the tracks of the culprits or mere coincidences?

Through Avraham Shalom Ben-Dor, Kroll Associates bought Palumbo Partners, the Miami-based international security firm in August 1992, reportedly "to expand in key Latin American markets."

"According to sources in the industry, Palumbo brought with him a personal history of involvement with the Medellin and other South American narcotics cartels; his business included helping relocate some of the capabilities of these cartels out of Colombia," the 9/11 Encyclopedia says.

"The deal to bring Palumbo into Kroll was worked out by Avram Shalom, the former head of Israel's Shin Bet secret police," the 9/11 Encyclopedia says, without documenting the claim.

In 1993, Maurice Greenberg became a partner and co-owner of Jules Kroll's company when A.I.G. bought 23 percent of Kroll. Greenberg is very close to Henry Kissinger, who became chairman of A.I.G.'s International Advisory Board in 1987.

Jules Kroll of Kroll Security

Maurice Greenberg of A.I.G.

Greenberg was deeply involved in China in the 80s, where Henry Kissinger was one of his representatives, according to the 9-11 Encyclopedia.

Through the China trade, Greenberg became close to Shaul Eisenberg, the leader of the Asian section of the Israeli intelligence service Mossad, and agent for the sales of sophisticated military equipment to the Chinese military, it reports. Eisenberg was also the owner of Atwell Security of Tel Aviv.

Greenberg also has a joint venture with the founder of Amdocs. Greenberg's insurance subsidiary in Israel, called A.I.G. Golden, is a joint venture with Morris Kahn's Aurec Group (the parent company of Amdocs), an Israeli private equity firm with cable and telecom investments. Kahn was an original investor in Amdocs Ltd., of which his Aurec Group is the parent company.

Aurec is meant to signify "golden" from the Latin, hence the gilded name of the A.I.G. subsidiary.

and partner of Maurice Greenberg

Jules Kroll is connected with the 9-11 players Kenneth Bialkin and Larry Silverstein through the Citizens Budget Commission of New York.

Kroll's wife, Lynn Korda Kroll, the Vice Chairman of the United Jewish Appeal (UJA) Federation of New York, is likewise connected to Silverstein, a national chairman of the UJA, the biggest fund-raising organization for the State of Israel.

Maurice Greenberg and Jules Kroll are connected to the key players of 9-11 in so many ways that their connections would fill a book. For the purpose of this chapter, however, there are a few key connections that need to be underlined:

Maurice Greenberg and Jules Kroll became partners in 1993, the same year Kroll Associates "was chosen over three other companies to advise the Port Authority on a redesign of its security procedures." "We have such confidence in them that I have followed every one of their recommendations," Stanley Brezenoff, the Port Authority executive director, told the New York Times in 1994.

Kroll controlled security at the World Trade Center complex in 2001 and was responsible for hiring John O'Neill, the former chief of counterterrorism for the FBI, who died on 9-11, reportedly his first day on the new job.

Greenberg's son, Jeffrey W. Greenberg, became CEO of Marsh & McLennan (MMC) in 1999 and chairman in 2000. The first plane of 9-11 flew directly into the secure computer room of Marsh (Kroll) USA, part of Greenberg's company. Mark Wood, an eyewitness, said: "It looked like a mid-sized executive jet and the way it turned suggested it was being aimed deliberately at a target."

Lewis "Jerry" Bremer, the U.S. proconsul who ran occupied Iraq until the end of June 2004, joined Marsh Kroll's crisis group shortly after 9-11. Bremer had worked closely with Kissinger since the 1970s and was managing director at Kissinger Associates in 2001.

Jerome M. Hauer, the former director of Mayor Giuliani's Office of Emergency Management, was responsible for having the command bunker built in Larry Silverstein's WTC 7. Hauer was a managing director for Kroll in 2001.

Kroll revamped security at the World Trade Center after the 1993 terrorist bombing. Kroll was reportedly responsible for security at the World Trade Center on 9-11. "Over the last two years, the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey has paid Kroll $2.5 million to overhaul security at the World Trade Center and evaluate procedures at the agency's bridges, tunnels and airports," the New York Times reported on September 1, 1994.

Kroll was hired by Kuwait in October 1990 to find the hidden wealth of Saddam Hussein.

Kroll began profiting from the war in Iraq in April 2003 when it received contracts to provide protection and security for government agencies and companies in Iraq.

Kroll's son, Jeremy M. Kroll, is the Managing Director at Marsh Kroll and has served as General Manager at Kroll's Information Security Group (i.e. computer security). He is responsible for business and strategic development, business intelligence, investigations, forensic accounting, and security services, such as those Kroll provided to the Port Authority and the World Trade Center prior to 9-11.

Jeremy Kroll serves on the board of the Israel-based Challenge Fund with Israeli government officials from the highest level, including Israel's National Security Advisor and Head of the National Security Council, a former head of Shin Bet, former Directors General of the Ministries of Foreign Affairs and Defense, former Commanders of the Israel Air Force, Central Command, and the Technology and Logistic Branch of the IDF, as well as the head of Boeing (Israel) and the son of Yitzhak Shamir. The Challenge Fund uses money raised through the Bronfman and Andreas (ADM) families to fund Israeli companies, like ViryaNet.

KROLL & THE CHALLENGE FUND

The Challenge Fund is an Israeli intelligence funding operation, based in Israel, that is also known as Etgar, which means "challenge" in Hebrew. This limited partnership involves the biggest players in the Zionist funding network in North America with the most senior officers in Israeli military intelligence. This is one of the key funding entities for Israeli intelligence operations in the United States.

The operation describes itself as,

"two Delaware limited partnerships focused on equity investments in Israel-related privately held and publicly traded companies."

The Challenge Fund was founded in July 1995. A second fund, The Challenge Fund - Etgar II L.P., was established in 1999. The funds claim to have a capital base in excess of $200 million, "making them one of Israel's leading sources of private investment capital."

Challenge Fund investors include "a highly distinguished group of American and European investors," primarily members of the extended Bronfman and Andreas families. Charles de Gunzburg, for example, a Bronfman cousin, is on the funds' "investment committee." Bronfman, which means distiller in Yiddish, is the family behind Seagram's, the Canadian whisky company.

Andreas is the family behind the grain broker Archer Daniels Midland (ADM).

The funds are managed by the "Challenge Partners," a small team of "experienced professionals," all Israelis of course, headed by Joseph Ciechanover.

Israelis Joseph Ciechanover (L) and his brother Aaron (center) talk to Elie Wiesel at a meeting of Nobel Laureates in Petra, Jordan, May 18, 2005. The meeting was sponsored by Wiesel and the King of Jordan. (Photo by Salah Malkawi/Getty)

Joseph Ciechanover is the president of the funds and is a member of the "Investment Committee".

Ciechanover is a former chairman of state-owned El Al Israel Airlines. Living in New York, he is also a member of the NASDAQ Advisory Board. He previously served as President of PEC Israel Economic Corporation [P for Palestine], which was later merged into I.D.B. Holding [Israel Discount Bank], a private investment and holding company.

Ciechanover served as Chairman of the Board of Israel Discount Bank [how convenient], Israel's third largest commercial bank, and was a member of the Bank of Israel Advisory Committee. He also served as Director General of Israel's Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Head of Israel's Defense Mission to the United States and Canada, and General Counsel to the Israel Ministries of Defense and Agriculture.

Tamar Ciechanover

Ciechanover's daughter, Tamar, is a "managing partner" of the funds.

Another partner of the Challenge Funds is Maj. General Ilan Biran, the Chairman of the Board of Rafael Armament Development Authority Ltd. (since June 2007), former Director General of the Israeli Ministry of Defense, and president and CEO of Bezeq, the Israel Telecommunication Corp.

During his military service, Biran served as Commander of the Central Command and the Technology and Logistic Branch of the IDF.

Maj. General Ilan Biran, former Director General of the Israeli Ministry of Defense, is Chairman of Rafael Armament Development Authority Ltd.

On the "advisory board" with Jeremy Kroll sit some of the most interesting people involved in the Challenge Funds.

One is David Ivry, president of Boeing [Israel]. Ivry has held several senior military and diplomatic related positions, including Commander of the Israel Air Force (1977-82), an unprecedented ten-year period as Director General of the Ministry of Defense (1986-96), and Israel's chief representative to the U.S.-Israel Strategic Dialogue.

Ivry moved from the highest position in the Ministry of Defense to become the Minister of Strategic Affairs at the Prime Minister's office from 1996 to 1999, and Ambassador to the U.S. from January 2000 through 2002. Ivry has served twice as Chairman of the Board of Israel Aircraft Industries (IAI).

Maj. Gen. David Ivry (r) with Shimon Peres (l) and Rona Ramon at 3rd Ramon Annual Int. Space Conference, 30 January 2008

From October 1977 to the end of 1982 [i.e. during the period of the most egregious criminal aerial assaults on Lebanon], Ivry commanded the Israel Air Force (IAF). Ivry also directed the IAF's criminal destruction of the Osirak nuclear reactor in Iraq. Ivry clearly has a history of directing criminal actions using aircraft.

In 1962, David Ivry became the commander of the first Israeli squadron of the French Dassault Mirage fighter jet. During the six-day war of 1967, Ivry served as a Mirage pilot and the commander of the Mystère squadron. Ivry was either personally involved in the criminal Israeli attack on the U.S.S. Liberty with Mirage fighters or commanded those who were. Thirty-four American servicemen lost their lives in the Israeli attack.

In any case, Ivry has clearly been involved in numerous war crimes and has shown very little regard for American lives.

Yaakov Peri (a.k.a. Jacob Perry)
Director of Shin Bet 1988-94

Another member of the Challenge Fund advisory board is Jacob Perry (a.k.a. Yaacov Peri). Perry is another former head of the Shin Bet (Director GSS, 1988-94). In 1995, Perry left the secret service and "joined the business sector" with his appointment as president and CEO of Cellcom Israel Ltd., Israel's largest wireless telephone service provider.

Avi Naor (Aharonovich) of the Aurec Group and president and CEO of Amdocs is another member of the Challenge Fund's advisory board.

In addition to Ciechanover, the Challenge Fund has been managed by Yair Shamir, the son of Yitzhak Shamir, the Zionist terrorist who was involved in numerous assassinations, including the 1947 murder of the U.N. envoy to Palestine, Folke Bernadotte, a member of the Swedish royal family.

Shamir is also suspected of being involved in the murder of President John F. Kennedy.

Yair Shamir

During his term in the Air Force, Yair Shamir "attained the rank of colonel and served as head of the electronics department, the highest professional electronics position within the Air Force," according to his biography.

These are the kind of high-level Israeli intelligence agents that work with Jeremy Kroll on the "advisory board" of the Challenge Fund. Kroll brings a degree in fine arts (French and Italian) from Georgetown and his executive position with Kroll to the table. Who do you think makes the decisions in this group?

It was, I submit, through these connections with Kroll and Greenberg that agents of Israeli military intelligence gained control of security of the World Trade Center and were able to carry out 9-11.
