Angelwings

In the evening in bed, I formed reflection about the latest events of the past. An angel came to me and stroked me gently with his wings over the cheek, I was pleased that he was there. Even soon afterwards more angels came and took me to their middle. A pleasant feeling immediately spread itself in me, I felt carried lovingly and saved very much. The angels have supported me lovingly at my reflection and on the following processing. Sometime I fell asleep and in the morning I got the information, that I have received an attunement on the evening before.

The angels have informed me about the following ranges of application of the energy: Angelwings can grant you protection; giving you security; transmit the love to you which you need at present; helping you at lovesickness or affairs of the heart; supporting you at the development of your self-love; be a loving forerunner for you for the next step; adapting you to the energy frequencies getting still higher and finer, or better said, swing you into these. Angelwings will touch the depth of your heart with love, also, if you first cannot be aware of it.

Angelwings

Angelwings is supported by the angels from the purest and highest love vibration. You can ask for the Angelwings energy if you would like or need help and support.

The attunement lasts for approximately an hour. Please try to establish peace so that you remain undisturbed during the attunement, take sufficient time for the attunement and make yourself comfortable, whatever you understand by it. Create for yourself a pleasant position. I recommend you lie down because you can fall asleep during the attunement.

You can pass on the energy by attunement or carry by self-attunement.

For the self-attunement say the following:

"I am ready to open myself to the pure love. I ask the angels for the attunement into Angelwings from the purest and highest love vibration. I thank the angels with all of my heart for their support."

Angelwings

For the passing on of the attunement, say the following:

"(First name - last name) is ready, opening himself to the pure love. I ask the angels for the attunement into Angelwings from the purest and highest love vibration for (first name - last name). I thank the angels with all of my heart for their support."
